SENATE MESSAGE

CONGRATULATIONS

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 16, 1953.

Milton Snively Hershey, a Pennsylvania born farm boy, in the year 1903, at the age of forty-six, after a successful career in the carmel business in Lancaster returned to Derry Township, Dauphin County, the home of his birth, and began preparations for the building of a chocolate factory and the founding of a town for the personnel to be employed there.

In the fifty years since that time the town, now called "Hershey," and known locally as "The Chocolate Town," and the factory for the making of chocolate candy and chocolate syrups, have established a world-wide reputation, and in addition to the purely business aspects and accomplishments attributed to the genius of Mr. Hershey, the Hershey community has become a great cultural and sports center, known and appreciated by hundreds of thousands of people.

Mr. Hershey, during his lifetime, established and endowed one of the great charitable projects of America, "Milton Hershey School," a free school for orphan boys, with a present population of over eleven hundred boys who live in cottages and farm homes.

During this year of 1953, Hershey and the various enterprises connected with the Hershey Interests, under the Management of P. A. Staples, President of Hershey Chocolate Corporation, and John B. Sollenberger, President of Hershey Estates, are celebrating a Fiftieth Anniversary.

In order to pay a deserved tribute to the life and character and success of the philanthropist, Milton Snively Hershey, and to congratulate and pay a tribute to the loyalty and industry and success of the people who live and work in Hershey, and the vicinity thereof, it is hereby

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That in deserved recognition of the life and accomplishments of Milton Snively Hershey, and in harmony with the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary Program in Hershey during this year of 1953, congratulations and best wishes for continued prosperity, success and happiness are hereby extended to the Management and Employees of the several Hershey enterprises, the Teachers and Pupils in Milton Hrshey School, and the Citizens of

Hershey and vicinity; and it is further

Resolved, That certified copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to Mr. P. A. Staples and to Mr. John B. Sollenberger.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in the last five or ten minutes I have noticed the Pages—it is very obvious to all of us—passing flowers around, and everybody is gaily bedecked with a very beautiful green carnation. I am a naturally very curious person and I want to know this morning where the flowers have come from.

I want to say that this morning I came to the meeting of the Appropriations Committee and I had on a green tie. The Clerk said, "My goodness! That tie is not the right shade to wear. It should be a brighter green." I said, "I think the tie is a pretty good shade for a full-blooded Swede to wear."

I can not say that I have any Irish blood flowing in my veins, but I am proud of all my Irish friends. I even have a good Scotch-Irish friend and that is in the person of our Parliamentarian. He is a Scotch-Irishman. He can not say that he is a full-blooded Irishman.

Be that as it may, I have found out where the flowers came from.

On the opening day of the session, you heard a great deal about a fellow with a fixed smile, smiling all the time—none other than "Smiling Smith." Well, these flowers are by the courtesy of our dearly beloved Speaker.

I think the applause, Mr. Speaker, shows you what the House thinks of the flowers and thinks of our Speaker.

When I came up on the Hill this morning, I noticed that the Speaker did not have a green tie on, which I think is a faux pas, as you might say. So I sent my messenger boy down to the store and bought the Speaker a green tie, which I will now present to him.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks Mr. "MacJohnson" from McKean County. He also thanks the Members of the House for their very nice applause. I hope you will all enjoy your green carnations.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, I think the Majority Leader should be instructed to also pin on his flower.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken, Mr. "O'Stoner."

Mr. WOOD IN THE CHAIR

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 120, Printer's No. 45, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 190, as follows:

An Act authorizing and directing the Secretary of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor the Pennsylvania Fish Commission and the Secretary of Forests and Waters to release and quitclaim to E Kent Kane all right title and interest of the Commonwealth to certain land in Sergeant Township McKean County formerly conveyed to the Commonwealth subject to conditions that have not been met

Section 1 The Secretary of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor the Pennsylvania Fish Commission successor to the Board of Fish Commissioners and the Secretary of Forests and Waters is hereby authorized and directed to release and quitclaim to E Kent Kane his heirs and assigns all the right title and interest of the Commonwealth in and to all those two certain tracts of land together with the timber growing thereon bounded and described as follows

The first of them being the whole of warrant 2496 Sergeant Township McKean County Pennsylvania as conveyed to G C Burch Trustee by E Kent Kane and wife dated December 31 1941 containing eleven hundred seventy-five (1175) acres be the same more or less and

The second of them being all of the premises of said E Kent Kane in warrant 2793 Sergeant Township McKean County Pennsylvania as conveyed to G C Burch Trustee by E Kent Kane and wife by deed dated January 8 1942

Being all of the lands which were granted and conveyed to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Board of Fish Commissioners and its successors by G C Burch Trustee by deed dated the twenty-sixth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-two and recorded in the office for the recording of deeds in McKean County in Deed Book No 266 at page 92 subject to five definite conditions set forth in said deed the violation of which or the failure to perform which whether by reason of inability neglect or refusal would cause the entire premises conveyed together with all trees and timber thereon to revert to and become the property of E Kent Kane and his heirs

The General Assembly finds as a fact that the conditions contained in the deed to the Commonwealth have not been adhered to and that a forfeiture has in fact taken place causing the described properties to revert to and become the property of E Kent Kane and his heirs

Section 2 The deed of conveyance herein authorized shall be made without consideration and shall be approved by the Department of Justice and shall be executed by the Secretary of Property and Supplies in the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Pennsylvania Fish Commission successor to Board of Fish Commissioners

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

The SPEAKER (Charles C. Smith) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood, for presiding.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SCHWARTZ asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would just like to call to the attention of the House an unfortunate situation that took place this morning. It concerns itself with the fact that there were two Committee meetings scheduled at the same time in the same room. At 10:30 in Room 521 Municipal Corporations Committee and Cities of the First Class were scheduled. Somebody fouled up the ball, and I am in hopes that the time of the Members of this House will not be wasted in the future by such an occurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I think you will all recall the confusion last evening in regard to committee meetings. We are sorry this situation occurred and we will try to see that it does not happen again. It does not happen very often, but it just got by us this time.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, it is my happy privilege today to introduce a resolution to wish a happy birthday to my colleague, Dr. Sarraf, who hates to see birthdays come, but enjoys them nevertheless.

Messrs. KAMYK, FENRICH and MIHM offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1953.

Few men can point to a longer record of service in the House of Representatives than Dr. Sarraf. An even smaller number are able to claim a finer record of faithful service to their constituents.

Dr. Sarraf has been a member of this House for nineteen years. He has served as Chairman of the House Health Committee and the Pittsburgh Flood Wall Commission. Prior to his election to this body, he was a renowned athlete during his undergraduate days, both as an amateur and professional football, baseball and basketball player. He has nobly and proudly served his nation and state in two world wars. Though no longer on active duty, he is the surgeon for the famous 28th Division Signal Corps, holding the rank of Major.

He has served as a local practitioner in Lawrenceville for more than thirty years, where he has built an enviable reputation.

He is endowed with the ability to break the tension of trying legislative sessions, with a type of humor known to all of us; thereby enabling us to renew our work with renewed vigor and determination; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby congratulates Dr. Sarraf on his birthday and extends its best wishes for abundant health and happiness in the years ahead and in his own words say "God love ya."

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Sarraf.

Mr. SARRAF. Wearing the green and having the birthday resolution read, is rather confusing in that my birthday was on the fourteenth not the seventeenth and if you want to call me "O'Sarraff" it is perfectly all right with me. I have all this green right on me.

Being more serious I really appreciate this tremendously. I am glad to be in the House with so many fellow Members, and I have enjoyed it immensely. Thanks very much for your resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes that the gentleman looks as good as the day he was born, particularly the top of his head.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOPRESTI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, from the time of our last meeting here a week ago and to this day I have spent a great deal of time concerning myself with tax reports, both Federal and State, and I presume many of you are in the same boat.

I have discovered that there are a number of tax reports that are to be filed by the corporations of this Commonwealth, and they become particularly burdensome to the small corporations.

I happen to be an officer of a small corporation and I want to point out that we spent almost as much money for accounting services to prepare the returns required by our state set-up as we did in the tax. As a matter of fact, it cost $7 to prepare the returns, and I think the tax was less than $500.

There are some things in the set-up we have that I believe we could change. I noticed among other things every corporation in the state is required to file a form for the purpose of declaring whether or not that corporation holds any escheatable property.

A great many corporations, in fact, the vast majority of corporations in the state have no escheatable property and never will have, but every year they must file this particular report.

This is one suggestion: it is possible to incorporate in one of the other forms a simple question stating, "Do you have any escheatable property?" The answer can be "yes" or "no." If the answer is "yes," then you file a form. If it is "no," then you should not be required to file a form. That is only one particular thing that could be changed, in my opinion.

Then again I noticed that all of the state returns are required to be sworn to. On our Federal tax returns, at the end the taxpayer merely certifies that the information therein is correct to the best of his knowledge and belief, and files his return. Yet we in Pennsylvania require that every form filed by a corporation or practically every form, must be sworn to before a Notary Public. I think that is one of the other things that we can do to help to lighten the burden that has been placed upon corporations in the matter of book work.

The purpose of this resolution, of course, is not to change the tax structure so far as tax collection is concerned, but merely to have an investigation by the Joint State Government Commission to determine whether or not we can eliminate some of the red tape that is necessary in preparing our state returns.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have made a very diligent study of the statutes under which the Municipal Authorities of this Commonwealth are created and governed. Primarily I have done this due to numerous requests of individuals and organized groups who have contacted me for the past six months relative to this problem. Now, more than ever before problems of great magnitude affecting a large number of people have arisen concerning these bodies politic, especially so in relation to sewer systems or parts thereof and of sewage treatment works, including works for treating and disposing of industrial waste, steam heating plants and distribution systems, water works, water supply works, water distributing systems and related projects. Without question a great percentage of the complaints refer to the unlimited powers of each and every group of this nature to run roughshod over all opposition whether organized or not in these Authorities' attempt to grasp all within their reach by eminent domain, franchise territory, property damage settlement and certainly a most rampant abuse of their power in establishing rates and the promiscuous raising of these rates whenever their whim or fancy so dictated.

Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of this august body the intent and clear-cut purpose of establishing these authority efforts was for the comfort and welfare of peoples in areas that were in dire need of services that could not be provided feasibly through private endeavor. Today, this is not so and we find that due to many laxities in the law, here and there a monstrous head has appeared in the form of complete disregard for the well-being of the public, and before the conditions become cancerous and gain too great a headway, we can and should institute remedial legislation to close the loopholes that are now apparent in the Municipal Authorities Act. Let us not become the victims of providing "Too little too late."

This is one of a series of proposals which I intend to make to this Assembly, and the one that is a primary step in the right direction in an effort to curtail the abuses existent in this field. The proposal that I am submitting to the keeping of the House on this day is to place the services that I have mentioned under the jurisdiction of the P.U.C.

Now it will possibly be argued that as the act stands certain functions, namely, the approval of the purchase of utilities by an authority must be sanctioned by the P.U.C. However, my proposal enlarges upon this and provides that rates to the consumer and any and/or subsequent increases must be approved by the P.U.C. Of course, again some will argue that contained in the present law is a proviso allowing the consumer to appeal to the Court of Common Pleas in the County wherein said authority is located. I will grant that this is so under the present law, however, this proviso is very misleading because it becomes a very difficult procedure, especially so when a large geographical area is covered by an authority. We find that in order to protest rates and/or rate increases it necessitates an expenditure in the case of (multiple political sub-division authorities) of taxpayers' funds in the manner of contributions from separate political sub-divisions and/or contributions from individuals to make and plead a case before the courts. In competition with a well organized battery of legal minds of the now powerful authority interests fortified with every possible engineering service that they regularly employ together with the inflated established value figures procured by various computations.

Now when we look at this picture we find that the entirety of the burden is placed upon the consumer and necessitates a lengthy period of time and work for organizing all the elements to build up a case for presentation before the courts. In discussing this matter you must realize that the courts must act upon the presentation of facts. I have no quarrel with the operation of the courts but we must admit that they have no facilities nor funds to conduct an investigatory service either to the benefit of one or the other of the participants in these cases. Yes, the courts themselves contend that sitting upon such matters without having access to an impartial study of the problem they must act upon the presentation of the issue by each participating side. Under my proposal the representative of the consumer will be the P.U.C. and this body has experienced personnel and proper facilities to cope with this most important and intricate problem.

Mr. Speaker, at this time I will not go into my collection of the factors which have spearheaded my efforts in this matter as I would be presuming upon the time of the House to do so. However, entrusting this proposal to the proper Committee for the Members' favorable consideration, I will in the future be guided by their actions. At such time that the same comes before this Assembly for consideration and vote a more detailed presentation will be made in an effort to attain final passage of this proposal.

SENATE MESSAGES

Senate Bills for concurrence, Nos. 216 and 228.

An Act providing for the determination and effect of comparative negligence in actions of tort and providing that contributory negligence shall not bar recovery.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McMENAMIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, the recent investigations into State Government, and the Governor's Address to the Joint Session about a month ago, highlighted, if nothing else, the importance of the tourist business in Pennsylvania. I think we all realize that Pennsylvania has a great many natural assets, and that is particularly true in the northeastern part of the State. We have in Wayne and Pike Counties the second largest lake in Pennsylvania, Lake Wallenpaupach.

Mr. President, this bill is designed to provide a fish hatchery for the purpose of stocking this large body of water, with the thought in mind that the Pocono Mountains in general, and the counties, in particular, of Wayne, Pike, Monroe and Lackawanna, will benefit with the opportunity of making this lake and the surrounding lakes a fisherman's paradise and a tourist's mecca for the entire eastern United States.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. McMENAMIN and CROWE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 314, entitled:

An Act providing for the establishment of a fish hatchery in Wayne or Pike Counties; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

Messrs. WEINER and CAMIEL read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 315, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 4 of the act approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 668), entitled "An act to restrain and regulate the use of billiard-tables, pool-tables, and bagatelle-boards or tables, kept and maintained for the use of the general public, for hire or reward, in cities of the first class in this Commonwealth; providing for the granting of licenses, and providing for punishments for the violations of the provisions of this act," by requiring the posting with certain signs of property to be licensed as a billiard parlor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Messrs. LANE and HALUSKA read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 316, entitled:

An Act to further amend Clause (b) of Section 9 of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2051), entitled "An act relating to public assistance; providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children, aged persons, blind persons and other persons requiring relief; providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose; authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to co-operate with, and to accept and disburse moneys received from, the United States Government for assistance to such persons; providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board, Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind; and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance, pensions for the blind, old age assistance, and the State Emergency Relief Board, by permitting aged persons who are inmates of public institutions to receive assistance.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I understand that last week two bills were introduced bearing the names of myself and Senator Dent, which bills were introduced to implement the Government Survey Committee Report. At that time, I believe Senator Berger explained that Senator Dent and I were introducing these bills to implement the Government Survey Committee Report and for that purpose only. Fortunately, or unfortunately, as you may view it, Mr. Chesterman is not a Senator and, therefore, cannot sponsor legislation which is recommended by the committee which formerly bore his name. Therefore, it is necessary, if this report is to be implemented by legislation, for a Senator or two to sponsor this legislation.

Mr. President, I want to make it crystal clear, however, if it has not already been done so, to my colleagues and also to all the good people in Crawford and Mercer Counties, that this legislation which bears my name is not a brain child of mine, and it might well be when it hits the floor of the Senate that I may very well vote against the legislation which carries my name as a sponsor. We are merely putting this legislation in to implement, as I say, the Government Survey Committee Report recommendations and for that purpose only.

Mr. President, it is to be further understood that this legislation will be referred by the Chair to the Rules Committee of the Senate, with the understanding that the Rules Committee will report it to the floor for consideration at a later date.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. MAHANY and DENT (By request) read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 327, entitled:

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, with reference to the bills just presented, pertaining to the Chesterman Report, we had more or less a gentleman's agreement in the committee that the hearings would be called off, that the bills would be presented and referred to the Committee on Rules, but anyone who wished would have the opportunity to come before the committee, pro or con, and give their version of these bills.

Now, Mr. President, while both the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader were out of the State, they had no part in this agreement, and I want to make that a matter of record, hoping that if someone does come before any of us and wishes to have a hearing, that our agreement will be adhered to and those persons will be privileged to come before the Rules Committee to give their viewpoints as to why or why not a certain bill should be passed.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I just want to make one correction regarding Senator Haluska's statement.

In the first place, Mr. President, the hearings were called off at the will and the wish of the Majority Party, and over the strenuous opposition of the members of the Minority Party. We all voted in a bloc to oppose the discontinuance of these hearings, because we felt that they served a very useful purpose. However, it was stated at that meeting, as Senator Haluska said, that any interested persons would have a right to appear before the committee and express their opinions, pro and con.

Mr. President, I want the record straight. The Democratic Party was not a party to any agreement. We opposed the action of the Majority Party.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am sorry I was not here to be a party to that gentleman's agreement because if I had been, I would have explained to those gentlemen that I am afraid I would be too busy, as Chairman of the Rules Committee, to hold hearings on all of these bills on which hearings may be demanded.

Mr. President, if it is all right with my colleagues, I would like to amend the gentleman's agreement a little bit, to provide that when hearings are asked for after the committee reports these bills to the floor, then the bills be referred back to the proper committee of the Senate and let that committee hold the hearing. I do not believe I will have sufficient time to hold hearings on all those bills concerning which people might request hearings. I do not think that is within the province of the Rules Committee.

Mr. President, the reason these bills were referred to the Rules Committee was so that it would be assured that the bills would be reported to the floor for action. Now, if hearings are going to be held, they should be held by some committee other than the Rules Committee.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I imagine the Majority Leader is speaking with the best of intentions, but he says one thing and means another. He said that the purpose of committing these bills to the Committee on Rules was to assure that they would be reported to the floor. Then, Mr. President, he goes on to state that in the event someone wishes a public hearing, they will be referred to a committee and there the public hearing will be held.

Mr. President, if that is the case, how do we know these bills will be reported from that particular committee?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe I can recall what the arrangement was which was made in connection with the termination of these hearings.

Mr. President, in the first place, the Majority Party had already told the Minority Members that it was the understanding of those members, that is the Majority, that bills would be introduced to implement all phases of this Chesterman Report, and that those bills were to be referred to the Rules Committee.

Now, Mr. President, if I recall, it was said at the time these hearings were terminated that these bills would be referred to the Rules Committee, and would be reported to the floor and that if hearings were then indicated, there would be an opportunity then for hearings to be held on the bills as they were on the Calendar. I do not recall, however, that there was anything said about public hearings or any other kind of hearings.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger, is right; nothing was said about public hearings. We did discuss the possibility of hearings that may come up with people who are interested. We do not care, on the Minority side, whether the hearings are held by the Committee on Rules or some other committee. We have no knowledge, at the present time, if we will have any demand for hearings. However, to keep the record straight, in case we do, we would like to have those people have that privilege and have an opportunity to be heard.

Mr. President, if a particular bill is sent back, as my colleague from Washington County, Senator Lane, stated, to another committee, it could be for the purpose, after the hearing, to kill the bill. It originally had been decided that the bills were to go to the Committee on Rules for one main purpose. The Committee on Rules assured us that the bills would come out on the floor for final discussion.

Mr. President, all we hope and trust is that if we have the hearings, we do not care where the bills go, just so we have the right and privilege of having them reported from committee and discussing them on the floor.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this discussion because it seems sort of ridiculous to me.

In the first place, Mr. President, the Majority Party has expressed their will. They arbitrarily voted and overrode the wishes of the Minority, which is their privilege and their right. However, it is their responsibility to the general public, and I say to them here this afternoon, if we have any shenanigans on this, the people of Pennsylvania are conscious of the fact that a certain group overrode the wishes of the Governor of this Commonwealth and they will be forced to answer to the public.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, it seems to me that something should be added to what the gentleman who just spoke has stated and reiterated regarding this decision being solely the responsibility of the Majority Party. I think that is substantially correct so far as the committee action was concerned. The Minority Group, or Members of the Committee, definitely opposed discontinuance of the hearings in spite of the fact that a substantial number of them, at least privately, expressed themselves time and again as feeling that the hearings accomplished nothing except to throw a roadblock in the progress of the legislation to carry out the recommendations of the Chesterman Committee.

Mr. President, I think I speak for the Majority Party when I say that action conformed to our unanimous thinking. We are for economy, and we intend to prove to the people of the Commonwealth, before this Session ends, that we are very serious and very sincere about saving the taxpayers just as much money as we possibly can, without disrupting severely the services of the departments of the government of Pennsylvania.

How silly it seems, Mr. President, to go to a meeting, to go to a hearing, as we did on three different occasions, the most recent one being last Tuesday, when we had advertised that we were going to consider publicly the recommendations of the Chesterman Committee to accomplish economies in State Government, and the only witnesses that we seemed to hear from, anywhere on any subject, were witnesses who said, "So far as economy is concerned, you must spend more money." That happened in each and every case, and we were bewildered and we were confounded.

Mr. President, I, for one, and I have no qualms about admitting that I made the motion to discontinue these hearings, was determined that I would not build in front of myself a big wall which I would have to climb over in order to vote for any of the things growing out of the recommendations of the Chesterman Committee. Rather than delay and confuse the Legislature any further by prolonged hearings, which brought forth only the testimony of one side, I took the initiative, and there was no plot, nor deep-laid scheme nor sinister move. I took the initiative to bring to a head this question of whether we should have more hearings, week after week, or whether we should get down to the business of considering legislation and sink our teeth into these things.

You know, Mr. President, we have to endure a lot to be Members of the Legislature. I have some friends who delight in cutting clippings out of some western newspapers, editorials, regarding the Legislators. I got a few the other day again, one or two of which I think were clipped from the Altoona Mirror, Senator Mallery, in which they want to know what kind of people come down here to the Legislature. They want to know whether we cannot read. Our answer to that, of course, unfortunately, is "yes." That is why we have to go through the things, day after day, that are delivered to us.

Mr. President, the Chesterman Report spells out where you can make economies, and we should not be too sluggish; we should not be sluggards, we should not be lazy, and instead of reading those reports, call public hearings and ask people to come in from all over the State to substantiate them.

Now, Mr. President, very obviously two things are desired. The people do not want any more taxes, and the newspapers, at least, seem to reflect the opinion of the public that we should adopt the report of the Chesterman Committee in every sense where economies can be effected.

Every last Republican in this body, I believe, is committed to both of those things, Mr. President, and we will do just the very best that we can not to sidetrack them or deter them, not to draw any red herrings across trails, but to directly approach every saving that we think is either a certainty or a reasonable possibility. If it goes beyond that, some of them may be a little bit difficult to swallow, but up to that point we are really in business so far as this report on State Government economies is concerned.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I did not plan on getting up and taking the floor again, but just to keep the record straight, in answer to the statements by the distinguished Senator from Schuylkill, I believe that at that meeting my thinking or suggestion was adopted, whereby we would take the position that the Chesterman Committee's recommendations were correct and that the burden of proof would be on the critics.

I agreed, Mr. President, that the Members of the Chesterman Committee should not appear before our committee. I felt that it would be unfair to ask them to appear because, naturally, they would be the victims of pot shots. If we were sincere in our endeavors, I believe, and I think the group agreed, that we should adopt the theory, or the thinking, that the Committee's reports were correct and that the department heads and other persons would have to prove, beyond a reasonable doubt, that they were wrong.

In addition, Mr. President, I want to say this. The distinguished gentleman from Schuylkill made the motion; I, at once, asked that the motion be laid upon the table until such time as the leadership of both sides appeared here this week. However, my suggestion or motion was brushed aside arbitrarily, and the Majority Party fulfilled their wishes and intent by discontinuing those hearings. So, it is entirely up to them.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am not going to get into the argument of whether or not the hearings should have been discontinued. I just want to say this. The answer to the Chesterman Committee Report, the answer to the legislative dilemma we find ourselves in, can best be found in the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

Mr. President, there has been a bill passed by the House, and now resting in this Senate Committee, for a Constitutional Convention. A malignant disease destroys the body. The malignancy of our body politic today is waste and excess. The only way that we can operate and save the body politic itself is by an operation upon the body. We have to cut out the malignancy. The Chesterman Committee Report tries to do so, I have read it, but it can't go far enough. Its recommendations, as a whole, are superficial. However, having nothing else to work with, this Legislature can do nothing other than to work within the framework of this so-called Chesterman Committee Report.

I do believe, in all sincerity, Mr. President, that the only answer, dealing with the health and welfare of this State, is to allow the Constitutional Convention to be called. These malignant sores that have sprung up over the years of misuse and abuse in government can be operated upon through an intelligent approach by men and women elected as delegates to this convention. Many of the recommendations of the Chesterman Committee will not be in full force and effect for a period of four years after this Legislature is gone. If it is a cure, then it should be put into operation immediately. The only way we can do that is to have our Constitutional Convention. Economy in government and a convention for the purpose of a new Constitution are inseparable; they go hand in hand.

I only say this, Mr. President. If our forefathers in this land of ours had been as lacking in courage as we are sometimes, I doubt if the borders of this Country of ours would have ever extended beyond the original Thirteen States.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, the resolution that I am about to introduce pertains to the proposed rerouting of Pennsylvania State Highway, Route No. 88, in the city of Monongahela, in my county of Washington.

This proposed rerouting has been under consideration for a number of years, and this particular highway is of vital importance to the motoring public in the Monongahela Valley. It has been said that it is one of the most heavily traveled and one of the worst State Highways in Pennsylvania.

Several years ago, Mr. President, the officials of the city of Monongahela, in conjunction with the officials of Washington County and myself, met with the Honorable Ray Smock, now deceased, and at that time Secretary of Highways. A proposed plan was worked out whereby the cost pertaining to property damages would be borne proportionately between the county of Washington and the city of Monongahela. However, the property damage costs were so prohibitive that the voters in the city, at a referendum vote, rejected the then proposed plan. The property damages alone would have cost the city well over a hundred thousand dollars.

I imagine most of you wonder why a Third Class City could not assume that proportionate share of property damage costs. For your information, the city of Monongahela had a population of 8,922 at the last census, and on a per capita basis the cost would be prohibitive.

For the information of the Members of the Senate, Pennsylvania Route No. 88 is the so-called river road connecting Allegheny County with the county of Greene, and it services New Eagle, Monongahela, Carroll Township, Charleroi, Speers, Dunlevy, Allenport, Roscoe, Elco, Coal Center, California, Blainsburg, West Brownsville, Denbo, Centerville, Fredericktown, Millsboro, and a portion of Clarksville, all in Washington County. The section of the road known as Cemetery Hill, out of Monongahela, is more or less an upgrade, S-curved, and in the winter-time this section acts as a bottleneck for the entire Valley. It seems to me, in view of the fact that Route 88 is so important to all the Valley towns, the Department of Highways should favorably consider this resolution.

Mr. President, I believe the membership of the Senate will agree that, although the Cemetery Hill Section is located within the city limits of Monongahela, it should not be the responsibility of the citizenry of that city to assume the property damage costs which are so prohibitive. I might also add, Mr. President, that affirmative action should be taken at this Session of the Legislature, as this relocation is definitely an eventuality. There is considerable building of homes in this particular area and the longer we delay the relocation of this road in this particular section, the greater will be our property damage costs.

Mr. President, in presenting the following resolution I trust the distinguished Chairman of the Committee on Highways will give it his sincere consideration.

RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

RE-ROUTING OF STATE HIGHWAY, ROUTE No. 88

Mr. LANE offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, March 23, 1953.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has already made large expenditures in planning and surveying the proposed rerouting of State Highway, Route No. 88 in the first ward of the City of Monongahela, commonly known as Cemetery Hill; and

Whereas, Such rerouting would be of great benefit to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to Washington County; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Department of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby directed to relieve the City of Monongahela from all costs in the rerouting of that part of State Highway, Route No. 88 above referred to and commonly known as Cemetery Hill.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. McCUSKER offered the following concurrent resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 23, 1953.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with.

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 76, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one article fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania permitting county treasurers to hold successive terms

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to, Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 87, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to reenact subsection A of section 1012 of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 624) entitled, as amended, "An act relating to the business of banking, and to the exercise of fiduciary powers by corporations; providing for the organization of corporations with fiduciary powers, and of banking corporations, with or without fiduciary powers, including the conversion of National banks into State banks, and for the licensing of private bankers, and employees mutual banking associations; defining the rights, powers, duties, liabilities, and immunities of such corporations, of existent corporations authorized to engage in a banking business, with or without fiduciary powers, of private bankers and employees' mutual banking associations, and of the officers, directors, trustees, shareholders, attorneys, and other employees of all such corporations, employees' mutual banking associations or private bankers, or of affiliated corporations, associations or persons; restricting the exercise of banking powers by and other corporation, association or person and of fiduciary powers by any other corporation; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the courts, prothonotaries, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts," by making further provision concerning the powers and limitations on powers of banks and trust companies.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 91, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 5 of the act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1198) entitled "An act providing for the conservation and improvement of land affected in connection with the mining of bituminous coal by the open pit mining method regulating such mining and providing penalties" by further regulating back-filling and operation reports.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 233, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 487) entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in boroughs towns and townships as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors requiring the county commissioners of the various counties to act as a registration commission therefor and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens parties political bodies registration commissions commissioners registrars inspectors of registration and other appointees of registration commissions county election boards election officers municipal officers departments and bureaus police officers courts judges prothonotaries sheriffs county commissioners peace officers county treasurers county controllers registrars of vital statistics certain public utility corporations real estate brokers rental agents and boards of school directors and imposing penalties" as previously amended by extending the provisions thereof to cities of the second class and making uniform certain provisions relating to time limitations affected by municipal and general elections.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I am wondering if the sponsors of the bill would agree to hold it over so we could amend it to include cities of the Second Class

A, which would result, if enacted, in further savings in Scranton.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from the Second Class A City, Senator McMEnamin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. McMEnamin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Yes, indeed, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Senator McMEnamin, my only objection to including cities of the Second Class A in the bill would be the danger that we might run into in having opposition to the bill. We have confined it strictly to cities of the Second Class, which is simply the city of Pittsburgh. The entire purpose was to consolidate the problem there which had been agreed to by the major political parties involved.

Knowing nothing, Mr. President, about the problem that confronts the authorities in the county of Lackawanna or in the city of the Second Class A, I would be a little timid about endangering the bill, and that is the only reason I would object to having it included in the bill.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I think it is a good bill for Pittsburgh and we have the same registration setup in Scranton, with a registration commission for the city. I cannot speak for the leaders of the Republican or Democratic Parties in Lackawanna County, but I, myself, would vote for it in its present form. I think it is designed to save taxes and I would like to see some saved in Lackawanna, too.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I will be very happy to vote for the gentleman's bill if he will introduce it.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, perhaps that is the better way to do it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, March 24, 1953, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5:30 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, March 24, 1953, at 11:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, March 23, 1953

The House met at 4:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Charles C. Smith) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend William Hugh Fryer, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Who alone givest wisdom and understanding, inspire, we pray Thee, the minds of all to whom Thou hast committed the responsibility of government and leadership in the nations of the world. Give to them the vision of truth and justice, that by their counsels all nations and classes may work together in true brotherhood, and Thy people may serve Thee in unity and peace; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. KUBACKI.

RESOLUTION No. 37.

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1953.

Whereas, Recent charges have been levelled at Wernersville State Hospital charging "loose administration" which resulted in shortages amounting to $9,816; and

Whereas, It is of great importance to the taxpayers of this Commonwealth if such charges be true, that responsibility be placed for unlawful acts resulting in misuse of State funds, and if such charges are wrong, that the reputations of persons responsible for the administration of Wernersville State Hospital be cleared of any possible stigma because of the charges of "loose administration"; and

Whereas, This House of Representatives deems it advisable to take immediate action to find out the true facts in regards to the charges levelled at the administration of Wernersville State Hospital; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives is hereby directed to appoint a committee of five members of this House, to consist of both Republicans and Democrats, for the purpose of investigating the charges of "loose administration" at Wernersville State Hospital which it has been claimed resulted in shortages amounting to $9,816 in such items as sheets, blankets, pillow cases, bed spreads and towels; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee so appointed shall, immediately upon completion of its investigation, report the results of its investigation and its findings to this House of Representatives for appropriate action thereon.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. LOPRESTI.

RESOLUTION No. 38.

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1953.

Whereas, Under the provisions of the Corporate Tax laws of this Commonwealth, numerous forms must be executed and sworn to, many of them showing only that there is nothing to report; and

Whereas, Many jurisdictions no longer require tax returns to be sworn to before an officer authorized to take oaths; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study, investigate and inquire into the mechanics of corporate taxation and suggest means of consolidating the forms required thereunder, and a possible substitute for the affidavits now required.

For these purposes, the Joint State Government Commission shall have power to employ certified public accountants.

The Joint State Government Commission shall report its findings and recommendations to the next regular session of the General Assembly, together with such proposed legislation as it may devise to carry out its recommendations.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Section 1 Section one thousand one hundred seventy of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1170 Rights Retained Every employe while on sabbatical leave of absence shall be considered to be in regular full-time daily attendance in the position from which the sabbatical leave was taken during the period of said leave for the purpose of determining the employe's length of service and the right to receive increments as provided by law

Every person on leave of absence shall [retain the right to make contributions as a member of the School Employees' Retirement Fund and continue his or her membership therein] continue his or her membership in the School Employees' Retirement Association The school district shall pay into the School Employees' Retirement Fund on behalf of each such employe on leave in addition to the contributions required by law to be made by it the full amount of the contribution required by law to be paid by the employe as though said employe were actually in regular full-time daily attendance in the position from which the sabbatical leave was taken so that such employe's retirement rights shall be in no way affected by such leave of absence The amount of the contribution required to be paid by the employe shall be deducted from any compensation payable to the employe while on leave

Nothing in this subdivision of this article shall be construed to prevent any person on leave of absence from receiving a grant for further study from any institution of learning

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. PECHAN, from the Committee on State Government, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 41, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 1352), entitled "An act providing for joint action by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey in the administration, operation, and maintenance of bridges over the Delaware River, and for the construction of additional bridge facilities across said river; authorizing the Governor, for these purposes, to enter into an agreement with the State of New Jersey; creating a Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission and specifying the powers and duties thereof, including the power to finance the construction of additional bridges by the issuance of revenue bonds to be redeemed from revenues derived from tolls collected at such bridges; transferring to said commission all powers now exercised by existing commission created to acquire toll bridges over the Delaware River; and making an appropriation," by authorizing the Governor to enter into a supplemental compact or agreement on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with the State of New Jersey amending and supplementing the compact or agreement entitled "Agreement between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey creating the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission as a body corporate and politic and defining its powers and duties," as heretofore amended and supplemented; enlarging the jurisdiction and powers of said commission with respect to the acquisition, construction, administration, operation, and maintenance of port and terminal facilities, the financing thereof, and the fixing, charging and collecting of tolls and other charges for the use of said port and terminal facilities; authorizing the issuance of negotiable bonds and obligations of the commission; providing for the designation of deputies to act for and in behalf of absent ex-officio members of said commission from Pennsylvania; authorizing the combining for financing purposes of any such port and terminal facilities with any bridge or bridges heretofore or hereafter constructed or acquired by said commission; and authorizing the Governor to apply, on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to the Congress of the United States for its consent to such supplemental compact or agreement.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for ten minutes, for the purpose of having a meeting of the Rules Committee.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I think this is the first time in fourteen years that I have risen under Petitions and Remonstrances, but in reading my Legislative Journal for last week, I notice on pages 682 and 683 that my distinguished colleague from Northampton, Senator Yosko, rose and took issue with some statement of a civilian defense official from Massachusetts, as to the value of viewing the atomic explosion at Yucca Flat.

Mr. President, I think one of the most learned individuals I met on that trip, and I think it was very worth-while, was John McCullough, the expert from the Philadelphia Inquirer, who has viewed every bomb dropping since Bikini. John McCullough's article, on the front page of this paper last Sunday, takes official notice of the remarks made here in the Senate, as a direct quote, and says of them:

"The quasi-cynical comment made by one civil defense official that an observer could see all that was necessary of the test by paying 50 cents to see the newsreels, official observers on the Yucca Flat agreed, was a counsel either of stupidity or indifference.

"No pictures, however graphic, were a substitute for the actual experience of feeling the blast heat, watching the pall of high-intensity radioactive dust close in, and feeling the sharp impact of the blast wave as it sped across the desert bowl at express train speed, pushing its fringe of dust ahead of it.

"Don't tell me there wasn't any blast," Joseph Hackney, Atlantic City civil defense official, declared. 'I was standing on a rock on "News Nob," snapping pictures like mad, when it hit me. I went over backward as though I had been hit by a flying tackle. There's blast, all right.'

Mr. President, I would like to ask unanimous consent to enter the article of John McCullough in the Legislative Journal, if there are no objections.

"VALUE OF CIVIL DEFENSE EDUCATION HELD PROVED BY LATEST A-TEST"

"By John M. McCullough

"The basic principle of public education which the Philadelphia Civil Defense Council has been pursuing steadily for the past two years—that an alert and informed public is the best possible defense against atomic attack—was proved in the atomic test on Nevada's Yucca Flat Proving Ground last week.

"Maj. Gen. Norman D. Cota, executive director of the council, made that comment as survey teams reported on what they had found behind the pall which still obscured the seven-square-mile impact area.

"Test Bears Out Bulletins

"Two bulletins in particular published by the council and distributed through the schools and at public meetings by the hundreds of thousands—Information Bulletins Nos. 1 and 3—might have been written in the light of last Tuesday's blast rather than months before.

"The quasi-cynical comment made by one civil defense official that an observer could see all that was necessary of the test by paying 50 cents to see the newsreels, official observers on the Yucca Flat agreed, was a counsel either of stupidity or indifference.

"Hit By Flying Tackle

"No picture, however graphic, were a substitute for the actual experience of feeling the blast heat, watching the pall of high-intensity radio-active dust close in, and feeling the sharp impact of the blast wave as it sped across the desert bowl at express train speed, pushing its fringe of dust ahead of it.

"Don't tell me there wasn't any blast,' Joseph Hackney, Atlantic City civil defense official, declared. 'I was standing on a rock 'in "News Nob," snapping pictures like mad; when it hit me. I went over backward as though I had been hit by a flying tackle. There's blast, all right.'

"Instant Shelter Vital

"On the other hand, objective analysis of the test results, premature and inclusive as they may be, did more than anything else to sweep some nuclear myths from the minds of civil defense officials and to de-bunk the 'Good heavens, Nellie' school of atomic thinking.

"Among the points developed by such an analysis are these:

"1. Any shelter—even only reasonably adequate shelter—taken instantly upon warning is the very first and most vitally significant lesson in the face of atomic attack.

"2. The real fire threat is not the super-heat of the bomb detonation, which though violent is transient, but the 'secondary fire'—the fire ignited by electric short circuits and other domestic or industrial sources of heat.

"Even a low air-bursting bomb whose expanding fireball actually touches and scorches the earth does not cause lingering radio-activity of an intensity that will prohibit mobilized civil defense workers from going into action immediately.

"4. An alert and informed public, so drilled in the basic principles of self-protection as not to panic easily in the face of attack, is the real defense against 'The Bomb.'

"5. The low-bursting bomb caused an earth tremor not unlike a localized earthquake which, upon careful analysis, may prove to be a new factor which will cause some re-evaluation of civil defense planning, particularly as it may affect underground utilities.

"Withstand Effects

"Let's take up these points in their order:

"Shelter: Shelter designed by the Federal Civil Defense Administration withstood all of the effects of the blast from a close-in point only 1250 feet from ground zero out to a distance of 1½ miles. Generally speaking, these are shelters which any household or any industry could erect without excessive cost. Many structures today, with only slight modification, would meet the specifications adequately.

"Nowhere was this truism more dramatically demonstrated than in the two test houses—Projects 21-A and 21-B, to use the FCDA's official nomenclature.

"Both houses were of modern construction, no more and no less substantial than any $18,000 clapboard frame residence erected on a concrete block foundation among the mushrooming residential developments in Philadelphia's suburbs. Its framing in every respect corresponded to the best building practice.

"In both houses, ranged against the cellar foundation wall, were two types of shelters—a lean-to shelter, of two-by-four framing, sheathed in ¾-inch fir, under which three or four persons could be accommodated; and a ("box") shelter, also framed with two-by-fours, with roof and siding of the same ¾-inch wood.

"Blown From Foundations

"The first house was blown from its foundation by the shock wave discolored but not ignited by the heat, and collapsed into shattered debris. The shelters were intact. Dummies, weighted to simulate children and adults, were not disturbed in either house. The lingering radiation was substantially less than on either the first or second floor.

"The second house was wrecked—possibly by the combination of the blast and the earth tremor. Its floor joists and roof rafters were splintered, all but two windows and their frames blown out—or in, in the rear wall—and it would require major repairs to make it habitable.

"Fire. Some observers who entered the impact area within slightly less than 3500 feet of ground zero initially were unduly impressed by the absence of real fire damage. As a result, they leaped to the unwise conclusion that the heat of atomic explosion had been exaggerated. It was not until, through binoculars, their attention was drawn to two small heaps of fused and blackened steel, each hardly larger than the body of a flame-seared truck, that they changed their minds.

"The two small heaps were, respectively, all that remained of a 300-foot, 40-ton steel tower from which the bomb was detonated, and a tower of equal height resembling any radio tower familiar to a Philadelphian. The rest of the steel had been vaporized and swept away in the bomb cloud.

"Sage Brush Scorched

"Because there was only a scorch mark on the sage brush in the area, the conclusion that the heat factor had been overdone was further supported. Actually, sage brush has a very high ignition point and the bomb's flash heat, intense though it is, passes too swiftly to ignite the hardy flora of the desert. Even those fires set by the flash heat, which is instantaneous since it travels with the speed of light, are 'snuffed out' by the violent wind of the blast wave, which relatively travels very much slower.

"Light travels at the speed of 186,000 miles a second; the blast wave initially at a speed of about 1000 miles an hour, falling off rapidly to about 1100 feet a second, the speed of sound.

"Neither house was equipped with standard utilities, such as electricity or illuminating gas. There were no matches in table drawers, no inflammable liquids, oil or paint-soaked rags in enclosed spaces whose temperatures might have been raised to the point of spontaneous combustion.

"Thus, the lack of fire following the blast merely emphasized rather than minimized the standard civil defense instructions regarding 'fireproof' housekeeping, training in household fire-fighting, and care of appliances which might serve as the source of fire.

"Lingering Radioactivity: No aspect of the test caused officials of both the Atomic Energy Commission and the Federal Civil Defense Administration more concern than the reaction of observers to the understanding of radiation in all of its aspects.

"Prompt radiation is that which occurs within about three seconds from the explosion of the bomb itself, when rays and particles of the explosion are spewed like minute machine-gun bullets over an area of about a mile and a half from ground zero. 'Lingering' radiation is that which is artificially induced in other materials by this prompt radiation.

"At every test point—attached to dummies in the houses, in every automobile on the test site—there were either film badges, which automatically recorded radiation, or 'dosimeters,' another device to record radiation.

"What level the 'prompt' radiation reached at any given point, but of most significance in the basement shelters, will not be known for two or three weeks, after the badges and dosimeters have been read by the National Bureau of Standards. To exposed persons within about 4000 feet, the 'prompt' radiation would have been deadly.

"The important fact, however, is that the 'lingering' radiation decayed rapidly. At no time was it so severe as to have prevented rescue crews from entering the area, although their time on duty probably would have had to be carefully limited to avoid undue emergency exposure.

"Because of their frequent exposure to radiation, AEC workers are not permitted to absorb more than a total of three roentgen units in any 14-day period. They can be exposed to that level of radiation for the rest of their natural lives without injury of any kind. It was this level which was maintained at the site.

"However, for emergency purposes, FCDA teaches that even a radiation level of 25 roentgens can be taken by emergency workers for a limited time, since theirs is a 'one-shot' exposure—that is, one that will not be repeated possibly in a lifetime.

"When we entered within less than 3500 feet of ground zero seven hours after the blast, the radiation level was six milliroentgens (6/1000ths roentgen). Within the half hour that we stood there, it had decayed to slightly less than 4/1000ths. The alkali dust under our feet was radioactive, but we could have rolled in it, in all likelihood, without requiring any treatment other than a much-needed shower, which was needed in any case.

"All of this added up, in the minds of official observers, to the fact that an alert and informed public—a public which knows both the hazards and the limitations of atomic attack, and which is prepared to take action promptly in the light of that knowledge, in accordance with pre-planned conduct—can face the bomb's blinding blast with no less but hardly greater qualms than its sons and brothers and husbands face combat.

"This is what the Philadelphia Civil Defense Council has been trying to tell the Philadelphia public for the past two years."

The PRESIDENT. The article will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, the distinguished Majority Whip mentioned my name in connection with some remarks I made here last week. Since he was not here, I thought I would enlighten him as to how my remarks came about.

Mr. President, there was debate, if my memory serves me correctly, on the floor of the Senate on the lack of a legislative program and lack of activity on the part of this Legislature. During the course of the debate, I rose and informed the Members of the Senate of an article I read in the Philadelphia Bulletin, emanating from the State of Massachusetts. My related remarks in connection with the article had something to do with the lack of a legislative program.

Mr. President, I think if you will take a look at the record, you will find that I concluded my remarks by saying that I hoped that when the atomic bomb exploded, the Governor, together with the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader of the Senate, as well as the Minority Leader of the House, would get together and from the explosion probably bring back to us a legislative program that would permit this Legislature to get down to work, get a Calendar together here which will keep us in session at least three days a week, so that we could conclude the work of this Session of the Legislature. I feel the same about it now as I felt last week.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am glad to report that "Doctor Dent" and the rest of us, immediately after the atomic explosion, did get together and, as a result, we are about ready to light a fuse under a whole lot of bills which, if given time now, Senator Ruth will report from the Committee on Rules.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make reports from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hear none.

Mr. RUTH, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed Senate Bill No. 327, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employees in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employees of certain departments, boards, and commissions shall be determined," by making the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission a departmental administrative commission in the Department of Public Instruction, and prescribing its powers and duties.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 328, entitled: ernor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employees in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employees of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by creating the Highway Planning Commission as an advisory commission in the Department of Highways.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 341, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employees in certain departments, boards, and commissions; prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employees of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by establishing the Department of Health and Welfare; transferring to it the powers and duties of the Department of Health, Department of Welfare and Department of Public Assistance; providing for a Secretary of Health and Welfare; defining his powers and duties; and abolishing the Department of Health, the Department of Welfare and the Department of Public Assistance.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 329, entitled:

An Act abolishing the Department of Health and transferring its powers and duties to the Department of Health and Welfare.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 331, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for the abolition of the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 332, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by transferring powers and duties relating to weights and measures from the Department of Internal Affairs to the Department of Labor and Industry.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 330, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 2008 of the act approved the tenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30), entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," by requiring repayment of tuition costs by State teachers college graduates who fail to comply with their agreement to teach in the public schools of this Commonwealth.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 333, entitled:

An Act to reenact and further amend portions of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by abolishing the board of trustees of State teachers' colleges; creating an advisory board for each State teachers' college; defining their powers and the powers and duties of the Department of Public Instruction with respect to State teachers' colleges; and renaming the departmental administrative agencies in the Department of Public Instruction and the State advisory boards and commissions.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 334, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by making the Milk Control Commission a departmental administrative commission in the Department of Agriculture and prescribing its powers and duties.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 335, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1440), entitled "An act concerning notaries public and amending, revising, consolidating and changing the law relating thereto," by providing for the appointment of notaries public by the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 336, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four, section eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by making changes in the appointment and tenure of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 337, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the tenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30), entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools, amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," by limiting the amount of reimbursement by the Commonwealth to school districts and vocational school districts; and requiring the Department of Public Instruction to administer the financial affairs of financially handicapped and distressed school districts in certain cases.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 338, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 408 of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by removing the Superintendent of Public Instruction from membership on the State Council of Education and further regulating appointment of members.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 339, entitled:

An Act to amend Clause (c) of Section 3 of the act, approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 752), entitled "An act regulating and improving the civil service of certain departments and agencies of the Commonwealth; vesting in the State Civil Service Commission and a Personnel Director certain powers and duties; providing for classification of positions, adoption of compensation schedules and certification of payrolls; imposing duties upon certain officers and employees of the Commonwealth; authorizing service to other State departments or agencies and political subdivisions of the Commonwealth in matters relating to civil service; defining certain crimes and misdemeanors; imposing penalties; making certain appropriations, and repealing certain acts and parts thereof," by further defining the term "Service of the Commonwealth" to include certain offices and positions in the Department of Public Instruction.

He also, from the Committee on Rules reported as committed Senate Bill No. 340, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 208 of the act approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employees in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employees of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by clarifying the holding over after expiration of the term of office of persons appointed by the Governor and repealing inconsistent provisions.

STUDENTS FROM RADNOR HIGH SCHOOL, DELAWARE COUNTY, PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, it gives me a great honor and privilege today to introduce to you, and my distinguished colleagues, a group of ninth grade ladies and gentlemen from the Radnor High School, in Delaware County. They are accompanied by Miss Mary Carter, their principal; Mr. Paul Teel, their teacher; and Mr. Albert Swing, the Treasurer from Radnor Township, Delaware County.

Mr. President, it is a great privilege to introduce this wonderful group of young Republican voters from Delaware County.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is pleased, indeed to welcome this very fine group, which he had the privilege of entertaining briefly in his suite earlier in the day. I would now like to ask them to all rise in place and take a bow.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am happy to see the young group here, and I now realize why they get such tremendous majorities down in Delaware. They vote at any age.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the bills which were just introduced, or rather presented to the floor from the Rules Committee, are sponsored jointly by the Republican Leader and myself, acting in the capacity of the Democratic Leader on this side. You will note that the bills were introduced by request. They pertain to the controversial Chesterman Report.

The purpose, Mr. President, in introducing these bills and presenting them to the floor is to give every Member of the General Assembly an opportunity to act in the Committee of the Whole, in order that none of us can say we are not properly acquainted with the subject matter of the Chesterman Report. It does not, in any way, place any Member of my Caucus, and I assume any Member of the Republican Caucus, in any position whatsoever relative to this legislation. It is presented for the purpose of being printed, being given the necessary publicity, in order that we may act intelligently upon this report.

While we were away in Las Vegas, Mr. President, tending strictly to matters of state, the Chesterman Committee investigatory committee folded up. Therefore, the only known method by which the Members of the General Assembly could become acquainted with the contents of the Chesterman Report, in substantial form, was to present to the floor this set of bills.

Now, Mr. President, I am not permitted to be endowed with the necessary facilities to properly describe the atomic bomb. I know that I had a feeling which was shared by the man who had six cats in his household. A visitor arrived one night, and he noticed that there were six round holes drilled in the bottom of the living room door and he said to his friend, "What is the purpose of the six holes?" "Well," he said, "I will tell you. I own six cats and when I say 'scat,' I mean 'scat'."

I want to tell you, Mr. President, when the flash, in the early dawn, burst over the desert in Nevada, I was looking for a hole to get out of there.

Mr. President, regardless of what anybody may say about reaching a conclusion as to the intensity of the Atomic Age by reading about it or viewing it through TV or motion pictures, nothing can bring it to your full realization except to be privileged to be one of the few, as I was, to witness the atomic explosion itself. I want to say to the Members of the Senate, in all of this economy wave into which we are about to enter in State Government, we must keep before us the urgency of giving to the Defense Council of Pennsylvania all of the required sums and needed revenue, in order that the people of this Commonwealth may receive the full benefit of whatever protective measures we can put into force.

Mr. President, I, for one, have come away from the bomb blast a much subdued person. It has made me realize that the little things that I have been worried about for some forty-five years are as nothing, and that we are living in an age where all of the things we hold dear may be snuffed out by the ruthless attack of an enemy who has no regard for the niceties of even warfare.

Therefore, Mr. President, I want to say to the Senate that whatever was spent,—and I am sure that this is no reflection on Senator Yosko's remarks, because I know that he did not mean to criticize the expenditure of the funds to send your representatives out to Nevada,—the fact that every State and our possessions were represented there is further proof that we should have been there. I want to say that I came away filled with awe and respect. Also, I absorbed my share of nuclear confusion.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, since we have brought up this Chesterman Committee business again, I am wondering, after reading this resolution, which was sponsored by Senator Mahany, No. 120, just how we could fold up that committee by a small group of individuals who met down in the House Caucus Room.

For the information of the membership, Mr. President, I want to read this resolution, and then I am wondering whether we should file a report.

"Whereas, His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, John S. Fine, has submitted to the General Assembly the report of the State Government Survey Committee; and

"Whereas, The Governor of the Commonwealth has requested the General Assembly to give due consideration to its recommendations and where deemed feasible to implement the said recommendations by appropriate legislation; and now therefore be it

"Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of 15 members of the Senate and the Speaker of the House appoint a similar committee of the House to conduct public hearings on the various phases, findings, and recommendations of the State Government Survey Committee, and report their findings to this Session of the General Assembly."

This was adopted by the Senate on February 24 of this year, Mr. President. In the House, it was referred to the Committee on Rules on February 24; it was reported as committed on March 2; concurred in by the House on March 2, 1953; and approved by the Governor on March 5, 1953.

Mr. President, this committee, which was appointed by the President pro tempore and the Speaker of the House, has not as yet filed a report. This is an act of the Legislature; this is a Resolution duly adopted according to law. I am wondering just what the status of this committee is at this particular time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I want to be very brief about this, but I do not like to let pass the observations of my colleague, Senator Lane, on the subject of the Hearing Committee. The resolution which was read by the Senator required that this committee hold public hearings, and report upon the various phases of the so-called Chesterman Committee Report.

Mr. President, it has always been the intention, and still is, that this committee will hold an executive session and will formulate a report to the Senate and the House of Representatives. As a matter of fact, one of the Members of the Committee consulted with me last evening, and I told him I thought that meeting would be held on Monday next, and it will if it is possible to work it in with the other matters which are before the Legislature.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, everything the gentleman says is true. However, I do not believe the Hearing Committee, itself, could dissolve its own operations because it is a creature of the Legislature. My opinion is, and I believe I am right, that they cannot arbitrarily pass a motion in their group and discontinue public hearings until such time as the Legislature jointly approves their action.

The commission shall fix a time for a hearing thereof at its office not later than the tenth day prior to the election or primary. At the time so fixed the commission shall hear and dispose of the petition having first given at least forty-eight hours' notice of the hearing to the registrar commissioner or clerk who rejected the petitioner's application for registration. The commission if satisfied that the petitioner is entitled to be registered shall direct a registrar commissioner or clerk to register him in the usual manner and shall amend accordingly the records affected but any registrar clerk inspector of registration or qualified elector of the county may appear and show cause why the petitioner should not be registered

Section 15 Section twenty-four of said act as amended by the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 278) is hereby reenacted and further amended to read as follows and townships within the county shall be placed in exact alphabetical order and shall be indexed and shall be kept at the office of the commission in a place and in such manner as to be properly safeguarded. In any county where the registration cards of the cities of the second class boroughs towns and townships are of the same type as those used in the cities of the third class and in the opinion of the commission can be consolidated into one duplicate registration it shall be the duty of the commission to place the duplicate registration cards for all cities of the second class boroughs towns and townships and all cities of the third class in exact alphabetical order which shall be indexed and shall be kept at the office of the commission in a place and in such manner as to be properly safeguarded. These cards shall constitute the general register of the cities of the second class boroughs towns and townships or of all such cities of the third class cities of the second class boroughs towns and townships in the county as the case may be and shall not be removed from the office of the commission except upon order of a court of record of the county wherein such city of the third class city of the second class borough town or township is located.

Section 16 Section twenty-five of said act is hereby reenacted to read as follows

Section 25 District Registers The original registration cards shall be filed by election districts and within each election district in exact alphabetical order and indexed. The cards so filed for each election district shall constitute the district register for such district. The district register shall be kept at the office of the commission except as herein provided and shall be open to public inspection at all times subject to reasonable safeguards rules and regulations.

Section 17 Section twenty-six of said act as amended by the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 752) is hereby reenacted and further amended to read as follows

Section 26 Removal Notices (a) The commission shall provide removal notices which it shall cause to be made available for the convenient use of electors who are registered in any city of the second class borough town township or city of the third class within the county. These notices shall be printed upon cards suitable for mailing addressed to the office of the registration commission and shall contain spaces wherein the elector shall write (1) the city of the second class borough town or township the street or road and number if any of his present residence and the specific location thereof including the number of the room or rooms apartment flat or floor if his residence is a portion only of a house (2) the city borough town or township the street or road and number if any of the address from which he was last registered (3) the date of his removal to his present residence and (4) space wherein the elector shall sign his name. The removal notice shall contain a statement that the elector may by filling out properly and signing a removal notice and returning it to the office of the commission secure the transfer of his registration to the election district in which he resides effective as to elections and primaries occurring at least two months after the date of his removal into the new district. Each removal notice shall contain a warning to the elector that the notice will not be accepted as an application for transfer of the elector's registration unless the signature thereon can be identified by the commission as the elector's signature in the general and district register for the city borough town or township in which he was last registered. Each removal notice to be effective must be received at the office of the commission at least fifty days prior to any primary [or] general or municipal election [held in even-numbered years and at least thirty-five days prior to any municipal election held in odd-numbered years] which warning shall also be contained on the removal notice.

(b) Any elector who removes his residence from one place to another within the same election district must notify the commission by filing a removal notice with the commission not later than thirty days next preceding the primary or election. Provided That any elector who removes his residence from one place to another within the same election district and who has not yet filed a removal notice with the commission may be permitted to vote at the election or primary next following such removal if at the time of signing voter's certificate he files with the judge of election a signed removal notice properly filled out. All such removal notices shall be returned to the commission with the voting check list and the commission shall proceed to transfer the registration of such electors in accordance with the provisions of this act.

Section 18 Section twenty-seven of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 606) and subsection (a) of which was amended by the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 752) is hereby reenacted and further amended to read as follows

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and argeed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, before the Senate is asked to vote on this bill, I would like to make a few comments on it.

Mr. President, as the Senate was advised yesterday in a discussion on this bill between the Senator from Lackawanna and myself, in Allegheny County there are two registration boards. One is operating just in the city of Pittsburgh and is in charge of the City Registration Commission, which is appointed by the Governor of the Commonwealth. The county of Allegheny has a separate Registration Commission, under the Borough and Township Registration Code, which registers all of the voters in the county of Allegheny who live outside the city.

Under the present setup, Mr. President, if a voter moves from one borough or township to another, all they have to do to reregister is to file a change of address card. In the city of Pittsburgh, if a voter moves from one ward to another in the city, the same situation exists. However, if a voter moves from the city out into the county, or from the county into the city, the voter is obliged to reregister because of the two setups.

Mr. President, in the handling of the City Registration Commission, all of the costs of operation are borne by the county of Allegheny. I would like to present to the Senate some information that might be of interest to them.

Mr. President, in the county, the County Registration Commission registered 510,890 voters. In the city, the City Registration Commission registered 358,079 voters. So, there is considerable more electorate in the county outside of the city than is contained within the confines of the municipal limits of the city of Pittsburgh. The Registration Bureau in the county operates on a budget of $170,321. The City Registration Commission operates on a budget of $204,613. It costs us more to register a fewer number of people in the city, with the City Registration Commission, than it does in the county with the setup under the Borough and Township Registration Code.

The number of employees, Mr. President, in the City Registration Commission is approximately fifty-three. The number of employees in the County Registration Commission is about thirty-five. Now, it has been the hope for some years that we would be able to consolidate these two Registration Commissions by bringing the city registration problem in under the Borough and Township Registration Code, so that by this consolidation we could save some money. We could operate more efficiently and, frankly, we could also conserve space in the county office buildings which are located in the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. President, the controversy has always been on a consolidation of this type as to who would have the appointive power of the Registration Commission; whether it should be in the Office of the County Commissioners or in the Office of the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth. That issue, of course, Mr. President, always had a political tinge. It is the hope and the expectation of the Republican Party in Allegheny County that eventually they will be the Majority Party and, therefore, the political problem of who makes the appointment will have passed by the boards.

Mr. President, it is also the firm conviction of the Republican leaders in Allegheny County that the best indication of the right of a political party to be entrusted with public responsibility is to furnish good government whenever possible. We are convinced that the consolidation of these two registration commissions is a step toward better government. That is why we are encouraging it at this time.

Mr. President, I want to say, very frankly, to the gentlemen of the Senate that there is opposition to this bill. The opposition stems primarily from the political problem which is involved. It is one that every Member of the Senate can readily recognize because none of us were appointed to these jobs; we all had to run for election. You cannot have a political problem without running into the very thing that has created opposition to this bill.

Mr. President, I want to say to the Members of this Senate that even though in Allegheny County we are the Minority Party, we are convinced that this is good government and we would like to have this bill passed so that Allegheny County can enjoy the same consolidated registration setup which sixty-five of the other counties in Pennsylvania now enjoy.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28

Barr,	Holland,	McCusker,	Toole,
Camiel,	Kessler,	McGinnis,	Wade,
Chapman,	Lane,	McPherson, Jr.	Wagner,
Diehm,	Letzler,	Peelor,	Walker,
Freed,	Madigan,	Probert,	Watkins,

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. RAGOT.

HOUSE BILL No. 749.

An Act to further amend Section 14 of the act approved the eighth day of July, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 298), entitled "An act authorizing the creation of, and providing for, and regulating the maintenance and operation of a county employees' retirement system in counties of the fourth class, imposing certain charges on counties, and fixing penalties," by providing for retirement allowances to contributors after twenty-five years of service, but prior to reaching super-annuation retirement age, whether such retirement be voluntary or involuntary, and fixing a minimum allowance in such cases.

L. 1184) entitled "An act authorizing cities of the first and second class and second class A and incorporated towns to make appropriations to organizations of ex-service men to aid in defraying the expenses of Memorial Day and Armistice Day" authorizing said political subdivisions to appropriate money to certain veterans organizations for expenses of Flag Day.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 86, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 382), entitled "An act providing for the incorporation as bodies corporate and politic of "Authorities" for municipalities, counties and townships; prescribing the rights, powers and duties of such Authorities heretofore or hereafter incorporated; authorizing such Authorities to acquire, construct, improve, maintain and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor; providing for the payment of such bonds and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof; conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof; and conferring exclusive jurisdiction on certain courts over rates," by requiring bonds of an Authority established by a school district to be offered for sale after solicitation or advertisement of bids.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. GOODLING offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 5), page 4, line 7, by inserting after the word "prices" the following: "not less than par."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 5), page 4, lines 7, 8 and 9 by striking out the word "subject to the limitations" in line 7, all of line 8 and the word "district" in line 9.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 5), page 4, lines 14, 15 and 16 by striking out all of lines 14 and 15 and the words "solicitation or advertisement stating" in line 16 and inserting in lieu thereof

The Authority shall sell its bonds to the highest responsible bidder after public notice by advertisement in at least one and not more than two newspapers of general circulation published in the county in which the Authority is located and in the legal journal, if any, designated by the rules of court for the publication of legal notices and advertisements.

If the notice is published in a daily newspaper or newspapers, it shall be published three times, at intervals of not less than three days. In the case of weekly newspapers and legal journals, it shall be published only twice, once a week, for two successive weeks. The first advertisement shall be published not less than fifteen days before the day fixed for the opening of bids. The Authority may also advertise in a financial journal wherever published, if it deems the same advantageous. All notices shall be set forth

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. GOODLING offered the following amendment:

Amend Title, page 2, lines 6 and 7 of Title, by striking out the words "established by a school district to be offered for sale after solicitation or" and inserting in lieu thereof "to be sold at not less than par, to the highest bidder after."

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 261, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 300), entitled "An act authorizing counties of the second and fourth classes to establish fire training schools for the paid and volunteer firemen of municipalities within the county," by authorizing counties of the fifth class to establish fire training schools.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. McCULLOUGH offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Title), page 2, line 7, by inserting after the word "second" the following: "third."

Amend Sec. 1 (Title), page 2, line 7, by inserting after the word "fifth" the following: "sixth, seventh and eighth."

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 120, Printer's No. 45

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 214, as follows:

An Act to further amend clause (a) of section one thousand one hundred fifty-four of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" by providing for the payment of salaries of professional and temporary professional employees in cases of sickness or accidental injury

Section 1 Clause (a) of section one thousand one hundred fifty-four of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 368) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1154 Payment of Salaries in Cases of Sickness Injury or Death

(a) In any school year whenever a professional or temporary professional employee is prevented by illness or accidental injury from following his or her occupation the school district shall pay to said employee for each day of absence the full salary to which the employee may be entitled as if said employee were actually engaged in the performance of duty for a period of five days Such leave shall be cumulative from year to year but shall not exceed twenty (20) days leave with full pay in any one year

In any case where as the result of absence because of accidental injury the school district is liable for any payments under the Workmen's Compensation Law to the professional or temporary professional employee the amount to be paid to the employe shall be the difference between the amount payable by the school district under the Workmen's Compensation Law and the full salary to which the employe would be entitled if said employe were actually engaged in the performance of his or her duty for a period of five days cumulative from year to year but not to exceed twenty days leave in any one year

Whenever the boards of school directors of two or more school districts may establish any joint elementary public school high school or department or whenever two or more school districts shall merge or form a union school district the professional or temporary professional employes employed by the several boards of school directors establishing such joint school or department or merged or union school district shall be entitled to the sick leave accumulated in the individual school districts subsequently establishing such joint school or department or merged or union school district

The board of school directors shall require the employe to furnish a certificate from a physician or other practitioner certifying that said employe was unable to perform his or her duties during the period of absence for which compensation is required to be paid under this section

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Ewing.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 112, as follows:

An Act to further amend Section 1 of the act approved the thirtieth day of March one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 34) entitled "An act to promote the health and efficiency of firemen in cities of the second class by providing for a two-platoon system for firemen in the department of public safety of such cities" by further regulating the hours of duty of firemen in cities of the second class

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enact as follows

Section 1 Section 1 of the act approved the thirtieth day of March one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 34) entitled "An act to promote the health and efficiency of firemen in cities of the second class by providing for a two-platoon system for firemen in the department of public safety of such cities" as last amended by the act approved the seventeenth day of August one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 1285) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That the head of the department of public safety or of the department having charge of or supervision over the fire department or bureau in each city of the first second and third class shall from and after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred twenty divide the officers and members of companies of the uniformed fire force in the employ of such cities or in the case of a volunteer fire department the firemen and drivers regularly employed and paid by the city excepting the chief engineer and assistant chiefs into two shifts bodies or platoons one to perform day service and the other to perform night service The hours of day service shall not exceed ten commencing at eight o'clock in the morning the hours of night service shall not exceed fourteen commencing at six o'clock in the afternoon In cases of riot serious conflagration or other such emergency the chief engineer of the bureau of fire or the assistant chief deputy or chief officer in charge at any fire shall have the power to assign all the members of the fire force to continuous duty or to continue any member thereof on duty if necessary No member of either of said shifts bodies or platoons shall be required to perform continuous day service or continuous night service for a longer consecutive period than two weeks nor be kept on duty continuously longer than ten hours in the day shifts body or platoon or fourteen hours in the night shift body or platoon excepting as may be necessary to equalize the hours of duty and service and also excepting in cases of riot serious conflagration or other such emergency as above provided Provided however That this act shall not apply to employes who are employed subject to call In any consecutive period of two weeks no member of either of said shifts bodies or platoons in any city of the second class shall be kept on duty for a total period which shall average over [sixty] fifty-five hours in any one week of the consecutive period of two weeks

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective thirty days after final enactment

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. PAUL F. JONES. Mr. Speaker, at the outset of this particular measure we were given the information that involved here was no additional personnel required for the Fire Department for the City of Pittsburgh. Neither would it involve additional expense of money.

The proponents of the measure assured us that that was the case. Since this bill has been on the calendar there has been compiled by both sides certain technical information that I consider should be within the knowledge of this House so that all might intelligently vote on it.

The proponents say that the shift could be made—that there are approximately a thousand firemen in the City of Pittsburgh—and that their hours of work could be reduced five hours a week without impairing the efficiency of the Fire Department. Responsible city officials have informed us otherwise. They say that to put into effect the reduction of five hours a week for each firemen in the City of Pittsburgh approximately ninety new firemen will have to be employed, involving an expenditure of some additional $270,000.

I believe as I said before the House is entitled to know just which of these two views is correct. For that reason and in order that we might get on both sides of the House the technical information that has been compiled by people who have studied this proposition, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Cities—Counties—First—Second and Second Class A for the purpose of further study.

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion for recommitment.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring?
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it is with pleasure that I note in this presence a number of Members that in recent days I have missed. It is a tribute to modern medical practice that this day should evidence this happy reunion.

I also welcome another development, a development in line with correct parliamentary practice. By superhuman effort at the profit of the telephone company the majority party now, Mr. Speaker, has at long last mustered a constitutional majority. There can no longer be any excuse that the progress of legislative action is delayed by reason of an obstreperous minority. You have of the basis of this bill, House Bill 112, elected for some reason to give an evidence of strength, and I welcome the debate. But I am opposed to the bill. It is wrong in theory. It is wrong in practice.

I had hoped, Mr. Speaker, that we would be able to dismiss the internecine political quarrels that might arise in Philadelphia when they hear here that they are sent back to Philadelphia for solution. It has been my fervent hope that the party that was so devoted to home rule, that has so persistently and so ably carried the home rule banner, that when a question of peculiar concern to Allegheny County or to Pittsburgh comes before this Assembly, when it was an issue that affected no other community, an issue that involved the finances of only one city, that since that city had a mayor and since that city had a council, we would elect to send a quarrel, if you please, back to that city.

We are telling Pittsburgh how many hours firemen work. If we wanted to be consistent we would tell Philadelphia and we would tell Scranton, and we would tell Harrisburg, and we would tell York, and we would tell Reading whom to hire, how long they would work; reach out and assume jurisdiction over their municipal affairs. I see no reason why we should not bring into this Assembly, in view of the development today so far and the probable development when we come to a vote, why we should not bring into this Assembly a bill which will lay down the law so far as firemen are concerned for Harrisburg, and for York, and for Reading and for every third class city and for every borough.

If it is a labor bill, as far as Pittsburgh is concerned, it becomes a labor bill when the question arises so far as any other city is concerned.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I want to examine this labor bill business.

Reduce the hours of the firemen from sixty to fifty-five, and it is a labor bill even though it applies to one city. Reduce them from fifty-five to fifty and it is a labor bill even though it applies to one city. Reduce them from fifty to forty-five, it is a labor bill. Reduce them from forty-five to forty, it is a labor bill. I resent that sort of thing. I resent the lobby that brings into this Assembly bills that are not in any sense of concern to labor, and presumes to say to Members of this House, if you do not vote for this particular bill you are against labor.

I was voting for labor bills on the floor of this House when the men who are presuming to tell us what are and what are not labor bills were in their cradles. There must be some significance to the fact that their bill has been made a test of strength. Things like this do not just happen. I presume that as long as there are politically minded men we will play politics.

Now, Mr. Speaker, if we wanted to be fair with this bill, presuming that it is a fair bill, we would have written into it a clause which would say that the bill became operative under the next budget. The proponents of this bill know that the Pittsburgh budget has been sealed, and that only by declaring an emergency can the budget be opened. They know that this bill costs the city of Pittsburgh approximately three hundred thousand dollars and they know they do not have the money. They want to create a situation whereby any Member of this House, Democrat or Republican who does not vote for this bill is an enemy of labor.

If this is such a fine labor bill, it is not peculiar that it has been committed into the keeping of two of my very good friends who, however, have not been conspicuous in their advocacy of measures that vitally concern labor?

This bill is intended to embarrass and harass the Mayor of Pittsburgh, who happens to be a candidate for reelection. It is a bit of politics everybody knows. Had the bill carried an amendment saying that it will become operative when the next budget goes into effect I would have objected to the principle of the bill, but I think I would have supported it.

I want to say something to the Labor Lobby as far as I, personally, am concerned. Every day I get a little memorandum from the labor organization that "We are for this bill" and "We are against that bill," and on many, many occasions there is absolutely no reason why the bill they say they are for should be stamped as a labor bill. But, I want to say that as far as I, personally, am concerned, I shall reserve the right to determine what are and what are not labor bills, and I would be very much relieved if the particular Lobby concerned, since it apparently has captured the majority, would continue its missionary work in those circles. I shall wait with great interest to see what will happen when some bill of vital interest to labor as a whole, a bill that concerns every working man in Pennsylvania comes up. I hope when that day arrives the little memorandum, "We favor this," and "We favor that" will operate with the efficiency it has operated today. If you have really been converted, if you have been taken into camp, if you are one hundred percent devoted to the cause of labor, all I can say is that you have taken a mighty poor vehicle through which to express your devotion.

I want to make a confession, Mr. Speaker. In a section of our caucus—and I hope no one will bring me to task for discussing caucus matters—the brethren who labor in the field of labor, who mail out the daily instruction card, have in a few instances been more potent than I. They have convinced some of the Members on this side of the House that this measure, politically inspired, is in fact a labor bill, and since some of our sheep, Mr. Speaker, have wandered from the fold, and since it will be impossible for me to muster a solid front in opposition to a bill which every dictate of political prudence in the long run would say should be defeated by home rulers—and you are home rulers, I have heard you say so, and you are honorable men, and you must believe what you say—but since Mr. Speaker, it will be impossible I repeat, for me to muster a solid front, since some of the goats have wandered from the fold, I want to say to the faithful sheep on this side of the House, if for reasons of political prudence, they believe that the little daily instruction if not obeyed will attach to them the sting of being anti-labor, I want to say to the sheep if they are so disposed, as far as I am concerned, they are under no obligation. They are under no obligation to me and under no obligation to the caucus to vote against this bill and are at liberty without fear of reproach of following the goats into the majority party fold.

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was introduced in the early part of the session, I had no idea, and I do not think my colleagues had any idea, that this bill was going to be so important to either party. Now it turns out this is the first squabble we have had since the start of the Session.

Of course if some of the Members want to call it a labor bill all right. I think it is a very good labor bill. After all, when a man works fifty-five hours a week, that is plenty of hours to work for anybody.

We had a meeting in Pittsburgh. They asked for a hearing. We met in the Council Chambers with the Fire Chief, the Chief Clerk of the Fire Department, the Mayor, some of the Democratic House Members and some of the Republican House Members. From what I got out of the meeting it is not going to cost the city of Pittsburgh one dime.

The schedule here was agreed to by, I think the gentleman's name is Moore, the Chief Clerk of the Fire Department. He agreed that this schedule would be workable on a fifty-five hour basis instead of a sixty hour basis. It will give them one more day off per week and no extra nights off.

In other words sixty-one percent of the fires happen from six o'clock in the evening to eight o'clock in the morning. So we are not reducing the manpower at night.

I talked to the Fire Chief about the situation and the Fire Chief used to be one of the men who came to Harrisburg. He told me that he saw no reason why this bill could not work.

I am sorry that I have taken up so much time, and I ask the Members to vote for the passage of the bill, because I think it is good legislation for the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. PAUL F. JONES. The City of Pittsburgh, like most municipalities throughout the country, faces colossal tax problems, problems that test both the energy and the intelligence of the responsible city officials who are charged with the responsibility of regulating and operating the government of the City of Pittsburgh.

There has been some implication drawn from the statements made by my colleague from Allegheny County that the firemen in the city of Pittsburgh are overworked. I want to disabuse your minds of any such idea, and I say to you that I am conscious of the fact that I represent a group that is composed of the majority of people who labor and are sympathetic to the cause of labor.

Reiterating the statement made by our leader, this is not the proper forum for a discussion of this matter. Within the past few weeks we have seen a demonstration of just this sort of thing that is attempted here. You have a group of people from all over the state, so-called experts, who have examined certain proposals of the operation of our State Government. They come up with changes that are desired and that are in their judgment supposed to save us money and reduce the cost of the operation of the state government. But when responsible people in positions charged with the responsibility of operating the state government, turned the spotlight of examination and investigation on those proposals, they found that they were unworkable.

We have a situation here involving a thousand firemen in the City of Pittsburgh. It is not contemplated that there is going to be any increase in wages, but you are going to take five hours a week off each of those firemen. Nothing will happen to their night shift.

I submit to you that fires do not pick their time; they can occur at night as well as day. I say to you that to take five hours away from a thousand firemen, just from a simple mathematical proposition, you either are going to impair the efficiency of the operation of that department or else you will have to put on men that can make up those five thousand additional hours a week.

I submit to you further that, yes, the thousand firemen of the city of Pittsburgh have a right to be heard here; they have a right to have their cause considered. But I say to you likewise the taxpayers, who in the final analysis have got to pay the bill, have some rights in this house, too. They should be considered.

When Big Steel grants a wage increase or a reduction of hours, that is passed on to the consumer who uses their product.

When the motormen on the street cars get an increase in pay or a reduction of hours, that is passed on to the street car rider in the form of an increase of his fare.

When the coal miner gets an increase in his wages and he works less hours a week, that is passed on to the user of coal.

I said, when I asked that this bill be recommitted, that this House is entitled to know whether or not if the City of Pittsburgh has to put on ninety additional men, it is going to cost us $270,000, the taxpayers there, the property owners who pay the bill. They are entitled to some rights here, too; they are entitled to be considered.

We have fought in Pittsburgh just like we are fighting all over this country. People are tax conscious. They are tax conscious in Washington; they are tax conscious in Pennsylvania; they are tax conscious in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Andrews brought out the fact that it only applies to the City of Pittsburgh. If the scope of this bill were broad enough that it would include your particular community and you were called before the bar of public opinion back in your own neighborhood to justify an increase on the taxpayer after your budget was closed last December, you would want to know the facts, too, before you voted.

It is a very, very simple proposition. In December the millage was set. Taxes were collected on the basis of that. Right now we are going to saddle the City of Pittsburgh and the taxpayers with $270,000 of additional tax money. It has got to come from somewhere. We are telling them what they have to do, but no suggestion has been offered by anybody as to where we are going to get the money. If we had that, we would have the answer. Sure, not only give them fifty-five hours a week, but give them forty hours a week. They are entitled to it. Nobody will question that; nobody will seriously argue that. But I say to you as a matter of fact that for every fireman that is working in Pittsburgh, we have hundreds of applicants for that job.

Our morale in that Department is not low. Nobody is complaining about their hours, but I say to you in the same breath that the taxpayers are complaining. They are paying their load in federal taxes and state taxes, and they are faced with the gruesome possibility that before we adjourn, we are going to saddle more taxes on them.

To the credit of the men on this side of the House, there has not been a flood of bills offered to embarrass any of these local municipalities. I am not going to be a party to set a precedent that this sort of thing will present.

Using the admonition of the gentleman here, Mr. Lovett, "Now is the time to be fair." We have not heard too much of that this Session. But let us be fair about it.

If we say to the City of Pittsburgh, reduce these hours and let these one thousand firemen work five hours less a week, the very least we can do, Members, is to tell them where they will get the money. You have heard about the so-called Scranton decision. The budget is closed. It can only be opened by declaring an emergency; and if the money is not there, the taxpayers have to pay.

As between the interest of the one thousand firemen and the great number of taxpayers in the City of Pittsburgh, if we have to make a choice, the choice is easy. We can vote in the public interest. We can vote to give the taxpayers a break too, and I believe they are entitled to it.

Mr. EWING. This is the first time in my twenty years in the political field that I have heard about the minority party being worried about the taxpayers.

We have, and we have gone over this matter with the Fire Chief in the City of Pittsburgh as I explained before, and if he does not know how to run the fire department with the men that he has I do not see where Mr. Jones gets the idea that it is going to cost them two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. If the Chief Clerk and the Fire Chief say this bill will be workable without any men added to the force I cannot see where they can come up with the picture of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. They did not show it to me in Pittsburgh. So I ask the Members of this House to vote for this bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I told the gentleman from Allegheny that I only intended to speak once, but that was on the supposition that he was going to confine his remarks to the bill before us.

I cannot ignore the sneer that we on this side have never been mindful of the taxpayers. I say to the gentleman from Allegheny that he is endeavoring to institute in Pittsburgh the very line of policies that have made it necessary for the Governor of this Commonwealth to tell the people of this state that he needed one hundred and sixty million dollars in new money.

It was not the members of the minority party that ran away with the two hundred million dollar margin of surplus. It was not the members of the minority party that inaugurated the career of spending that characterized the Duff administration. It is not the members of the minority party that created the condition that has you all worrying about how you are going to finance your government.

We await with interest your tax program, and I would counsel my friend from Allegheny not to rake up the dead ashes of the errors, the financial errors of the past two administrations that have led us to face the problems we now face.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor Mr. Ewing.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EWING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. To the gentleman's knowledge does he know whether the firemen or the people who are in favor of this bill had contacted the mayor of the city of Pittsburgh prior to the closing of the budget in September or December, or whenever they close it?

Mr. EWING. I can not answer that question Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Can the gentleman tell me whether the firemen contacted the council of the City of Pittsburgh prior to the closing of the budget in September or December or whenever they close it for such legislation?

Mr. EWING. I can not answer that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. I thank the gentleman.

I would like to interrogate anybody that can give me the information as I have asked of Mr. Ewing.

The SPEAKER. Does anyone wish to answer these questions?

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Sarraf.

Mr. SARRAF. I was to the same committee meetings—forgive me maybe you wanted to ask a question . . .

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. FILO. Since Dr. Sarraf of Pittsburgh has probably risen to answer my question I would like to put the question to him.

Does the gentleman know whether the firemen of the city of Pittsburgh asked the Mayor of the city of Pittsburgh for such legislation as we have here on the books today?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Sarraf permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SARRAF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SARRAF. Prior to setting the budget for 1953 and only prior, this question was not brought before the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, as was brought out definitely in the hearing in which the sponsors of the bills were present.

Mr. FILO. Can the gentleman tell me whether the firemen in the City of Pittsburgh submitted such measures to the Council of the City of Pittsburgh?

Mr. SARRAF. That question can be answered "no" in reference to the budget of 1953, and that also was brought out in the committee meetings.

Mr. FILO. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, since this legislation strikes home to the City of Pittsburgh where I come from, it has caused me very much mental disturbance and agony to my conscience because it strikes home, and I must state my reasons why I am going to oppose this bill.

The first reason is home rule. On this subject I shall not elaborate because it was taken care of by previous speakers.

However, there is another thing that disturbs me. It is simple mathematics that when one thousand men work five hours a week less thereby you lose five thousand man hours a week, and if the efficiency of the fire department should be hurt in any way, it is a good reason to oppose such legislation.

The fire department of the City of Pittsburgh has a reputation of being one of the best fire departments in the nation, and that is the way I want to keep it.

If this legislation, due to the fact that the budget cannot be reopened or cannot be discussed until in November or December for the year of 1954, and since the responsible people in the fire department, as the Chief and the Chief Clerk stated, would need ninety additional men to supplant the loss of those five thousand hours, and yet due to this legislation if the fire department was short-handed and even a single life was lost because of the hazard of the shortage, then I think that is a good reason for me to oppose the bill.

I am not against the idea of reducing hours for firemen, but I think it should be done with the cooperation of responsible people in the administration in the City of Pittsburgh. So even if my political head should be laid on the political block, I can not see my way through to vote for this bill because I am interested in the safety and the welfare of the citizens of Pittsburgh.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. WHITE offered the following reasons for his vote on House Bill No. 112:

Reason for casting a Negative vote.

House Bill 112 is filled with many ramifications both socially and politically. This is a bill which is a definite social advance when regarded in the light of reducing the hours of the work week for a particular group of people.

However, when regarded as an infringement upon the principle of Home Rule of a particular political entity, in this case Pittsburgh, the question smacks of partisan politics.

I find it difficult to vote against a bill which betters the condition of any working group. However, I cannot bring myself to the point where I am willing to sacrifice the principle of Home Rule for the selfish interest, no matter how deserving, of a relatively small group in but one city of this Commonwealth.

The question of lower hours for Firemen in the City of Pittsburgh rightfully belongs in the Council of Pittsburgh, the body which provides the funds to pay the salaries of these same firemen; and not in the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

On this basis I must reluctantly vote against passage of House Bill 112.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 99, as follows:

An Act to further amend Section 2 of the act approved the twenty-second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 912) entitled "An act providing for the payment of the costs incurred in the trial of convicts and prisoners escaping or attempting to escape from the several penitentiaries and reformatories of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by the respective counties from whose courts the said escaping convicts or prisoners have been committed and providing for the maintenance of such convicts under sentence for escape et cetera" by extending the provisions of such act to fix responsibility for the costs incurred in proceedings and appeals on habeas corpus coram nobis and other writs arising out of escapes or crimes and trials therefor

Section 1 Section 2 of the act approved the twenty-second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 912) entitled "An act providing for the payment of costs incurred in the trial of convicts and prisoners escaping or attempting to escape from the several penitentiaries and reformatories of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by the respective counties from whose courts the said escaping convicts or prisoners have been committed and providing for the maintenance of such convicts under sentence for escape et cetera" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-eighth day of February one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 3) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 2 The cost of transporting escaped persons prisoners and convicts from the place of capture to the correctional institution penitentiary or reformatory after being sentenced for such escape or for the commission of any crime or offense following such escape and before apprehension the cost of maintenance while confined in the county jail awaiting trial as well as the costs of the trial for escape or breaking away of persons convicts and prisoners from the several penitentiaries correctional institutions and reformatories in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the violation by said persons convicts and prisoners of any or all of the penal statutes relating to escape or of the trial for crime and offenses committed after such escape and before apprehension or of the trial for crimes and offenses committed on the grounds or within the buildings of the correctional institution penitentiary or reformatory as well as the costs incurred in any proceedings on writs of habeas corpus coram nobis or other petitions arising out of any escape or crime or the trials therefore or in any appeals of any such proceedings or trials shall in each instance be borne and paid by the respective counties of the Commonwealth from whose courts the said persons convicts and prisoners shall have been originally committed to the said penitentiaries correctional institutions or reformatories

The county liable for such costs as above provided shall upon bills rendered by the county paying such costs in the first instance pay to such county the amount of such costs

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, Mr. Frost.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Center permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, in this interrogation, I desire to yield to the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. LOPESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have a brief discussion of the purpose of the bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is designed to put back into the counties of origination the cost in connection with certain institutional circumstances in the state. For instance, we have in Centre County, Rockview Penitentiary; in Pittsburgh we have the Western Penitentiary; at Gratersford we have the Eastern Penitentiary, and there are other penal and confining institutions in the state of Pennsylvania where issues are desired to be raised in connection with their release from these institutions, or perhaps purposes of their confinement or other matters, relating to persons or prisoners confined in these institutions.

Heretofore the cost and the place of origination has always been in the county where the institution has been located. This has placed an undue burden upon those counties where the institution is located because the inmates there come from all the counties, or many counties, of the state.

This bill is designed in case John Doe presents a writ of habeas corpus to determine why he is in the Rockview Penitentiary, for instance, it will place the cost of any such proceedings back on the county from which he was sentenced instead of placing that cost on Centre County.

Mr. LOPESTI. This bill also applies to costs where a prisoner has escaped, is that correct?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is correct, sir.

Mr. LOPESTI. Mr. Speaker, is my information correct that the county from which the prisoner is sentenced pays the state while that prisoner in is the state institution?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is correct.

Mr. LOPESTI. Mr. Speaker, does the county have any jurisdiction over the prison, its management, or any control over the institution whatsoever?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Not to my knowledge, they do not.

Mr. LOPESTI. Mr. Speaker, could any of the responsibility for an escapee be placed upon the officials of the county that originally sentenced the man to that particular prison?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I would not think so.

Mr. LOPESTI. Mr. Speaker, yet this bill would attempt to place the costs in that connection upon the county, even though the county has no jurisdiction over them and no jurisdiction over the institution.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is correct, sir.

Mr. LOPESTI. Would it not be proper in this particular instance to place the cost upon the Department or upon the institution wherein the prisoner was incarcerated rather than from where he escaped?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That question was raised and went a little further by stating, or suggesting that maybe the cost should be placed on the state which has the jurisdiction over those institutions and their management. However, the bill in Judiciary was placed in the hands of a sub-committee who made a very thorough study of that question. They came back with the recommendation that the bill stand in its present form rather than to follow that suggestion.

If the gentleman desires any further exploratory information along that line, I would yield to the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Jones, who made a study of that very question.

Mr. LOPESTI. Mr. Speaker, yes, I would be interested in hearing Mr. Jones.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery?

Mr. LOPESTI. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what reason there would be for not putting the costs upon the state where a man has escaped from a state institution wholly under the control of one of its departments.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, actually this particular bill is an amendment to the law of 1913 which provided that the county from which a man was convicted would pay the costs in the event that man later escaped from prison. The home county of conviction has been the county which bore the costs ever since 1913.

All this bill does is to add to that basic statute the costs in proceedings for habeas corpus, coram nobis and similar writs which were left out of the original law. And the reason why that would have to be put into this law is that all costs are statutory.

At common law there were no costs allowed; and hence, if these costs on these collateral proceedings are to be permitted, they have to be expressly spelled out in the statute—hence this bill.

The law has remained this way since 1913, and we of the sub-committee saw no particular reason to change it. This was merely patching up a small hole in existing procedure. The question Mr. Lopresti is raising is, to my mind, a collateral question. We were just trying to patch up a hole in this bill. He is trying to change the entire picture. He is trying to remove the costs from the county—at least that is his suggestion as I understand it—and place them on the state.

I think furthermore, historically, costs in criminal proceedings have been borne by counties. The District Attorney is a county officer. The jury, in case a defendant is acquitted, places the costs on the county, and the whole thing is done on a county level. Hence, to follow out Mr. Lopresti's suggestion would be a break with traditions of criminal procedure.

Another reason which was crucial to us in the sub-committee for leaving things in their present pattern was the fact that if we place the costs, or if the costs were to be placed on the Commonwealth, it would mean an appropriation, something would have to be put on the budget, a brand new thing. In this year when the Commonwealth is scrambling so hard to get tax money, we did not feel that it was wise to change the whole system of criminal procedure by placing this on the state.

I might add that I took this matter up with the Attorney General's office, and they were of the same opinion.

Mr. LOPESTI. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPESTI. Mr. Speaker, I am objecting here to the patchwork being placed upon a law which, in my opinion, was wrong from its very inception.

I have no quarrel with placing the costs of trying a man, of convicting a man, upon the county where the man has committed a crime, even though I recognize the fact that a great many times that individual does not even belong to the county and is not a resident but merely a transient.

Insofar as the original crime is concerned, I think the law is correct. However, I object to placing costs upon a county where a man escapes from an institution which is not in the control of that county, which that county has nothing to do with and yet the prisoner escapes. I believe in that particular instance the responsibility of keeping the man incarcerated or keeping him in jail is not upon the county but is upon the Commonwealth. I think this law originally was wrong and I object to making any additions to it to make it even worse.

I believe that we here in the House should rewrite the bill and we should provide that after a man has been sentenced and has been imprisoned in a state institution, the responsibility of the county ends at that point. And mark you further under the present law as it exists, if this man escapes from the county institution in Allegheny County and he goes to another county and commits a crime before he is apprehended, the costs of trying him for that crime is placed on the original county. That is what is in this law as it stands today.

I think the entire thing is bad. I think it should all be changed. I am objecting to putting another cancer upon a body that is already sick as in the form of this act.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I have the same vague feeling about this bill that has been expressed by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti. Until the point where the man becomes a ward of the state I feel that it is the responsibility of the county from which he has been committed. Once committed into the custody of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a state institution, he then becomes the ward of the state, and anything that arises out of his care, either by reason of recapturing him after escape, or his having perpetrated another crime while an escapee, I feel it is unjust to call upon the original county which committed him to stand the burden of the expense and cost of this escape of his. I therefore feel that I must vote against this bill.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, as I listened to the last two gentlemen it has occurred to me that it is not essentially the county that pays, or the Commonwealth that pays. Actually it does not seem to me it makes a great deal of difference. Essentially it is the taxpayer who is paying for this in each case, and since the county where the man was convicted under the present law pays the charge regardless of where the prison is located, it seems to me that will approximate justice in each case. The criminals originating from each county—the county will bear that cost and ultimately the taxpayer will bear the cost, whether the Commonwealth foots the bill immediately or the county.

The second thing these two speakers have raised in my mind, they imply that it is the negligence of the Department of Welfare or whoever runs the institution for allowing prisoners to escape. Perhaps in some instances it is, if my memory is correct, the jailer who is negligent is actually guilty of a crime, but usually a man who is in jail and has spent a long time there can pick up many ways of getting out. I recall Willie Sutton. I do not think we can accuse our Commonwealth jailers of negligence. I think the present law is adequate, and if Mr. Lopresti wants to change it, he should make a thorough study of costs in all criminal proceedings and not just in this particular line.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Just another short comment, Mr. Speaker. As between the officials of a county and the officials who have charge where this man escapes, I believe there should be more responsibility placed upon the institution than upon the County.

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 347, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 1402 of the act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," by requiring sureties to also insure against loss of taxes in the hands of treasurers as a result of fire, burglary, larceny, theft, robbery, forgery or fraud.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, line 5 of Title, by striking out the word "sureties" and inserting in lieu thereof "city treasurers."

Amend Title, page 1, line 5 of Title, by striking out the word "insure" and inserting in lieu thereof "provide insurance."

Amend Title, page 1, line 6 of Title, by striking out the words "in the hands of treasurers."

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1402), page 2, line 10, by inserting after the word "surety" the following: "and furnish adequate insurance protection against any and all losses of said funds through fire, burglary, larceny, theft, robbery, forgery or fraud."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1402), page 2, line 15, by inserting after the word "shall" the following: "keep safe."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1402) page 2, lines 16 to 18 by striking out the words "The surety in addition" in line 16 and all of lines 17 and 18.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1402), page 4, line 4, by inserting a bracket before and after the word "given" and inserting immediately thereafter "provided."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 406, as follows:

An Act To further amend Section 2004 of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" by changing the provisions for policemen's vacations

Section 1 Section 2004 of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" as reenacted revised and amended by the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 662) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 2004 Hours of Service Exceptions Vacations No city shall employ or require any police officer to remain on duty for more than eight hours in any twenty-four consecutive hours or more than fifty-six hours in any one week unless in emergency cases for the suppression of riots or tumults or the preservation of the public peace Provided That for the duration of any war in which the United States is engaged and six months thereafter the hours of service may exceed the number hereinbefore provided as the maximum number of hours or service and in such cases council shall provide for the payment of extra compensation for any hours of service in excess of maximum hours of service at the same rate as paid for regular service Nothing contained herein shall prevent any such city from requiring any such police officer to remain on duty or to work sixteen hours in any twenty-four consecutive hours not more than one day each week if required by a change in working hours or a change in shifts Cities shall permit every member of the police department to have at least twenty-four consecutive hours of rest in every calendar week except in emergency cases for the suppression of riots or tumults or the preservation of the public peace in times of war riot conflagration or public celebrations [and to have] members of the police department having less than fifteen (15) years service shall be given an annual vacation of not less than fourteen working days and members having fifteen or more years service shall be given an annual vacation the equivalent of twenty-one working days without diminution of the salary or compensation fixed by ordinance

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 12, Printer's No. 21, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

SENATE MESSAGE

COMMEMORATING THE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF HERSHEY, PENNSYLVANIA

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 16, 1953.

Milton Snavelly Hershey, a Pennsylvania born farm boy, in the year 1903, at the age of forty-six, after a successful career in the caramel business in Lancaster, returned to Derry Township, Dauphin County, the home of his birth, and began preparations for the building of a chocolate factory and the founding of a town for the personnel to be employed there.

In the fifty years since that time the town, now called "Hershey," and known locally as "The Chocolate Town," and the factory for the making of chocolate candy and chocolate syrups, have established a world-wide reputation, and in addition to the purely business aspect and accomplishments attributed to the genius of Mr. Hershey, the Hershey community has become a great cultural and sports center, known and appreciated by hundreds of thousands of people.

Mr. Hershey, during his lifetime, established and endowed one of the great charitable projects of America, "Milton Hershey School," a free school for orphan boys, with a present population of over eleven hundred boys who live in cottages and farm homes.

During this year of 1953, Hershey and the various enterprises connected with the Hershey interests, under the management of P. A. Staples, president of Hershey Chocolate Corporation, and John B. Sollenberger, president of Hershey Estates, are celebrating a Fiftieth Anniversary.

In order to pay a deserved tribute to the life and character and success of the philanthropist, Milton Snavelly Hershey, and to congratulate and pay a tribute to the loyalty and industry and success of the people who live and work in Hershey, and the vicinity thereof, it is hereby

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That in deserved recognition of the life and accomplishments of Milton Snavelly Hershey, and in harmony with the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary Program in Hershey during this year of 1953, congratulations and best wishes for continued prosperity, success and happiness are hereby extended to the management and employees of the several Hershey enterprises, the teachers and pupils in Milton Hershey School, and the citizens of Hershey and vicinity; and it is further

Resolved, That certified copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of the Senate to Mr. P. A. Staples and Mr. John B. Sollenberger.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. FLACK. It has been brought to the attention of the members of the Luzerne County delegation that the Secretary of the House has passed twenty-five years of age. Furthermore, it is another milestone he has reached, and I ask to present the following resolution in honor of our Secretary's birthday.

Messrs. FLACK, JUMP, GUTENDORF, KOHL, MIKULA, CURWOOD, MUSTO and WALLACE offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 24, 1953.

On March twenty-fourth in the year 1895 a tired clerk in the court house in Luzerne County, made a small notation among the vital statistics records. He recorded the birth of a baby boy, one Roan, William P., then yawned and closed the book.

On March twenty-fourth in the year 1953, two hundred eight tired members of the House of Representatives depended upon the services of that vital statistic for the orderly conduct of the business of the House.

Bill Roan seems to possess a great love for the House of Representatives, for he has spent many years serving it above and beyond the call of duty. Perhaps his love is for his State and the people of it, and manifests itself in his devotion to duty here. He was a member of the House in the early 1930's and its Secretary in the 1939 session, the 1943 session and every session since then. The value of these services can be measured only in gratitude, and if that could be exchanged into dollars, Bill Roan would be the richest man in the world.

Bill Roan has found time during the interims between the sessions to become an active leader in veterans' affairs. He was a soldier during the first World War, and the record shows a corking good one.

In spite of his small collection of years, he has gathered a large collection of grandchildren, five in all, though he deems it just a good beginning, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend our heartiest congratulations to our Secretary on this anniversary of his birth, this anniversary which celebrates the one-quarter mark of his life-span, and tell him of our intention to again congratulate him on his birthday and as Secretary of the House of Representatives, when our resolution can refer to his great great grandchildren, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to William P. Roan in the usual manner.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Secretary of the House, Mr. Roan.

Mr. ROAN. Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, I wish to thank the members of the Luzerne County delegation for presenting this birthday resolution and all the Members of the House for its unanimous adoption.

I notice in the preparation of this resolution it says I have five grandchildren. I have six, and when you get to be fifty-eight, you should have a birthday every five or six years. Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER. The resolution was drawn up yesterday, and a lot of things can happen in a day.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. WORLEY offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. GEER offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. STANK offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. WELSH asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. WELSH, LEVEN, McGEE, WHITE, ZEITZ, HERSCH, POLTENSTEIN, ALEXANDER, BAZIN, TAYLOR and KOLANKIEWICZ offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1953.

Whereas, March fifteenth is the ides of March for the Romans, the last day for filing income tax returns for Americans and another birthday for one of our colleagues as Herman Toll was born on March 15, 1907;

Herman Toll is the representative from the sixteenth district of Philadelphia, also a Philadelphia lawyer and currently a judicial candidate in that city.

He has been busily climbing the steps to fame and fortune with dame fortune giving abundant evidence that the world is just a bowl of cherries with lots of ice cream, cake and candy, and the strains of music of the Blue

Danube Waltz in the background. However that may be, the climbing is made just a little easier under the circumstances and the days and nights of effort must still be made. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby expresses its congratulations to Herman Toll and extends to him the felicitations of the day; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House send a copy of this resolution to Herman Toll.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Philadelphia lawyer, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the courtesy shown by my colleagues from Philadelphia in presenting the resolution. However, you can imagine how I feel when I have a birthday on March 15th, and it is better to be overlooked than to be observed. On the other hand I also appreciate the fact that the Speaker sent me a beautiful birthday card with a gavel and that arrived on the 14th, but I certainly appreciate the sentiments of my colleague on the 22nd of March.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it has been reported to the Press that it is the intention of the majority to make a ten percent reduction across the board in appropriations. Obviously, we can not begin to think in terms of taxes until we know whether or not that is the policy of the majority. Will the Majority Leader, in order that we may clarify our thinking concerning tax needs, inform us as to whether it is the intention of the majority to make an across-the-board ten percent reduction in appropriations to the various departments and bureaus?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the interrogation, I would say that thought has been given to try to reduce the budget by everybody on the majority side and I am sure that goes for those on the minority side.

It is true that some talk was had as to a possible across-the-board cut. If you start with that major premise you will find that it just cannot be done for this reason: If you analyze the various budget items, you will find items in the budget that are shall we say, mandated?

For instance, there is about $60 million in the budget to retire the Veterans Compensation bonds. You cannot cut that item ten percent. There are some $10 or $15 million in the budget for GSA which we must not cut in order to maintain the full faith and credit of the Commonwealth bonds.

There are perhaps $75 million of other items which simply cannot be cut across the board ten percent. However, there are a number of things in the budget that presumably can be cut in some manner. That is up to the combined Chairmen of the two Appropriations Committees.

As I said before, they are holding hearings each week here in the various Departments, and they are trying to find out just what is in the budget and just what can be eliminated. We are economy-minded as I said before.

We hope to put through a program of "Great Britain" austerity, if you might call it that, to try not to have new taxes. It is quite a problem to try to eliminate $157 million out of a present budget which has been pared $65 million already by His Excellency the Governor before it was presented to the General Assembly.

It is a wonderful, noble thought to cut it ten percent, but you are found waiting by the wayside when you start to wield the knife. Certainly some cuts will be made. Therefore, as to the tax program and what taxes may be necessary, I might say for the information of the House that we hope to have on Monday morning on your desks the complete record of the Governor's Tax Survey Committee. I understand that it is about a 450-page document which analyzes the various taxes that might be available to this State. I understand that they have done a monumental job in studying the various taxes and give us a bird's eye view of the various avenues of taxation. I hope we will not have to use any of them.

As you know, yesterday, we introduced bills here that would reenact our present taxes. Far be it from me at this time to say that we will not need any additional tax until the budget has been analyzed and until we find out just how much money we actually need.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, you know about the Chinese witness who was called to the stand. He talked for five minutes fluently, and the interpreter was asked, "What did the witness say?" The interpreter said, "He said 'No'".

A further question if the Majority Leader will permit. Is it the intention of the majority to offer an FEPC bill at this Session?

Mr. JOHNSON. "The gentleman's question was, "Do we intend to offer an FEPC bill," and the answer is "Yes."

Mr. ANDREWS. Would the Majority Leader be at liberty to inform the House as to the reasons for the delay on such a noble action?

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I would say that I have the bill in my possession at the present time. I understand that various additional studies are being made as to certain items in the bill which have come to the attention of the administration, and as soon as they have completed their study as to amendments to the bill that I have, it will be presented. I do not know just when the study will be completed or the nature of the study, but that is the reason we are holding the bill that I have in my possession at the present time.

Mr. ANDREWS. And a further question: Can the Majority Leader tell us when, approximately, the next tax legislation in addition to the legislation that has already been introduced will be prepared for presentation to the House?

Mr. JOHNSON. My answer to that question is that I do not know whether any supplemental tax legislation will be prepared, but I am very pleased with the interest of the gentleman. The gentleman's interest in taxes is very, very comforting; and at the proper time when the tax programs hits the calendar, I hope the gentleman's interest will be keyed in an affirmative way.

Mr. ANDREWS. As for taxes, the Majority Leader, now having at his disposal a workable constitutional majority, will be expected to initiate and perhaps even to pass the tax program. Of course, we will have to look at it, but we are now surveying the rejuvenated ranks of the party and insisting that there now be the assumption of party responsibility and that you begin to function daily, and that we be given the opportunity to envision an early date of final adjournment. There are only a very few things, I am told by members of the majority, that need the attention of the House, that when we have disposed of the conglomeration that has been presented in the form of the Chesterman Committee report, and when we have disposed of taxes, that that is all there is a necessity to be done, and that that should not take more than three weeks now that you have a constitutional majority—an obedient constitutional majority. I am sure with the aid of the gentleman from Allegheny, and the Labor Lobby, that perhaps you will be able to pass your tax program by a hundred percent.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. PETROSKY asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Bower.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to obtain certain information, principally for the minority members of the joint-select Committee that was selected by the Senate and the House to make a study of the Chesterman Government Survey Committee, to conduct public hearings on same. The information I desire from Mr. Bower as sub-Chairman of the Committee is as to whether we contemplate any public hearings during this particular week?

Mr. BOWER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman's question, the Chesterman Committee, or the Committee set up by the concurrent resolution has discontinued all hearings as a committee on the Chesterman Committee Report.

Mr. PETROSKY. Am I to understand, Mr. Speaker, there will be no further operation of the Chesterman Committee for public hearings?

Mr. BOWER. That is true.

Mr. PETROSKY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. PETROSKY. I am not going to stand here at this late hour of the day in which this House is meeting and rabble-rouse, scream and yell because apparently there is a determination of the very item that the membership of this House recommended to this Select Committee to study.

May I refer to Senate Resolution, Serial No. 120. This resolution when passed by the membership of this House and by the membership of the other body, the Senate, stated that we were resolved, if the House of Representatives concur, that the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of fifteen members of the Senate and the Speaker of the House appoint a similar committee of the House to conduct public hearings on the various phases, findings and recommendations of the State Government's Survey Committee and report their findings to this session of the General Assembly.

Technically, Mr. Speaker, I cannot speak upon this particular problem. However I submit and I submit to the keeping of the majority who have declared that they will accept the responsibility to discharge the wants and the desires of the House as expressed in the Resolution upon which every Member in this House voted, the majority and the minority. I believe that as a committee we were charged with the obligation to follow through on a matter that was definitely outlined within the wording of the Resolution.

Technically can the committee dissolve? Can they curtail the public hearings? It is an issue for this House to decide and a responsibility of the majority, in the event that there is sabotage of the Chesterman Government's Survey Committee report by not moving into public hearings so that we can determine the value of that report from the pros and cons. I say to you it is a decision for the entirety of this House rather than one that would be confined to the sessions of the committee itself.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BOWER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in order to place on the record the position of the majority party as it pertains to the report of the Chesterman Committee, I wish to say that the committee under the concurrent resolution under which we acted will file a report at the completion of the orders given to this committee by the General Assembly, which were in fact this—that all legislation pertaining to carrying out the intent of this report be introduced into the General Assembly, and the Senate at the present time has before it twelve bills pertaining to this report, which in toto are the bills necessary to carry out this report.

I wish to further state that the Republican members of this Committee feel that the interest aroused by this report is such that the people of Pennsylvania should have the right to express their opinion to their respective Members as to their feeling on the various phases of this report, and we have made it available by our methods that every Member of this House regardless of party affiliation can so do.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AUKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I was very agreeably surprised, and I would say too, very happy and very glad in reading the Philadelphia Inquirer one day last week to notice a news item which I am about to read into the record:

Harrisburg, March 19—House Appropriation Committee Chairman Norman Wood (R., Lancaster) today began a one-man economy drive designated to save millions in the operation of the State Government.

Initiating a series of private interviews with cabinet members and other administration officials under Governor John S. Fine, the House leader served notice on department heads they must be prepared to make drastic cuts in their budget requests of the 1953-55 biennium.

OUT TO MAKE SAVINGS

While Wood said he had no idea how much in economies could be effected by making drastic reductions, the Lancaster county legislator asserted "we hope to cut out everything we can."

His one-man economy drive came on the heels of a 30-member legislative committee abandoning public hearings on the "Little Hoover" committee recommendations which are designed to yield $100,000,000 in Governmental economies by 1960. However, the "Little Hoover" group pointed out that only $34,000,000 in economies could be made during the two-year fiscal period beginning June 1.

SEEKS 157 MILLION MORE

In his budget message for the 1953-55 fiscal period, Fine said $157,000,000 in new taxes would be necessary to balance his $1,400,000,000 budget.

Today Wood called in aides of the Department of Property and Supplies and the Department of Mines and indicated he had been advised substantial savings would be made in the operation of the two agencies.

First of all, I congratulate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood, on the stand he has taken on this very important matter of government spending and government economy, not only as an individual but as Chairman of the Appropriation Committee of this House.

Second, I want to say to my colleague, Mr. Wood, and to my other Republican colleagues, and to the Members of this House and the people of this state that what is described here in this article as a one-man economy drive is to my mind a misnomer, and I believe an unintentional one. I want to assure my colleague, Mr. Wood, that I am with him 100 percent and will stay with him right down the line on this economy drive. Yes, and would even assure him that even if he falls by the wayside, which I don't believe he will do, I will probably still be in there battling for economy with the proper amendments at the proper time.

I quote again from the article "We hope to cut out everything we can." I rather take issue with the word "hope." I say, if we can cut out everything that is absolutely non-essential, it should not be a case of "hope." It should be a case of MUST. I say with the utmost sincerity that we, the Members of this House owe it as a MUST, to the people of this great state—people, business, corporations—who are now so heavily tax ridden. We owe it in all justice, honestly and conscience.

I want to further assure the gentleman from Lancaster, my esteemed colleague Mr. Wood, that I know that there are others beside the Speaker among the Republican Members who feel just as strongly as I do and as I have expressed, for they have told me so. I know further from my own inquiry and my own study, and many of my fellow Republican colleagues know from their own inquiries and their own studies, that these economies can be made without materially affecting the operational activities of the various Departments, Bureaus and Commissions; and it will be done, if we as Members of this House, Representatives of the people, do our honest duty as legislators, and insist that it be done by proper Legislative appropriations.

I further quote from the same article "Today Wood called in aides of the Department of Property and Supplies and the Department of Mines and indicated he had been advised substantial savings would be made in the operation of the two agencies."

I further make reference to a newspaper article of the Philadelphia Inquirer of Saturday, March 21, in which it was recited that Dr. Haas, Secretary of Department of Education was alleged to have said that a cut of $10 million could be made in the operational expenses of his Department for the next biennium.

That makes three big Departments in which fairly positive assurance and commitments have been made that substantial economy can and will be made, and I feel certain that if such economy can be affected in these three Departments, which of course would be reflected in proportional decreased appropriations for the operational activities of said Departments, then like economies and like decreased appropriations can and should and must be made correspondingly and in similar proportion for all other Departments and Bureaus and Commissions for the next biennium. We then can say and prove to the people of this state that this House means and meant business in cutting down and eliminating the extravagant costs of state government and give to the people of this state, releases in burdensome taxation.

I desire further at this point to reiterate to my esteemed colleague, Mr. Wood, and the other leaders of our Republican majority that they shall and will have my full support in this economy drive. I feel certain that they will have the further support from many, if not all, of my Republican colleagues. I shall await with interest to see the attitude of the minority block of this House, the Democratic party, on this issue.

Just one thing more—I noticed in one other newspaper article, mention of a proposal to postpone or eliminate the so-called "Two hundred dollar a year public school teachers' increase" enacted by the 1951 Legislature. The speaker wishes to put himself on record as being unalterably opposed to any such move or bill designed to do the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ERB asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, you know the last two weeks we were very much concerned, members from our side of the House and the other side of the House were gone. This morning they came out in full bloom with 109 members on our side of the house and equally so on the other side of the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have lived three score years—in many instances to the fullest—yet realizing my capabilities and responsibilities—I should like to interrogate a soldier of the same years of service on his latest foray into the realm of horror and mystery.

While this House missed him fearfully and labored on without his watchful eye, we knew full well he'd return to us, chock full of the wonders of the atomic age and tell us of the certain destruction which lies in wait for all who take not the time to be prepared.

Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman a lawyer?

Mr. ERB. Just a locomotive engineer, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. ERB. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews please tell us—is it true that you did go to Nevada City for the purpose of witnessing an atomic explosion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, that is not true. My primary interest in going to see an atomic explosion was to study Civil Defense. I knew that sooner or later because of its location something would happen to Altoona . . .

Mr. ERB. Another question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Will the gentleman not interrupt. I knew that from the midst of the wreck and ruin that might be visited upon that city they would be incapable of extricating themselves. Therefore we would have to send from the great and glorious city of Johnstown a rescuing expedition, and I wanted to acquaint myself with how to go about pulling the gentlemen now on the floor from the midst of the ruins in a way most likely to save life and limb.

Mr. ERB. Did the gentleman from Cambria see the explosion?

Mr. ANDREWS. The gentleman from Cambria saw the explosion. He looked it right in the eye, and the day right after he marched right into the midst of the radioactive dust that was there, defied the dust and came back here rejuvenated, in fine fettle, and I would match my three score years and ten and then some and engage him in a walking race any time he wants.

Mr. ERB. Did the gentleman from Cambria receive any inspiration from the explosion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Oh, exceedingly; I was inspired. I was inspired with my duty as a Vice Chairman of the State Council of Civil Defense of getting a program that would save men like the gentleman now on the floor when the time came. That was my mission.

Mr. ERB. Was there anything in the atomic explosion which reminded the gentleman from Cambria of his co-workers in the House here at Harrisburg?

Mr. ANDREWS. Well there was and there wasn't. You know I can best reply to the gentleman's interrogation by repeating just a little anecdote.

The congregation wanted to fire Brother Johnson as its preacher. Brother Johnson rose to his defense and he said "Brethren, why do you want to fire me? Don't I call upon the glory of the Lord, don't I argufy, don't I speechify."

The Chairman of the Committee said, "Yes Brother Johnson, you call on the glory of the Lord, you argufy, and you speechifies, but you never tell us whereas." That is the trouble with the gentleman over there, he does not tell us whereas.

Mr. ERB. Another question, Mr. Speaker. Did the gentleman from Cambria bring back any ideas or thoughts which might improve this Legislature and help in any way to speed up its work?

Mr. ANDREWS. An adequate appropriation for Civil Defense in order that the people of Pennsylvania may be acquainted with the dangers which an atomic explosion presents, may know that if you are within three-quarters of a mile of an atomic explosion you are a dead duck. You are gone. If you are a mile and a half away and you can get into a bit of a trench, a hole in the ground, or flat on the ground, you stand a 70-30 chance of surviving, provided you do not stay there more than twenty-five minutes

If you are two miles and a half away and you are in a car you open the windows of the car, lie down on the floor of the car and when the explosion is over, if you have a good car you will start the ignition and you will drive off, provided you do not stay there more than half an hour.

We also know that if they exploded an atomic bomb on the center of the Taylor Bridge that the Capitol Building would stand and people in it would be safe provided they evacuated within three hours. Those are the things I learned.

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, I really do appreciate the gentleman from Cambria making such a fine explanation of his trip. I was waiting for it, I thought I would wait for the last minutes of this session today, but he did not respond. I think he gave a good resume of everything that went on. There are several other questions I would like to ask him, but it must be in private.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. RICHTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOMPKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

The Fish Commisison has proposed and put into effect a reassignment of its Fish Wardens. The Commission points out in its official publication, "Pennsylvania Angler," March 1953, "that many miles of travel will be eliminated."

The Executive Director says that, "The Mileage * * * under the new Fish Commission set up, has to do with streams stocked by the Fish Commission."

According to this formula, it is true that many miles of travel will be saved. For instance, in Cameron County there are 98 miles of streams stocked, but there are more than 250 miles of fishable streams from which legal catches can be obtained. The Same condition prevails in various degrees in all the other counties.

Inasmuch as the new plan of the Commission applies only to streams stocked by the Commission, then why should the warden be required, at his own expense, to patrol or enforce the law on any streams other than those stocked by the Commission.

The article in the Angler also speaks of travel economy. According to information from the officials of the Fish Commissiain, the actual total expenses for 1952 of the wardens of the North Central Division, comprising the counties of McKean, Potter, Tioga, Elk, Cameron, Clinton, Lycoming, Centre, and Clearfield, for their work on all fishable streams, and assistance in Game Law enforcement, was $15,418.64.

The amount budgeted to these same wardens in this same division for the year 1953, on a greatly reduced mileage, according to the Commission formula, is $15,200. Economy? We should start looking for Diogenes!

As to eliminating the jurisdiction of Fish Wardens from polluted waters or waters threatened with pollution—when the veneer is removed from the Commissiain's new set up, it will appear that a subtle attempt is being made to ease out of the service, a warden who 18 months ago had the courage to tackle this problem. A fitting reward for one who is still old-fashioned enough to think that laws are made to be enforced. Clever, some of these bureaucrats who call themselves sportsmen.

The article in the Angler also states, "should anyone desire to report a violation or any other act pertinent to the enforcement of public fishing in the state, all that is necessary under the new plan is to call the fish warden nearest to him and make the report."

According to my information, all the wardens had telephones for the service of the public before the new set up of the Commission. Just how stupid can bureaucracy become?

Hence, this bill to put into effect the Commissions formula and position.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bills for concurrence Nos. 76 and 233.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, March 30, 1953 at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 2:54 p. m.) the House adjourned.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1953.

Vol. 33.

HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MARCH 30, 1953.

No. 20.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 30, 1953.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH, offered the following prayer:

Our Father and our God, at the beginning of this Holy Week we have come here to carry out the work which Thou hast given us to do. We pray that the spirit of this week may live in our hearts, that we may realize what Thou hast done for us and that we may give to Thee, and to those whom we represent, the best that we have.

We thank Thee for the many blessings which Thou hast given to us as a people, those who have sacrificed in the past, who have laid the foundations upon which we are building still today. May we build rightly, so that for generations to come Thy name may have all the honor and the glory in a world without end, Amen.

TRIBUTE TO JIM THORPE

The PRESIDENT. Will the Members of the Senate please remain standing for an additional minute as a tribute to Jim Thorpe, America's greatest athlete, who has recently passed away?

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. HARE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. HARE asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. CROWE, due to illness.

STUDENTS FROM PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE FOR WOMEN PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I appreciate the privilege of presenting to the President a group of young ladies from the Pennsylvania College for Women, from the city of Pittsburgh, who are here studying government in action. They are here under the direction of Doctor Keefe, and will be with the Legislature for the next two days.

Mr. President, the young ladies are seated to the left of the rostrum, and I would like to present them to the Chair at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Will the young ladies please rise in place and take a bow?

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 124

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

COMMEMORATING THE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF HERSHEY, PENNSYLVANIA

In the Senate, March 16, 1953.

Milton Snavely Hershey, a Pennsylvania born farm boy, in the year 1903, at the age of forty-six, after a successful career in the caramel business in Lancaster, returned to Derry Township, Dauphin County, the home of his birth, and began preparations for the building of a chocolate factory and the founding of a town for the personnel to be employed there.

In the fifty years since that time the town, now called "Hershey," and known locally as "The Chocolate Town," and the factory for the making of chocolate candy and chocolate syrups, have established a world-wide reputation, and in addition to the purely business aspects and accomplishments attributed to the genius of Mr. Hershey, the Hershey community has become a great cultural and sports center, known and appreciated by hundreds of thousands of people.

Mr. Hershey, during his lifetime, established and endowed one of the great charitable projects of America, "Milton Hershey School," a free school for orphan boys, with a present population of over eleven hundred boys who live in cottages and farm homes.

During this year of 1953, Hershey and the various enterprises connected with the Hershey interests, under the management of P. A. Staples, president of Hershey Chocolate Corporation, and John B. Sollenberger, president of Hershey Estates, are celebrating a Fiftieth Anniversary.

In order to pay a deserved tribute to the life and character and success of the philanthropist, Milton Snavelly Hershey, and to congratulate and pay a tribute to the loyalty and industry and success of the people who live and work in Hershey, and the vicinity thereof, it is hereby

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That in deserved recognition of the life and accomplishments of Milton Snavelly Hershey, and in harmony with the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary Program in Hershey during this year of 1953, congratulations and best wishes for continued prosperity, success and happiness are hereby extended to the management and employees of the several Hershey enterprises, the teachers and pupils in Milton Hershey School and the citizens of Hershey and vicinity; and it is further

Resolved, That certified copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to Mr. P. A. Staples and to Mr. John B. Sollenberger.

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

He also presented for concurrence bills of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 99, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 2 of the act approved the twenty-second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 912) entitled "An act providing for the payment of the costs incurred in the trial of convicts and prisoners escaping or attempting to escape from the several penitentiaries and reformatories of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by the respective counties from whose courts the said escaping convicts or prisoners have been committed and providing for the maintenance of such convicts under sentence for escape et cetera" by extending the provisions of such act to fix responsibility for the costs incurred in proceedings and appeals on habeas corpus coram nobis and other writs arising out of escapes or crimes and trials therefor

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

House Bill No. 112, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 1 of the act approved the thirtieth day of March one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 34) entitled "An act to promote the health and efficiency of firemen in cities of the second class by providing for a two-platoon system for firemen in the department of public safety of such cities" by further regulating the hours of duty of firemen in cities of the second class.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

House Bill No. 214, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause (a) of section one thousand one hundred fifty-four of the act approved the tenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" by providing for the payment of salaries of professional and temporary professional employees in cases of sickness or accidental injury

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

House Bill No. 406, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 2004 of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" by changing the provisions for policemen's vacations

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

GENERAL COMMUNICATION

REPORT OF THE DELAWARE RIVER PORT AUTHORITY OF PENNSYLVANIA AND NEW JERSEY

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk:

RECESS

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes, to permit a meeting of the Judiciary General Committee.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS FROM MERCER COUNTY
PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, it is with pleasure that I introduce a group of young people from Mercer County to the Senate. They have been awarded an all-expense tour of our State and National Capitols by the various American Legion Posts of Mercer County. They have been awarded this trip because of their participation in the Oratorical Contest sponsored by the American Legion. Each student was a winner in his or her own high school. The final run off of the contest was given over Radio Station W.P.I.C., and the first and second place winners were determined at that time.

Mr. President, the subject used in the contest was some phase of the Constitution of the United States which would give emphasis to the attendant duties and obligations of a citizen to our government. Since this is a project of the American Legion Americanism Committee, and since the subject dealt with our government, it was decided to award the winners an opportunity to see our government in operation.

The members of the tour are as follows: Herbert Yanowitz, Delbert Wasser, Shirley Hynniman, Marilyn Osborne, Kent Christy and Miss Lillian Semple. They are on this tour under the direction of Mrs. Robert Murrell.

Mr. PRESIDENT, it is with pleasure that I now present this group to you and the Members of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair welcomes the visitors from Mercer, and requests that they rise in place and identify themselves and take a bow.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the bills which I am about to introduce are part of the Government Survey Committee recommendations. They are all being introduced by my colleague, Senator Dent, and myself, by request.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS EXTENDED TO WILLIAM J. FERGUSON, HEAD COACH, ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE

Mr. McCUSKER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 30, 1953.

The path to basketball coaching fame is usually strewn with the heads of predecessor coaches, placed there by the irate alumni. However, a notable exception is William J. Ferguson, the venerated coach of the St. Joseph Hawks. Coach Ferguson began his coaching career at Roman Catholic High School in Philadelphia in 1920, immediately upon graduation from the University of Pennsylvania.

The steady procession of Roman Catholic High School basketball stars to St. Joseph's College, coupled with their high praise for Coach Ferguson, made him the logical choice to succeed Tommy Temple as basketball coach at St. Joseph's. Billy, as he is affectionately called by his many friends, has never let his reputation tarnish. In his twenty-five years as head coach, he has compiled the enviable record of three hundred seventeen games won and two hundred eight lost. His teams are well known for their hard play and clean sportsmanship, a fitting tribute to their fine coach.

He has the rare ability to get the most from his players. His success is in his ability to build his system around his team, thereby meshing his own genius with that of his players into a winning basketball team; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania extend to Coach Ferguson, its heartiest congratulations on this his twenty-fifth year as head coach at St. Joseph's College, and its sincere wishes for many more happy and successful years.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, the people of Blair County and adjoining counties, and the members of the press throughout the Commonwealth, suffered irreparable loss in the death of Daniel Neff Slep, president and publisher of the Altoona Mirror, who died last Wednesday.

Mr. President, I therefore, offer the following resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

EULOGIZING DANIEL NEFF SLEP, FORMER PRESIDENT AND PUBLISHER OF ALTOONA MIRROR

Mr. MALLERY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 30, 1953.

Daniel Neff Slep, president and publisher of the Altoona Mirror, died on March 25, 1953, at Mercy Hospital, Altoona.

Mr. Slep was born on October 20, 1872, in Altoona where most of his life was spent. He succeeded his able father, Harry Slep, as president and publisher of the highly successful Altoona Mirror. His abilities carried the newspaper to its greatest height, building as he did upon the firm foundation laid by his father.

In such a realm of amazing adventure as turning out a newspaper, Dan Slep spent his best years. He found joy in his business endeavors, and wonder and beauty in the journalistic field. He possessed outstanding ability and an equal amount of courage. He was absolutely straightforward and outspoken. He was friend of the great and lowly, and was one of the most beloved newspapermen.

Among those who were privileged to enjoy an intimate association with him in every field, he was a man of resolution and ability. He had a clearly marked individuality and was trusted and esteemed by everybody. His warm and friendly nature, his hopeful outlook on life and his open-mindedness contributed to his great success as a newspaper publisher.

Like all successful men, he was called upon to serve in many fields and he became Altoona's foremost churchman, philanthropist, banker and civic and welfare leader. He lived with zestful enthusiasm for every cause he supported, yet with unfailing devotion to God, his family and his friends.

The scope of his success was not confined to his home community of Altoona, but extended throughout our great Commonwealth and the Nation. He was one of the founders of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association, and served a term as president of this organization. He also was active in many national organizations which promote the best interests of the business and ethics of journalism.

We may take hope as we look ahead to an uncertain future, that one who lived, worked and succeeded, as did Dan Slep, never doubted the brightness of that future. He accepted death as he did everything in life, calmly and willingly, bringing an end to a career that is without parallel in Altoona.

While a man of strong convictions, he was never intolerant. He was a staunch follower of the precepts of truth, loyalty, integrity, faith and fair dealing, and every worthy enterprise found in him a strong supporter. He was a genial associate, sympathetic and understanding.

There was an inspiration, too, in his calm acceptance of what life had to offer. He was kindly and benevolent, yet he felt a responsibility for every action and exercised the best judgment in dealing with the problems at hand.

In well-merited recognition of Daniel Neff Slep's long and useful life, and in recognition of my personal friendship with this great man, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania offer our sincere condolences to his family in their hour of sorrow; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Elda P. Slep, at her home in Altoona, Pennsylvania.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. McCUSKER offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 30, 1953.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, April 6, 1953, at four o'clock p. m., E.S.T.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, April 6, 1953, at four-thirty o'clock p. m., E.S.T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

The PRESIDENT. Will the Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, this bill provides for a Constitutional amendment. Is that correct?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, that is correct.

Mr. LANE. Well, then, why do we take the position that the Majority Party has decided not to have a Constitutional Convention?

Mr. MAHANY. I do not see how you could draw that inference.

Mr. LANE. We are passing this legislation on Second Reading, are we not?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, but we have not voted on it yet. Wait until tomorrow and see what happens.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 52

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 52, entitled:

An Act to amend clause XV of section 1202 of the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 519) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" by further defining the powers of boroughs with regard to garbage rubbish sludge and other waste treatment and disposal acting separately or jointly with other political subdivisions failed of passage on final passage, on March 23, 1953.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. FLEMING. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Potter will be so recorded.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will be so recorded.

Mr. CAMIEL. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will be so recorded.

YEAS—34

Barr,	Harney,	McCusker,	Taylor,
Berger,	Holland,	McGinnis,	Wade,
Blass,	Kessler,	Miller,	Wagner,
Camiel,	Koprivier, Jr.	Pechan,	Walker,
Chapman,	Letzler,	Peelor,	Watkins,

SENATE BILL No. 52 PLACED ON POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 52 be placed on the Final Passage Postponed Calendar.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am not going to object or ask for a roll call on this motion. I just want to state that many times I am called out to various meetings during the session, and therefore, I am not always on the floor. However, I want it clearly understood that, as a matter of courtesy, I do not want this bill called up from the Postponed Calendar unless I am present, because I want to vote a very loud "no."

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senator Dent beat me to the gun. However, I want to make sure that this bill comes up on the floor when I am here, because I would like to debate it in detail.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, March 30, 1953.

The House met at 4:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Charles C. Smith) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend William Hugh Fryer, offered the following prayer:

We thank Thee, O God, for the endless renewing of life. Thou that art never weary of setting us free from the bonds wherewith we have bound ourselves, make us to walk in this new day without fear or any kind of bondage. Open our eyes to receive new light; open our ears to hear the voices that are calling to us to make the world new by the power of love. Fit us for the task that is ours, and endue us with the spirit of that heavenly kingdom which to come upon the earth where all shall be brothers and men shall be the people of God. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journals of Monday and Tuesday, March 23 and 24, 1953? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. STANK and DOWNEY.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 39.

In the House of Representatives, March 24, 1953.

Whereas, the economic conditions of the anthracite region of Eastern Pennsylvania have progressively deteriorated to such an extent that imminent action is necessary to forestall a further and continued deterioration thereof; and

Whereas, The region aforesaid has experienced a departure of a large percentage of its citizenry induced by lack of employment facilities which do not augur well for a healthy, active business and industrial activity; and

Whereas, The serious economic conditions created by lack of business and employment opportunities has reached an alarming stage which requires the concerted efforts of borough, county and governmental agencies; and

Whereas, The far reaching consequences of this lamentable condition are state-wide; and

Whereas, the direct help, aid and assistance of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is mandatory to accomplish the rebirth of a sound economic foundation, which task cannot be accomplished through the efforts of any governmental sub-division or subdivisions of the Commonwealth; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to survey, investigate and consider the problems involved in regenerating and redeveloping the economic stability of the Anthracite Regions of Eastern Pennsylvania and to report its findings, conclusions and recommendations to the next regular session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. GEER and WILT. RESOLUTION No. 40.

In the House of Representatives, March 24, 1953.

In the course of the past several years, there has been an increased use of the machinery enabling school districts to form union districts and to effect mergers.

The results of such action have not been uniformly successful, and some school districts have in fact been disappointed since bringing about a merger or establishing a union district; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study and investigate the merged and union school districts that have been brought into existence during recent years, with a view to assessing the relative merits and demerits of such procedure in practice; and be it further

Resolved, That the commission shall report its findings to the General Assembly at its next regular session.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 30, 1953.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to transmit for your information the following:

1. Report of the Tax Study Committee, which I appointed to make a thorough study of the Commonwealth's tax problems and the kind of tax or taxes which could meet those needs after recommended economies have been effected.

2. Summary of the Tax Study Committee's report on State tax structure and tax problems.

3. Comment.

JOHN S. FINE.

March 30, 1953.

In transmitting the report of the Governor's Tax Study Committee to the Legislature today, Governor Fine made the following statement:

"The Commonwealth is indebted to Dr. Alfred G. Buehler and his associates on the Tax Study Committee appointed by me last April for their painstaking work in studying the vast and complex tax system of the State and for making a most comprehensive and exhaustive report on their findings.

"The results of their study should be of great assistance to the General Assembly in arriving at solution of the Commonwealth's tax problems, not only as they affect us today but also for the future as well.

"I, of course, stand ready at any and all times to consult with the Senate and House on the subject of this tax study report. I will cooperate with the members of the Legislature to the utmost in helping to arrive at a solution of our tax problems.

"We must attack this problem boldly and constructively. I believe that with this excellent report before us, our path to solution is much easier."

SUMMARY OF GOVERNOR'S TAX STUDY COMMITTEE'S REPORT ON STATE TAX STRUCTURE AND TAX PROBLEMS

Governor John S. Fine today transmitted to the Legislature and made available to the public the findings of the bipartisan committee he appointed last April to make a comprehensive analysis of the existing tax system in Pennsylvania; to appraise the tax problems confronting the Commonwealth and list the good and bad features of all taxes; and to provide information required by the General Assembly in deciding how to finance the conduct of State Government.

The results of the Tax Committee's exhaustive study under the chairmanship of Dr. Alfred G. Buehler of the University of Pennsylvania are contained in a voluminous report designed to chart a better-balanced, more adequate, and more equitable system of taxation for Pennsylvania.

The Committee discusses all forms of taxation, including levies in effect and prospective taxes still available for State use, but makes no recommendations as to what tax or taxes should be utilized as new sources of revenue.

The Committee was charged by the Governor with the duty of making factual studies of the application of taxes and approximate amounts of revenue that could be expected from such taxes, but was not asked to suggest any specific tax or taxes to meet current and future revenue needs.

As a result of its studies, the Committee does suggest that a Bureau of Research and Statistics be established in the Revenue Department, and that an annual report to the public giving tax facts be made hereafter.

The Committee's study is regarded as one of the most comprehensive and exhaustive tax surveys yet made in Pennsylvania or elsewhere.

The Committee found that the present Pennsylvania State and local tax systems are inequitable in a number of respects. It urged local governments to assume more responsibilities, saying that the more they assume the less will be the need to increase State taxes. The Committee urges that local expenditures be kept under rational control if local taxes and demands from localities for State aid are not to become excessive, pointing out, "The more aid the State gives to the local communities, the more the State taxes must be increased to supply that aid."

It says, also, that:

"The present tax system is plainly inadequate to support the cumulating revenue demands with which it is confronted.

"Not only are very substantial new taxes necessary; these taxes must also be continuing, permanent revenues."

The Committee declared that most of the present tax problems confronting the Commonwealth today are due to the commitments made upon the State by previous Administrations for payment of a soldiers' bonus, mandated teachers' salaries, and other lesser commitments for which taxes were not provided.

"The various tax measures adopted by previous sessions of the General Assembly have increased the tax revenues of the Commonwealth," the Committee said, "but will not provide sufficient funds to cover the costs of public instruction and other State functions growing out of legislation adopted in previous sessions and the current requests for funds reflected in the Budget proposed by Governor Fine for the 1953-1955 biennium."

The Committee, in conformance with the duties charged to it by the Governor, did not make any recommendations as to appropriations to be made by the Legislature.

It did say, however, that General Fund revenues for the 1953-1955 biennium in all probability will lag behind proposed appropriations by an estimated 157.2 million dollars, unless appropriations contemplated are found to be further reducible. It pointed out that the general course has been for the Legislature to increase, rather than decrease, appropriations requested by the Governor.

And the Committee warned:

"By 1959-1961, if educational expenditures continue to increase according to the programs approved by previous sessions of the General Assembly, and if the sum total of other expenditures remains stationary, the revenues from all sources may fall short of prospective General Fund appropriations by approximately 457 million dollars.

"Public School Retirement costs will add a substantial amount of expenditures to the total educational requirements. The growing gap between revenues and appropriations will be even greater if costly spending programs now being advocated are adopted."

The Committee believes that Pennsylvania should reform its corporate tax system in order to base it upon net income instead of on capital stock, or as an alternative levy.

"Placing a primary emphasis upon net income as a basis of taxation would remove the cause of many disputes between the taxpayers and the tax officials over the uncertainties and complications involved in valuing capital assets," the Committee said.

"Pennsylvania would also be a more attractive State in which to engage in business. Its competitive position would be improved as compared with that of other states which do not depend upon a combination of heavy income and capital stock taxation."

The Committee says that corporate bonus charges for the privilege of incorporating in Pennsylvania, which amounted to 2.8 million dollars in 1952, could be abandoned as an encouragement to corporations to enter the State to engage in business.

The Committee also asserts that the corporate loans tax on indebtedness, which brought 1.6 million dollars in revenue in 1952, might also be abandoned.

As against these suggestions, the Committee pointed out that some manufacturing corporations in Pennsylvania, replying to a questionnaire sent them, said that 1952 corporate taxes were not adversely influencing decisions to modernize or expand facilities in the State, although others contended they did.

The Tax Study Committee reported that the Commonwealth's revenue problem is complicated by the necessity of competing with the Federal and local governments for revenue, and that federal taxes are especially numerous and heavy.

It revealed, too, that the available revenue sources open to the State are limited largely because of federal encroachments upon the available taxable fields.

The Committee concludes from its studies that some revenue sources are highly exploited in Pennsylvania, while a comparison of the tax system of leading states indicates the absence of a number of productive revenue sources in our State tax system.

It is pointed out that among the 48 states only six, including Pennsylvania, have neither a general personal income nor sales tax. There are now 29 states with general personal income taxes; 33 states with some variety of general sales taxation; and 21 states with both of these prolific revenue sources.

The Committee reported that in several states severance taxes provide substantial revenue, but that such a tax is not imposed in Pennsylvania.

Discussing some possible new State tax sources, together with the problems they present and without proposing that they should or should not be adopted, the Committee lists:

Restoration of the soft drink tax.

A tax on cigars, chewing and smoking tobacco, and snuff, which would raise approximately four million dollars a year.

A general State tax on amusements, at rates one-half the federal tax, would raise approximately ten million dollars a year, although presenting many complications because of local amusement taxes.

The Committee says a tax on parimutuel betting at race tracks is a fertile source of revenue.

In this connection, it says:

"The most fertile new source of revenue which the states have recently developed, aside from general income and sales taxes, is the tax on parimutuel betting at race tracks. New York obtained 33.8 million dollars from a parimutuel tax in the fiscal year 1952; New Jersey, 15.6 million dollars.

"It would require, perhaps, a year or more for race tracks and racing schedules to be placed in full operation in Pennsylvania, if they were legalized. A tax on parimutuel betting could raise 20 to 25 million dollars in revenue a year, after full-scale operations were attained."

A State per capita tax at a rate of $5.00 on all persons of 21 years of age and older, would yield approximately 25 million dollars a year, if effectively enforced.

A meals tax of the Massachusetts variety, levying five per cent sales tax on meals costing $1.00 or more. This form of taxation could yield an estimated 10 million dollars a year.

A tax on hotel room rentals exceeding $2.00.

A tax on domestic and commercial users of electricity and gas, at a rate of 3.5 per cent, would supply an estimated 11.4 million dollars a year.

A tax on intrastate telephone and telegraph service at five per cent, to yield an annual estimated revenue of eight million dollars.

A tax on the net income of unincorporated businesses and professions, at one per cent, would yield approximately 20 million dollars a year.

Discussing the sales tax as a potential field of taxation, the Committee found that such levies imposed by 33 states in 1942 supplied more revenue in the aggregate than any other State tax, or more than two billion dollars.

The Committee's study of this form of levy brought findings that, contrary to general belief, families within the lower brackets up to $3,000 incomes did not pay relatively more of their income than families in the group with incomes of $10,000 and above provided food purchases were exempt.

However, the Committee said:

"The question of a general sales tax in Pennsylvania would involve the issue of State and local tax relations. There were 61 local governments on September 1, 1952, collecting business privilege and mercantile taxes.

"From the administrative standpoint, the superiority of State over local tax enforcement is readily apparent.

"If the Commonwealth should adopt some type of general sales tax, it probably would be necessary to require the local governments to relinquish this revenue source.

"It is estimated that a two per cent tax on sales of tangible personal property, exempting food for home consumption and also exempting the specially taxed commodities, alcoholic beverages, cigarettes, and gasoline, would provide approximately 140 million dollars a year in revenue in Pennsylvania."

Discussing the personal income tax, the Committee finds that if the Commonwealth should adopt such a tax, the problem of coordinating State and local income taxes would arise. It suggests that if either an income tax or a general sales tax is imposed and should be earmarked for education, either or both taxes might be received more favorably by the public. However, the Committee feels that financing education or other general functions through the General Fund is better, since it facilitates over-all control of State expenditures.

However, imposition of a gross income tax of one per cent would raise $135 millions annually, according to the Committee.

The Tax Study Committee holds that the continuing upward climb of State expenditures can be halted only if the citizens are willing to forego some of the public services they now demand, or transfer the financing of those services from the State to the Federal or local governments. These services, it says, are costing more, and it warns that tax increases have been inescapable in the financing of these public services.

"The plain fact is," said the Committee, "that the costs of government are rising, and taxes must also rise, until the upward trend in expenditures levels off."

The Committee foresees these possibilities of increased revenues to the State:

Taxing gifts in a manner similar to inheritance, approximately a million and a half dollars a year.

If a minimum credit of 50 per cent allowed by Congress against the entire federal estate tax for the payment of State death taxes, 30 million dollars annually.

If Congress granted a similar credit of 50 per cent against the federal gift tax for payment of estate gift tax, three million dollars a year.

If the gross receipts tax was extended to the sale of gas at a rate of 14 mills on gross receipts, the yield would be approximately 2.5 million dollars a year.

If a gross receipts tax of one per cent were levied against cooperative corporations, it would yield approximately 2.7 million dollars a year.

The Committee made a comprehensive study of the Commonwealth's debt charges and finds that a considerable part of the future tax revenues must be raised to finance the increasing debt-financed expenditures.

Pennsylvania State and local taxes are, in total, comparatively favorable with those of other leading states when they are measured on a per capita basis, and in relation to income payments and other significant measures of economic activity, according to the Committee. The Committee studied 15 leading states for 1951, and when total State and local taxes, with the addition of liquor store profits, were compared, Pennsylvania among those 15 states was 11th on a per capita basis, 13th in relation to income payments, and 12th in relation to a combination of income payments, value added in manufacturing, output of agriculture and mining, and retail sales.

During that same year—1951—Pennsylvania, it was found, derived most revenues from alcoholic beverages, cigarette taxes, general corporation, and inheritance taxes, and was low or 11th among the 15 states in collections from local property taxes.

With respect to the revenues obtained from alcoholic beverages, the Committee suggests there is no compelling reason for increasing either the liquor mark-up or the tax. It does assert, however, that revenue needs and considerations of equity require a mark-up on wines comparable with that on distilled spirits. It also points out that wine purchases in Pennsylvania are above the national average.

As to the malt beverage tax, the Committee has found that it is higher in Pennsylvania than in Maryland, New Jersey, and New York, but lower than in 20 other states, and says that a 50 per cent increase in the tax per barrel would raise approximately ten million dollars a year in additional revenue, assuming that the demand for malt beverages would not decline.

It said, further, that a study of the alcoholic beverage licenses and fees with a view to revising them upward for the benefit of local governments, would appear to be in order.

As to cigarettes, the Committee finds that the demand for them is such that an increase in the rate from four to five cents a package in Pennsylvania would probably raise new annual revenues of ten million dollars. Such a rate advance, however, the Committee says, would increase the Pennsylvania tax differential over the lower rates generally prevailing in nearby states.

A State tax on investment income from interest, dividends, royalties, and net returns received from investments in Pennsylvania by non-residents at a rate of two per cent would have an estimated annual yield of 20 million dollars, according to the Committee. However, it adds that if such a tax should be imposed, the local taxes on intangible personal property should be repealed, and the local revenue loss should be offset by a share of the State tax on investment income.

In summarization of its findings, the Tax Study Committee asserts that, like all other states, Pennsylvania finds there are few major revenue sources which are still open.

"On the other hand," says the report, "the citizens are demanding more governmental services. It is up to the citizens to decide whether the State and local governments are to spend more money. If they approve programs of higher spending, they must also accept new taxes which hit their incomes, expenditures, and savings."

"The ever recurring pressure in Pennsylvania for new tax sources proves that the Commonwealth has failed to develop a revenue structure sufficiently diversified and flexible to provide steadily increasing funds."

"The time has come for the Commonwealth to take inventory of its present revenue resources, to appraise its future revenue requirements, and to lay securely the foundations of a revenue system which will meet its long-range, as well as its immediate, revenue requirements."

"Such a revenue system, with adjustments from time to time in the bases and rates of taxation, would provide ample funds over the years with the minimum interference with the effect of operation of the private enterprise economy and in the manner most equitable and convenient to the taxpayers."

Small or minor tax revisions in the State's tax structure are not going to accomplish what is necessary to be done, according to the Committee. It holds that, "Little nuisance taxes imposed on this or that object apparently will not suffice to provide the great new revenues needed to finance the public school program and other costly services."

The Committee has found that there is a definite and continuing need for the better coordination of local, State, and federal taxes in order to provide adequate independent revenues for all levels of government in the most equitable and practical manner.

Part 1

Short Title Construction Application and Subject Matter of the Act

Section 1-101 Short Title This Act shall be known and may be cited as Uniform Commercial Code

Section 1-102 Purposes Rules of Construction (1) This Act shall be liberally construed and applied to promote its underlying purposes and policies

(2) Underlying purposes and policies of this Act are

- (a) to simplify and modernize and develop greater precision and certainty in the rules of law governing commercial transactions
- (b) to preserve flexibility in commercial transactions and to encourage continued expansion of commercial practices and mechanisms through custom usage and agreement of the parties
- (c) to make uniform the law among the various jurisdictions

(3) In construing and applying this Act to effect its purposes the following rules shall apply

- (a) Definitions and formal requirements such as those determining what constitutes a negotiable instrument a bona fide purchaser a holder in due course or due negotiation of documents of title are not subject to variation by agreement
- (b) Except as otherwise provided by this Act the rights and duties of a third party may not be adversely varied by an agreement to which he is not a party or by which he is not otherwise bound
- (c) The general obligations prescribed by this Act such as good faith due diligence commercial reasonableness and reasonable care may not be disclaimed by agreement but the parties may by agreement determine the standards by which the performance of such obligations is to be measured if such standards are not manifestly unreasonable

(d) Provisions of this Act which are qualified by the words "unless otherwise agreed" or words of similar import may be waived or modified by agreement and the absence of such words contains no negative implication

(e) Subject to the foregoing subsections and except as otherwise specifically provided in this Act the effect of provisions of this Act may be varied by agreement

(f) The Comments of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws and The American Law Institute may be consulted in the construction and application of this Act but if text and comment conflict text controls

(g) Prior drafts of text and comments may not be used to ascertain legislative intent

Section 1-103 Supplementary General Principles of Law Applicable Unless displaced by the particular provisions of this Act the principles of law and equity including the law merchant and the law relative to capacity to contract principal and agent estoppel fraud misrepresentation duress coercion mistake bankruptcy or other validating or invalidating cause shall supplement its provisions

Section 1-104 Construction Against Implicit Repeal This Act being a general act intended as a unified coverage of its subject matter no part of it shall be deemed to be impliedly repealed by subsequent legislation if such construction can reasonably be avoided

Section 1-105 Applicability of the Act Parties' Right to Choose Applicable Law (1) Article 1 applies to any contract or transaction to which any other Article of this Act applies

(2) The Articles on Sales (Article 2) Documentary Letters of Credit (Article 5) and Documents of Title (Article 7) apply whenever any contract or transaction within the terms of any one of the Articles is made or occurs after the effective date of this Act and the contract

(a) is made offered or accepted or the transaction occurs within this state or

(b) is to be performed or completed wholly or in part within this state or

(c) relates to or involves goods which are to be or are in fact delivered shipped or received within this state or

(d) involves a bill of lading warehouse receipt or other document of title which is to be or is in fact issued delivered sent or received within this state or

(e) is an application or agreement for a credit made sent or received within this state or involves a credit issued in this state or under which drafts are to be presented in this state or confirmation or advice of which is sent or received within this state or involves any negotiation within this state of a draft drawn under a credit

(3) The Articles on Commercial Paper (Article 3) and Bank Deposits and Collections (Article 4) apply whenever any contract or transaction within the terms of either of the Articles is made or occurs after the effective date of this Act and the contract

(a) is made offered or accepted or the transaction occurs within this state or

(b) is to be performed or completed wholly or in part within this state or

(c) involves commercial paper which is made drawn or transferred within this state

(a) is made offered or accepted or the transaction occurs within this state or

(b) is to be performed or completed wholly or in part within this state or

(c) involves a security issued or transferred within this state

But the validity of a corporate security shall be governed by the law of the jurisdiction of incorporation

(5) The Articles on Bulk Transfers (Article 6) and Secured Transactions (Article 9) apply whenever any contract or transaction within their terms is made or occurs after the effective date of this Act and falls within the provisions of Section 6—102 or Sections 9—102 and 9—103

(6) Whenever a contract instrument document security or transaction bears a reasonable relationship to one or more states or nations in addition to this state the parties may agree that the law of any such other state or nation shall govern their rights and duties In the absence of an agreement which meets the requirements of this subsection this Act governs

Section 1—106 Remedies to be Liberally Administered

(1) The remedies provided by this Act shall be liberally administered to the end that the aggrieved party may be put in as good a position as if the other party had fully performed but neither consequential nor penal damages may be had except as specifically provided in this Act or by other rule of law

(2) Any right or obligation declared by this Act is enforceable by action unless the provision declaring it specifies a different and limited effect

Section 1—107 Waiver or Renunciation of Claim or Right after Breach Any claim or right arising out of an alleged breach can be discharged in whole or in part without consideration by a written waiver or renunciation signed by the aggrieved party

Section 1—108 Severability If any provision or clause of this Act or application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications of the Act which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application and to this end the provisions of this Act are declared to be severable

Section 1—109 Section Captions Section captions are parts of this Act

Section 1—203 Obligation of Good Faith Every contract within this Act imposes an obligation of good faith in its performance or enforcement

Section 1 —204 Time Reasonable Time "Seasonably"

(1) Wherever this Act requires any action to be taken within a reasonable time the agreement may fix any time which is not manifestly unreasonable

(2) What is a reasonable time for taking any action depends on the nature purpose and circumstances of such action

(3) An action is taken "seasonably" when it is taken at or within the time agreed or if no time is agreed at or within a reasonable time

Section 1—205 Course of Dealing and Usage of Trade

(1) A course of dealing is a sequence of previous conduct between the parties to a particular transaction which is in fact fairly to be regarded as establishing a common basis of understanding for interpreting their words and conduct

(2) A usage of trade is any practice or method of dealing currently recognized as established in a particular place or among those engaged in trade or in a particular vocation or trade Its existence and scope are questions of fact

(3) The parties to a contract are bound by any course of dealing between them and by any usage of trade of which both are or should be aware and parties engaged in a particular vocation or trade are bound by its usages

(4) Unless contrary to a mandatory rule of this Act

(a) A course of dealing or usage of trade gives particular meaning to and supplements or qualifies terms of the agreement

(b) The express terms of the agreement and any course of dealing or usage of trade shall be construed wherever reasonable as consistent with each other but when such construction is unreasonable express terms shall control both course of dealing and usage of trade and course of dealing shall control usage of trade

(5) The usage of trade in the place where any part of performance is to occur shall be used in interpreting the agreement as to that part of the performance

(6) A party intending to offer evidence of a usage of trade must give the other party such notice as will prevent surprise

Section 1—206 Right to Signed Receipt for Goods or Payment Where a person tenders payment goods or documents he may require a signed receipt as a condition of completing delivery

Section 1—207 Performance or Acceptance Under Reservation of Rights A party who with explicit reservation of rights performs or promises performance or assents to performance in a manner demanded or offered by the other party does not thereby prejudice the rights reserved Such words as "without prejudice" "under protest" or the like are sufficient

Section 1—208 Option to Accelerate at Will A term providing that one party may accelerate payment or performance or require collateral or additional collateral not on stated contingencies but "at will" or "when he deems himself insecure" or in words of similar import means that he has power to do so only in the good faith belief that the prospect of payment or performance is impaired but the burden of establishing lack of good faith is on the party against whom the power has been exercised

(4) In addition Article 1 contains general definitions and principles of construction and interpretation applicable throughout this Article

Section 2—104 Definitions "Merchant" "Between Merchants" "Financing Agency" (1) "Merchant" means a person who deals in goods of the kind or otherwise by his occupation holds himself out as having knowledge or skill peculiar to the practices or goods involved in the transaction or to whom such knowledge or skill may be attributed by his employment of an agent or broker or other intermediary who by his occupation holds himself out as having such knowledge or skill

(2) "Financing agency" means a bank finance company or other person who in the ordinary course of business makes advances against goods or documents of title or who by arrangement with either the seller or the buyer intervenes in ordinary course to make or collect payment due or claimed under the contract for sale as by purchasing or paying the seller's draft or making advances against it or by merely taking it for collection whether or not documents of title accompany the draft "Financing agency" includes also a bank or other person who similarly intervenes between persons who are in the position of seller and buyer in respect to the goods (Section 2—707)

(3) "Between merchants" means in any transaction with respect to which both parties are chargeable with the knowledge or skill of merchants

Section 2—105 Definitions Transferability "Goods" "Future" Goods "Lot" "Commercial Unit" (1) "Goods" means all things (including specially manufactured goods) which are movable at the time of identification to the contract for sale other than the money in which the price is to be paid investment securities (Article 8) and things in action "Goods" also includes the unborn young of animals and growing crops and other identified things attached to realty and capable of severance without material harm thereto as described in the section on goods to be served from realty (Section 2—107)

(2) Goods must be both existing and identified before any interest in them can pass Goods which are not both existing and identified are "future" goods A purported present sale of future goods or of any interest therein operates as a contract to sell

(3) There may be a sale of a part interest in existing identified goods

(4) An undivided share in an identified bulk of fungible goods is sufficiently identified to be sold although the quantity of the bulk is not determined Any agreed proportion of such a bulk or any quantity thereof agreed upon by number weight or other measure may to the extent of the seller's interest in the bulk be sold to the buyer who then becomes an owner in common

(5) "Lot" means a parcel or a single article which is the subject matter of a separate sale or delivery whether or not it is sufficient to perform the contract

(6) "Commercial unit" means such a unit of goods as by commercial usage is a single whole for purposes of sale and division of which materially impairs in character or value on the market or in use A Commercial unit may be a single article (as a machine) or a set of articles (as a suite of furniture or an assortment of sizes) or a quantity (as a bale gross or carload) or any other unit treated in use or in the relevant market as a single whole

Section 2—106 Definitions "Contract for Sale" "Sale" "Present Sale" "Conforming" to Contract "Termination" "Cancellation" (1) "Contract for sale" includes both a present sale of goods and a contract to sell goods at a future time A "sale" consists in the passing of title from the seller to the buyer for a price (Section 2—401) A "present sale" means a sale which is accomplished by the making of the contract

(2) Goods or conduct including any part of a performance are "conforming" or conform to the contract when they are in accordance with the obligations under the contract

(3) "Termination" occurs when either party pursuant to a power created by agreement or law puts an end to the contract otherwise than for its breach On "termination" all obligations which are still executory on both sides are discharged but any right based on prior breach or performance survives

(4) "Cancellation" occurs when either party puts an end to the contract for breach by the other and its effect is the same as that of "termination" except that the cancelling party also retains any remedy for breach of the whole contract or any unperformed balance

Section 2—107 Goods To Be Severed From Realty Recording (1) A contract for the sale of timber minerals or the like or a structure or its materials to be removed from realty is a contract for the sale of goods within this Article if they are to be severed by the seller but until severance a purported present sale thereof is ineffective

(2) A contract for the sale apart from the land of growing crops or other identified things attached to realty and capable of severance without material harm thereto but not described in subsection (1)

(a) is a contract for sale of goods within this Article whether the subject matter is to be severed by the buyer or by the seller even though it forms part of the realty at the time of contracting and subject to any third party rights provided by the law relating to realty records the parties can by identification work a constructive severance at the time of contracting and

(b) may be executed and recorded as a document transferring an interest in land and shall then constitute notice to third parties of the buyer's rights under the contract for sale

Part 2

Form Formation and Readjustment of Contract

Section 2—201 Formal Requirements Statute of Frauds (1) Except as otherwise provided in this section a contract for the sale of goods for the price of $500 or more is not enforceable by way of action or defense unless there is some writing sufficient to indicate that a contract for sale has been made between the parties and signed by the party against whom enforcement is sought or by his authorized agent or broker. A writing is not insufficient because it omits or incorrectly states a term agreed upon but the contract is not enforceable under this paragraph beyond the quantity of goods shown in such writing.

(2) Between merchants if within a reasonable time a writing in confirmation of the contract and sufficient against the sender is received and the party receiving it has reason to know its contents it satisfies the requirements of subsection (1) against such party unless written notice of objection to its contents is given within ten days after it is received.

(3) A contract which does not satisfy the requirements of subsection (1) but which is valid in other respects is enforceable

(a) if the goods are to be specially manufactured for the buyer and are not suitable for sale to others in the ordinary course of the seller's business and the seller before notice of repudiation is received and under circumstances which reasonably indicate that the goods are for the buyer has made either a substantial beginning of their manufacture or commitments for their procurement or

(b) if the party against whom enforcement is sought admits in his pleading or otherwise in court that a contract for sale was made or

(c) with respect to goods for which payment has been made and accepted or which have been received and accepted (Section 2—606)

Section 2—202 Final Written Expression Parol or Extrinsic Evidence Terms with respect to which the confirmatory memoranda of the parties agree or which are otherwise set forth in a writing intended by the parties as a final expression of their agreement with respect to such terms as are included therein may not be contradicted by evidence of any prior agreement or of a contemporaneous oral agreement but may be explained or supplemented

(a) by course of dealing or usage of trade (Section 1—205) or by course of performance (Section 2—208) and

(b) by evidence of consistent additional terms unless the court finds the writing to have been intended also as a complete and exclusive statement of the terms agreed upon

Section 2—203 Seals Inoperative The affixing of a seal to a writing evidencing a contract for sale or an offer to buy or sell goods does not constitute the writing a sealed instrument and the law with respect to sealed instruments does not apply to such a contract or offer

Section 2—204 Formation in General (1) A contract for sale of goods may be made in any manner sufficient to show agreement

(2) Conduct by both parties which recognizes the existence of a contract is sufficient to establish a contract for sale even though the moment of its making cannot be determined

(3) Even though one or more terms are left open a contract for sale does not fail for indefiniteness if the parties have intended to make a contract and there is a reasonably certain basis for giving an appropriate remedy

Section 2—205 Firm Offers An offer by a merchant to buy or sell goods in a signed writing which gives assurance that it will be held open needs no consideration to be irrevocable for a reasonable time or during a stated time but in no event for a time exceeding three months but such term on a form supplied by the offeree must be separately signed by the offeror

Section 2—206 Offer and Acceptance in Formation of Contract (1) Unless the contrary is unambiguously indicated by the language or circumstances

(a) an offer to make a contract shall be construed as inviting acceptance in any manner and by any medium reasonable in the circumstances

(b) an order or other offer to buy goods for prompt or current shipment can be accepted either by such shipment or by a prompt promise thereof

(2) Unless the seller states the contrary a shipment sent in response to an order to which it does not conform is an acceptance and at the same time a breach. But a shipment of non-conforming goods offered as an accommodation to the buyer in substitution for the goods described in the order is not an acceptance

(3) The beginning of a requested performance can be a reasonable mode of acceptance but in such a case an offeror who is not notified of acceptance within a reasonable time may treat the offer as having lapsed before acceptance

Section 2—207 Additional Terms in Acceptance or Confirmation (1) A definite and seasonable expression of acceptance or a written confirmation which is sent within a reasonable time operates as an acceptance even though it states terms additional to or different from those offered or agreed upon

(2) The additional terms are to be construed as proposals for addition to the contract and between merchants become part of the contract unless they materially alter it or notification of objection to them has already been given or is given within a reasonable time

Section 2—208 Course of Performance or Practical Construction Where the contract for sale involves repeated occasions for performance by either party with knowledge of the nature of the performance and opportunity for objection to it by the other any course of performance accepted without objection shall be relevant to determine the meaning of the agreement or to show a waiver or modification of any term inconsistent with such course of performance

Section 2—209 Modification and Waiver (1) An agreement modifying a contract within this Article needs no consideration to be binding

(2) A signed agreement which excludes modification except by a signed writing cannot be otherwise modified but except as between merchants such a requirement on a form supplied by the merchant must be separately signed by the other party

(3) The requirements of the Statute of Frauds section of this Article (Section 2—201) must be satisfied if the contract as modified is within its provisions

(4) Although an attempt at modification does not satisfy the requirements of subsection (2) or (3) it can operate as a waiver

(5) Unless reliance on it has made retraction unjust a waiver which affects an executory portion of the contract may be retracted by receipt of reasonable notification that strict performance will be required of any term waived

Section 2—210 Delegation of Performance Assignment of Rights (1) A party may perform his duty through a delegate unless otherwise agreed or unless the other party has a substantial interest in having his original promisor perform or control the acts required by the contract. No delegation of performance relieves the party delegating from liability for any breach

(2) Unless otherwise agreed all rights of either seller or buyer can be assigned except where the assignment would materially change the performance of the other party. A right to damages for breach of the whole contract or a right arising out of the assignor's due performance of his entire obligation can be assigned despite agreement otherwise

(3) Unless the circumstances indicate the contrary a prohibition of assignment of "the contract" is to be construed as barring only the delegation to the assignee of the assignor's performance

(4) An assignment of "the contract" or of "all my rights under the contract" or an assignment in similar general terms is an assignment of rights and unless the circumstances indicate the contrary (as in an assignment for security) it is a delegation of performance of the duties of the assignor and its acceptance by the assignee constitutes a promise by him to perform those duties. This promise is enforceable by either the assignor or the other party to the original contract

(5) The other party may treat any assignment which delegates performance as impairing his expectation of performance and may without prejudice to his rights against the assignor demand assurances from the assignee (Section 2—609)

Part 3

General Obligation and Construction of Contract

Section 2—301 General Obligations of Parties The obligation of the seller is to transfer and deliver and that of the buyer is to accept and pay in accordance with the contract

Section 2—302 Unconscionable Contract or Clause (1) If the court finds the contract or any clause of the contract to be unconscionable it may refuse to enforce the contract or may strike any unconscionable clauses and enforce the contract as if the stricken clause had never existed

(2) When it is claimed or appears to the court that the contract or any clause thereof may be unconscionable the court may afford the parties an opportunity to present evidence as to its commercial setting purpose and effect to aid the court in making the determination

Section 2—303 Allocation or Division of Risks Where this Article allocates a risk or a burden as between the parties "unless otherwise agreed" the agreement may not only shift the allocation but may also divide the risk or burden

Section 2—304 Price Payable in Money Goods Realty or Otherwise (1) The price can be made payable in money or otherwise If it is payable in whole or in part in goods each party is a seller of the goods which he is to transfer

(2) Even though all or part of the price is payable in an interest in realty the transfer of the goods and the seller's obligations with reference to them are subject to this Article but not the transfer of the interest in realty or the transferor's obligations in connection therewith

Section 2—305 Open Price Term (1) The parties if they so intend can conclude a contract for sale even though the price is not settled In such a case the price is a reasonable price at the time for delivery if

(a) nothing is said as to price or

(b) the price is left to be agreed by the parties and they fail to agree or

(c) the price is to be fixed in terms of some agreed market or other standard as set or recorded by a third person or agency and it is not so set or recorded

(2) A price to be fixed by the seller or by the buyer means a price for him to fix in good faith

(3) When a price left to be fixed otherwise than by agreement of the parties fails to be fixed through fault of one party the other may at his option treat the contract as cancelled or himself fix a reasonable price

(4) Where however the parties intend not to be bound unless the price be fixed or agreed and it is not fixed or agreed there is no contract In such a case the buyer must return any goods already received or if unable so to do must pay their reasonable value at the time of delivery and the seller must return any portion of the price paid on account

Section 2—306 Output Requirements and Exclusive Dealings (1) A term which measures the quantity by the output of the seller or the requirements of the buyer means such actual output or requirements as may occur in good faith except that no quantity unreasonably disproportionate to any stated estimate or in the absence of a stated estimate to any normal or otherwise comparable prior output or requirements may be tendered or demanded

(2) Where in connection with a contract for sale there is a lawful agreement for exclusive dealing by either the seller or the buyer in the kind of goods concerned good faith also imposes on each party an obligation of due diligence

Section 2—307 Delivery in Single Lot or Several Lots Unless otherwise agreed all goods called for by a contract for sale must be tendered in a single delivery and payment is due only on such tender but where the circumstances gives either party the right to make or demand delivery in lots the price if it can be apportioned may be demanded for each lot

Section 2—308 Absence of Specified Place for Delivery Unless otherwise agreed

(a) the place for delivery of goods is the seller's place of business or if he has none his residence but

(b) in a contract for sale of identified goods which to the knowledge of the parties at the time of contracting are in some other place that place is the place for their delivery and

(c) documents of title may be delivered through customary banking channels

Section 2—309 Absence of Specific Time Provisions Notice of Termination (1) The time for shipment or delivery or any other action under a contract is not provided in this Article or agreed upon shall be a reasonable time

(2) Where the contract provides for successive performances but is indefinite in duration it is valid for a reasonable time but unless otherwise agreed may be terminated at any time by either party

(3) Termination of a contract require that reasonable notification be received by the other party and an agreement dispensing with notification is invalid if its operation would be unconscionable

Section 2—310 Open Time for Payment or Running of Credit Authority to Ship Under Reservation Unless otherwise agreed

(a) payment is due at the time and place at which the buyer is to receive the goods even though the place of shipment is the place of delivery and

(b) if the seller is authorized to send the goods he may ship them under reservation and may demand payment against tender of the documents of title but in the absence of such a term as C I F C O D or cash against documents the buyer may inspect the goods after their arrival before he pays and

(c) if delivery is otherwise authorized and made by way of documents of title payment is due at the time and place at which the buyer is to receive the documents regardless of where the goods are to be received and

(d) where the seller is required or authorized to ship the goods on credit the credit period runs from the time of shipment but post-dating the invoice or delaying its dispatch will correspondingly delay the starting of the credit period

Section 2—311 Options and Cooperation Respecting Performance (1) A contract for sale which is otherwise sufficiently definite (subsection (3) of Section 2—204) is not made invalid by the fact that the agreement leaves particulars of performance to be specified by one of the parties

(2) Unless otherwise agreed specifications relating to assortment of the goods are at the buyer's option and specifications or arrangements relating to shipment are at the seller's option

(3) Where the exercise of such an option will materially affect the other party's performance but is not seasonably exercised or where one party's cooperation is necessary to the agreed performance of the other but is not seasonably forthcoming the other party in addition to all other remedies

(a) is excused for any resulting delay in his own performance and

(b) may also either proceed to perform in any reasonable manner or await the time for his own performance and then treat the failure to exercise the option or to cooperate as a breach by failure to deliver or accept the goods

Section 2—312 Warranty of Title and Against Infringement (1) Unless otherwise agreed there is in a contract for sale a warranty by the seller that

(a) the title conveyed shall be good and its transfer rightful and

(b) the goods shall be delivered free from any security interest or other lien or encumbrance of which the buyer at the time of contracting has no knowledge and also free from any rightful claim of any third person by way of infringement or otherwise unless the circumstances at the time of contracting place the risk of such claim upon the buyer

(2) Where the circumstances give the buyer reason to know that the person selling does not claim title in himself or that he is purporting to sell only such right or title as he or a third person may have no personal obligation is imposed by this section on the person selling unless otherwise agreed

Section 2—213 Express Warranties by Affirmation the seller are created as follows

Promise Description Sample (1) Express warranties by

(a) Any affirmation of fact or promise made by the seller to the buyer which relates to the goods and becomes a basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the goods shall conform to the affirmation or promise

(b) Any description of the goods which is made a basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the goods shall conform to the description

(c) Any sample or model which is made a basis of the bargain creates an express warranty that the whole of the goods shall conform to the sample or model

(2) It is not necessary to the creation of an express warranty that the seller use formal words such as "warranty" or "guarantee" or that he have a specific intention to make a warranty but an affirmation merely of the value of the goods or a statement purporting to be merely the seller's opinion or commendation of the goods does not create a warranty

Section 2—314 Implied Warranty Merchantability Usage of Trade (1) Unless excluded or modified (Section 2—316) a warranty that the goods shall be merchantable is applied in a contract for their sale if the seller is a merchant with respect to goods of that kind or though not a merchant states generally that they are guaranteed The serving for value of food or drink to be consumed either on the premises or elsewhere is a sale

(2) Goods to be merchantable must at least be such as (a) pass without objection in the trade under the contract description and

(b) are of fair average quality in the trade and within the description and

(c) are fit for the ordinary purposes for which such goods are used and

(d) run within the variations permitted by the agreement of even kind quality and quantity within each unit and among all units involved and

(e) are adequately contained packaged and labeled as the agreement may require and

(f) conform to the promises or affirmations of fact made on the container or label if any

(3) Unless excluded or modified (Section 2—316) other implied warranties may arise from course of dealing or usage of trade

Section 2—315 Implied Warranty Fitness for Particular Purpose Where the seller at the time of contracting has reason to know any particular purpose for which the goods are required and that the buyer is relying on the seller's skill or judgment to select or furnish suitable goods there is unless excluded or modified under the next section an implied warranty that the goods shall be fit for such purpose

Section 2—316 Exclusion or Modification of Warranties (1) If the agreement creates an express warranty words disclaiming it are inoperative

(2) Exclusion or modification of the implied warranty of merchantability or of fitness for a particular purpose must be in specific language and if the inclusion of such language creates an ambiguity in the contract as a whole it shall be resolved against the seller except that

(a) all implied warranties are excluded by expressions like "as is" "as they stand" "with all faults" or other language which in common understanding calls the buyer's attention to the exclusion of warranties and makes plain that there is no implied warranty and

(b) when the buyer has examined the goods or the sample or model as fully as he desired or has refused to examine the goods there is no implied warranty with regard to defects which an examination ought in the circumstances to have revealed to him and

(c) an implied warranty can also be excluded or modified by course of dealing or course of performance or usage of trade

(3) Remedies for breach of warranty can be limited in accordance with the provisions of this Article on liquidation or limitation of damages and on contractual modification of remedy (Sections 2—718 and

Section 2—317 Cumulation and Conflict of Warranties Express or Implied Warranties whether express or implied shall be construed as consistent with each other and as cumulative but if such construction is unreasonable the intention of the parties shall determine which warranty is dominant In ascertaining that intention the following rules apply

(a) Exact or technical specifications displace an inconsistent sample or model or general language of description

(b) A sample from an existing bulk displaces inconsistent general language of description

(c) Express warranties displace inconsistent implied warranties other than an implied warranty of fitness for a particular purpose

Section 2—318 Third party Beneficiaries of Warranties Express or Implied A seller's warranty whether express or implied extends to any natural person who is in the family or household of his buyer or who is a guest in his home if it is reasonable to expect that such person may use consume or be affected by the goods and who is injured in person by breach of the warranty A seller may not exclude or limit the operation of this section

Section 2—319 F O B and F A S Terms (1) Unless otherwise agreed the term F O B (which means "free on board") at a named place even though used only in connection with the stated price is a delivery term under which

(a) when the term is F O B the place of shipment the seller must at that place ship the goods in the manner provided in this Article (Sec 2—504) and bear the expense and risk of putting them into the possession of the carrier or

(b) when the term is F O B the place of destination the seller must at his own expense and risk transport the goods to that place and there tender delivery of them in the manner provided in this Article (Section 2—503)

(c) when under either (a) or (b) the term is also F O B vessel car or other vehicle the seller must in addition at his own expense and risk load the goods on board If the term is F O B vessel the buyer must name the vessel and in an appropriate case the seller must comply with the provisions of this Article on the form of bill of lading (Section 2—323)

(2) Unless otherwise agreed the term F A S vessel (which means "free alongside") at a named port even though used only in connection with the stated price is a delivery term under which the seller must

(a) at his own expense and risk deliver the goods alongside the vessel in the manner usual in that port and

(b) obtain and tender a receipt for the goods in exchange for which the carrier is under a duty to issue a bill of lading

(3) Unless otherwise agreed in any case falling within subsection (1) (a) or (c) or subsection (2) the buyer must seasonably give any needed instructions for making delivery including when the term is F A S or F O B the loading berth of the vessel and in an appropriate case its name and sailing date The seller may treat the failure of needed instructions as a failure of cooperation under this Article (Section 2—311) He may also at his option move the goods in any reasonable manner preparatory to delivery or shipment

(4) Under the term F O B vessel or F A S unless otherwise agreed the buyer must make payment against tender of the required documents and the seller may not tender nor the buyer demand delivery of the goods in substitution for the documents

Section 2—320 C I F and C & F Terms (1) The term C I F means that the price includes in a lump sum the cost of the goods and the insurance and freight to the named destination. The term C & F or C F means that the price so includes cost and freight to the named destination

(2) Unless otherwise agreed and even though used only in connection with the stated price and destination the term C I F destination or its equivalent requires the seller at his own expense and risk to

(a) put the goods into the possession of a carrier at the port for shipment and obtain a negotiable bill or bills of lading covering the entire transportation to the named destination and

(b) load the goods and obtain a receipt from the carrier (which may be contained in the bill of lading) showing that the freight has been paid or provided for and

(c) obtain a policy or certificate of insurance including any war risk insurance of a kind and on terms then current at the port of shipment in the usual amount in the currency of the contract shown to cover the same goods covered by the bill of lading and providing for payment of loss to the order of the buyer or for the account of whom it may concern but the seller may add to the price the amount of the premium for any such war risk insurance and

(d) prepare an invoice of the goods and procure any other documents required to effect shipment or to comply with the contract and

(e) forward and tender with commercial promptness all the documents in due form with any indorsement necessary to perfect the buyer's rights

(3) Unless otherwise agreed the term C & F or its equivalent has the same effect and imposes upon the seller the same obligations and risks as a C I F term except the obligation as to insurance

(4) Under the term C I F or C & F unless otherwise agreed the buyer must make payment against tender of the required documents and the seller may not tender nor the buyer demand delivery of the goods in substitution for the documents

Section 2—321 C I F or C & F "Net Landed Weights" "Payment on Arrival" Warranty of Condition on Arrival Under a contract containing a term C I F or C & F

(1) Where the price is based on or is to be adjusted according to "net landed weights" "delivered weights" "out turn" quantity or quality or the like unless otherwise agreed the seller must reasonably estimate the price. The payment due on tender of the documents called for by the contract is the amount so estimated but after final adjustment of the price a settlement must be made with commercial promptness

(2) An agreement described in subsection (1) or any warranty of quality or condition of the goods on arrival places upon the seller the risk of ordinary deterioration shrinkage and the like in transportation but has no effect on the place or time of identification to the contract for sale or delivery or on the passing of the risk of loss

(3) Unless otherwise agreed where the contract provides for payment on or after arrival of the goods the seller must before payment allow such preliminary inspection as is feasible but if the goods are lost delivery of the documents and payment are due when the goods should have arrived

Section 2—322 Delivery "Ex-Ship" (1) Unless otherwise agreed a term for delivery of goods "ex-ship" (which means from the carrying vessel) or in equivalent language is not restricted to a particular ship and requires delivery from a ship which has reached a place at the named port of destination where goods of the kind are usually discharged

(2) Under such a term unless otherwise agreed

(a) the seller must discharge all liens arising out of the carriage and furnish the buyer with direction which puts the carrier under a duty to deliver the goods and

(b) the risk of loss does not pass to the buyer until the goods leave the ship's tackle or are otherwise properly unloaded

Section 2—323 Form of Bill of Lading Required in Overseas Shipment "Overseas" (1) Where the contract contemplates overseas shipment and contains a term C I F or C & F or F O B vessel the seller unless otherwise agreed must obtain a negotiable bill of lading stating that the goods have been loaded on board or received for shipment

(2) Where in a case within subsection (1) a bill of lading has been issued in a set of parts unless otherwise agreed if the documents are not to be sent from abroad the buyer may demand tender of the full set otherwise only one part of the bill of lading need be tendered. Even if the agreement expressly requires a full set

(a) due tender of a single part is acceptable within the provisions of this Article on cure of improper delivery (subsection (1) of Section 2—508) and

(b) even though the full set is demanded if the documents are sent from abroad the person tendering a single part may nevertheless require payment against such parts as are then available if accompanied by an indemnity which the buyer in good faith deems adequate

(3) A shipment by water or by air or a contract contemplating such shipment is "overseas" insofar as by usage of trade or agreement it is subject to the commercial financing or shipping practices characteristic of international deep water commerce

Section 2—324 "To Arrive" Term Under a term "to arrive" or "no arrival no sale" or the like unless otherwise agreed

(a) the seller must properly ship conforming goods and if they arrive by any means he must tender them on arrival but he assumes no obligation that the goods will arrive unless he has caused the non-arrival and

(b) where without fault of the seller the goods are in part lost or have so deteriorated as no longer to conform to the contract or arrive after the contract time the buyer may proceed as if there had been casualty to unique goods (Section 2—613)

Section 2—325 "Letter of Credit" Term "Confirmed Credit" (1) Failure of the buyer seasonably to furnish an agreed letter of credit is a breach of the contract for sale

(2) After the furnishing of a proper letter of credit the seller may not without seasonably notifying the buyer require payment directly from him

(3) Unless otherwise agreed the term "letter of credit" or "banker's credit" in a contract for sale means an irrevocable credit issued by a financing agency of good repute and where the shipment is overseas of good international repute. The term "confirmed credit" means that the credit must also carry the direct obligation of such an agency which does business in the seller's financial market

Section 2—326 Sale on Approval and Sale or Return

(1) A "sale on approval" is a contract for sale under which the goods delivered notwithstanding such use by the buyer as is consistent with their testing or trying out are to remain the sellers' until acceptance by the buyer. A "sale or return" is a contract for sale under which the goods even though they conform to the contract or have been accepted by the buyer are subject to return at his option

(2) There is a contract for sale or return when goods are delivered to the buyer for resale and are charged at a fixed price but even though they conform to the contract are returnable against recredit or repayment of their price in full or less minor charges. Where the buyer has a place of business at which he deals in goods of the kind involved such words as "on consignment" or "on memorandum" or other words purporting to reserve title to the seller until payment or resale are insufficient as against the buyer's creditors to keep the transaction from being a sale or return unless the seller complies with any applicable law requiring a consignor's interest or the like to be evidenced by a sign or establishes that the buyer is known to be primarily engaged in selling the goods of others or complies with the filing provisions of the Article on Secured Transactions (Article 9)

(3) Any "or return" term of a contract for sale is to be treated as a separate contract for sale within the statute of frauds section of this Article (Section 2—201) and as contradicting the sale aspect of the contract within the provisions of this Article on parol or extrinsic evidence (Section 2—202)

Section 2—327 Special Incidents of Sales on Approval and Sale or Return (1) Under a sale on approval unless otherwise agreed

(a) although the goods are identified to the contract the risk of loss and the title do not pass to the buyer until acceptance and

(b) use of the goods consistent with the purpose of trial is not acceptance but failure seasonably to notify the seller of election to return the goods is acceptance if the goods conform to the contract acceptance of any part is acceptance of the whole and

(c) after due notification of election to return the return is at the seller's risk and expense but a merchant buyer must follow any reasonable instructions

(2) Under a sale or return unless otherwise agreed

(a) the option to return extends to the whole or any commercial unit of the goods while in substantially their original condition but must be exercised seasonably and

(b) the return is at the buyer's risk and expense

Section 2—328 Sales by Auction (1) In a sale by auction if goods are put up in lots each lot is the subject of a separate sale

(2) A sale by auction is complete when the auctioneer so announces by the fall of the hammer or in other customary manner Where a bid is made while the hammer is falling in acceptance of a prior bid the auctioneer may in his discretion reopen the bidding or declare the goods sold under the bid on which the hammer was falling

(3) Such a sale is with reserve unless the goods are in explicit terms put up without reserve In an auction with reserve the auctioneer may withdraw the goods or the bidder may retract his bid until the auctioneer's announcement of completion but a bidder's retraction does not revive any previous bid In an auction without reserve the goods cannot be withdrawn nor a bid retracted

(4) If the auctioneer knowingly receive a bid on the seller's behalf or the seller makes or procures such a bid except at a forced sale or where notice has been given that liberty for such bids is reserved the buyer may at his option avoid the sale or take the goods at the price of the last prior good faith bid

Title Creditors and Good Faith Purchasers

Section 2—401 Passing of Title Reservation for Security Limited Application of This Section Each provision of this Article with regard to the rights obligations and remedies of the seller the buyer purchasers or other third parties applies irrespective of title to the goods except where the provision refers to such title Insofar as situations are not covered by the other provisions of this Article and matters concerning title become material the following rules apply

(1) Title to goods cannot pass under a contract for sale prior to their identification to the contract (Section 2—501) Subject to this provision title to goods passes from the seller to the buyer in any manner and on any conditions explicitly agreed on by the parties except that

(a) any reservation by the seller of the title (property) in goods delivered or otherwise identified to a contract for sale is limited in effect to reservation of a security interest and

(b) no agreement that a contract for sale is a "cash sale" alters the effects of identification or impairs the rights of good faith purchasers from the buyer

(2) Unless otherwise explicitly agreed title passes to the buyer at the time and place at which the seller completes his performance with reference to the physical delivery of the goods despite any reservation of a security interest and even though document of title is to be delivered at a different time or place and in particular despite any reservation of a security interest by the bill of lading

(a) if the contract requires or authorizes the seller to send the goods to the buyer but does not require him to deliver them at destination title passes to the buyer at the time and place of shipment but

(b) if the contract requires delivery at destination title passes on tender there

(3) Unless otherwise explicitly agreed where delivery is to be made without moving the goods

(a) if the seller is to deliver a document of title title passes at the time when and the place where he delivers such documents or

(b) if the goods are at the time of contracting already identified and no documents are to be delivered title passes at the time and place of contracting

(4) A rejection or other refusal by the buyer to receive or retain the goods whether or not justified or a justified revocation of acceptance revests title to the goods in the seller Such revesting occurs by operation of law and is not a "sale"

Section 2—402 Rights of Seller's Creditors Against Sold Goods (1) A creditor of the seller may treat a sale or an identification of goods to a contract for sale as void if as against him a retention of possession by the seller is fraudulent under any rule of law of the state where the goods are situated except that retention of possession in good faith and current course of trade by a merchant-seller for a commercially reasonable time after a sale or identification is not fraudulent

(2) Nothing in this Article shall be deemed to impair the rights of creditors of the sellers where identification to the contract and delivery are made not in current course of trade but in satisfaction of or as security for a pre-existing claim for money security or the like and are made under circumstances which apart from this Article would constitute the transaction a fraudulent transfer or avoidable preference

Section 2—403 Power to Transfer Good Faith Purchase of Goods "Entrusting" (1) A purchaser of goods acquires all title which his transferor has or has power to transfer except that a purchaser of a limited interest acquires rights only to the extent of the interest purchased A person with voidable title has power to transfer a good title to a good faith purchaser for value

(2) Any entrusting of possession of goods to a merchant who deals in goods of that kind gives him power to transfer all rights of the entruster to a buyer in ordinary course of business

(3) "Entrusting" includes any delivery and any acquiescence in retention of possession regardless of any condition expressed between the parties to the delivery or acquiescence and regardless of whether the procurement of the entrusting or the possessor's disposition of the goods have been such as to be larcenous under the criminal law

(4) The rights of other purchasers of goods and of lien creditors are governed by the Articles on Secured Transactions (Article 9) Bulk Transfers (Article 6) and Documents of Title (Article 7)

Part 5

Performance

Section 2—501 Insurable Interest in Goods Manner of Identification of Goods (1) The buyer obtains an insurable interest in goods by identification of existing goods as goods to which the contract refers even though the goods so identified are nonconforming and he has an option to return or reject them Such identification can be made at any time and in any manner explicitly agreed to by the parties In the absence of explicit agreement identification occurs

- (a) when the contract is made if it is for the sale of goods already existing and identified
- (b) if the contract is for the sale of future goods other than those described in paragraph (c) when goods are shipped marked or otherwise designated by the seller as goods to which the contract refers
- (c) when the crops are planted or otherwise become growing crops or the young are conceived if the contract is for the sale of unborn young to be born within twelve months after contracting or for the sale of crops to be harvested within twelve months or the next normal harvest season after contracting whichever is longer

(2) The seller retains an insurable interest in goods so long as title to or any security interest in the goods remains in him and where the identification is by the seller alone he may until default or insolvency or notification to the buyer that the identification is final substitute other goods for those identified

Section 2—502 Buyer's Right to Goods on Seller's Insolvency (1) Subject to subsection (2) and even though the goods have not been shipped a buyer who has paid a part or all of the price of goods in which he has an insurable interest may on making and keeping good a tender of any unpaid portion of their price recover them from the seller if the seller becomes insolvent within ten days after receipt of the first installment on their price

(2) If the identification creating his insurable interest has been made by the buyer he acquires the right to recover the goods only if they conform to the contract for sale

Section 2—503 Manner of Seller's Tender of Delivery

(1) Tender of delivery requires that the seller put and hold conforming goods at the buyer's disposition and give the buyer any notification reasonably necessary to enable him to take delivery The manner time and place for tender are determined by the agreement and this Article and in particular

- (a) tender must be at a reasonable hour and if it is of goods they must be kept available for the period reasonably necessary to enable the buyer to take possession but
- (b) unless otherwise agreed the buyer must furnish facilities reasonably suited to the receipt of the goods

(2) Where the case is within the next section respecting shipment tender requires that the seller comply with its provisions

(3) Where the seller is required to deliver at a particular destination tender requires that he comply with subsection (1) and also in any appropriate case tender documents as described in subsections (4) and (5) of this section

(4) Where goods are in the possession of a bailee and are to be delivered without being moved tender requires that the seller either

- (a) tender a negotiable document of title covering such goods or
- (b) procure acknowledgment by the bailee of the buyer's right to possession of the goods

Tender to the buyer of a non-negotiable document of title or of other written direction to the bailee to deliver is sufficient tender unless the buyer seasonably objects and receipt by the bailee of notification of the buyer's rights fixes those rights as against the bailee and all third persons but risk of loss of the goods and of any failure by the bailee to obey the direction remains on the seller until the buyer has had a reasonable time to present it and a refusal by the bailee to obey it defeats the tender

(5) Where the contract requires the seller to deliver documents

- (a) he must tender all such documents in correct form except as provided in this Article with respect to bills of lading in a set (subsection (2) of Section 2—323) and

- (b) tender through customary banking channels is sufficient and dishonor of a draft accompanying the documents constitutes non-acceptance or rejection

Section 2—504 Shipment by Seller Where the seller is required or authorized to send the goods to the buyer and the contract does not require him to deliver them at a particular destination then unless otherwise agreed he must

- (a) put the goods in the possession of a carrier and make such a contract for their transportation as may be reasonable having regard to the nature of the goods and other circumstances of the case and
- (b) obtain and promptly deliver or tender in due form any document necessary to enable the buyer to obtain possession of the goods or otherwise required by the agreement or by usage of trade and
- (c) promptly notify the buyer of the shipment Failure to notify the buyer under paragraph (c) or to make a proper contract under paragraph (a) is a ground for rejection only if material delay or loss ensues

Section 2—505 Seller's Shipment Under Reservation (1) Where the seller has identified goods to the contract by or before shipment

- (a) his procurement of a negotiable bill of lading to his own order or otherwise reserves in him a security interest in the goods but no more His procurement of it to the order of a financing agency or of the buyer indicates in addition only the seller's expectation of transferring that interest to the person named
- (b) a non-negotiable bill of lading to himself or his nominee reserves possession of the goods as security but except in a case of conditional delivery (subsection (2) of Section 2—507) a non-negotiable bill of lading naming the buyer as consignee reserves no security interest even though the seller retains possession of the bill of lading

(2) When shipment by the seller with reservation of a security interest is in violation of the contract for sale it constitutes an improper contract for transportation within the preceding section but impairs neither the rights given to the buyer by shipment and identification of the goods to the contract nor the seller's powers as a holder of a negotiable document

Section 2—506 Rights of Financing Agency (1) A financing agency by making payment or advances against a draft which relates to a shipment of goods acquires to that extent the shipper's rights in the goods and his right to have the draft honored by the buyer in addition to its own rights under the draft and any document of title securing it

(2) The right to reimbursement of a financing agency which has in good faith honored or purchased the draft under commitment to or authority from the buyer is not impaired by subsequent discovery of defects with reference to any relevant document

Section 2—507 Effect of Seller's Tender Delivery on Condition (1) Tender of delivery is a condition to the buyer's duty to accept the goods and unless otherwise agreed to his duty to pay for them Tender entitles the seller to acceptance of the goods and to payment according to the contract

(2) Where payment is due and demanded on the delivery to the buyer of goods or documents of title his right as against the seller to retain or dispose of them is conditional upon his making the payment due

Section 2—508 Cure by Seller of Improper Tender or Delivery Replacement (1) Where any tender or delivery by the seller is rejected because non-conforming and the time for performance has not yet expired the seller may seasonably notify the buyer of his intention to cure and may then within the contract time make a conforming delivery

- (2) Where the buyer rejects a non-conforming tender

which the seller had reasonable grounds to believe would be acceptable with or without money allowance the seller may if he seasonably notifies the buyer have a further reasonable time to substitute a conforming tender

Section 2—509 Risk of Loss in the Absence of Breach (1) Where the contract requires or authorizes the seller to ship the goods

- (a) if it does not require him to deliver at destination the risk of loss passes to the buyer when the goods are duly delivered to the carrier even though the shipment is under reservation but
- (b) if it does require him to deliver at destination the risk of loss passes to the buyer when the goods are there duly tendered

In neither case does risk of loss turn on the time of delivery of documents of title

(2) Where the case is not within subsection (1) and the goods are not held by a bailee to be delivered without being moved (subsection (4) of Section 2—503) the risk of loss passes to the buyer on his receipt of the goods if the seller is a merchant otherwise the risk passes to the buyer on tender of delivery

(3) The provisions of this section are subject to contrary agreement of the parties and to the provisions of this Article on sale on approval (Section 2—327)

Section 2—510 Effect of Breach on Risk of Loss (1) Where a tender or delivery of goods fails to conform to the contract the risk of their loss remains on the seller until cure or acceptance

(2) Where the buyer rightfully revokes acceptance he may to the extent of any deficiency in his effective insurance coverage treat the risk of loss as resting on the seller

(3) Where the buyer as to conforming goods already identified to the contract for sale repudiates or is otherwise in breach before risk of their loss has passed to him the seller may to the extent of any deficiency in his effective insurance coverage treat the risk of loss as resting on the buyer

Section 2—511 Tender of Payment by Buyer Payment by Check (1) Unless otherwise agreed tender of payment is a condition to the seller's duty to tender and complete any delivery

(2) Tender of payment is sufficient when made by any means or in any manner current in the ordinary course of business unless the seller demands payment in legal tender and gives any extension of time reasonably necessary to procure it

(3) Payment by check is conditional and is defeated as between the parties by dishonor of the check on due presentment

Section 2—512 Payment by Buyer Before Inspection (1) Where the contract requires payment before inspection non-conformity of the goods does not excuse the buyer from so making payment unless

- (a) the non-conformity appears without inspection or
- (b) despite tender of the required documents the circumstances would justify injunction against honor under the provisions of this Act (Section 5—111)

(2) Payment pursuant to subsection (1) does not constitute an acceptance of the goods or impair the buyer's right to inspect or any of his remedies

Section 2—513 Buyer's Right to Inspection of Goods (1) Unless otherwise agreed where the buyer has not previously examined the goods tendered or delivered or identified to the contract for sale he has a right subject to subsection (3) to inspect them at any reasonable place and time and in any reasonable manner When the seller is required or authorized to send the goods to the buyer the inspection may be after their arrival

(2) Expenses of inspection must be borne by the buyer but may be recovered from the seller if the goods do not conform and are rejected

(3) Unless otherwise agreed and subject to the provisions of this Article on C I F contracts (subsection (3) of Section 2—321) the buyer is not entitled to inspect the goods before payment of the price when the contract provides

- (a) for delivery "C O D" or on other like terms or

(b) for payment against documents of title except where such payment is due only after the goods are to become available for inspection

(4) A place or method of inspection fixed by the parties is presumed to be exclusive but unless otherwise expressly agreed it does not postpone identification or shift the place for delivery or for passing the risk of loss If compliance becomes impossible inspection shall be as provided in this section unless the place or method fixed was clearly intended as an indispensable condition failure of which avoids the contract

Section 2—514 When Documents Deliverable on Acceptance When on Payment Unless otherwise agreed documents against which a draft is drawn are to be delivered to the drawee on acceptance of the draft if it is payable more than three days after presentment otherwise only on payment

Section 2—515 Preserving Evidence of Goods in Dispute In furtherance of the adjustment of any claim or dispute

- (a) either party on reasonable notification to the other and for the purpose of ascertaining the facts and preserving evidence has the right to inspect test and sample the goods including such of them as may be in the possession or control of the other and
- (b) the parties may agree to a third party inspection or survey to determine the conformity or condition of the goods and may agree that the findings shall be binding upon them in any subsequent litigation or adjustment

Breach Repudiation and Excuse

Section 2—601 Buyer's Rights on Improper Delivery Subject to the provisions of this Article on breach in installment contracts (Section 2—612) and unless otherwise agreed under the sections on contractual limitation of remedy (Section 2—718 and 2—719) if the goods or the tender of delivery fail in any respect to conform to the contract the buyer may

- (a) reject the whole or
- (b) accept the whole or
- (c) accept any commercial unit or units and reject the rest

Section 2—602 Manner and Effect of Rightful Rejection (1) Rejection of goods must be within a reasonable time after their delivery or tender It is ineffective unless the buyer reasonably notifies the seller

(2) Subject to the provisions of the two following sections on rejected goods (Sections 2—603 and 2—604)

- (a) after rejection any exercise of ownership by the buyer with respect to any commercial unit is wrongful as against the seller and
- (b) if the buyer has before rejection taken physical possession of goods in which he does not have a security interest under the provisions of this Article (subsection (3) of Section 2—711) he is under a duty after rejection to hold them with reasonable care at the seller's disposition for a time sufficient to permit the seller to remove them but
- (c) the buyer has no further obligations with regard to goods rightfully rejected

(3) The seller's rights with respect to goods wrongfully rejected are governed by the provisions of this Article on seller's remedies in general (Section 2—703)

Section 2—603 Merchant Buyer's Duties as to Rightfully Rejected Goods (1) Subject to any security interest in the buyer (subsection (3) of Section 2—711) when the seller has no agent or place of business at the market of rejection a merchant buyer is under a duty after rejection of goods in his possession or control to follow any reasonable instructions received from the seller with respect to the goods and in the absence of such instructions to make reasonable efforts to sell them for the seller's account if they are perishable or threaten to decline in value speedily Instructions are not reasonable if on demand indemnity for expenses is not forthcoming

(2) When the buyer sells goods under subsection (1) he is entitled to reimbursement from the seller or out of the proceeds for reasonable expenses of caring for and selling them and if the expenses include no selling commission then to such commission as is usual in the trade or if there is none to a reasonable sum not exceeding ten per cent on the gross proceeds

(3) In complying with this section the buyer is held only to good faith and good faith conduct hereunder is neither acceptance nor conversion nor the basis of an action for damages

Section 2—604 Buyer's Options as to Salvage of Rightfully Rejected Goods Subject to the provisions of the immediately preceding section on perishables if the seller gives no instructions within a reasonable time after notification of rejection the buyer may store the rejected goods for the seller's account or reship them to him or resell them for the seller's account with reimbursement as provided in the preceding section Such action is not acceptance or conversion

Section 2—605 Waiver of Buyer's Objections by Failure to Particularize (1) The buyer's failure to state in connection with rejection a particular defect which is ascertainable by reasonable inspection precludes him from relying on the unstated defect to justify rejection or to establish breach

(a) where the seller could have cured it if stated seasonably or

(b) between merchants when the seller has after rejection made a request in writing for a full and final written statement of all defects on which the buyer proposes to rely

(2) Payment against documents made without reservation of rights precludes recovery of the payment for defects apparent on the face of the documents

Section 2—606 What Constitutes Acceptance of Goods

(1) Acceptance of goods occurs when the buyer

(a) signifies his acceptance to the seller or

(b) fails to make an effective rejection (Subsection (1) of Section 2—602) but such acceptance does not occur until the buyer has had a reasonable opportunity to inspect them or

(c) does any act inconsistent with the seller's ownership but if such act is wrongful as against the seller it is an acceptance only if ratified by him

(2) Acceptance of a part of any commercial unit is acceptance of that entire unit

Section 2—607 Effect of Acceptance Notice of Breach

(1) The buyer must pay at the contract rate for any goods accepted

(2) Acceptance of goods by the buyer precludes rejection of the goods accepted and if made with knowledge of a non-conformity cannot be revoked because of it unless the acceptance was on the reasonable assumption that the non-conformity would be seasonably cured but acceptance does not of itself impair any other remedy provided by this Article for non-conformity

(3) When a non-conforming tender has been accepted the buyer must within a reasonable time after he discovers or should have discovered the breach notify the seller of breach or be barred from any remedy The burden is on the buyer to establish any breach with respect to the goods accepted

Section 2—608 Revocation of Acceptance in Whole or in Part (1) The buyer may revoke his acceptance of a lot or commercial unit whose non-conformity substantially impairs its value to him if he has accepted it

(a) on the reasonable assumption that its non-conformity would be cured and it has not been seasonably cured or

(b) without discovery of such non-conformity if his acceptance was reasonably induced either by the difficulty of discovery before acceptance or by the seller's assurances

(2) Revocation of acceptance must occur within a reasonable time after the buyer discovers or should have discovered the ground for it and before any substantial change in condition of the goods which is not caused by their own defects It is not effective until the buyer notifies the seller of it

(3) A buyer who so revokes has the same rights and duties with regard to the goods involved as if he had rejected them

Section 2—609 Right to Adequate Assurance of Performance (1) A contract for sale imposes an obligation on each party that the other's expectation of receiving due performance will not be impaired When reasonable grounds for insecurity arise with respect to the performance of either party the other may in writing demand adequate assurance of due performance and until he receives such assurance may if commercially reasonable suspend any performance for which he has not already received the agreed return

(2) Between merchants the reasonableness of grounds for insecurity and the adequacy of any assurance offered shall be determined according to commercial standards

(3) Acceptance of any improper delivery or payment does not prejudice the aggrieved party's right to demand adequate assurance of future performance

(4) After receipt of a justified demand failure to provide within a reasonable time not exceeding thirty days such assurance of due performance as is adequate under the circumstances of the particular case is a repudiation of the contract

Section 2—610 Anticipatory Repudiation When either party repudiates the contract with respect to a performance the loss of which will substantially impair the value of the contract to the other the aggrieved party may

(a) resort to any remedy for breach (Sections 2—703 and 2—711) or

(b) await performance by the repudiating party or negotiate for retraction the repudiating party meanwhile being free to retract as provided and limited by the next section and

(c) in either case suspend his own performance

Section 2—611 Retraction of Repudiation (1) Until the repudiating party's next performance is due he can retract his repudiation unless the aggrieved party has since the repudiation cancelled or materially changed his position or otherwise indicated that he considers the repudiation final

(2) Retraction may be by any method which clearly indicates to the aggrieved party that the repudiating party intends to perform but must include any assurance justifiably demanded under the provisions of this Article (Section 2—609)

(3) Retraction reinstates the repudiating party's rights under the contract with due excuse and allowance to the aggrieved party for any delay occasioned by the repudiation

Section 2—612 "Installment Contract" Breach (1) An "installment contract" is one which requires or authorizes the delivery of goods in separate lots to be separately accepted and paid for even though the contract contains a clause "each delivery is a separate contract" or its equivalent

(2) The buyer may reject any installment which is non-conforming if the non-conformity substantially impairs the value of that installment and cannot be cured or if the non-conformity is a defect in the required documents but if the non-conformity does not fall within subsection (3) and the seller gives adequate assurance of its cure the buyer must accept that installment

(3) Whenever non-conformity or default with respect to one or more installments substantially impairs the value of the whole contract there is a breach of the whole But the aggrieved party reinstates the contract if he accepts a non-conforming installment without seasonably notifying of cancellation or if he brings an action with respect only to past installments or demands performance as to future installments

Section 2—613 Casualty to Unique Goods Where the contract relates to identified goods which are irreplaceable or are treated by the parties as unique for purpose of the contract and the goods suffer casualty without fault of either party before the risk of loss passes to the buyer or in a proper case under a "to arrive" term (Section 2—324) then

- (a) if the loss is total the contract is avoided and
- (b) if the loss is partial or the goods have so deteriorated as no longer to conform to the contract the buyer may nevertheless demand inspection and his option either treat the contract as avoided or accept the goods with due allowance from the contract price for the deterioration or deficiency in quantity but without further right against the seller

Section 2—614 Substituted Performance (1) Where without fault of either party the agreed berthing loading or unloading facilities fail or an agreed type of carrier becomes unavailable or the agreed manner of delivery otherwise becomes commercially impracticable but a commercially reasonable substitute is available such substituted performance must be tendered and accepted

(2) If the agreed means or manner of payment fails because of domestic or foreign governmental regulation the seller may withhold or stop delivery unless the buyer provides a means or manner of payment which is commercially a substantial equivalent If delivery has already been taken payment by the means or in the manner provided by the regulation discharges the buyer's obligation unless the regulation is discriminatory oppressive or predatory

Section 2—615 Excuse by failure of Presupposed Conditions Except so far as a seller may have assumed a greater obligation and subject to the preceding section on substituted performance

- (a) delay in delivery or non-delivery in whole or in part by a seller who complies with paragraphs (b) and (c) is not a breach of his duty under a contract for sale if performance as agreed has been made impracticable by the occurrence of a contingency the non-occurrence of which was a basic assumption on which the contract was made or by compliance in good faith with any applicable foreign or domestic governmental regulation or order whether or not it later proves to be invalid

- (b) Where the causes mentioned in paragraph (a) affect only a part of the seller's capacity to perform he must allocate production and deliveries among his customers but may at his option include regular customers not then under contract He may so allocate in any manner which is fair and reasonable

- (c) The seller must notify the buyer seasonably that there will be delay or non-delivery and when allocation is required under paragraph (b) of the estimated quota thus made available for the buyer

Section 2—616 Procedure on Notice Claiming Excuse (1) Where the buyer receives notification of a material or indefinite delay or an allocation justified under the preceding section he may by written notification to the seller as to any delivery concerned and where the prospective deficiency substantially impairs the value of the whole contract under the provisions of this Article relating to breach of installment contracts (Section 2—612) then also as to the whole

- (a) terminate and thereby discharge any unexecuted portion of the contract or
- (b) modify the contract by agreeing to take his available quota in substitution

(2) If after receipt of such notification from the seller the buyer fails so to modify the contract within a reasonable time not exceeding thirty days the contract lapses with respect to any deliveries affected

(3) The provisions of this section may not be negated by agreement except insofar as the seller has assumed a greater obligation under the preceding section

Part 7

Remedies

Section 2—701 Remedies for Breach of Collateral Contracts Not Impaired Remedies for breach of any obligation or promise collateral or ancillary to a contract for sale are not impaired by the provisions of this Article

Section 2—702 Seller's Remedies on Discovery of Buyer's Insolvency (1) Where the seller discovers the buyer to be insolvent he may

- (a) refuse delivery except for cash including payment for all goods theretofore delivered under the contract and stop delivery under this Article (Section 2—705) and
- (b) subject to the rights of a buyer in ordinary course or other good faith purchaser or lien creditor under this Article (Section 2—403) and within ten days after receipt reclaim any goods received by the buyer on credit but if misrepresentation of solvency has been made to the particular seller in writing within three months before delivery the ten days limitation does not apply

(2) Successful reclamation of goods excludes all other remedies with respect to them

Section 2—703 Seller's Remedies in General Where the buyer wrongfully rejects or revokes acceptance of goods or fail to make a payment due on or before delivery or repudiates with respect to a part or the whole then with respect to any goods directly affected and if the breach is of the whole contract (Section 2—612) then also with respect to the whole undelivered balance the aggrieved seller may

- (a) withhold delivery of such goods
- (b) stop delivery by any bailee as hereafter provided (Section 2—705)
- (c) proceed under the next section respecting goods still unidentified to the contract
- (d) resell and recover damages as hereafter provided (Section 2—706)
- (e) so far as any goods have not been resold recover damages for their non-acceptance (Section 2—708) or in a proper case their price (Section 2—709)
- (f) cancel

Section 2—704 Seller's Right to Identify Goods to the Contract Notwithstanding Breach An aggrieved seller under the preceding section may identify to the contract conforming goods not already identified if at the time he learned of the breach they are in his possession or control If the goods were then in process of procurement or manufacture he may complete the process and identify them to the contract unless in reasonable commercial judgement the completion will materially increase the damages

Section 2—705 Seller's Stoppage of Delivery in Transit or Otherwise (1) The seller may stop delivery of goods in the possession of a carrier or other bailee when he discovers the buyer to be insolvent (Section 2—702) and may stop delivery of carload truckload planeload or larger shipments of express or freight when the buyer wrongfully repudiates or fails to make a payment due before delivery or if for any other reason the seller has a right to withhold or reclaim the goods

(2) As against such buyer the seller may stop delivery until

- (a) receipt of the goods by the buyer or
  - (b) acknowledgment to the buyer by any bailee of the goods except a carrier that the bailee holds the goods for the buyer or
  - (c) such acknowledgment to the buyer by a carrier by reshipment or as warehouseman or
  - (d) negotiation to the buyer of any negotiable document of title covering the goods
- (3) (a) To stop delivery the seller must so notify as to enable bailee by reasonable diligence to prevent delivery of the goods
- (b) After such notification the bailee must hold and deliver the goods according to the directions of the seller but the seller is liable to the bailee for any ensuing charges or damages
- (c) If a negotiable document of title has been issued for goods the bailee is not obliged to obey a notification to stop until surrender of the document

Section 2—706 Seller's Resale Including Contract for Resale (1) Under the conditions stated in Section 2—703 on seller's remedies the seller may resell the goods concerned or the undelivered balance thereof Where the resale is made in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner the seller may recover the difference between the resale price and the contract price together with any incidental damages allowed under the provisions of this Article (Section 2—710) but less any expense saved in consequence of the buyer's breach

(2) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (3) or unless otherwise agreed resale may be at public or private sale including sale by way of one or more contracts to sell or identification to an existing contract of the seller. Sale may be as a unit or in parcels and at any time and place and on any terms but every aspect of the sale including the method manner time place and terms must be commercially reasonable. The resale must be reasonably identified as referring to the broken contract but it is not necessary that the goods be in existence or that any or all of them have been identified to the contract before the breach

(3) Where the resale is at private sale the seller must give the buyer reasonable notification of his intention to resell

(4) Where the resale is at public sale

(a) only identified goods can be sold except where there is a recognized market for a public sale of futures in goods of the kind and

(b) it must be made at a usual place or market for public sale if one is reasonably available and except in the case of goods which are perishable or threaten to decline in value speedily the seller must give the buyer reasonable notice of the time and place of the resale and

(c) if the goods are not to be within the view of those attending the sale the notification of sale must state the place where the goods are located and provide for their reasonable inspection by prospective bidders and

(d) the seller may buy

(5) A purchaser who buys in good faith at a resale takes the goods free of any rights of the original buyer even though the seller fails to comply with one or more of the requirements of this section

(6) The seller is not accountable to the buyer for any profit made on any resale. A person in the position of a seller (Section 2—707), or a buyer who has rightfully rejected or justifiably revoked acceptance must account for any excess over the amount of his security interest as hereinafter defined (subsection (3) of Section 2—711)

Section 2—707 "Person in the Position of a Seller" A buyer's agent or other consignor who has paid or become responsible for the price or anyone who otherwise holds as against the buyer or consignee a security interest in goods similar to that of a seller is a "person in the position of a seller" and may as provided in this Article withhold or stop delivery (Section 2—705) and resell (Section 2—706) and recover incidental damages (Section 2—710)

Section 2—708 Seller's Damages for Non-Acceptance The measure of damages for non-acceptance is the difference between the price current at the time and place for tender and the unpaid contract price together with any incidental damages provided in this Article (Section 2—710) but less any expense saved in consequence of the buyer's breach except that if the foregoing measure of damages is inadequate to put the seller in as good a position as performance would have done then the measure of damages is the profit (including reasonable overhead) which the seller would have made from full performance by the buyer

Section 2—709 Action for the Price (1) When the buyer fails to pay the price as it becomes due the seller may recover together with any incidental damages under the next section the price

(a) of goods accepted or of conforming goods lost or damaged after risk of their loss has passed to the buyer and

(b) of goods identified to the contract if the seller is unable after reasonable effort to resell them at a reasonable price or the circumstances reasonably indicate that such effort will be unavailing

(2) Where the seller sues for the price he must hold for the buyer any goods which have been identified to the contract and are still in his control except that if resale becomes possible he may resell them at any time prior to the collection of the judgment. The net proceeds of any such resale must be credited to the buyer and payment of the judgment entitles him to any goods not resold

(3) After the buyer has wrongfully rejected or revoked acceptance of the goods or has failed to make a payment due or has repudiated (Section 2—610) a seller who is held not entitled to the price under this section shall nevertheless be awarded damages for non-acceptance under the preceding section

Section 2—710 Seller's Incidental Damages Incidental damages to an aggrieved seller include any commercially reasonable charges expenses or commissions incurred in stopping delivery in the transportation care and custody of goods after the buyer's breach in connection with return or resale of the goods or otherwise resulting from the breach

Section 2—711 Buyer's Remedies in General Buyer's Security Interest in Rejected Goods (1) Where the seller fails to make delivery or repudiates or the buyer rightfully rejects or justifiably revokes acceptance then with respect to any goods involved and with respect to the whole if the breach goes to the whole contract (Section 2—612) the buyer may cancel and whether or not he has done so may in addition to recovering so much of the price as has been paid

(a) "cover" and have damages under the next section as to all the goods affected whether or not they have been identified to the contract or

(b) recover damages for non-delivery as provided in this Article (Section 2—713)

(2) Where the seller fails to deliver or repudiates the buyer may also

(a) if the goods have been identified recover them as provided in the Article (Section 2—502) or

(b) in a proper case obtain specific performance or replevy the goods as provided in this Article (Section 2—716)

(3) On rightful rejection or justifiable revocation of acceptance a buyer who has paid all or part of the price has a security interest in goods in his possession or control for the amount paid plus any expenses reasonably incurred in their inspection receipt transportation care and custody and may on notifying the seller of his intention to do so hold such goods and resell them on like manner as an aggrieved seller (Section 2—706)

Section 2—712 "Cover" Buyer's Procurement of Substitute Goods (1) After a breach within the preceding section the buyer may "cover" by making in good faith and without unreasonable delay any reasonable purchase of or contract to purchase goods in substitution for those due from the seller

(2) The buyer may recover from the seller as damages the difference between the cost of cover and the contract price together with any incidental or consequential damages as hereinafter defined (Section 2—715) but less any expense saved in consequence of the seller's breach

(3) Failure of the buyer to effect cover within this section does not bar him from any other remedy

Section 2—713 Buyer's Damages for Non-Delivery (1) The measure of damages for non-delivery is the difference between the price current at the time the buyer learned of the breach and the contract price together with the incidental and consequential damages as provided in this Article (Section 2—715) but less any expense saved in consequence of the seller's breach

(2) Current price is to be determined as of the place for tender or in case of rejection after arrival or revocation of acceptance as of the place of arrival

Section 2—714 Buyer's Damages for Breach in Regard to Accepted Goods (1) Where the buyer has accepted goods and given notification (subsection (3) of Section 2—607) he may recover as damages for any non-conformity of tender the loss resulting in the ordinary course of events from the seller's breach as determined in any manner which is reasonable

(2) The measure of damages for breach of warranty is the difference at the time and place of acceptance between the value of the goods accepted and the value they would have had if they had been as warranted unless special circumstances show proximate damages of a different amount

(3) In a proper case any incidental and consequential damages under the next section may also be recovered

Section 2—715 Buyer's Incidental and Consequential Damages (1) Incidental damages resulting from the seller's breach include expenses reasonably incurred in inspection receipt transportation and care and custody of goods rightfully rejected and commercially reasonable charges expenses or commissions in connection with effecting cover and any damages from delay or otherwise resulting from the breach

(2) Consequential damages include

(a) any loss resulting from general or particular requirements and needs of which the seller at the time of contracting had been to know and which could not reasonably be prevented by cover or otherwise and

(b) injury to person or property proximately resulting from any breach of warranty

Section 2—716 Buyer's Right to Specific Performance or Replevin (1) Specific performance may be decreed where the goods are unique or in other proper circumstances

(2) The decree for specific performance may include such terms and conditions as to payment of the price damages or other relief as the court may deem just

(3) The buyer has a right of replevin for goods identified to the contract if after reasonable effort he is unable to effect cover for such goods or the circumstances reasonably indicate that such effort will be unavailing or if the goods have been shipped under reservation and satisfaction of the security interest in them has been made or tendered

Section 2—717 Deduction of Damages From Price The buyer on notifying the seller of his intention so to do may deduct all or any part of damages resulting from any breach from any part of the price still due

Section 2—718 Liquidation or Limitation of Damages Deposits (1) Damages for breach by either party may be liquidated in the agreement but only at an amount which is reasonable in the light of the anticipated or actual harm caused by the breach the difficulties of proof of loss and the inconvenience or non-feasibility of otherwise obtaining an adequate remedy A term fixing unreasonably large liquidated damages is void as a penalty

(2) A "deposit" or "down" or part payment of more than 20 per cent of the price or $500 whichever is smaller to be forfeited on breach is so forfeited only to the extent that it is reasonable liquidation of damages Where a seller has received payment in goods the proceeds of their resale shall in the event of breach by the buyer be treated as a "down" payment for purposes of this subsection but if the seller has notice of the buyer's breach before reselling goods received in payment or as a deposit his resale is subject to the conditions laid down in this Article on resale by an aggrieved seller (Section 2—706)

Section 2—719 Contractual Modification or Limitation of Remedy (1) Subject to the provisions of subsections (2) and (3) of this section and of the preceding section on liquidation and limitation of damages

(a) the agreement may provide for remedies in addition to or in substitution for those provided in this Article and may limit or alter the measure of damages recoverable under this Article as by limiting the buyer's remedies to return of the goods and repayment of the price or to repair and replacement of non-conforming goods or parts and

(b) resort to a remedy as provided is optional unless the remedy is expressly agreed to be exclusive in which case it is the sole remedy

(2) Where circumstances cause an exclusive or limited remedy to fail of its essential purpose remedy may be had as provided in this Act

(3) Consequential damages may be limited or excluded unless the limitation or exclusion is unconscionable Limitation of consequential damages for injury to the person in the case of consumer goods in prima facie unconscionable but limitation of damages where the loss is commercial is not

Section 2—720 Effect of "Cancellation" or "Rescission" on Claims for Antecedent Breach Unless the contrary intention clearly appears expressions of "cancellation" or "rescission" of the contract or the like shall not be construed as a renunciation or discharge of any claim in damages for an antecedent breach

Section 2—721 Remedies for Fraud Remedies for material misrepresentation or fraud include all remedies available under this Article for nonfraudulent breach and neither rescission of the contract for sale nor rejection or return of the goods bars the other remedies

Section 2—722 When Can Sue Third Parties for Injury to Goods Where a third party so deals with goods which have been identified to a contract for sale as to cause actionable injury to a party to that contract

(a) after the goods have been accepted a right of action against the third party is exclusively in the buyer unless his acceptance has been revoked

(b) before acceptance or after revocation of the buyer's acceptance a right of action against the third party is in the party to the contract for sale who has either title to or a security interest or an insurable interest in the goods and if the goods have been destroyed or converted a right of action is also in the party who either bore the risk of loss under the contract for sale or has since the injury assumed that risk as against the other

(c) if at the time of the injury the party plaintiff did not bear the risk of loss as against the other party to the contract for sale and there is no arrangement between them for disposition of the recovery his suit or settlement is subject to his own interest as a fiduciary for the other party to the contract

(d) either party may with the consent of the other sue for the benefit of whom it may concern

Section 2—723 Proof of Market Price Time and Place (1) If an action based on anticipatory repudiation comes to trial before the time for performance with respect to some or all of the goods damages shall be determined according to the price of such goods prevailing at the time when the aggrieved party learned of the repudiation

(2) If evidence of a price prevailing at the times or places described in this Article is not readily available the price prevailing within any reasonable time before or after the time described or at any other place which in commercial judgment or under usage of trade would serve as a reasonable substitute for the one described may be used making any proper allowance for the cost of transporting the goods to or from such other place But a party intending to offer evidence of a price prevailing at a time or place other than the one described in this Article must so notify the other party as to prevent surprise

Section 2—724 Admissibility of Market Quotations Whenever the prevailing price or value of any goods regularly bought and sold in any established commodity market is in issue reports in official publications or trade journals or in newspapers or periodicals of general circulation published as the reports of such market shall be admissible in evidence The circumstances of the preparation of such a report may be shown to affect its weight but not its admissibility

Section 2—725 Statute of Limitations in Contracts for Sale (1) An action for breach of any contract for sale must be commenced within four years after the cause of action has accrued By the original agreement the parties may reduce the period of limitation to not less than one year but may not extend it

(2) A cause of action accrues when the breach occurs regardless of the aggrieved party's lack of knowledge of the breach A breach of warranty occurs when tendered delivery is made except that where a warranty explicitly extends to future performance of the goods and discovery of the breach must await the time of such performance the cause of action accrues when the breach is or should have been discovered

(3) Where an action commenced within the time limited by subsection (1) is so terminated as to leave available a remedy by another action for the same breach such other action may be commenced after the expiration of the time limited and within six months after the termination of the first action unless the termination resulted from voluntary discontinuance or from dismissal for failure or neglect to prosecute

(4) This section does not alter the law on tolling of the statute of limitations nor does it apply to causes of action which have accrued before this Act become effective

(4) In addition Article 1 contains general definitions and principles of construction and interpretation applicable throughout this Article

Section 3—103 Limitations on Scope of Article (1) This Article does not apply to money documents of title or investment securities

(2) The provisions of this Article are subject to the provisions of the Article on Bank Deposits and Collections (Article 4) and Secured Transactions (Article 9)

Section 3—104 Form of Negotiable Instruments "Draft" "Check" "Certificate of Deposit" "Note" (1) Any writing to be a negotiable instrument within this Article must

- (a) be signed by the maker or drawer and
  - (b) contain an unconditional promise or order to pay a sum certain in money and no other promise, order, obligation or power given by the maker or drawer except as authorized by this Article and
  - (c) be payable on demand or at a definite time and
  - (d) be payable to order or to bearer
- (2) A writing which complies with the requirements of this section is
- (a) a "draft" ("bill of exchange") if it is an order
  - (b) a "check" if it is a draft drawn on a bank and payable on demand
  - (c) a "certificate of deposit" if it is an acknowledgment by a bank of receipt of money with an engagement to repay it
  - (d) a "note" if it is a promise other than a certificate of deposit

Section 3—105 When Promise or Order Unconditional (1) A promise or order otherwise unconditional is not made conditional by the fact that the instrument

- (a) is subject to implied or constructive conditions or
- (b) states its consideration whether performed or promised or the transaction which gave rise to the instrument or that the promise or order is made or the instrument matures in accordance with or "as per" such transaction or
- (c) refers to or states that it arises out of a separate agreement or
- (d) states that it is drawn under a letter of credit or
- (e) states that it is secured whether by mortgage, reservation of title or otherwise or
- (f) indicates a particular account to be debited or any other fund or source from which reimbursement is expected or
- (g) is limited to payment out of a particular fund or the proceeds of a particular source if the instrument is issued by a government or governmental agency or unit or
- (h) is limited to payment out of the entire assets of a partnership, unincorporated association, trust or estate by or on behalf of which the instrument is issued

(2) A promise or order is not unconditional if the instrument

- (a) states that it is subject to or governed by any other agreement or
- (b) states that it is to be paid only out of a particular fund or source except as provided in this section

Section 3—106 Sum Certain (1) The sum payable is a sum certain even though it is to be paid

- (a) with stated interest or by stated installments or
- (b) with stated different rates of interest before and after default or a specified date or
- (c) with a stated discount or addition if paid before or after the date fixed for payment or
- (d) with exchange or less exchange whether at a fixed rate or at the current rate or
- (e) with costs of collection or an attorney's fee or both upon default

(2) Nothing in this section shall validate any term which is otherwise illegal

Section 3—107 Money (1) An instrument is payable in money if the medium of exchange in which it is payable is money at the time the instrument is made. In instrument payable in "currency" or "current funds" is payable in money

(2) A promise or order to pay a Sum Stated in a foreign currency is for a sum certain in money and unless a different medium of payment is specified in the instrument may be satisfied by payment of that number of dollars which the stated foreign currency will purchase at the buying sight rate for that currency on the day on which the instrument is payable or if payable on demand on the day of demand. If such an instrument specifies a foreign currency as the medium of payment the instrument is payable in that currency

Section 3—108 Payable on Demand Instruments payable on demand include those payable at sight or on presentation and those in which no time for payment is stated

Section 3—109 Definite Time (1) An instrument is payable at a definite time if by its terms it is payable

- (a) on or before a stated date or at a fixed period after a stated date or
- (b) at a fixed period after sight or
- (c) at a definite time subject to any acceleration or
- (d) at a definite time subject to extension at the option of the holder or to extension to a further definite time at the option of the maker or automatically upon or after a specified act or event

(2) An instrument which by its terms is otherwise payable only upon an act or event uncertain as to time of occurrence is not payable at a definite time even though the act or event has occurred

Section 3—110 Payable to Order (1) An instrument is payable to order when by its terms it is payable to the order or assigns of any person therein specified with reasonable certainty or to him or his order or when it is conspicuously designated on its face as "exchange" or the like and names a payee It may be payable to the order of

- (a) the maker or drawer or
- (b) the drawee or
- (c) a payee who is not maker drawer or drawee or
- (d) two or more payees together or in the alternative or
- (e) an estate trust or fund in which case it is payable to the order of the representative of such estate trust or fund or his successors or
- (f) an office or officer as such in which case it is payable to the order of the incumbent of the office or his successors or
- (g) a partnership or unincorporated association in which case it is payable to the partnership or association and may be indorsed or transferred by any person thereto authorized

(2) An instrument not payable to order is not made so payable by such words as "payable upon return of this instrument properly indorsed"

(3) An instrument made payable both to order and to bearer is payable to order unless the bearer words are handwritten or typewritten

Section 3—111 Payable to Bearer An instrument is payable to bearer when by its terms it is payable to

- (a) bearer or the order of bearer or
- (b) a specified person or bearer or
- (c) "cash" or the order of "cash" or any other indication which does not purport to designate a specific payee

Section 3—112 Terms and Omissions Not Affecting Negotiability (1) The negotiability of an instrument is not affected by

- (a) the omission of a statement of any consideration or of the place where the instrument is drawn or payable or
- (b) a statement that collateral has been given for the instrument or in case of default on the instrument the collateral may be sold or
- (c) a promise to give additional collateral on demand or
- (d) a term authorizing a confession of judgment on the instrument if it is not paid when due or
- (e) a term purporting to waive the benefit of any law intended for the advantage or protection of any obligor or
- (f) a term in a draft providing that the payee by indorsing or cashing it acknowledges full satisfaction of an obligation of the drawer

(2) Nothing in this section shall validate any term which is otherwise illegal

Section 3—113 Seal An instrument otherwise negotiable is within this Article even though it is under a seal

Section 3—114 Date Antedating Postdating (1) The negotiability of an instrument is not affected by the fact that it is undated antedated or postdated

(2) Where an instrument is antedated or postdated the time when it is payable is determined by the stated date if the instrument is payable on demand or at a fixed period of after date

(3) Where the instrument or any signature thereon is dated the date is presumed to be correct

Section 3—115 Incomplete Instruments (1) When a paper whose contents at the time of signing show that it is intended to become an instrument is signed while still incomplete in any necessary respect it cannot be enforced until completed but when it is completed in accordance with authority given it is effective as completed

(2) If the completion is unauthorized the rules as to material alteration apply (Section 3—407) even though the paper was not delivered by the maker or drawer but the burden of establishing that any completion is unauthorized is on the party so asserting

Section 3—116 Instruments Payable to Two or More Persons An instrument payable to the order of two or more persons

- (a) if in the alternative is payable to any one of them and may be negotiated discharged or enforced by any of them who has possession of it
- (b) if not in the alternative is payable to all of them and may be negotiated discharged or enforced only by all of them

Section 3—117 Instruments Payable with Words of Description An instrument made payable to a named person with the addition of words describing him

- (a) as agent or officer of a specified person is payable to his principal but the agent or officer may act as if he were the holder
- (b) as any other fiduciary for a specified person or purpose is payable to the payee and may be negotiated discharged or enforced by him
- (c) in any other manner is payable to the payee unconditionally and the additional words are without effect on subsequent parties

Section 3—118 Ambiguous Terms and Rules of Construction The following rules apply to every instrument

- (a) Where there is doubt whether the instrument is a draft or a note the holder may treat it as either A draft drawn on the drawer is effective as a note
- (b) Handwritten terms control typewritten and printed terms and typewritten control printed
- (c) Words control figures except that if the words are ambiguous figures control
- (d) Unless otherwise specified a provision for interest means interest at the judgment rate at the place of payment from the date of the instrument or if it is undated from the date of issue
- (e) Unless the instrument otherwise specifies two or more persons who sign as maker acceptor or drawer or indorser and as a part of the same transaction are jointly and severally liable even though the instrument contains such words as "I promise to pay"
- (f) Notwithstanding any term of the instrument the holder may extend it only with the consent of the maker at the time of extension Unless otherwise specified consent to extension authorizes a single extension for not longer than the original period

Section 3—119 Other Writings Affecting Instrument (1) As between the obligor and his immediate obligee or any transferee the terms of an instrument may be modified or affected by any other written agreement executed as a part of the same transaction except that a holder in due course is not affected by any limitation of his rights arising out of the separate written agreement if he had no notice of the limitation when he took the instrument

(2) A separate agreement does not affect the negotiability of an instrument

Section 3—120 Instruments "Payable Through" Bank An instrument which states that it is "payable through" a bank or the like designates that bank as a collecting bank to make presentment but does not of itself authorize the bank to pay the instrument

Section 3—121 Instruments Payable at Bank A note or acceptance which states that it is payable at a bank is the equivalent of a draft drawn on the bank payable when it falls due out of any funds of the maker or acceptor in current account or otherwise available for such payment

Section 3—122 Accrual of Cause of Action (1) cause of action against a maker or an acceptor accrues

(a) in the case of a time instrument on the day after maturity

(b) in the case of a demand instrument upon its date or if no date is stated on the date of issue

(2) A cause of action against the obligor of a demand or time certificate of deposit accrues upon demand but demand on a time certificate may not be made until on or after the date of maturity

(3) A cause of action against a drawer of a draft or an indorser of any instrument accrues upon demand following dishonor of the instrument Notice of dishonor is a demand

(4) Unless an instrument provides otherwise interest runs at the rate provided by law for a judgment

(a) in the case of a maker of a demand not from the date of demand

(b) in all other cases from the date of accrual of the cause of action

Part 2

Transfer and Negotiation

Section 3—201 Transfer Right to Indorsement (1) Transfer of an instrument vests in the transferee such rights as the transferor has therein except that a transferee who has himself been a party to any fraud or illegality affecting the instrument or who as a prior holder had notice of a defense or claim against it cannot improve his position by taking from a later holder in due course

(2) A transfer of a security interest in an instrument vests the foregoing rights in the transferee to the extent of the interest transferred

(3) Unless otherwise agreed any transfer for value of an instrument not then payable to bearer gives the transferee the specifically enforceable right to have the unqualified indorsement of the transferor Negotiation takes effect only when the indorsement is made and until that time there is no presumption that the transferee is the owner

Section 3—202 Negotiation (1) Negotiation is the transfer of an instrument in such form that the transferee becomes a holder If the instrument is payable to order it is negotiated by delivery with any necessary indorsement if payable to bearer it is negotiated by delivery

(2) An indorsement must be written by or on behalf of the holder and on the instrument or on a paper so firmly affixed thereto as to become a part thereof

(3) An indorsement is effective for negotiation only when it conveys the entire instrument or any unpaid residue If it purports to be of less it operates only as a partial assignment

(4) Words of assignment condition waiver guaranty limitation or disclaimer of liability and the like accompanying an indorsement do not affect its character as an indorsement

Section 3—203 Wrong or Misspelled Name Where an instrument is made payable to a person under a misspelled name or one other than his own he may indorse in that name or his own or both but signature in both names may be required by a person paying or giving value for the instrument

Section 3—204 Special Indorsement Blank Indorsement (1) A special indorsement specifies the person to whom or to whose order it makes the instrument payable Any instrument specifically indorsed becomes payable to the order of the special indorsee and may be further negotiated only by his indorsement

(2) An indorsement in blank specifies no particular indorsee and may consist of a mere signature An instrument payable to order and indorsed in blank becomes payable to bearer and may be negotiated by delivery alone until specially indorsed or indorsed for collection (Section 3—206)

Section 3—205 Conditional Indorsement Prohibiting Transfer Neither a conditional indorsement nor one purporting to prohibit further transfer of the instrument prevents its further transfer or negotiation and the transferee may enforce payment in disregard of the limitation but the indorsee and any other subsequent transferee except a collecting or payor bank takes the instrument or its proceeds subject to any rights of the indorser

Section 3—206 Indorsement "For Collection" "For Deposit" to Agent or in Trust When an indorsement whether blank or special states that it is "for collection" "for deposit" or otherwise for the benefit or account or use of the indorser or of another person

(a) the first taker under that indorsement must apply any value given by him for or on the security of the instrument in the manner and to the person or account directed by the indorsement

(b) to the extent that he does so he becomes a holder for value

(c) later holders for value are not affected by the direction contained in the indorsement unless they have reasonable grounds to believe that a fiduciary has negotiated the instrument in breach of duty (Subsection (2) (b) of Section 3—304)

Section 3—207 Negotiation Effective Although It May Be Rescinded (1) Negotiation is effective to transfer the instrument although the negotiation is

(a) made by an infant a corporation exceeding its powers or any other person without capacity or

(b) obtained by fraud duress or mistake of any kind or

(c) part of an illegal transaction or

(d) made in breach of duty

(2) Except as against a subsequent holder in due course such negotiation is subject to rescission the declaration of a constructive trust or any other remedy permitted by law

Section 3—208 Reacquisition Where an instrument is returned to or reacquired by a prior party he may cancel any indorsement which is not necessary to his title and reissue or further negotiate the instrument but any intervening party is discharged as against the reacquiring party and subsequent holders not in due course and if his indorsement has been cancelled is discharged as against subsequent holders in due course as well

Rights of a Holder

Section 3—301 Rights of a Holder The holder of an instrument whether or not he is the owner may transfer or negotiate it and except as otherwise provided in Section 3—603 on payment or satisfaction discharge it or enforce payment in his own name

Section 3—302 Holder in Due Course (1) A holder in due course is a holder who takes the instrument

(a) for value and

(b) in good faith including observance of the reasonable commercial standards of any business in which the holder may be engaged and

(c) without notice that it is overdue or has been dishonored or of any defense against or claim to it on the part of any person

(2) A payee may be a holder in due course

(3) A holder does not become a holder in due course of an instrument

(a) by purchase of its at judicial sale or by taking it under legal process or

(b) by acquiring it in taking over an estate or

(c) by purchasing it as part of a bulk transaction not in regular course of business of the transferor

(4) A purchaser of a limited interest can be a holder in due course only to the extent of the interest purchased

Section 3—303 Taking for Value A holder takes the instrument for value

(a) to the extent that the agreed consideration has been performed or that he acquires a security interest in or a lien on the instrument otherwise than by legal process or

(b) when he takes the instrument in payment of or as security for an antecedent claim against any person whether or not the claim is due or

(c) when he gives a negotiable instrument for it or makes an irrevocable commitment to a third person

Section 3—304 Notice to Purchaser (1) The purchaser has notice of a claim or defense if

(a) the instrument is so incomplete bears such visible evidence of forgery or alteration or is otherwise so irregular as to call into question its validity terms or ownership or to create an ambiguity as to the party to pay or

(b) the purchaser has notice that the obligation of any party is voidable in whole or in part or that all parties have been discharged

(2) The purchaser has notice of a claim against the instrument when he has reasonable grounds to believe

(a) that the transfer to him is a preference voidable under the law of bankruptcy or insolvency

(b) that a fiduciary has negotiated the instrument in payment of or as security for his own debt or in any transaction for his own benefit or otherwise in breach of duty

(3) Except as provided with respect to conditional trust or collection indorsements in the course of bank collections (Sections 4—203 and 4—205) the purchaser also has notice of a claim against the instrument if it has previously been indorsed conditionally or in such manner as to prohibit further negotiation and such indorsement has not been cancelled

(4) The purchaser has notice that an instrument is overdue if he has reasonable grounds to believe

(a) that any part of the principal amount is overdue or that there is an uncured default in payment of another instrument of the same series or

(b) that acceleration of the instrument has been made or

(c) that he is taking a demand instrument after demand has been made or more than a reasonable length of time after its issue A reasonable time for a check drawn and payable within the states and territories of the United States and the District of Columbia is presumed to be thirty days

(5) Knowledge of the following facts does not of itself give the purchaser notice of a defense or claim

(a) that the instrument is antedated or postdated

(b) that it was issued or negotiated in return for an executory promise or accompanied by a separate agreement unless the purchaser has notice that a defense or claim has arisen from the terms thereof

(c) that any party has signed for accommodation

(d) that an incomplete instrument has been completed unless the purchaser has notice of any improper completion

(e) that any person negotiating the instrument is or was a fiduciary

(f) that there has been default in payment of interest on the instrument or in payment of any other instrument except one of the same series

(6) The filing or recording of a document does not of itself constitute notice within the provisions of this Article to a person who would otherwise be a holder in due course

(7) To be effective notice must be received at such time and in such manner as to give a reasonable opportunity to act on it

Section 3—305 Rights of a Holder in Due Course To the extent that a holder is a holder in due course he takes the instrument free from

(1) all claims to it on the part of any person and

(2) all defenses of any party to the instrument with whom the holder has not dealt except

(a) infancy to the extent that it is a defense to a simple contract and

(b) such other incapacity or duress or illegality of the transaction as renders the obligation of the party a nullity and

(c) such misrepresentation as has induced the party to sign the instrument with neither knowledge nor reasonable opportunity to obtain knowledge of its character or its essential terms and

(d) discharge in insolvency proceedings and

(e) any other discharge of which the holder has notice when he takes the instrument

Section 3—306 Rights of One Not Holder in Due Course Unless he has the rights of a holder in due course any person takes the instrument subject to

(a) all valid claims to it on the part of any person and

(b) all defenses of any party which would be available in an action on a simple contract and

(c) the defenses of want or failure of consideration non-performance of any condition precedent non-delivery or delivery for a special purpose and

(d) the defense that he or a person through whom he holds the instrument acquired it by theft The claim of any third person to the instrument is not otherwise available as a defense to any party liable thereon unless the third person himself defends the action for such party

Section 3—307 Burden of Establishing Signatures Defenses and Due Course (1) Unless specifically denied in the pleadings each signature on an instrument is admitted When the effectiveness of a signature is put in issue

(a) the burden of establishing it is on the party claiming under the signature but

(b) the signature is presumed to be genuine or authorized except where the action is to enforce the obligation of a purported signer who has died or become incompetent before proof is required

(2) When signatures are admitted or established production of the instrument entitles a holder to recover on it unless the defendant establishes a defense

(3) After evidence of a defense has been introduced a person claiming the rights of a holder in due course has the burden of establishing that he or some person under whom he claims is in all respects a holder in due course

Part 4

Liability of Parties

Section 3—401 Signature (1) No person is liable on an instrument unless his signature appears thereon

(2) A signature is made by use of any name including any trade or assumed name upon an instrument or by any word or mark used in lieu of a written signature

Section 3—402 Signature in Ambiguous Capacity Unless the instrument clearly indicates that a signature is made in some other capacity it is an indorsement

Section 3—403 Signature by Authorized Representative

(1) A signature may be made by an agent or other representative and his authority to make it may be established as in other cases of representation No particular form of appointment is necessary to establish such authority

(2) An authorized representative who signs his own name to an instrument is also personally obligated unless the instrument names the person represented and shows that the signature is made in a representative capacity The name of an organization preceded or followed by the name and office of an authorized individual is a signature made in a representative capacity

Section 3—404 Unauthorized Signatures (1) Any unauthorized signature is wholly inoperative as that of the person whose name is signed unless he ratifies it or is precluded from denying it but it operates as the signature of the unauthorized signer in favor of any person who in good faith pays the instrument or takes it for value

(2) Any unauthorized signature may be ratified for all purposes of this Article Such ratification does not of itself affect any rights of the person ratifying against the actual signer

Section 3—405 Impostors Signature in Name of Payee (1) An indorsement by any person in the name of a named payee is effective if

(a) an impostor by use of the mails or otherwise has induced the maker or drawer to issue the instrument to him or his confederate in the name of the payee or

(b) a person signing as or on behalf of a drawer intends the payee to have no interest in the instrument or

(c) an agent or employee of the drawer has supplied him with the name of the payee intending the latter to have no such interest

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the criminal or civil liability of the person so indorsing

Section 3—406 Negligence Contributing to Alteration or Unauthorized Signature Any person who by his negligence substantially contributes to a material alteration of the instrument or to the making of an unauthorized signature is precluded from asserting the alteration or lack of authority against a holder in due course or against a drawee or other payor who pays the instrument in good faith and in accordance with the reasonable commercial standards of the drawee's or payor's business

Section 3—407 Alteration (1) Any alteration of an instrument is material which changes the contract of any party thereto in any respect including any such change in

(a) the number or relations of the parties or

(b) an incomplete instrument by completing it otherwise than as authorized or

(c) the writing as signed by adding to it or by removing any part of it

(2) As against any person other than a subsequent holder in due course

(a) alteration by the holder which is both fraudulent and material discharges any party whose contract is thereby changed unless that party assents or is precluded from asserting the defense

(b) no other alteration discharges any party and the instrument may be enforced according to its original tenor or as to incomplete instruments according to the authority given

(3) A subsequent holder in due course may in all cases enforce the instrument according to its original tenor and when an incomplete instrument has been completed he may enforce it as completed

Section 3—408 Consideration Want or failure of consideration is a defense as against any person not having the rights of a holder in due course (Section 3—305) except that no consideration is necessary for an instrument or obligation thereon given in payment of or as security for an antecedent obligation of any kind

Section 3—409 Draft Not an Assignment (1) A check or other draft does not of itself operate as an assignment of any funds in the hands of the drawee available for its payment and the drawee is not liable on the instrument until he accepts it

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect any liability in contract tort or otherwise arising from any letter of credit or other obligation or representation which is not an acceptance

Section 3—410 Definition and Operation of Acceptance

(1) Acceptance is the drawee's signed engagement to honor the draft as presented It must be written on the draft and may consist of his signature alone It becomes operative when completed by delivery or notification

(2) A draft may be accepted although it has not been signed by the drawer or is otherwise incomplete or is overdue or has been dishonored

(3) Where the draft is payable at a fixed period after sight and the acceptor fails to date his acceptance the holder may complete it by supplying date in good faith

Section 3—411 Certification of a Check (1) Certification of a check is acceptance Where a holder procures certification the drawer and all prior indorsers are discharged

(2) Unless otherwise agreed a bank has no obligation to certify a check

(3) A bank may certify a check before returning it for lack of proper indorsement If it does so the drawer is discharged

Section 3—412 Acceptance Varying Draft (1) Where the drawee's proffered acceptance in any manner varies the draft as presented the holder may refuse the acceptance and treat the draft as dishonored in which case the drawee is entitled to have his acceptance cancelled

(2) Where the holder assents to such an acceptance each drawer and indorser who does not affirmatively assent is discharged except where the variance is that payment shall be made only at a particular place

(3) The terms of the draft are not varied by an acceptance to pay at any bank in the continental United States

Section 3—413 Contract of Maker Drawer and Acceptor

(1) The maker or acceptor engages that he will pay the instrument according to its tenor at the time of his engagement

(2) The drawer engages that upon dishonor of the draft and any necessary notice of dishonor or protest he will pay the amount of the draft to the holder or to any indorser who takes it up The drawer may disclaim this liability by drawing without recourse

(3) By making drawing or accepting the party admits as against all subsequent parties including the drawee the existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse

Section 3—414 Contract of Indorser Order of Liability

(1) Unless the indorsement otherwise specifies (as by such words as "without recourse") every indorser engages that upon dishonor and any necessary notice of dishonor and protest he will pay the instrument according to its tenor at the time of his indorsement to the holder or to any subsequent indorser who takes it up even though the indorser who takes it up was not obligated to do so

(2) Unless they otherwise agree indorsers are liable to one another in the order in which they indorse which is presumed to be the order in which their signatures appear on the instrument

Section 3—415 Contract of Accommodation Party (1) An accommodation party is one who signs the instrument in any capacity as surety for another party to it

(2) When the instrument has been taken for value before it is due the accommodation party is liable in the capacity in which he has signed even though the taker knows of the accommodation

(3) As against a holder in due course and without notice of the accommodation oral proof of the accommodation is not admissible to give the accommodation party the benefit of discharges dependent on his character as such In other cases the accommodation character may be shown by oral proof

(4) An indorsement which shows that it is not in the chain of title is notice of its accommodation character

(5) An accommodation party is not liable to the party accommodated and if he pays the instrument has a right of recourse on the instrument against such party

Section 3—416 Contract of Guarantor (1) "Payment guaranteed" or equivalent words added to a signature mean that the signer engages that if the instrument is not paid when due he will pay it according to its tenor without resort by the holder to any other party

(2) "Collection guaranteed" or equivalent words added to a signature mean that the signer engages that if the instrument is not paid when due he will pay it according to its tenor but only after the holder has reduced his claim against the maker or acceptor to judgment and execution has been returned unsatisfied or after the maker or acceptor has become insolvent or it is otherwise apparent that it is useless to proceed against him

(3) Words of guaranty which do not otherwise specify guarantee payment

(4) No words of guaranty added to the signature of a sole maker or acceptor affect his liability on the instrument Such words added to the signature of one of two or more makers or acceptors create a presumption that the signature is for the accommodation of the others

(5) When words of guaranty are used presentment notice of dishonor and protest are not necessary to charge the user

(6) Any guaranty written on the instrument is enforceable notwithstanding any statute of frauds

Section 3—417 Warranties on Presentment and Transfer

(1) Unless otherwise agreed any person who obtains payment or acceptance and any prior transferor warrants to a party who pays or accepts in good faith

- (a) that he has a good title to the instrument or is authorized to obtain payment or acceptance on behalf of one who has a good title and
- (b) that he has no knowledge of any effective direction to stop payment and
- (c) that the instrument has not been materially altered and that he has no knowledge that the signature of the maker or drawer is unauthorized except that such warranties are not given by a holder in due course who has taken a draft drawn on and accepted by a bank after such alteration or signature or by a holder in due course of a note. This exception applies even though a draft has been accepted "payable as originally drawn" or in equivalent terms
- (2) Unless otherwise agreed any party who transfers an instrument for consideration warrants to his transferee and if the transfer is by indorsement to any subsequent holder who takes the instrument in good faith that
  - (a) all signatures are genuine or authorized and
  - (b) the instrument has not been materially altered and
  - (c) the transfer is rightful and
  - (d) no defense of any party is good against him and
  - (e) he has no knowledge of any insolvency proceeding instituted with respect to the maker or acceptor or the drawer of an unaccepted instrument.
- (3) By transferring "without recourse" the transferor limits the obligation stated in subsection (2) (d) to a warranty that he has no knowledge of such a defense
- (4) A selling agent or broker who does not disclose the fact that he is acting only as such gives the warranties provided in this section but if he makes such disclosure warrants only his good faith and authority

Section 3—418 Finality of Payment or Acceptance Except for recovery of bank payments as provided in the Article on Bank Deposits and Collections (Article 4) and except for liability for breach of warranty on presentment under the preceding section payment or acceptance of any instrument is final in favor of a holder in due course

Section 3—419 Conversion of Instrument Innocent Representative (1) An instrument is converted when

- (a) a drawee to whom it is delivered for acceptance refuses to return it on demand or
  - (b) any person to whom it is delivered for payment refuses on demand either to pay or to return it or
  - (c) it is paid on a forged indorsement
- (2) In an action against a drawee under subsection (1) the measure of the drawee's liability is the face amount of the instrument. In any other action under subsection (1) the measure of liability is presumed to be the face amount of the instrument

(3) A representative including a depository or collecting bank who has in good faith and in accordance with the reasonable commercial standards applicable to the business of such representative dealt with an instrument or its proceeds on behalf of one who was not the true owner is not liable in conversion or otherwise to the true owner beyond the amount of any proceeds remaining in his hands

- (1) the measure of liability is presumed to be the face amount of the instrument
- (2) In an action against a drawee under subsection (1) the measure of the drawee's liability is the face amount of the instrument. In any other action under subsection (1) the measure of liability is presumed to be the face amount of the instrument

(3) A representative including a depository or collecting bank who has in good faith and in accordance with the reasonable commercial standards applicable to the business of such representative dealt with an instrument or its proceeds on behalf of one who was not the true owner is not liable in conversion or otherwise to the true owner beyond the amount of any proceeds remaining in his hands

Presentment Notice of Dishonor and Protest

Section 3—501 When Presentment Notice of Dishonor and Protest Necessary (1) Unless excused (Section 3—511) presentment is necessary to charge secondary parties as follows

- (a) presentment for acceptance is necessary to charge the drawer and indorsers of a draft where the draft so provides or is payable elsewhere than at the residence or place of business of the drawee or its date of payment depends upon such presentment. The holder may at his option present for acceptance any other draft payable at a stated date
- (b) presentment for payment is necessary to charge any indorser

(c) in the case of any drawer acceptor of a draft made payable at a bank or the maker of a note payable at a bank presentment for payment is necessary but failure to make presentment discharges such drawer acceptor or maker only as stated in Section 3—502 (1) (b)

(2) Unless excused (Section 3—511)

- (a) Notice of any dishonor is necessary to charge any indorser
- (b) in the case of any drawer the acceptor of a draft made payable at a bank or the maker of a note payable at a bank notice of any dishonor is necessary but failure to give such notice discharges such drawer acceptor or maker only as stated in Section 3—502 (1) (b)
- (3) Unless excused (Section 3—511) protest of any dishonor is necessary to charge the drawer and indorsers of any draft which on its face appears to be drawn or payable outside of the states and territories of the United States and the District of Columbia. The holder may at his option make protest of any dishonor of any other instrument

(4) Notwithstanding any provision of this section neither presentment nor notice of dishonor nor protest is necessary to charge an indorser who has indorsed an instrument after maturity

Section 3—502 Unexcused Delay Discharge (1) Where without excuse any necessary presentment or notice of dishonor is delayed beyond the time when it is due

- (a) any indorser is discharged and
- (b) any drawer or the acceptor of a draft made payable at a bank or the maker of a note payable at a bank who because the drawee or payor bank becomes insolvent during the delay is deprived of funds maintained with the drawee or payor bank to cover the instrument may discharge his liability by written assignment to the holder of his rights against the drawee or payor bank in respect of such funds but such drawer acceptor or maker is not otherwise discharged

(2) Where without excuse a necessary protest is delayed beyond the time when it is due any drawer or indorser is discharged

Section 3—503 Time of Presentment (1) Unless a different time is expressed in the instrument the time for any presentment is determined as follows

- (a) where an instrument is payable at or a fixed period after a stated date any presentment for acceptance must be made on or before that date
- (b) where an instrument is payable after sight it must either be presented for acceptance or negotiated within a reasonable time after date or issue whichever is later
- (c) where an instrument shows the date on which it is payable presentment for payment is due on that date
- (d) where an instrument is accelerated presentment for payment is due within a reasonable time after the acceleration
- (e) with respect to the liability of any secondary party presentment for acceptance or payment of any other instrument is due within a reasonable time after such party become liable thereon

(2) A reasonable time for presentment is determined by the nature of the instrument any usage of banking or trade and the facts of the particular case. In the case of an uncertified check which is drawn and payable within the United States and which is not a draft drawn by a bank the following are presumed to be reasonable periods within which to present for payment or to initiate bank collection

- (a) With respect to the liability of the drawer thirty days after date or issue whichever is later and
- (b) with respect to the liability of an indorser seven days after his indorsement

(3) Where any presentment is due on a day which is not a full business day for either the person making presentment or the party to pay presentment is due on the next following day which is a full business day for both parties

(4) Presentment to be sufficient must be made at a reasonable hour and if at a bank during its banking day

Section 3—504 How Presentment Made (1) Presentment is a demand for acceptance or payment made upon the maker acceptor or drawee by or on behalf of the holder

(2) Presentment may be made

(a) by mail or through a clearing house or

(b) at a place of payment specified in the instrument or if there be none at the place of business or residence of the party to pay even though he is absent or inaccessible

(3) It may be made

(a) to any one of two or more makers acceptors or drawees or

(b) to any person who has authority to make or refuse the acceptance or payment

(4) A draft accepted or a note made payable at a bank in the continental United States must be presented at such bank

(5) In the cases described in Section 4—210 presentment may be made in the manner and with the result stated in that section

Section 3—505 Rights of Party to Whom Presentment Is Made (1) The party to whom presentment is made may without dishonor require

(a) exhibition of the instrument and

(b) reasonable identification of the person making presentment and evidence of his authority to make it if made for another and

(c) that the instrument be produced for acceptance or payment at a place specified in it or if there be none at any place reasonable in the circumstances and

(d) a signed receipt on the instrument for any partial or full payment and its surrender upon full payment

(2) Failure to comply with any such requirement invalidates the presentment but the person presenting has a reasonable time in which to comply and the time for acceptance or payment runs from the time of compliance

Section 3—506 Time Allowed for Acceptance or Payment

(1) Acceptance may be deferred without dishonor until the close of the next business day following presentment or for such longer time as the holder may allow

(2) Except as a longer time is allowed in the case of documentary drafts drawn under a letter of credit and unless an earlier time is agreed to by the party to pay payment of an instrument may be deferred without dishonor pending reasonable examination to determine whether it is properly payable but payment must be made in any event before the close of business on the day of presentment

Section 3—507 Dishonor Holder's Right of Recourse Term Allowing Re-Presentment (1) An instrument is dishonored when

(a) a necessary or optional presentment is duly made and due acceptance or payment is refused or cannot be obtained within the prescribed time or in case of bank collections the instrument is seasonably returned by midnight deadline (Section 4—301) or

(b) presentment is excused and the instrument is not duly accepted or paid

(2) Subject to any necessary notice of dishonor and protest the holder has upon dishonor an immediate right of recourse against the drawers and indorsers

(3) Return of an instrument for lack of proper indorsement is not dishonor

(4) A term in a draft or an indorsement thereof allowing a stated time for re-presentment in the event of any dishonor of the draft by nonacceptance if a time draft or by nonpayment if a sight draft gives the holder as against any secondary party bound by the term an option to waive the dishonor without affecting the liability of the secondary party and he may present again up to the end of the stated time

Section 3—508 Notice of Dishonor (1) Notice of dishonor

may be given by or on behalf of the holder or any party who has himself received notice or any other party who can be compelled to pay the instrument An agent or bank in whose hands the instrument is dishonored may give notice to his principal or customer or to another agent or bank from which the instrument was received

(2) Any necessary notice is due from a bank before its midnight deadline and from any other person before midnight of the third business day after dishonor or receipt of notice dishonor

(3) Notice may be given in any reasonable manner It may be oral or written and in any terms which identify the instrument and state that it has been dishonored A misdescription which does not mislead the party notified does not vitiate the notice Sending the instrument bearing a stamp ticket or writing stating that acceptance or payment has been refused or sending a notice of debit with respect to the instrument is sufficient

(4) Written notice is given when sent although it is not received

(5) Notice to one partner is notice to each although the firm has been dissolved

(6) When any part is in insolvency proceedings instituted after the issue of the instrument notice may be given either to the party or to the representative of his estate

(7) When any party is dead or incompetent notice may be sent to his last known address or given to his personal representative

(8) Notice operates for the benefit of all parties who have rights on the instrument against the party notified

Section 3—509 Protest Noting for Protest (1) A protest is a certificate of dishonor made under the hand and seal of a United States consul or vice consul or a notary public or other person authorized to certify dishonor by the law of the place where dishonor occurs It may be made upon information satisfactory to such person

(2) The protest must identify the instrument and certify either that due presentment has been made or the reason why it is excused and that the instrument has been dishonored by nonacceptance or nonpayment

(3) The protest may also certify that notice of dishonor has been given to all parties or to specified parties

(4) Subject to subsection (5) any necessary protest is due by the time that notice of dishonor is due

(5) If before protest is due an instrument has been noted for protest by the officer to make protest the protest may be made at any time thereafter as of the date of the noting

Section 3—510 Evidence of Dishonor and Notice of Dishonor The following are admissible as evidence and create a presumption of dishonor and of any notice of dishonor therein shown

(a) a document regular in form as provided in the preceding section which purports to be a protest

(b) the purported stamp or writing of the drawee payor bank or presenting bank on the instrument or accompanying it stating that acceptance or payment has been refused for reasons consistent with dishonor

(c) any book or record of the drawee payor bank or any collecting bank kept in the usual course of business which shows dishonor even though there is no evidence of who made the entry

Section 3—511 Waived or Excused Presentment Protest or Notice of Dishonor or Delay Therein (1) Delay in presentment or notice of dishonor or protest is excused when the party is without knowledge that it is due or when the delay is otherwise caused by circumstances beyond his control and he exercises reasonable diligence after the cause of the delay ceases to operate

(2) Presentment or notice or protest as the case may be is entirely excused when

(a) the party to be charged has waived it expressly or by implication either before or after it is due or

(b) such party has himself dishonored the instrument or has countermanded payment or otherwise has no reason to expect or right to require that the instrument be accepted or paid or

- (c) by reasonable diligence the presentment or protest cannot be made or the notice given
- (3) Presentment is also entirely excused when
- (a) the maker acceptor or drawee of any instrument except a documentary draft is dead or in insolvency proceedings instituted after the issue of the instrument or
- (b) acceptance or payment is refused but not for want of proper presentment
- (4) Where a draft has been dishonored by nonacceptance a later presentment for payment and any notice of dishonor and protest for nonpayment are excused unless in the meantime the instrument has been accepted
- (5) A waiver of protest is also a waiver of presentment and of notice of dishonor even though protest is not required
- (6) Where any proceeding upon dishonor is excused the effect is the same as if it had been duly taken

Part 6

Discharge

Section 3—601 Discharge of Parties (1) The extent of the discharge of any party from liability on an instrument is governed by the sections on

- (a) payment or satisfaction (Section 3—603) or
- (b) tender of payment (Section 3—604) or
- (c) cancellation or renunciation (Section 3—605) or
- (d) impairment of right of recourse or of security (Section 3—606) or
- (e) reacquisition of the instrument by a prior party (Section 3—208) or
- (f) fraudulent and material alteration (Section 3—407) or
- (g) certification of a check (Section 3—411) or
- (h) acceptance varying a draft (Section 3—412) or
- (i) unexcused delay in presentment or notice of dishonor or protest (Section 3—502)
- (2) Any party is also discharged from his liability on an instrument to another party by any other act or agreement with such party which would discharge his simple contract for the payment of money

(3) The liability of all parties is discharged when any party who has himself no right of action or recourse on the instrument

- (a) reacquires the instrument in his own right or
- (b) is discharged under any provision of this Article except as otherwise provided with respect to discharge for impairment of recourse or of security (Section 3—606)

Section 3—602 Effect of Discharge Against Holder in Due Course No discharge of any party provided by this Article is effective against a subsequent holder in due course unless he has notice thereof when he takes the instrument

Section 3—603 Payment or Satisfaction (1) The liability of any party is discharged to the extent of his payment or satisfaction to the holder even though it is made with knowledge of a claim of another person to the instrument unless prior to such payment or satisfaction the person making the claim either supplies indemnity deemed adequate by the party seeking the discharge or enjoins payment or satisfaction by order of a court of competent jurisdiction in an action in which the adverse claimant and the holder are parties

(2) Payment or satisfaction may be made with the consent of the holder by any person including a stranger to the instrument Surrender of the instrument to such a person gives him the rights of a transferee (Section 3—201)

Section 3—604 Tender of Payment (1) Any party making tender of full payment to a holder when or after it is due is discharged to the extent of all subsequent liability for interest costs and attorney's fees

(2) The holder's refusal of such tender wholly discharges any party who has a right of recourse against the party making the tender

(3) Where the maker or acceptor of an instrument payable otherwise than on demand is able and ready to pay at every place of payment specified in the instrument when it is due it is equivalent to tender

Section 3—605 Cancellation and Renunciation (1) The holder of an instrument may even without consideration discharge any party

- (a) by intentionally cancelling the instrument or the party's signature by destruction or mutilation or by striking out the party's signature or by writing "cancelled" or equivalent words across the instrument or against the signature or
- (b) by renouncing his rights by a signed writing or by surrender of the instrument to the party to be discharged

(2) Neither cancellation nor renunciation without surrender of the instrument affects the title thereto

Section 3—606 Impairment of Recourse or of Collateral (1) The holder discharges any party to the instrument to the extent that without such party's consent the holder

- (a) without express reservation of rights releases or agrees not to sue any person against whom the party has to the knowledge of the holder a right of recourse on the instrument or agrees to suspend the right to enforce against such person the instrument or collateral or

(b) otherwise discharges such person except that failure to give notice of dishonor to any such person does not discharge any party to whom notice is duly given or

(c) unjustifiably impairs any collateral for the instrument given by or on behalf of the party or any person against whom he has a right of recourse

(2) By express reservation of rights against a party with a right of recourse the holder preserves

- (a) all his rights against such party as of the time when the instrument was originally due and
- (b) the right of the party to pay the instrument as of that time and

(c) all rights of such party to recourse against others

(3) An express reservation of rights is not effective as such as against any party whom the holder does not use due diligence to notify within ten days after the reservation

Part 7

Collection of Documentary Drafts

Section 3—701 Handling of Documentary Drafts Duty to Send for Presentment and to Notify Customer A bank which takes a documentary draft for collection must present or send the draft and accompanying documents for presentment and upon learning that the draft has not been paid or accepted in due course must promptly notify its customer of such fact even though it may have discounted or bought the draft or extended credit available for withdrawal as of right

Section 3—702 Presentment of "On Arrival" Drafts When a draft or the relevant instructions require presentment "on arrival" "when goods arrive" or the like the collecting bank need not present until in its judgment a reasonable time for arrival of the goods has expired Refusal to pay or accept because the goods have not arrived is not dishonor the bank must notify its transferor of such refusal but need not present the draft again until it is instructed to do so or learns of the arrival of the goods

Section 3—703 Responsibility of Presenting Bank for Documents and Goods Report of Reasons for Dishonor Referee in Case of Need Unless otherwise instructed and except as provided in Article 5 a bank presenting a documentary draft

- (a) must deliver the documents to the drawee on payment or acceptance of the draft and

(b) upon dishonor either in the case of presentment for acceptance or presentment for payment may seek and follow instructions from any referee in case of need designated in the draft or if the presenting bank does not choose to utilize his services it must use diligence and good faith to ascertain the reason for dishonor must inform its transferor of the dishonor and of the results of its effort to ascertain the reasons therefor and must request instructions

But the presenting bank is under no obligation with respect to goods represented by the documents except to follow any reasonable instructions seasonably received it has a right to reimbursement for any expense incurred in following instructions and to prepayment of or indemnity for such expenses

Section 3—704 Privilege of Presenting Bank to Deal With Goods Security Interest for Expenses (1) A presenting bank which following the dishonor of a documentary draft has seasonably requested instructions but does not receive them within a reasonable time may store sell or otherwise deal with the goods in any reasonable manner

(2) For its reasonable expenses incurred by action under subsection (1) the presenting bank has a lien upon the goods or their proceeds which may be foreclosed in the same manner as an unpaid seller's lien

Part 8

Miscellaneous

Section 3—801 Drafts in a Set (1) Where a draft is drawn in a set of parts each of which is numbered and expressed to be an order only if no other part has been honored the whole of the parts constitutes one draft but a taker of any part may become a holder in due course of the draft

(2) Any person who negotiates indorses or accepts a single part of a draft drawn in a set thereby becomes liable to any holder in due course of the part as if it were the whole set but as between different holders in due course to whom different parts have been negotiated the holder whose title first accrues has all rights to the draft and its proceeds

(3) As against the drawee the first presented part of a draft drawn in a set is the part entitled to payment or if a time draft to acceptance and payment Acceptance of any subsequently presented part renders the drawee liable thereon under subsection (2) With respect both to a holder and to the drawer payment of a subsequently presented part of a draft payable at sight has the same effect as payment of a check notwithstanding an effective stop order

(4) Except as otherwise provided in this section where any part of a draft in a set is discharged by payment or otherwise the whole draft is discharged

Section 3—802 Effect of Instrument on Obligation for Which It is Given (1) Unless otherwise agreed where an instrument is taken for an underlying obligation

(a) the obligation is pro tanto discharged if a bank is drawer maker or acceptor of the instrument and there is no recourse on the instrument against the underlying obligor and

(b) in any other case the obligation is suspended pro tanto until the instrument is due or if it is payable on demand until its presentment If the instrument is dishonored action may be maintained on either the instrument or the obligation discharge of the underlying obligor on the instrument also discharges him on the obligation

(2) The taking of an uncertified check in good faith does not if the check is presented within the time specified in Section 3—503 (2) so extend the time on the original obligation as to discharge a surety

(3) Where a check or similar payment instrument provides that it is in full satisfaction of an obligation the payee discharges the underlying obligation by obtaining payment of the instrument unless he establishes that the original obligor has taken unconscionable advantage in the circumstances

Section 3—803 Notice to Third Party In any action on an instrument a defendant may give seasonable written notice to any third person who is or may be liable on the instrument to the plaintiff or the defendant advising such person of his right to intervene and that he will be concluded by any decision rendered The person notified may then give similar notice to any other person who may be liable over to him Any person so notified may intervene in the action but even if he does not intervene is concluded as to any issue of fact therein determined

Section 3—804 Lost Destroyed or Stolen Instruments The owner of an instrument which is lost whether by destruction theft or otherwise may maintain an action in his own name and recover from any party liable thereon upon due proof of his ownership the facts which prevent his production of the instrument and its terms The court may require security indemnifying the defendant against loss by reason of further claims on the instrument

Section 3—805 Instruments Not Payable to Order or to Bearer This Article applies to any instrument whose terms do not preclude transfer and which is otherwise negotiable within this Article but which is not payable to order or to bearer except that there can be no holder in due course of such an instrument

Section 3—806 Letter of Advice of International Sight Draft (1) A "letter of advice" is a drawer's communication to the drawee that a described draft has been drawn

(2) Unless otherwise agreed when a bank receives from another bank a letter of advice of an international sight draft the drawee bank may immediately debit the drawer's account and stop the running of interest pro tanto Such a debit and any resulting credit to any account covering outstanding drafts leaves in the drawer full power to stop payment or otherwise dispose of the amount and creates no trust or interest in favor of the holder

(3) Unless otherwise agreed and except where a draft is drawn under a credit issued by the drawee the drawee of an international sight draft owes the drawer no duty to pay an unadvised draft but if it does so and the draft is genuine may appropriately debit the drawer's account

(2) Any item or deposit of money received on any day after a cut-off hour so fixed or after the close of the banking day may be treated as being received at the opening of the next banking day

Section 4—108 Delays (1) Unless otherwise instructed a collecting bank in a good faith effort to secure payment may in the case of specific items and with or without the approval of any person involved waive modify or extend time limits imposed or permitted by this Act for a period not in excess of an additional banking day without discharge of secondary parties and without liability to its transferor or any prior party

(2) Delay by a collecting bank or payor bank beyond time limits prescribed or permitted by this Act or by instructions is excused if caused by interruption of communication facilities suspension of payments by another bank war emergency conditions or other circumstances beyond the control of the bank provided it exercises such diligence as the circumstances require

Collection Of Items Depository And Collecting Banks

Section 4—201 When Item Taken for Collection Unless a contrary intent clearly appears a depository bank takes an item for collection regardless of the form of indorsement or lack of indorsement and even though credit for the item is subject to immediate withdrawal as of right

Section 4—202 Responsibility for Collection When Action Seasonable (1) A collecting bank must use ordinary care in

- (a) presenting an item or sending it for presentment and
- (b) sending notice of dishonor or non-payment or returning an item other than a documentary draft to the bank's transferor or directly to the depository bank under subsection (2) of Section 4—212 after learning that the item has not been paid or accepted as the case may be and
- (c) settling for an item when the bank receives final payment and
- (d) making or providing for any necessary protest and
- (e) notifying its transferor of any loss or delay in transit within a reasonable time after discovery thereof

(2) A collecting bank taking proper action before its midnight deadline following receipt of an item notice or payment acts seasonably taking proper action within a reasonably longer time may be seasonable but the bank has the burden of so establishing

(3) Subject to subsection (1) (a) a bank is not liable for the insolvency neglect misconduct mistake or default of another bank

Section 4—203 Effect of Instructions Only a bank's transferor can give instructions which affect the bank or constitute notice to it and a bank is not liable to prior parties for any action taken pursuant to such instructions or in accordance with any agreement with its transferor

Section 4—204 Methods of Sending and Presenting Sending Direct to Payor Bank (1) A collecting bank must send items by reasonably prompt method taking into consideration any relevant instructions the nature of the item the number of such items on hand and the cost of collection involved and the method generally used by it or others to present such items

(2) A collecting bank may send an item direct to a payor bank but unless otherwise instructed may not send it direct to any other payor

Section 4—205 Supplying Missing Indorsement No Notice From Prior Indorsement (1) A depository bank which has taken an item for collection may supply any indorsement of the customer which is necessary to title unless the item contains the words "payee's indorsement required" or the like In the absence of such a requirement a statement placed on the item by the depository bank to the effect that the item was deposited by a customer or credited to his account is effective as the customer's indorsement

(2) A collecting or payor bank is neither given notice nor otherwise affected by any condition in or trust imposed or agency declared by a prior indorsement of any person except the bank's immediate transferor

Section 4—206 Transfer Between Banks Any agreed method which identifies the transferor bank is sufficient for the item's further transfer to another bank

Section 4—207 Warranties of Customer and Collecting Bank on Transfer or Presentment of Items Time for Claims (1) A customer warrants to his depository bank and a customer and a collecting bank warrant to all subsequent intermediary banks and to the payor that

- (a) He has a good title to the item transferred or presented or is authorized to obtain payment or acceptance on behalf of one who has a good title and
- (b) the item has not been materially altered and
- (c) he has no knowledge that the signature of the maker or drawer is unauthorized and
- (d) he has no knowledge of any effective stop payment order

But the warranties of subparagraphs (b) and (c) are not given by a holder in due course who has taken an item accepted after such alteration or by a collecting bank taking from such holder even though a draft has been accepted "payable as originally drawn" or in equivalent terms

(2) Where a transferee other than the payer has given consideration against an item sent it for collection the transferor in addition to the warranties set forth in subsection (1) engages that upon dishonor and any necessary notice of dishonor and protest he will pay the amount of the item to the transferee or to any subsequent holder who takes it up and also warrants to such transferee or such holder that

- (a) all signatures are genuine or authorized and
- (b) the transfer is rightful and
- (c) no defense of any party is good against him and
- (d) he has no knowledge of any insolvency proceeding instituted with respect to the maker or acceptor or the drawer of an unaccepted item

But the transferee may cover damages from the transferor for breach of these warranties or of the engagement to honor only to the extent of the consideration received by the transferor plus any financing charges and expenses

(3) The warranties and the engagement to honor set forth in the two preceding subsections arise notwithstanding the absence of words of guaranty or warranty in the transfer or presentment and a collecting bank remains liable for their breach despite remittance to its transferor

(4) Unless a claim for breach of warranty under this section is made within a reasonable time after the person claiming learns of the breach the person liable is discharged to the extent of any loss caused by the delay in making claim

Section 4—208 When Bank Extending Credit for Item or Purchasing Draft or Time Instrument Has Security Interest (1) A bank has a security interest in an item and any accompanying documents or the proceeds of either

(a) in case of an item deposited in an account to the extent to which credit given for the item has been withdrawn or applied

(b) in all other cases for which it has given credit available for withdrawal as of right to the extent of the credit given whether or not the credit is drawn upon and whether or not there is a right of charge-back

(2) When credit which has been given for several items received at one time or pursuant to a single agreement is withdrawn or applied in part the security interest remains upon all the items any accompanying documents or the proceeds of either until sufficient proceeds or subsequent deposits have been received to balance withdrawals or applications

(3) For the purpose of this section credits first given are first withdrawn

Section 4—209 When Bank Gives Value for Purposes of Holder in Due Course For purposes of determining its status as a holder in due course the bank has given value to the extent that it has a security interest in an item provided that the bank otherwise complies with the requirements of Section 3—302 on what constitutes a holder in due course

Section 4—210 Presentment by Notice of Item Not Payable by Through or at a Bank Liability of Secondary Parties (1) Unless otherwise instructed a collecting bank may present an item not payable by through or at a bank by sending to the party to accept or pay a written notice that the bank holds the item for acceptance or payment The notice must be sent in time to be received on or before the day when presentment is due and the bank must meet any requirement of the party to accept or pay under Section 3—505 by the close of the bank's next banking day after it knows of the requirement

(2) Where presentment is made by notice and neither honor nor request for compliance with a requirement under Section 3—505 is received by the close of business on the day after maturity or in the case of demand items by the close of business on the third banking day after notice was sent the presenting bank may treat the item as dishonored and charge any secondary party by sending him notice of the facts

Section 4—211 Media of Remittance Provisional and Final Settlement in Certain Cases (1) A collecting bank may take in settlement of an item

- (a) a check of the remitting bank or of another bank on any bank except the remitting bank or
- (b) a cashier's check or similar primary obligation of a remitting bank which is a member of or clears through a member of the same clearing house or group as the collecting bank or
- (c) appropriate authority to charge an account of the remitting bank or of another bank with the collecting bank or
- (d) if the item is drawn upon or payable by a person other than a bank a cashier's check certified check or other bank check or obligation and if before its deadline the collecting bank properly dishonors a remittance check or authorization to charge on itself or presents or forwards for collection a remittance instrument approved by this subsection of or on another bank the collecting bank is not liable to prior parties in the event of the dishonor of such check instrument or authorization

(2) A collecting bank becomes liable for an item as if it had actually received proceeds in money if

- (a) it receives for the item otherwise than as approved in subsection (1) (b) a cashier's check or similar primary obligation of or a check upon the payor or other remitting bank which it has authorized or which it fails to return present or forward for collection by its midnight deadline or
- (b) it receives for the item a final credit on the books of another bank which it accepts or has authorized

Section 4—212 Right of Charge-Back or Refund Direct Returns (1) A collecting bank which has made provisional settlement with its customer for an item and learns that it will not receive final payment in ordinary course by reason of dishonor suspension of payments by a bank or otherwise may revoke the settlement charge back the amount of any credit given for the item to its customer's account or obtain refund from its customer whether or not it is able to return the item if by its midnight deadline or within a longer reasonable time after it learns the facts it returns the item or sends notification of the facts

(2) Within the time and manner prescribed by this section and Section 4—301 an intermediary or payor bank as the case may be may return an unpaid item directly to the depository bank and may send for collection a draft on the depository bank and obtain reimbursement. In such case if the depository bank has received provisional settlement for the item it must reimburse the bank drawing the draft and any provisional credits for the item between banks shall become and remain final

(3) A depository bank which is also the payor may charge-back the amount of an item to its customer's account or obtain refund in accordance with the section governing return of an item received by a payor bank for credit on its books (Section 4—301)

(4) The right to charge-back is not affected by

- (a) prior use of the credit given for the item or
- (b) failure by any bank to exercise ordinary care with respect to the item but any bank so failing remains liable

(5) A failure to charge-back or claim refund does not affect other rights of the bank against the customer or any other party

(6) If provisional credit has been given in dollars for an item payable in a foreign currency the dollar amount of any charge-back or refund shall be calculated on the basis of the rate of exchange prevailing on the day when the person entitled to the charge-back or refund learns that it will not receive payment in ordinary course

Section 4—213 Final Payment of Item by Payor Bank When Provisional Debits and Credits Become Final (1) Subject to the provisions governing priority as between items and notices stop-orders legal process and setoff (Section 4—303) an item is finally paid by a payor bank when it has paid the item in cash or has completed the process of posting the item to the indicated account of the drawer maker or other person to be charged therewith whichever happens first

(2) If provisional settlement for an item between the presenting and payor banks is made through a clearing house or by debits or credits in an account between them then to the extent that provisional debits or credits for the items are entered in accounts between the presenting and payor banks or between the presenting and successive prior collecting banks seriatim they become final upon final payment of the item by the payor bank. In all other cases debits and credits in accounts between banks accepted by collecting banks in provisional settlement for items become final when they may no longer be revoked under Section 4—212

(3) Subject to any right of the bank to apply the credit to an obligation of the customer or to any right of charge-back or recourse credit by the depository bank for any deposit in the account of a customer becomes final

- (a) at the opening of its second banking day following receipt of the deposit if the depository bank is the payor of the item
- (b) at the opening of its next banking day following receipt of the deposit if the deposit is money
- (c) when the depository bank has received final payment and a reasonable time to learn that fact has elapsed in any case where it has received a provisional settlement and
- (d) in all other cases when the depository bank has received final payment

Section 4—214 Insolvency and Preference (1) Any item in or coming into the possession of a payor or collecting bank which suspends payment and which item is not finally paid shall be returned by the receiver trustee or agent in charge of the closed bank to the presenting bank or the closed bank's customer

(2) If a payor bank finally pays an item and suspends payments without making a final settlement for the item with its customer or the presenting bank the owner of the item has a preferred claim against the payor bank

(3) If a collecting bank receives from subsequent parties settlement for an item which settlement is or becomes final and suspends payments without making a final settlement for the item with its customer the owner of the item has a preferred claim against such collecting bank

Part 3

Collection of Items Payor Banks

Section 4—301 Deferred Posting Recovery of Payment by Return of Items Time of Dishonor (1) Where an authorized settlement for a demand item (other than a documentary draft) received by a payor bank otherwise than for immediate payment over the counter has been made before midnight of the banking day of receipt the payor bank may revoke the settlement and recover any payment if before it has made final payment (subsection (1) of Section 4—213) and before its midnight deadline it

- (a) returns the item or
- (b) sends written notice of dishonor or nonpayment if the item is held for protest or is otherwise unavailable for return

(2) If an item is received by a payor bank for credit on its books it may return such item or send notice of dishonor and may revoke any credit given or recover the amount thereof withdrawn by its customer if it acts within the time limit and in the manner specified in the preceding subsection

(3) Unless previous notice of dishonor has been sent an item is dishonored at the time when for purposes of dishonor it is returned or notice sent in accordance with this section

(4) An item is returned

- (a) as to an item received through a clearing house when it is delivered to the presenting or last collecting bank or to the clearing house or is sent or delivered in accordance with its rules or
- (b) in all other cases when it is sent or delivered to the bank's customer or transferor or pursuant to his instructions

Section 4—302 Payor Bank's Liability for Late Return of Item Unless the customer of the depository bank has broken a presentment warranty (subsection (1) of Section 4—207) he may recover from the payor bank

- (a) the amount of a demand item other than a documentary draft received by a payor bank whether properly payable or not if the payor bank in any case where it is not also the depository bank retains the item beyond midnight of the banking day of receipt without settling for it or regardless of whether it is also the depository bank does not pay or return the item or send notice of dishonor until after its midnight deadline or
- (b) the amount of any other properly payable item presented to it if the payor bank within the time allowed for acceptance or payment of that item neither settles for it nor returns it and accompanying documents

Section 4—303 When Items Subject to Notice Stop-Order Legal Process or Set-Off Order in Which Items May Be Charged or Certified (1) Any notice stop-order or legal process received and any valid set-off exercised by a payor bank is entitled to priority over any item drawn on or payable by and received by the bank until after the bank has done any of the following

- (a) accepted or certified the item
- (b) paid the item in cash
- (c) settled for the item by separate remittance for the particular item
- (d) completed the process of posting the item to the indicated account of the drawer maker or other person to be charged therewith or otherwise has evidenced by examination of such indicated account and by action its decision to pay the item or
- (e) become liable for the item under Section 4—302 dealing with the payor bank's liability for late return of items

(2) Subject to the provisions of subsection (1) items may be accepted paid certified or charged to the indicated account of its customer in any order convenient to the bank

Part 4

Relationship Between Payor Bank and Its Customer

Section 4—401 When Bank May Charge Customer's Account (1) As against its customer a bank may charge against his account any item which is otherwise properly payable from that account even though the charge creates an overdraft

(2) A bank which in good faith makes payment to a holder may charge the indicated account of its customer according to

- (a) the original tenor of his altered item or
- (b) the tenor of his completed item even though the bank knew it was incomplete when delivered

Section 4—402 Bank's Liability to Customer for Dishonor A payor bank is liable to its customer for wrongful dishonor of an item but where the dishonor occurs through mistake its liability is limited to the actual damages proved including damages for any arrest or prosecution of the customer

Section 4—403 Customer's Right to Stop Payment Burden of Proof of Loss (1) A customer may by order to his bank stop payment of any item payable for his account but the order must be received at such time and in such manner as to afford the bank a reasonable opportunity to act on it prior to any action by the bank with respect to the item described in Section 4—303

(2) An oral order is binding upon the bank only until the customer has had reasonable opportunity to send the bank a written confirmation if the bank requests such a confirmation A written order is effective for only six months unless renewed in writing

(3) The burden of establishing the fact and amount of loss resulting from the payment of an item contrary to a binding stop payment order is on the customer

Section 4—404 Bank Not Obligated to Pay Check More Than Six Months Old A bank is under no obligation to a customer having a checking account to pay a check other than a certified check which is presented more than six months after its date but it may charge its customer's account for a payment made thereafter in good faith

Section 4—405 Death or Incompetence of Customer (1) Death or incompetence of a customer does not revoke the bank's authority to accept pay or collect his items until the bank has knowledge of the fact of death or of an adjudication of incompetence and reasonable opportunity to act on it

(2) Even with knowledge a bank may for ten days after the date of death pay or certify checks drawn on or prior to that date unless ordered to stop payment by a person claiming an interest in the account

Section 4—406 Customer's Duty to Discover and Report Unauthorized Signature or Alteration (1) Where a bank sends to its customer a statement of account accompanied by items paid in good faith in support of the debit entries or holds such statement pursuant to a request or instructions of its customer or sends notice to him that such statement is ready for delivery

- (a) the customer must exercise reasonable care to examine the statement and items to discover his unauthorized signature or any alteration and must notify the bank promptly after discovery thereof he is liable to the bank for any loss suffered by it which results from his failure to do so and
- (b) except as provided in subsection (2) a customer who does not within ninety days discover and report his unauthorized signature or any material alteration on the face of any such item is precluded from asserting against the bank both such unauthorized signature or alteration and an unauthorized signature or alteration by the same person on items paid in good faith by the bank subsequent to the sending of the first item or notice to the customer and before receipt of notification from the customer of any such signature or alteration and
- (c) without regard to subsection (2) a customer who does not within one year discover and report his unauthorized signature or any alteration on the face or back of the item or within three years any unauthorized indorsement is precluded from asserting against the bank such unauthorized signature or indorsement or such alteration

(2) Except as provided in subsection (1) (c) a customer who has not for good cause examined such statement and items may within thirty days after such cause ceases to operate demand recredit or repayment for the amounts paid on items materially altered or bearing his unauthorized signature

Section 4—407 Payor Bank's Right to Subrogation on Improper Payment If a payor bank has paid an item over the stop payment order of the drawer or maker or otherwise under circumstances giving a basis for objection by the drawer or maker to prevent unjust enrichment and only to the extent necessary to prevent loss to the bank by reason of its payment of the item the payor bank shall be subrogated to the rights

- (a) of any holder in due course on the item against the drawer or maker and
- (b) of the payee or any other holder of the item against the drawer or maker either on the item or under the transaction out of which the item arose and
- (c) of the drawer or maker against the payee or any other holder of the item with respect to the transaction out of which the item arose

Documentary Letters of Credit

Section 5—101 Short Title This Article shall be known and may be cited as Uniform Commercial Code—Documentary Letters of Credit

Section 5—102 Scope (1) This Article deals with documentary credits and does not have relation to goods since the subject matter of a documentary credit transaction is documents

(2) When a person other than a bank issues or confirms a documentary credit or is authorized to honor drafts under such a credit the relevant provisions of this Article apply as if such person were a bank

(3) In construing this Article reference may be had to uniform customs among banks

Section 5—103 Definitions and Concepts (1) In this Article unless the context otherwise requires

- (a) A "credit" is a documentary credit and may be either irrevocable or revocable An irrevocable credit is a signed writing clearly stipulating that it is irrevocable by which a bank engages at the request of a customer to honor documentary drafts drawn by a named person under and complying with the terms of the credit A revocable credit is a signed writing by which a bank gives notice at the request of a customer that it is authorized to honor documentary drafts drawn by a named person under and complying with the terms of the credit
- (b) A "documentary draft" is one which is accompanied by a paper or papers A document includes any paper accompanying a draft
- (c) An "issuer" is a bank making an engagement or giving a notice as defined in subparagraph (a) of this Section
- (d) A "beneficiary" is a person who under the terms of a credit is entitled to draw under it
- (e) An "advising bank" is a bank which by authority of the issuer or of a prior advising bank gives notification of the issuance of a credit
- (f) A "confirming bank" is a bank which assumes a direct obligation under the credit in accordance with the terms of its confirmation
- (g) A "customer" is a buyer or other person who causes a bank to issue a credit
- (2) Other definitions applying to this Article and the Sections in which they appear are

"Presenter" Section 5—112 (3)

(3) Definitions in other Articles applying to this Article and the sections in which they appear are

"Holder in Due Course" Section 3—302

"Accept" or "Acceptance" Section 3—410

(4) In addition Article 1 contains general definitions and principals of construction and interpretation applicable throughout this Article

Section 5—104 Form of Credit No particular form of phrasing is required for a credit and a credit may take the form of an authority to pay or to purchase

Section 5—105 Revocable Credit Irrevocable Credit A credit is revocable unless it clearly stipulates that it is irrevocable a credit so stipulating is an irrevocable credit

Section 5—106 Establishment and Cancellation of a Credit (1) No consideration is needed either to establish a credit or for an agreement modifying its terms

(2) Unless otherwise agreed

(a) A credit is established with relation to all parties when the beneficiary receives the letter of credit itself or authorized written advice of it and it is also established with relation to the customer as soon as the letter of credit is delivered to him A telegram may be a sufficient signed writing if it identifies its sender by an authorized authentication which may be in code The authorized naming of the issuer in an advice of credit is a sufficient signing

(b) An established irrevocable credit can be modified or cancelled only with the agreement of all parties as to whom it has been established

(c) Revocable credits may be modified or cancelled at any moment without notice to the customer or the beneficiary Any bank or branch authorized to honor or negotiate on behalf of the issuer is entitled to reimbursement for any draft duly honored or negotiated before receipt of notice of modification or cancellation

Section 5—107 Issuer's and Other's Responsibility (1) A documentary draft which meets the terms of the relevant irrevocable credit must be honored The issuer is not excused from honor of such a draft by reason of an additional general term that all documents must be satisfactory to the issuer but an issuer may require that specified documents must be satisfactory to it

(2) Unless otherwise agreed an issuing paying negotiating or accepting banks is entitled to immediate reimbursement of any payment duly made under the credit and to be put in effectively available funds not later than the day before maturity of any acceptance duly made under the credit

(3) Unless otherwise agreed the issuer's obligation to its customer includes observance of customary banking practices but does not include responsibility for any acts or omissions of the beneficiary or any other person

Section 5—108 Advice of Credit Error in Statement of Terms (1) Unless otherwise specified a bank by advising that another bank has issued a credit assumes obligation for the accuracy of its own statement only

(2) Even though an advising bank incorrectly states the terms of the credit its original terms control with respect to the issuer

(3) Unless otherwise specified the customer bears as against the issuer all risks of transmission and reasonable translation or interpretation of any message relating to a credit

Section 5—109 Presenter's Reservation of Lien or Claim Unless otherwise specified

(1) A person by presenting a documentary draft under a credit relinquishes upon its honor all claims to the documents and a person by transferring such draft or causing such presentment authorizes such relinquishment

(2) An express reservation of claim makes the draft not in accordance with the terms of the credit

Section 5—110 Documents Not Genuine or Effective (1) Neither an issuer nor an advising confirming negotiating or collecting bank makes any warranty or representation in connection with the documents except as to its own good faith and in the case of a collecting bank except also as to its authority from the person for whom it acts

(2) Unless otherwise agreed a bank called upon to pay or accept under a credit is required to examine documents with care so as to ascertain that on their face they appear to conform to the terms of the credit but assumes no liability or responsibility for the genuineness falsification or effect of any document apparently regular on its face

Section 5—111 Excuse from Honor or Reimbursement Unless otherwise agreed

(1) A bank which has issued or confirmed a credit is not excused from honor or reimbursement by the fact that the goods or documents do not conform to the underlying contract for sale or to the warranties implied from dealing with documents but in the event of forgery or fraud in a required document a court of appropriate jurisdiction may enjoin the issuing or confirming bank from honoring or reimbursing unless such honor or reimbursement is demanded by a paying accepting or confirming bank which has acted in good faith in reliance on the document or by a negotiating bank or other endorsee of a draft which is a holder in due course and acts under a credit extending by its terms to a negotiating bank or endorsee

(2) Whether or not the issuing or confirming bank is notified of a forgery or fraud or an alleged forgery or fraud in a document apparently regular on its face such bank unless enjoined may nevertheless honor or reimburse and in turn it shall be entitled to recover reimbursement from the person obligated to reimburse it

Section 5—112 Time Allowed for Honor or Rejection Withholding Honor or Rejection by Consent "Presenter"

(1) A bank to which a documentary draft is presented under a credit may without dishonor of the draft or the credit

(a) withhold honor until the close of the third banking day following receipt of the documents and

(b) further withhold honor when the presenter has expressly or impliedly consented thereto

(2) Upon dishonor if the presenter is not in the same place the bank may unless otherwise instructed accomplish the return of the draft and documents by sending an advice to the presenter that it is holding the draft and documents at his disposal

(3) "Presenter" means any person presenting a draft for honor under a credit even though that person is a confirming bank or other correspondent which is acting under an issuer's authorization

Section 5—113 Indemnities A bank seeking to obtain (whether for itself or another) payment acceptance negotiation or reimbursement under a credit may give indemnities to induce such payment acceptance negotiation or reimbursement

Section 5—114 Availability of Credit in Portions Unless otherwise specified a credit may be used in portions at the discretion of the beneficiary

Section 5—115 Transfer and Assignment (1) The right to draw under a credit can be transferred or assigned only on the express authority of the issuer and provide that the credit is expressly designated as transferable or assignable

(2) The proceeds of a credit may be assigned and the issuer or any paying confirming or accepting bank may give effect to the assignment but unless otherwise agreed the issuer or any negotiating paying confirming or accepting bank may notwithstanding filing or notice of any assignment honor or negotiate a draft drawn by the beneficiary Subject to the provisions of this subsection (2) an assignment of proceeds creates a security interest to the extent provided in and subject to compliance with Article 9 on Secured Transactions

Section 5—116 Remedy for Improper Dishonor or Repudiation (1) If an issuing bank dishonors a complying draft under an irrevocable credit any holder to whom the credit extends by its terms may recover the face amount of the draft and has with respect to any documents the rights of a person in the position of a seller (Section 2—707)

(2) If an issuing bank repudiates an irrevocable credit the beneficiary has an immediate right of action and with respect to any documents may proceed like a seller after repudiation by the buyer (Sections 2—610 2—611 and 2—703 through 2—706)

(3) In no event shall recovery exceed the amount of the credit or the draft as the case may be

Section 5—117 Insolvency of Bank Holding Funds for Documentary Credit (1) Where an issuing advising or confirming bank or a bank which has for a customer procured issuance of a credit by another bank becomes insolvent before final payment under the credit the receipt or allocation by the bank of funds or collateral to secure or meet obligations under the credit shall have the following results

- (a) to the extent of any funds or collateral turned over to the bank after or before the insolvency as indemnity against or specifically for the purpose of payment of drafts drawn under the designated credit the drafts are entitled to payment in preference over depositors or other general creditors of the bank and
  - (b) on expiration of the credit or surrender of the beneficiary's rights under it unused any person who has given such funds or collateral is similarly entitled to return thereof and
  - (c) a charge to a general or current account with the bank if specifically consented to for the purpose of indemnity against or payment of drafts drawn under the designated credit falls under the same rules as if the funds had been drawn out in cash and then turned over with specified instructions
- (2) After honor or reimbursement under this section the customer or other person for whose account the insolvent bank has acted is entitled to receive the documents involved debts of the transferor in full and gives public notice of that fact and who is solvent after becoming so bound

(7) A transfer to a new business enterprise organized to take over and continue the business if public notice of the transaction is given and the new enterprise assumes the debts of the transferor and he receives nothing from the transaction except an interest in the new enterprise junior to the claims of creditors

(8) Transfers of property which is exempt from execution

Section 6—104 Schedule of Property List of Creditors

(1) Except as provided with respect to auction sales (Section 6—108) a bulk transfer subject to this Article is ineffective against any creditor of the transferor unless

- (a) the transferee requires the transferor to furnish a list of his existing creditors prepared as stated in this Section and
- (b) The parties prepare a schedule of the property transferred sufficient to identify it and
- (c) The transferee preserves the list and schedule for six months next following the transfer and permits inspection of either or both and copying therefrom at all reasonable hours by any creditor of the transferor or files the list and schedule in the office of the prothonotary in the county in which the property was located at the time of transfer

(2) The list of creditors must be signed and sworn to or affirmed by the transferor or his agent It must contain the names and business addresses of all creditors of the transferor with the amounts when known and also the names of all persons who are known to the transferor to assert claims against him even though such claims are disputed

(3) Responsibility for the completeness and accuracy of the list of creditors rests on the transferor and the transfer is not rendered ineffective by errors or omissions therein unless the transferee is shown to have had knowledge

Section 6—105 Notice to Creditors In addition to the requirements of the preceding Section any bulk transfer subject to this Article except one made by auction sale (Section 6—108) is ineffective against any creditor of the transferor unless at least ten days before the goods are moved or the transferee takes possession of them or the interest of the transferor passes to the transferee whichever happens first the transferee gives notice of the transfer in the manner hereafter provided (Section 6—107)

Section 6—106 Application of the Proceeds In addition to the requirements of the two preceding Sections

(1) Upon every bulk transfer subject to this Article for which new consideration becomes payable except those made by sale at auction it is the duty of the transferee to assure that such consideration is applied so far as necessary to pay those debts of the transferor which are either shown on the list furnished by the transferor (Section 6—104) or filed in writing in the place stated in the notice (Section 6—107) within thirty days after the mailing of such notice This duty of the transferee runs to all the holders of such debts and may be enforced by any of them for the benefit of all

(2) If any of said debts are in dispute the necessary sum may be withheld from distribution until the dispute is settled or adjudicated

(3) If the consideration payable is not enough to pay all of the said debts in full distribution shall be made pro rata

Section 6—107 The Notice (1) The notice to creditors (Section 6—105) shall state

- (a) that a bulk transfer is about to be made and
- (b) the names and business addresses of the transferor and transferee and all other business names and addresses used by the transferor within three years last past so far as known to the transferee and
- (c) whether or not all the debts of the transferor are to be paid in full as they fall due as a result of the transaction and if so the address to which creditors should send their bills

(2) If the debts of the transferor are not to be paid in full as they fall due or if the transferee is in doubt on that point then the notice shall state further

(a) the location and general description of the property to be transferred and the estimated total of the transferor's debts

(b) the address where the schedule of property and list of creditors (Section 6—104) may be inspected

(c) whether the transfer is to pay existing debts and if so the amount of such debts and to whom owing

(d) whether the transfer is for new consideration and if so the amount of such consideration and the time and place of payment and

(e) if for new consideration the time and place where creditors of the transferor are to file their claims

(3) The notice in any case shall be delivered personally or sent by registered mail to all the persons shown on the list of creditors furnished by the transferor (Section 6—104) and to all other persons who are known to the transferee to hold or assert claims against the transferor

Section 6—108 Auction Sales "Auctioneer" (1) A bulk transfer is subject to this Article even though it is by sale at auction but only in the manner and with the results stated in this section

(2) The transferor shall furnish a list of his creditors and assist in the preparation of a schedule of the property to be sold both prepared as before stated (Section 6—104)

(3) The person or persons other than the transferor who direct control or are responsible for the auction are collectively called the "auctioneer" The auctioneer shall

(a) receive and retain the list of creditors and prepare and retain the schedule of property for the period stated in this Article (Section 6—104)

(b) give notice of the auction personally or by registered mail at least ten days before it occurs to all persons shown on the list of creditors and to all other persons who are known to him or hold or assert claims against the transferor and

(c) assure that the net proceeds of the auction are applied as provided in this Article (Section 6—106)

(4) Failure of the auctioneer to perform any of these duties does not affect the validity of the sale or the title of the purchasers but it renders the auctioneer liable to the creditors of the transferor as a class for the sums owing to them from the transferor up to but not exceeding the net proceeds of the auction If the auctioneer consists of several persons their liability is joint and several

Section 6—109 What Creditors Protected Credit for Payment to Particular Creditors (1) The creditors of the transferor mentioned in this Article are those holding claims based on transactions or events occurring before the bulk transfer but creditors who become such after notice to creditors is given (Sections 6—105 and 6—107) are not entitled to notice

(2) Against the aggregate obligation imposed by the provisions of this Article concerning the application of the proceeds (Section 6—106 and subsection (3) (c) of 6—108) the transferee or auctioneer is entitled to credit for sums paid to particular creditors of the transferor not exceeding the sums believed in good faith at the time of the payment to be properly payable to such creditors

Section 6—110 Subsequent Transfers When the title of a transferee to property is subject to a defect by reason of his non-compliance with the requirements of this Article then

(1) a purchaser of any of such property from such transferee with knowledge or notice of such non-compliance takes subject to such defect but

(2) a purchaser for value without such knowledge or notice takes free of such defect

Section 6—111 Limitation of Actions No action under this Article shall be brought more than six months after the date on which the transferee took possession of the goods unless the transfer has been concealed If the transfer has been concealed actions may be brought within six months after its discovery

- (i) a statement of the amount of advances made and of liabilities incurred for which the warehouseman claims a lien or security interest (Section 7—209) If the precise amount of such advances made or of such liabilities incurred is at the time of the issue of the receipt unknown to the warehouseman or to his agent who issues it a statement of the fact that advances have been made or liabilities incurred and the purpose thereof is sufficient

(3) A warehouseman may insert in his receipt any other terms which are not contrary to the provisions of this Act and do not impair his obligation of delivery (Section 7—403) or his duty of care (Section 7—204) Any contrary provisions shall be ineffective

Section 7—203 Liability for Non-Receipt or Misdescription A party to or purchaser for value in good faith of a document of title other than a bill of lading relying in either case upon the description therein of the goods may recover from the issuer damages caused by the non-receipt or misdescription of the goods except to the extent that the document conspicuously indicates that the issuer does not know whether any part or all of the goods in fact were received or conform to the description as where the description is in terms of marks or labels or kind quantity or condition or the receipt or description is qualified by "said to contain" or the like if such indication be true or the party or purchaser otherwise has notice

Section 7—204 Duty of Care Contractual Limitation of Warehouseman's Liability (1) A warehouseman is liable for any loss or injury to the goods caused by his failure to exercise such care in regard to them as a reasonably careful man would exercise under like circumstances but unless otherwise agreed he is not liable for any loss or injury to the goods which could not have been avoided by the exercise of such care Damages may be limited by a term in the warehouse receipt or storage agreement limiting the amount of liability in case of loss or damage and setting forth a specific liability per article or item or value per unit of weight beyond which the warehouseman shall not be liable Provided however That such liability may on written request of the bailor at the time of signing such storage agreement or within a reasonable time after receipt of the warehouse receipt be increased on part or all of the goods thereunder in which event increased rates may be charged based on such increased valuation but that no such increase shall be permitted contrary to a lawful limitation of liability contained in the warehouseman's tariff if any No such limitation is effective with respect to the warehouseman's liability for conversion to his own use

(2) Reasonable provisions as to the time and manner of presenting claims and instituting actions based on the bailment may be included in the warehouse receipt or tariff

(3) This section does not repeal or change any existing law or rule of law which imposes a higher responsibility upon the warehouseman or invalidates contractual limitations which would be permissible under this Article

Section 7—205 Title Under Warehouse Receipt Defeated in Certain Cases Field Warehouse Receipt (1) a buyer in the ordinary course of business of fungible goods sold and delivered by a warehouseman who is also in the business of buying and selling such goods takes free of any claim under a warehouse receipt even though it has been duly negotiated

(2) Where goods are stored under a field warehousing or similar arrangement on premises which are part of the place of business of the depositor or which are within the depositor's premises or substantially contiguous thereto any security interest in such goods resting on the transfer of a warehouse receipt is subject to the Article on Secured Transactions (Article 9) and can be perfected only as provided in that Article (subsection (2) of Section 9—305)

Section 7—206 Termination of Storage at Warehouseman's Option (1) A warehouseman may on notifying the person on whose account the goods are held and any other person known to claim an interest in the goods require payment of any charges and removal of the goods from the warehouse at the termination of the period of storage fixed by the document or if no period is fixed within a stated period not less than thirty days after the notification If the goods are not removed before the date specified in the notification the warehouseman may sell them in accordance with the provisions of the section on enforcement of a warehouseman's lien (Section 7—210)

(2) If a warehouseman in good faith believes that the goods are about to deteriorate or decline in value to less than the amount of his lien within the time prescribed in subsection (1) for notification advertisement and sale the warehouseman may specify in the notification any reasonable shorter time for removal of the goods and in case the goods are not removed may sell them at public sale held not less than one week after a single advertisement or posting

(3) If as a result of a quality or condition of the goods of which the warehouseman had no notice at the time of deposit the goods are a hazard to other property or to the warehouse or to persons the warehouseman may sell the goods at public or private sale without advertisement on reasonable notification to all persons known to claim an interest in the goods If the warehouseman after a reasonable effort is unable to sell the goods he may dispose of them in any lawful manner and shall incur no liability by reason of such disposition

(4) The warehouseman must deliver the goods to any person entitled to them under this Article upon due demand made at any time prior to sale or other disposition under this section

(5) The warehouseman may satisfy his lien from the proceeds of any sale or disposition under this section but must hold the balance for delivery on the demand of any person to whom he would have been bound to deliver the goods

Section 7—207 Goods Must Be Kept Separate Fungible Goods (1) Unless the warehouse receipt otherwise provides a warehouseman must keep separate the goods covered by each receipt so as to permit at all times identification and delivery of those goods except that different lots of fungible goods may be commingled

(2) Fungible goods so commingled are owned in common by the persons entitled thereto and the warehouse-

man is severally liable to each owner for that owner's share. Where because of overissue a mass of fungible goods is insufficient to meet all the receipts which the warehouseman has issued against it the persons entitled include all holders to whom overissued receipts have been duly negotiated.

Section 7—208 Altered Warehouse Receipts. Where a blank in a negotiable warehouse receipt has been filled in without authority a purchaser for value and without notice of the want of authority may treat the insertion as authorized. Any other unauthorized alteration leaves the receipt enforceable against the issuer according to its original tenor.

Section 7—209 Lien of Warehouseman. (1) A warehouseman has a lien on any goods for charges subsequent to the date of issue of the warehouse receipt for storage or transportation (including demurrage and terminal charges) insurance labor or charges present or future in relation to goods covered by the document and for expenses necessary for preservation of the goods or reasonably incurred in their sale pursuant to this Article. But against a purchaser for value of a negotiable warehouse receipt a warehouseman's lien is limited to charges stated in the receipt or if no charges are stated then to a reasonable charge.

(2) The warehouseman may also reserve a security interest for a maximum amount specified on the receipt for charges other than those specified in subsection (1) such as for money advanced and interest.

(3) A warehouseman's lien for charges and expenses under subsection (1) is effective against the bailor or any person entitled to the goods unless the warehouseman had noticed that the bailor lacked authority to subject the goods to such charges and expenses but a security interest under subsection (2) if not effective against a person as to whom the document confers no right in the goods covered by it under Section 7—503 and any security interest reserved by the warehouseman is governed by the Article on Secured Transactions (Article 9).

(4) A warehouseman loses his lien on any goods which he unjustifiably refuses to deliver or which he surrenders.

Section 7—210 Enforcement of Warehouseman's Lien. (1) Except as provided in subsection (2) a warehouseman's lien may be enforced by public or private sale of the goods in bloc or in parcels at any time or place and on any terms which are commercially reasonable after notifying all persons known to claim an interest in the goods. Such notification must include a statement of the amount due the nature of the proposed sale and the time and place of any public sale. The fact that a better price could have been obtained by a sale at a different time or in a different method from that selected by the warehouseman is not of itself sufficient to establish that the sale was not made in a commercially reasonable manner. If the warehouseman either sells the goods in the usual manner in any recognized market therefor or if he sells at the price current in such market at the time of his sale or if he has otherwise sold in conformity with commercially reasonable practices among dealers in the type of goods sold he has sold in a commercially reasonable manner. A sale of more goods than apparently necessary to be offered to insure satisfaction of the obligation is not commercially reasonable except in cases covered by the preceding sentence.

(2) A warehouseman's lien on goods other than goods stored by a merchant in the course of his business may be enforced only as follows:

- (a) All persons known to claim an interest in the goods must be notified.
- (b) The notification must be delivered in person or sent by registered letter to the last known address of any person to be notified.
- (c) The notification must include an itemized statement of the claim a description of the goods subject to the lien a demand for payment within a specified time not less than ten days after receipt of the notification and a conspicuous statement that unless the claim is paid within that time the goods will be advertised for sale and sold by auction at a specified time and place.

(d) The sale must conform to the terms of the notification.

(e) The sale must be held at the nearest suitable place to that where the goods are held or stored.

(f) After the expiration of the time given in the notification an advertisement of the sale must be published once a week for two weeks consecutively in a newspaper of general circulation where the sale is to be held. The advertisement must include a description of the goods the name of the person on whose account they are being held and the time and place of the sale. The sale must take place at least fifteen days after the first publication. If there is no newspaper of general circulation where the sale is to be held the advertisement must be posted at least ten days before the sale in not less than six conspicuous places in the neighborhood of the proposed sale.

(3) Before any sale pursuant to this section any person claiming a right in the goods may pay the amount necessary to satisfy the lien and the reasonable expenses incurred under this section. In that event the goods must not be sold but must be returned by the warehouseman subject to the terms of the receipt and this Article.

(4) The warehouseman is liable for loss resulting from failure to comply with the requirements for sale under this section and in case of willful violation is liable for conversion. The warehouseman may bid at any public sale pursuant to this section.

(5) A purchaser in good faith of goods sold to enforce a warehouseman's lien takes the goods free of any rights of persons against whom the lien was valid despite non-compliance by the warehouseman with the requirements of this section.

(6) The warehouseman may satisfy his lien from the proceeds of any sale pursuant to this section but must hold the balance if any for delivery on demand to any person to whom he would have been bound to deliver the goods.

(7) The rights provided by this section shall be in addition to all other rights allowed by law to a creditor against his debtor.

(8) Where a lien is on goods stored by a merchant in the course of his business the lien may be enforced in accordance with either subsection (1) or (2).

Part 3

Bills of Lading Special Provisions

Section 7—301 Liability for Non-Receipt or Misdescription "Said to Contain" "Shipper's Load and Count" Improper Handling. (1) A consignee of a non-negotiable bill who has given value in good faith or a holder to whom a negotiable bill has been duly negotiated relying in either case upon the description therein of the goods may recover from the issuer damages caused by the non-receipt or misdescription of the goods except to the extent that the document indicates that the issuer does not know whether any part or all of goods in fact were received or conform to the description as where the description is in terms of marks or labels or kind quantity or condition or the receipt or description is qualified by "said to contain" "shipper's load and count" or the like if such indication be true.

(2) The issuer may by inserting in the bill the words "shipper's load and count" or other words of like purport indicate that the goods were loaded by the shipper and if such statement be true the issuer shall not be liable for damages caused by the improper loading.

(3) The shipper shall be deemed to have guaranteed to the issuer the accuracy at the time of shipment of the description marks labels number kind quantity condition and weight as furnished by him and the shipper shall indemnify the issuer against damage caused by inaccuracies in such particulars. The right of the issuer to such indemnity shall in no way limit his responsibility and liability under the contract of carriage to any person other than the shipper

Section 7—302 Through Bills of Lading and Similar Documents (1) The issuer of a through bill of lading or other documents embodying an undertaking to be performed in part by persons acting as its agents or by connecting carriers is liable to anyone entitled to recover on the document for any breach by such other persons or by connecting carrier of its obligation under the document but to the extent that the bill covers an undertaking to be performed overseas or in territory not contiguous to the continental United States or an undertaking including matters other than transportation this liability may be varied by agreement of the parties

(2) Where goods covered by a through bill of lading or other document embodying an undertaking to be performed in part by persons other than the issuer are delivered to any such person such person is subject to the obligation of the bailee under the document This obligation is discharged by delivery of the goods to another such person pursuant to the document

(3) The issuer of such through bill of lading or other document shall be entitled to recover from the connecting carrier or such other person in possession of the goods when the breach of the obligation under the document occurred the amount it may be required to pay to anyone entitled to recover on the document therefor as may be evidenced by any receipt judgment or transcript thereof and the amount of any expense reasonably incurred by it in defending any action brought by anyone entitled to recover on the document therefor

Section 7—303 Diversion Reconsignment Change of Instructions (1) Unless the bill of lading otherwise provides the carrier may deliver the goods to a person or destination other than that stated in the bill or may otherwise dispose of the goods on instructions from

- (a) the holder of a negotiable bill or
- (b) the consignor on a non-negotiable bill or
- (c) the consignee on a non-negotiable bill in the absence of contrary instructions from the consignor if the goods have arrived at billed destination or if the consignee is in possession of the bill or
- (d) the consignee on a non-negotiable bill if he owns the goods or is entitled as against the consignor to dispose of them

(2) Unless a change of instruction is noted on a negotiable bill of lading a purchaser without notice of the change can hold the bailee according to the original terms

Section 7—304 Bills of Lading in a Set (1) Except where customary in overseas transportation a bill of lading must not be issued in a set of parts The issuer is liable for damages caused by violation of this subsection

(2) Where a bill of lading is lawfully drawn in a set of parts each of which is numbered and expressed to be valid only if the goods have not been delivered against any other part the whole of the parts constitute one bill

(3) Where a bill of lading is lawfully issued in a set of parts and different parts are negotiated to different persons the title of the holder to whom the first due negotiation is made prevails as to both the document and the goods even though any later holder may have received the goods from the carrier in good faith and discharged the carrier's obligation by surrender of his part

(4) Any person who negotiates or transfers a single part of a bill of lading drawn in a set is liable to holders of that part if it were the whole set

(5) The bailee is obliged to deliver in accordance with Part 4 of this Article against the first presented part of a bill of lading lawfully drawn in a set Such delivery discharges the bailee's obligation on the whole bill

Section 7—305 Destination Bills (1) Instead of issuing a bill of lading to the consignor at the place of shipment a carrier may at the request of the consignor procure the bill to be issued at destination or at any other place designated in the request

(2) Upon request of anyone entitled as against the carrier to control the goods while in transit and on surrender of any outstanding bill of lading or other receipt covering such goods the issuer may procure a substitute bill to be issued at any place designated in the request

Section 7—306 Altered Bills of Lading An unauthorized alteration or filling in of a blank in a bill of lading leaves the bill enforceable according to its original tenor

Section 7—307 Lien of Carrier (1) A carrier has a lien on any goods for charges subsequent to the date of its receipt of the goods for storage or transportation (including demurrage and terminal charges) and for expenses necessary for preservation of the goods or incident to their transportation or reasonably incurred in their sale pursuant to this Article But against the purchaser for value of a negotiable bill of lading a carrier's lien is limited to charges stated in the bill or the applicable tariffs or if no charges are stated then to a reasonable charge

(2) A carrier's lien for charges and expenses under subsection (1) is effective against the consignor or any person entitled to the goods unless the carrier had notice that the consignor lacked authority to subject the goods to such charges and expenses

(3) A carrier loses his lien on any goods which he surrenders or which he unjustifiably refuses to deliver

Section 7—308 Enforcement of Carrier's Lien (1) A carrier's lien may be enforced by public or private sale of the goods in bloc or in parcels at any time or place and on any terms which are commercially reasonable after notifying all persons known to claim an interest in the goods Such notification must include a statement of the amount due the nature of the proposed sale and the time and place of any public sale The fact that a better price could have been obtained by a sale at a different time or in a different method from that selected by the carrier is not of itself sufficient to establish that the sale was not made in a commercially reasonable manner If the carrier either sells the goods in the usual manner in any recognized market therefor or if he sells at the price current in such market at the time of his sale or if he has otherwise sold in conformity with commercially reasonable practices among dealers in the type of goods sold he has sold in a commercially reasonable manner A sale of more goods than apparently necessary to be offered to ensure satisfaction of the obligation is not commercially reasonable except in cases covered by the preceding sentence

(2) Before any sale pursuant to this section any person claiming a right in the goods may pay the amount necessary to satisfy the lien and the reasonable expenses incurred under this section In that event the goods must not be sold but must be retained by the carrier subject to the terms of the bill and this Article

(3) The carrier is liable for loss resulting from failure to comply with the requirements for sale under this section and in case of willful violation is liable for conversion The carrier may bid at any public sale pursuant to this section

(4) A purchaser in good faith of goods sold to enforce a carrier's lien takes the goods free of any rights of persons against whom the lien was valid despite noncompliance by the carrier with the requirements of this section

(5) The carrier may satisfy his lien from the proceeds of any sale pursuant to this section but must hold the balance if any for delivery on demand to any person to whom he would have been bound to deliver the goods

(6) The rights provided by this section shall be in addition to all other rights allowed by law to a creditor against his debtor

Section 7—309 Duty of Care Contractual Limitation of Carrier's Liability (1) A carrier who issues a bill of lading whether negotiable or non-negotiable must exercise the degree of care in relation to the goods which a reasonably careful man would exercise under like circumstances but the damages may be limited by a provision that the carrier's liability shall not exceed a value stated in the document if the carrier's rates vary with value and the consignor by the carrier's tariff is afforded an opportunity to declare a higher value or a value as lawfully provided in the tariff or where no tariff is filed he is otherwise advised of such opportunity but no such limitation is effective with respect to the carrier's liability for conversion to its own use

(2) Reasonable provisions as to the time and manner of presenting claims and instituting actions based on the shipment may be included in a bill of lading or tariff

(3) This section does not repeal or change any existing law or rule of law which imposes a higher responsibility upon carriers or invalidates contractual limitations which would be permissible under this Article

Part 4

Warehouse Receipts and Bills of Lading General Obligations

Section 7—401 Irregularities in Issue of Receipt or Bill or Conduct of Issuer The obligations imposed by this Article on an issuer apply to a document of title regardless of the fact that

- (a) the document may not comply with the requirements of this Article or of any other law or regulation regarding its issue form or content or
- (b) the issuer may have violated laws regulating the conduct of his business or
- (c) the goods covered by the document were owned by the bailee at the time the document was issued or
- (d) if it is a warehouse receipt the person issuing does not come within the definition of warehouseman

Section 7—402 Duplicate Receipt or Bill Overissue Neither a duplicate nor any other document of title purporting to cover goods already represented by an outstanding document of the same issuer confers any right in the goods except as provided in the case of bills in a set overissue of documents for fungible goods and substitutes for lost stolen or destroyed documents But the issuer is liable for damages resulting from his overissue or failure to identify a duplicate document as such by conspicuous notation on its face

Section 7—403 Obligation of Warehouseman or Carrier to Deliver Excuse (1) The bailee must deliver the goods to a person entitled under the document who complies with subsection (2) unless and to the extent that the bailee establishes any of the following

- (a) delivery of the goods to a person whose receipt was rightful as against the claimant
- (b) damage to or loss or destruction of the goods for which the bailee is not liable
- (c) previous sale or other disposition of the goods in lawful enforcement of a lien or on warehouseman's lawful termination of storage
- (d) the exercise by a seller of his right to stop delivery pursuant to the provisions of the Article on Sales (Section 2—705)
- (e) a diversion reconsignment or other disposition pursuant to the provisions of this Article (Section 7—303) or tariff regulating such right
- (f) release satisfaction or any other fact affording a personal defense against the claimant

(2) A person claiming goods covered by a document of title must at the bailee's request satisfy the bailee's lien and unless the person claiming is one against whom the document confers no right under Section 7—503 (1) surrender for cancellation or notation of partial deliveries any outstanding negotiable document covering the goods

(3) A bailee who delivers goods covered by an outstanding negotiable document without cancelling the document or conspicuously noting partial deliveries thereon also becomes liable for delivery of goods called for by the document to any person to whom the document is duly negotiated unless the person to whom the goods were delivered is one against whom the document confers no right under Section 7—503 (1)

(4) "Person entitled under the document" means holder in the case of a negotiable document or the person to whom delivery is to be made by the terms of or pursuant to written instructions under a non-negotiable document

Section 7—404 No Liability for Good Faith Delivery Pursuant to Receipt or Bill A bailee who in good faith including observance of reasonable commercial standards has received goods and delivered them according to the terms of the document of title is not liable although the person from whom he received the goods had no authority to dispose of them

Part 5

Warehouse Receipts and Bills of Lading Negotition and Transfer

Section 7—501 Form of Negotiation and Requirements of "Due Negotiations" (1) A negotiable document of title running to the order of a named person is negotiable by his indorsement and delivery After his inforcement in blank or to bearer any person can negotiate it by delivery alone

- (2) (a) A negotiable document of title is also negotiated by delivery alone when by its original terms it runs to bearer
- (b) when a document running to the order of a named person is delivered to him the effect is the same as if the document had been negotiated
- (3) Negotiation of a negotiable document of title after special indorsement requires indorsement by the special indorsee as well as delivery

(4) A negotiable document of title is "duly negotiated" when it is negotiated in the manner stated in this section to a holder who purchases it in good faith including observance of reasonable commercial standards and for value unless it is established that the negotiation is not in the current course of business or financing but a bailee may deliver the goods covered by the document of title to a person in possession of the document of title by the terms of which the goods are deliverable to his order or which has been negotiated to him in the manner provided in subsections (1) (2) or (3) of this section

(5) Indorsement of a non-negotiable document neither makes it negotiable nor adds to the transferee's rights

(6) The naming in a negotiable bill of a person to be notified of the arrival of the goods does not limit the negotiability of the bill nor constitute notice to a purchaser thereof of any interest of such person in the goods

Section 7—502 Rights Acquired by Due Negotiation (1) Subject to the following section and to the provisions of Section 7—205 on fungible goods and field warehouse receipts a holder to whom a negotiable document of title has been duly negotiated acquires thereby

- (a) title to the document
- (b) title to the goods
- (c) all rights accruing under the law of agency or estoppel and
- (d) the direct obligation of the bailee to hold or deliver the goods according to the terms of the document free of any defense or claims by him not apparent on its face

But a holder of a delivery order until it has been accepted by the bailee to whom it is addressed acquires rights only against the issuer of the delivery order

(2) Title and rights so acquired are not defeated by any stoppage of the goods represented by the document or by surrender of such goods by the bailee and are not impaired even though the negotiation or any prior negotiation constituted a breach of duty or even though any person has been deprived of possession of the document by misrepresentation fraud accident mistake duress loss theft or conversion or even though a previous sale or other transfer of the goods or document has been made to a third person

Section 7—503 Document of Title to Goods Defeated in Certain Cases A document of title confers no right in goods against a person who before issuance of the document had a legal interest in them and who neither delivered nor entrusted them to the person procuring the document with power of disposition or pursuant to a contract for sale nor acquiesced in his procurement of any document of title

(2) Title to goods based upon a delivery order is subject to the rights of anyone to whom a negotiable warehouse receipt or bill of lading covering such goods has been duly negotiated Title to goods based upon a bill of lading issued to a freight forwarder is subject to the rights of anyone to whom a bill issued by the freight forwarder covering such goods has been duly negotiated but delivery by the carrier against surrender of its bill of lading in accordance with Part 4 of this Article discharges the carrier's obligation to deliver

Section 7—504 Rights Acquired in the Absence of Due Negotiation Effect of Diversion Seller's Stoppage of Delivery (1) A transferee of a document whether negotiable or non-negotiable to whom the document has been delivered but not duly negotiated acquires the title and rights which his transferor had or had actual authority to convey

(2) In the case of a non-negotiable document until but not after the bailee receives notification of the transfer the rights of the transferee may be defeated by those creditors of the transferor who could treat the sale as void under Section 2—402 or by a purchaser from the transferor under Section 2—403 or by good faith dealings of the bailee with the transferor

(3) A diversion or other change of shipping instructions by the consignor in a non-negotiable bill of lading which causes the bailee not to deliver to the consignee defeats the consignee's title to the goods if they have been delivered to a buyer in ordinary course of trade and in any event defeats the consignee's rights against the bailee

(4) Delivery pursuant to a non-negotiable document may be stopped by a seller under Section 2—705 and subject to the requirement of due notification there provided A bailee honoring the seller's instructions is entitled to be indemnified by the seller against any resulting loss or expense

Section 7—505 Indorser Not a Guarantor for Other Parties The indorsement of a document of title issued by a bailee does not make the indorser liable for any default by the bailee or by previous indorsers

Section 7—506 Delivery Without Indorsement Right to Compel Indorsement The transferee of a negotiable document of title has a specifically enforceable right to have his transferor supply any necessary indorsement but the transfer becomes a negotiation only as of the time the indorsement is supplied

Section 7—507 Warranties on Negotiation or Transfer of Receipt or Bill Where a person negotiates or transfers a document of title for value otherwise than as a mere intermediary under the next following section then unless otherwise agreed he warrants to his purchaser in addition to any warranty made in selling the goods

- (a) that the document is genuine and
- (b) that he has no knowledge of any fact which would impair its validity or worth and
- (c) that his negotiation or transfer is rightful and fully effective with respect to the title to the document and the goods it represents

Section 7—508 Warranties of Collecting Bank as to Documents A collecting bank or other intermediary known to be entrusted with documents on behalf of another or with collection of a draft or other claim against delivery of documents warrants by such delivery of the documents only its own good faith and authority This rule applies even though the intermediary has purchased or made advances against the claim or draft to be collected

Section 7—509 Receipt or Bill When Adequate Compliance With Commercial Contract The question whether a document is adequate to fulfill the obligations of a contract for sale or the conditions of a credit is governed by the Articles on Sales (Article 2) and on Documentary Letters of Credit (Article 5)

Part 6

Warehouse Receipts and Bills of Lading Miscellaneous Provisions

Section 7—601 Lost and Missing Documents (1) If a document has been lost stolen or destroyed a court may order delivery of the goods or issuance of a substitute document and the bailee may without liability to any person comply with such order If the document was negotiable the claimant must post security approved by the court to indemnify any person who may suffer loss as a result of non-surrender of the document If the document was not negotiable such security may be required at the discretion of the court The court may also in its discretion order payment of the bailee's reasonable costs and counsel fees

(2) A bailee who without court order delivers goods to a person claiming under a missing negotiable document is liable to any person injured thereby and if the delivery is not in good faith becomes liable for conversion In the case of a bill of lading action by the carrier in good faith in accordance with the official classification and tariff is not conversion If the missing document was a negotiable warehouse receipt the claimant must post security with the warehouseman in an amount at least double the value of the goods at the time of posting to indemnify the warehouseman against any loss by reason of the delivery of the goods

Section 7—602 Attachment of Goods Covered by a Negotiable Document No lien attaches by virtue of any judicial process to goods in the possession of a bailee for which a negotiable document of title is outstanding unless the document be first surrendered to the bailee or its negotiation enjoined except where the document was originally issued upon delivery of the goods by a person who had no power to dispose of them The bailee shall not be compelled to deliver the goods pursuant to process until the document is surrendered to him or impounded by the court One who purchases the document for value without notice of the process or injunction takes free of the lien imposed by judicial process

Section 7—603 Conflicting Claims Interpleader If more than one person claims title or possession of the goods the bailee is excused from delivering until he has had a reasonable time to ascertain the validity of the adverse claims or to bring an action to compel all claimants to interplead either in defending an action for non-delivery of the goods or by original action whichever is appropriate

Investment Securities

Part 1

Short Title and General Matters

Section 8—101 Short Title This Article shall be known and may be cited as Uniform Commercial Code—Investment Securities

Section 8—102 Definitions and Index of Definitions

(1) In this Article unless the context otherwise requires (a) A "security" is an instrument issued in bearer or registered form of a type commonly dealt in upon securities exchanges or markets or commonly recognized in any area in which it is issued or dealt in as a medium for investment if

(i) it is either one of a class or series or by its terms is divisible into a class or series of instruments and

(ii) it evidences a share participation or other interest in property or in an enterprise or evidences an obligation of the issuer

(b) A writing which is a security is governed by this Article and not by Uniform Commercial Code—Commercial Paper even though it also meets the requirements of that Article

(c) A security is in "registered form" when its terms specify a person entitled to the security or to the rights it evidences and specify that its transfer may be registered upon books maintained for that purpose by or on behalf of an issuer

(d) A security is in "bearer form" when it runs to bearer according to its terms and not by reason of any indorsement

(2) "Proper form" means regular on its face with regard to all formal matters

(3) A "subsequent purchaser" is a person who takes other than by original issue

(4) Other definitions applying to this Article or to specified Parts, thereof and the sections in which they appear are

"Bona fide purchaser" Section 8—302

"Guarantee of that signature" Section 8—402

"Issuer" Section 8—201

"Overissue" Section 8—104

"Value" Section 8—303

(5) In addition Article 1 contains general definitions and principles of construction and interpretation applicable throughout this Article

Section 8—103 Issuer's Lien A lien upon a security in favor of an issuer thereof is valid against a purchaser only if the right of the issuer to such lien is set forth conspicuously on the security

Section 8—104 Effect of Overissue "Overissue" (1) The provisions of this Article which validate a security or compel its issue or reissue do not apply to the extent that validation or issue results in overissue but

(a) if an identical security which does not constitute an overissue is available for purchase on the market the person entitled to issue or validation may compel the issuer to purchase and deliver such a security to him against surrender of the security which constitutes the overissue and

(b) if a security is not so available for purchase the purchaser may recover from the issuer the price he paid for it

(2) "Overissue" means the issue of securities in excess of the amount which the issuer has corporate power to issue

Section 8—105 Securities Negotiable Presumptions (1) Securities governed by this Article are negotiable instruments

(2) In any action on a security the rules relating to proof of signatures and to burden of proof after signatures are admitted or established shall be the same as in actions on commercial paper (Section 3—307)

Part 2

Issue—Issuer

Section 8—201 "Issuer" With respect to obligations on or defenses to a security "issuer" includes a person who

(a) places or authorizes the placing of his name on a security (otherwise than as authenticating trustee registrar transfer agent or the like) to evidence that it represents a share participation or other interest in his property or in an enterprise or to evidence his duty to perform the principal obligation represented by the security or

(b) otherwise undertakes to perform the principal obligation represented by the security or

(c) directly or indirectly creates fractional interests in rights of property which are evidenced by securities or

(d) becomes responsible for or in place of any other person described as an issuer in this section

Section 8—202 Issuer's Responsibility and Defenses Notice of Defect or Defense (1) Against a purchaser for value and without notice terms additional to those stated on a security may be made part of the security by reference to another instrument indenture or document or to a constitution statute rule or regulation only to the extent that such additional terms do not materially vary the stated terms

(2) (a) A security other than one issued by a government or governmental agency or unit even though issued with a defect going to its validity is valid in the hands of a purchaser for value and without notice of the particular defect unless the defect involves a violation of constitutional provisions in which case the security is valid in the hands of a subsequent purchaser for value and without notice of the defect

(b) The rule of subparagraph (a) applies to an issuer which is a government or governmental agency or unit only if either there has been substantial compliance with the legal requirements governing the issue or the issuer has received substantial consideration for the issue as a whole or for the particular security and a stated purpose of the issue is one for which the issuer has power to borrow money or issue the security

(3) Except as otherwise provided in the case of certain unauthorized signatures on issue (Section 8—205) lack of genuineness of a security is a complete defense even against a purchaser for value and without notice

(4) All other defenses of the issuer including non-delivery and conditional delivery of the security are ineffective against a purchaser for value who has taken without notice of the particular defense

(5) With respect to notice of a defect or defense a purchaser is charged with notice of information set forth on the security itself but a reference on the security to another instrument indenture or document or to a constitution statute ordinance rule regulation order or the like does not of itself charge a purchaser for value with such notice even though the security expressly states that a person accepting it admits such notice

(6) Nothing in this section shall be construed to affect the right of a party to a "when as and if issued" or a "when distributed" contract to cancel the contract in the event of a material change in the character of the security which is the subject of the contract or in the plan or arrangement pursuant to which such security is to be issued or distributed

Section 8—203 Staleness as Notice of Defects or Irregularities in Issue (1) After an act or event which creates a right to immediate performance of the principal obligation evidenced by the security or which requires that the security be presented or surrendered for redemption or exchange a purchaser is charged with notice of any defect or irregularity in its issue

(a) If the act or event is one requiring the payment of moneys or the delivery of securities or both on presentation or surrender of the security and such funds or securities are available and he takes the security more than one year after the date set for payment or exchange and

(b) in any other case if he takes the security more than two years after the date set for surrender or presentation or the date on which such performance became due

(2) A call which has been revoked is not within subsection (1)

Section 8—204 Effect of Issuer's Restrictions on Transfer A restriction on transfer imposed by the issuer even though otherwise lawful is ineffective unless noted conspicuously on the security

Section 8—205 Effect of Unauthorized Signature on Issue An unauthorized signature placed on a security prior to or in the course of issue is ineffective except that if the signing has been done by a person entrusted by the issuer with the signing of the security or of similar securities or their immediate preparation for signing or by an employee entrusted with their responsible handling the signature is effective in favor of a purchaser for value and without notice of the lack of authority

Section 8—206 Completion or Alteration of Instrument (1) Where a security contains the signatures necessary to its issue or transfer but is incomplete in any other respect

(a) any person may complete it by filling in the blanks as authorized and

(b) even though the blanks are incorrectly filled in the security as completed is enforceable by a purchaser who took it for value and without notice of such incorrectness

(2) A complete security which has been improperly altered even though fraudulently remains enforceable but only according to its original terms

Section 8—207 Rights of Issuer With Respect to Registered Owners (1) Prior to due presentment for registration of transfer of a security in registered form the issuer or indenture trustee may treat the registered owner as the person exclusively entitled to vote to receive notifications and otherwise to exercise all the rights and powers of an owner

(2) Nothing in this Article shall be construed to affect the liability of the registered owner of a security for calls assessments or the like

Section 8—208 Effect of Signature of Authenticating Trustee Registrar or Transfer Agent (1) A person placing his signature upon a security as authenticating trustee registrar transfer agent or the like warrants to a purchaser for value without notice of the particular defect that

- (a) the security is genuine and in proper form and
- (b) his own participation in the issue of the security is within his capacity and within the scope of the authorization received by him from the issuer and
- (c) the security is within the amount specified in such authorization

(2) Unless otherwise agreed a person by so placing his signature does not assume responsibility for the validity of the security in other respects

Part 3

Purchase

Section 8—301 Rights Acquired by Purchaser Title Acquired by Bona Fide Purchaser (1) Upon delivery of a security the purchaser acquires the rights in the security which his transferor had or had actual authority to convey except that a purchaser who has himself been a party to any fraud or illegality affecting the instrument or who as a prior holder had notice of a claim against it cannot improve his position by taking from a later bona fide purchaser

(2) A bona fide purchaser in addition to acquiring the rights of a purchaser acquires also a perfect title to the security

(3) A purchaser of a limited interest acquires rights only to the extent of the interest purchased

Section 8—302 "Bona Fide Purchaser" A "bona fide purchaser" is a purchaser for value and without notice of any claims of ownership who takes delivery of a security in bearer form or of one in registered form issued to him or indorsed to him or in blank

Section 8—303 "Value" "Value" means

- (a) any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract including the extension of immediately available credit whether or not drawn upon and whether or not a charge-back is provided for in the event of difficulties in collection or
- (b) taking a security as collateral for or as total or partial satisfaction of a pre-existing claim or
- (c) taking delivery pursuant to a pre-existing contract to purchase

Section 8—304 Notice to Purchaser of Claims of Ownership (1) A purchaser (including a broker for seller or buyer) of a security is charged with notice of claims of ownership if

- (a) the security whether in bearer or registered form has been indorsed "for collection" or "for surrender" or for some other purpose not involving transfer or
- (b) he purchases the security within six months after he has received notification that it has been lost or stolen or
- (c) the security is in bearer form and has on it an unambiguous statement that it is the property of a person other than the transferor The mere writing of a name on a security is not such a statement

(2) The fact that the purchaser (including a broker for seller or buyer) has notice that the registered owner holds the security for a third person or that the security is registered in the name of a fiduciary does not create a duty of inquiry into the rightfulness of the transfer or constitute notice of claims of ownership If however the proceeds of the purchase are placed by the purchaser in the individual account of the fiduciary or are made payable in cash or to the fiduciary individually or the purchaser has reason to know that such proceeds are being used or that the transaction is for the individual benefit of the fiduciary the purchaser is charged with notice of claims of ownership

Section 8—305 Staleness as Notice of Claims of Ownership An act or event which creates a right to immediate performance of the principal obligation evidenced by the security or which requires that the security be presented or surrendered for redemption or exchange does not of itself constitute any notice of claims of ownership except in the case of a purchase

- (a) after one year from any date set for a required presentment or surrender for redemption or exchange or
- (b) if funds are available for payment after six months from any date set for payment of money against presentation or surrender of the security

Section 8—306 Warranties to Purchaser for Value (1) Unless otherwise agreed a person by transferring a security to a purchaser for value warrants only that

- (a) his transfer is effective and rightful and
- (b) the security is genuine and has not been materially altered and
- (c) he knows no fact which might impair the validity of the security

(2) Where a security is delivered by an intermediary known to be entrusted with delivery of the security on behalf of another or with collection of a draft or other claim against such delivery the intermediary by such delivery warrants only his own good faith and that he has authority from his principal even though he has purchased or made advances against the claim to be collected against the delivery A broker is not an intermediary within the meaning of this subsection in a transaction in which he has bought or sold the security for another

Section 8—307 Effect of Delivery Without Indorsement Right to Compel Indorsement Where a security in registered form has been delivered to a purchaser without a necessary indorsement he may become a bona fide purchaser only as of the time the indorsement is supplied but against the transfer the transfer is complete upon delivery and the purchaser has a specifically enforceable right to have any necessary indorsement supplied

Section 8—308 Indorsement How Made Special Indorsement Indorser Not a Guarantor Partial Assignment

(1) An indorsement of a security in registered form is made when the person specified by the terms of the instrument or by special indorsement to be entitled to the security signs on it or on a separate document an assignment or transfer of the security or a power to assign or transfer it or when the signature of such person is written without more upon the back of the security

(2) An indorsement may be in blank or special An indorsement in blank includes an indorsement to bearer A special indorsement specifies the person to whom the security is to be transferred A holder may convert a blank indorsement into a special indorsement

(3) Unless otherwise agreed the indorser by his indorsement assumes no obligation that the instrument will be honored by the issuer

(4) When an indorsement purports to be only of part of the security the transfer may be registered in accordance with the indorsement but delivery of a security so indorsed can not make the transferee a bona fide purchaser

Section 8—309 Effect of Indorsement Without Delivery An indorsement of a security whether special or in blank does not constitute a transfer and does not become effective until delivery of the security on which it appears or if the indorsement is on a separate document until delivery of both the document and the security

Section 8—310 Indorsement of Security in Bearer Form An indorsement of a security in bearer form may give notice of claims of ownership (Section 8—304) but does not otherwise affect any right to registration the holder may possess

Section 8—311 Effect of Unauthorized Indorsement Unless the owner has affirmed an unauthorized indorsement or is otherwise estopped from asserting its ineffectiveness

- (a) he may assert its ineffectiveness against the issuer or any purchaser other than a purchaser for value and without notice of claims of ownership who has in good faith received a new security on registration of transfer of the security so indorsed and

- (b) an issuer who registers the transfer of a security so indorsed is subject to liability for improper registration (Section 8—404)

Section 8—312 Effect of Guaranteeing Signature or Indorsement (1) Any person guaranteeing a signature as being that of an indorser of a security warrants to any person taking or dealing with the security in reliance on the guaranteed signature that

- (a) the signature is not forged and
- (b) the signer is the holder or has authority to sign in the name of the holder and
- (c) the signer has legal capacity to sign

But the guarantor does not warrant the rightfulness of the particular transfer

(2) Any person may guarantee an indorsement of a security and by so doing warrants not only the signature but also the rightfulness of the particular transfer

(3) The guarantor of a signature or an indorsement shall be liable to any person including an issuer who registers a transfer in reliance on the guarantee for any loss resulting from breach of the warranties stated in this section but no issuer may require an indorsement guarantee as a condition to registration or transfer of a security

Section 8—313 When Delivery to the Purchaser Occurs Purchaser's Broker as Holder (1) Delivery to a purchaser occurs when

- (a) he or a person designated by him acquires possession of a security or
- (b) his broker acquires possession of a security specially indorsed to or issued in the name of the purchaser or
- (c) his broker sends him confirmation of the purchase and also by book entry otherwise identifies a specific security in the broker's possession as belonging to the purchaser or
- (d) with respect to an identified security to be delivered while still in the possession of a third person when that person acknowledges that he holds for the purchaser

(2) Except as specified in subparagraphs (b) and (c) subsection (1) the purchaser is not the holder of securities held for him by his broker despite a confirmation of purchase and a book entry and other indication that the security is part of a fungible bulk held for customers and despite the customer's acquisition of a proportionate property interest in the fungible bulk

Section 8—314 Duty to Deliver When Completed (1) Unless otherwise agreed where a sale of a security is made through an exchange or otherwise through brokers

- (a) the selling customer fulfills his duty to deliver when he places such a security in the possession of the selling broker or of a person designated by the broker or if requested causes an acknowledgment that it is held for the selling broker to be made to him and
- (b) the selling broker including a correspondent broker acting for a selling customer fulfills his duty to deliver by placing the security or the like security in the possession of the buying broker or a person designated by him or by effecting clearance of the sale in accordance with the rules of the exchange on which the transaction took place

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this section and unless otherwise agreed a transferor's duty to deliver a security under a contract of purchase is not fulfilled until he places the security in form to be further negotiated by the purchaser in the possession of the purchaser or sends it to him or to a person designated by him or at the purchaser's request causing an acknowledgment that it is held for the purchaser to be made to him

Section 8—315 Action Against Purchaser Based Upon Wrongful Transfer (1) Any person against whom the transfer of a security is wrongful for any reason including his incapacity may against anyone except a bona fide purchaser reclaim possession of the security or obtain possession of any new security evidencing all or part of the same rights or have damages

(2) If the transfer is wrongful because of an unauthorized indorsement the owner may also reclaim or obtain possession of the security or new security even from a bona fide purchaser if the ineffectiveness of the purported indorsement can be asserted against him under the provisions of this Article on unauthorized indorsements (Section 8—311)

(3) The right to obtain or reclaim possession of a security may be specifically enforced and its transfer enjoined and the security impounded pending the litigation

Section 8—316 Purchaser's Right to Requisites for Registration of Transfer on Books (1) Unless otherwise agreed the transferor must on due demand supply his purchaser with any proof of his authority to transfer or with any other requisite which may be necessary to obtain registration of the transfer of the security but if the transfer is not for value a transferor need not do so unless the purchaser furnishes the necessary expenses Failure to comply with the demand gives the purchaser the right to reject or rescind the transfer

(2) Unless otherwise agreed the purchaser's demand for such requisites must be made within a reasonable time not exceeding three months from his receipt of the security

Section 8—317 Attachment or Levy Upon Security (1) No attachment or levy upon a security or any share or other interest evidenced thereby which is outstanding shall be valid until the security is actually seized by the officer making the attachment or levy but a security which has been surrendered to the issuer may be attached or levied upon at the source

(2) A creditor whose debtor is the owner of a security shall be entitled to such aid from courts of appropriate jurisdiction by injunction or otherwise in reaching such security or in satisfying the claim by means thereof as is allowed at law or in equity in regard to property which cannot readily be attached or levied upon by ordinary legal process

Section 8—318 No Conversion by Good Faith Delivery An agent or bailee who in good faith (including observance of reasonable commercial standards if he is in the business of buying selling or otherwise dealing with securities) has received securities and sold pledged or delivered them according to the instructions of his principal is not liable for conversion although the principal had no right to dispose of them

Section 8—319 Statute of Frauds A contract for the sale of securities is not enforceable by way of action or defense unless

- (a) there is some writing sufficient to indicate that a contract for sale has been made and signed by the party against whom enforcement is sought or by his authorized agent or broker or
- (b) there has been delivery of the security or payment has been made out only to the extent of such delivery or payment or
- (c) confirmation of the sale or purchase has been received by the party against whom enforcement is sought and he has failed to send written objection to its contents within ten days after it is received or
- (d) the party against whom enforcement is sought admits in his pleading or otherwise in court that in fact a contract for sale was made

Part 4

Registration

Section 8—401 Duty of Issuer to Register Transfer (1) Where a person presents a security to the issuer with the request to register transfer of the security the issuer must register the transfer as requested if

- (a) the security is fully indorsed for transfer in conformity with the following section and
- (b) the issuer has no knowledge of the unrightfulness of the transfer and no duty to inquire into its rightfulness (Section 8—403) and
- (c) proof is submitted of payment or waiver of any taxes applicable to the transfer or of consent to transfer

(2) Where the issuer has registered a transfer pursuant to this section he is not liable to any person suffering loss as a result of such registration

Section 8—402 Sufficiency of Indorsement (1) A security is fully indorsed for transfer when the indorsements on or with it are sufficient to make the person presenting it a holder of the security

(2) Unless the issuer has notice that the person signing the indorsement has no power to make the indorsement the issuer shall not require more evidence than the following to establish the necessary indorsement If the person whose indorsement is required (Subsection (1) Section 8—308) is at the time of signing

- (a) an adult not under guardianship an indorsement signed by him and a guarantee of that signature
- (b) an infant or an adult under guardianship an indorsement signed by his guardian a guarantee of that signature and proof that the person signing was such guardian at the date of signing
- (c) an individual who is dead and had not indorsed the security an indorsement signed by the executor or administrator of his estate a guarantee of that signature and proof that the person signing was such executor or administrator at the date of signing
- (d) a partnership an indorsement signed on behalf of that partnership by any partner or an authorized agent of the partnership a guarantee of that signature and proof that the person signing was such partner or was such an agent at the date of signing
- (e) a corporation an indorsement signed on behalf of the corporation by any of its officers a guarantee of that signature and proof that the person signing was such officer at the date of signing
- (f) an executor administrator trustee receiver or other fiduciary an indorsement signed by such fiduciary a guarantee of that signature and proof that the person signing was such fiduciary at the date of the signing
- (g) a person not covered by any of the foregoing papers appropriate to the case corresponding as nearly as may be to the foregoing

(3) "A guarantee of that signature" in each of the above cases means a guarantee signed by or on behalf of a person reasonably believed by the issuer to be responsible

Section 8—403 Duty to Inquire Into Rightfulness of Transfer (1) Where a security presented for registration is fully indorsed for transfer the issuer is under no duty to inquire into the rightfulness of the transfer unless he has notice of another claim to an interest in the security

(2) The fact that the issuer has notice that the registered owner holds the security for a third person or that the security is registered in the name of a fiduciary does not create a duty of inquiry into the rightfulness of the transfer If however the issuer has notice that the transfer is to the fiduciary in his individual capacity or that the proceeds of the purchase have been placed in the individual account of the fiduciary or are made payable in cash or to the fiduciary individually or otherwise has reason to know that such proceeds are being used or that the transaction is for the individual benefit of the fiduciary the issuer is under a duty to inquire into the rightfulness of the transfer

Section 8—404 Liability for Improper Registration When an issuer has registered a transfer of a security to a person not entitled to the security the issuer on demand must deliver a like security to the owner of the security unless

(a) the transfer was registered in conformity with Section 8—401 or

- (b) the security had been lost apparently destroyed or wrongfully taken and the owner failed to notify the issuer within a reasonable time after he knew or had reason to know of the loss apparent destruction or taking

Section 8—405 Lost Destroyed and Stolen Securities (1) Where the owner of a security claims that the security has been lost destroyed or wrongfully taken the issuer must issue a new security in place of the original security if the owner

- (a) so requests before the issuer has notice that the security has been acquired by a bona fide purchaser and
- (b) files with the issuer a sufficient indemnity bond and
- (c) satisfies any other reasonable requisites imposed by the issuer

(2) If after the issue of the new security a bona fide purchaser of the original security presents it for registration of transfer the issuer must register the transfer Thereupon the issuer may recover the new security from the person to whom it was issued or any person taking under him except a bona fide purchaser If it is apparent after reasonable investigation that the issuer will be unable to recover the new security he may recover from the original owner or the indemnitor for any loss sustained

Section 8—406 Duty of Authenticating Trustee Transfer Agent or Registrar (1) Where a person acts as authenticating trustee transfer agent registrar or other agent for an issuer in the registration of transfers of its securities or in the issue of new securities or in the cancellation of surrendered securities

- (a) he is under a duty to the issuer to exercise good faith and due diligence in performing his functions and
- (b) he has the same obligation to the holder or owner of the security as the issuer has in regard to those functions

(2) Notice to an authenticating trustee transfer agent registrar or other such agent is notice to the issuer with respect to the functions performed by the agent

Section 9—107 Definitions "Purchase Money Security Interest" A security interest is a "purchase money security interest" to the extent that it is

- (a) taken or retained by the seller of the collateral to secure all or part of its price or
- (b) taken by a person who by making advances or incurring an obligation gives value to enable the debtor to acquire rights in or the use of collateral if such value is in fact so used or
- (c) taken by a person who for the purpose of enabling the debtor to pay for or acquire rights in or the use of collateral makes advances or incurs an obligation not more than ten days before or after the debtor receives possession of the collateral even though the value given is not in fact used to pay the price

Section 9—108 Definitions "Value" When After-Acquired Collateral Not Security for Antecedent Debt (1) A person gives "value" for rights in property if he acquires his rights

- (a) in return for any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract including the extension of immediately available credit whether or not drawn upon and whether or not a charge-back is provided for in the event of difficulties in collection or
- (b) as security for or in total or partial satisfaction of a pre-existing claim or
- (c) by taking delivery pursuant to a pre-existing contract for purchase

(2) Where a secured party makes an advance incurs an obligation or otherwise gives new value which is to be secured in whole or in part by after-acquired property his security interest in the after-acquired collateral shall be deemed to be taken for such new value and not as security for a pre-existing claim if the debtor acquires his rights in such collateral either in the ordinary course of his business or under a contract of purchase made within a reasonable time after the making of the security agreement and pursuant thereto

Section 9—109 Classification of Goods "Consumer Goods" "Equipment" "Farm Products" "Inventory" Goods are

Section 9—110 Sufficiency of Description For the purposes of this Article any description is sufficient whether or not it is specific if it reasonably identifies the thing described

Section 9—111 Applicability of Bulk Transfer Laws The creation of a security interest is not a bulk transfer under Article 6 (Section 6—103)

Section 9—112 Where Collateral is Not Owned by Debtor When a secured party knows that collateral is owned by a person who is not the debtor the owner of the collateral shall have the same right as the debtor to receive statements under Section 9—208 to object to a secured party's proposal to retain the collateral in satisfaction of the indebtedness under Section 9—505 to obtain injunctive or other relief under Section 9—507 (1) and to recover losses caused to him under Section 9—208 (2) Such owner rather than the debtor is entitled to any surplus under Section 9—502 (2) or Section 9—504 (1)

Validity of Security Agreement and Rights of Parties Thereto

Section 9—201 General Validity of Security Agreement Except as otherwise provided by this Act or by other rule of law or regulation a security agreement is effective according to its terms between the parties against purchasers of the collateral and against creditors Nothing in this Article validates any charge or practice illegal under any rule of law or regulation governing usury small loans retail installment sales or the like or extends the application of any such rule of law or regulation to any transaction not otherwise subject thereto

Section 9—202 Title to Collateral Immaterial Each provision of this Article with regard to rights obligations and remedies applies whether title to collateral is in the secured party or in the debtor

Section 9—203 Enforceability of Security Interest Formal Requisites (1) A security interest is not enforceable against the debtor or third parties unless

- (a) the collateral is in the possession of the secured party or
- (b) the debtor has signed a security agreement which contains a description of the collateral and in addition when the security interest covers crops or oil gas or minerals to be extracted a description of the land concerned

(2) A transaction although subject to this Article must also comply with the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 1110) known as the "Motor Vehicle Sales Finance Act" the act approved the eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 262) known as "Consumer Discount Company Act" and the act approved the seventeenth day of June one thousand nine hundred fifteen (Pamphlet Laws 1012) entitled "An act regulating the business of loaning money in sums of three hundred ($300) dollars or less either with or without security to individuals pressed by lack of funds to meet immediate necessities fixing the rates of interest and charges therefor requiring the licensing of lenders and prescribing penalties for the violation of this act" in so far as any such statute by its terms applies to the transaction

Section 9—204 When Security Interest Attaches After-Acquired Property Buyer's Enabling Advance Future Advances (1) A security interest cannot attach until an agreement is made that it attach and value is given and the debtor has rights in the collateral It attaches as soon as all of the events in the preceding sentence have taken place unless explicit agreement postponed the time of attaching

(2) For the purposes of this section the debtor has no rights

- (a) in crops until they are planted or otherwise become growing crops in the young of livestock until they are conceived
- (b) in fish until caught in oil gas or minerals until they are extracted in timber until it is cut
- (c) in a contract right until the contract has been made
- (d) in an account until it comes into existence

(3) Except as provided in subsection (4) a security agreement may provide that collateral whenever acquired shall secure any advances made or other value given at any time pursuant to the security agreement

(4) No security interest attaches under an after-acquired property clause

- (a) to crops which become such more than one year after the security agreement is executed except that a security interest in crops which is given in conjunction with a lease land purchase mortgage or contract may if so agreed attach to crops to be grown on the land concerned during the period of such real estate transaction
- (b) to consumer goods when given as additional security unless the debtor acquires rights in them within ten days after the secured party gives value

(5) A security agreement may provide that collateral under it shall secure future advances

(6) When a buyer makes an advance or otherwise gives new value for the purpose of enabling his seller to obtain or manufacture goods a security interest in favor of the buyer attaches to the goods by virtue of the contract for sale as soon as they have become identified to the contract

Section 9—205 Uses or Disposition of Collateral Without Accounting Permissible A security interest is not invalid or fraudulent against creditors by reason of liberty in the debtor to use or dispose of all or part of the collateral (including returned or repossessed goods) or to collect or compromise accounts contract rights or chattel paper or to accept the return of goods or make depositions or to use or dispose of proceeds or by reason of the failure of the secured party to require the debtor to account for proceeds or replace collateral

Section 9—206 Agreement Not to Assert Defenses Against Assignee Modification of Sales Warranties by Security Agreement—(1) An agreement by a buyer of consumer goods as part of the contract for sales that he will not assert against an assignee any claim or defense arising out of the sale is not enforceable by any person. If such a buyer as part of one transaction signs both a negotiable instrument and a security agreement even a holder in due course of the negotiable instrument is subject to such claims or defenses if he seeks to enforce the security interest either by proceeding under the security agreement or by attaching or levying upon the goods in an action upon the instrument

(2) In all other cases an agreement by a buyer that he will not assert against an assignee any claim or defense which he may have against the seller is enforceable by an assignee who takes his assignment for value in good faith and without notice of a claim or defense except as to defenses of a type which may be asserted against a holder in due course of a negotiable instrument under the Article on Commercial Paper (Article 3) A buyer who as part of one transaction signs both a negotiable instrument and a security agreement makes such an agreement

(3) When a seller retains a purchase money security interest in goods the sale is governed by the Article on Sales (Article 2) and a security agreement cannot limit or modify warranties made in the original contract of sale

Section 9—107 Rights and Duties When Collateral is in Secured Party's Possession (1) A secured party must use reasonable care in the custody and preservation of collateral in his possession. In the case of an instrument or chattel paper reasonable care includes taking necessary steps to preserve rights against prior parties unless the debtor assumes to do so

(2) Unless otherwise agreed and subject to the provisions of Part 5 after default when collateral is in the secured party's possession

(a) reasonable expenses (including the cost of any insurance and payment of taxes or other charges) incurred in the custody and preservation of the collateral are chargeable to the debtor and are secured by the collateral

(b) the risk of accidental loss or damage is on the debtor to the extent of any deficiency in any insurance coverage

(c) the secured party may hold as additional security any increase or profits (except money) received from the collateral but money so received unless remitted to the debtor shall be applied in reduction of the secured obligation

(d) the secured party must keep the collateral identifiable but fungible collateral may be commingled

(e) the secured party may not make any use of the collateral except in the exercise of his duty of custody and preservation but may repledge it upon terms which do not impair the debtor's right to redeem it

(3) A secured party is liable for any loss caused by his failure to meet any obligation imposed by the preceding subsections but does not lose his security interest

Section 9—208 Request for Statement of Account or List of Collateral (1) A debtor may sign a statement indicating what he believes to be the aggregate amount of unpaid indebtedness as of a specified date and may send it to the secured party with a request that the statement be approved or corrected and returned to the debtor. When the security agreement or any other record kept by the secured party identifies the collateral a debtor may similarly request the secured party to approve or correct a list of the collateral

(2) The secured party must comply with such a request

within two weeks after receipt by sending a written correction or approval. If the secured party claims a security interest in all of a particular type of collateral owned by the debtor he may indicate that fact in his reply and need not approve or correct an itemized list of such collateral. If the secured party without reasonable excuse fails to comply he is liable for any loss caused to the debtor thereby and if the debtor has properly included in his request a good faith statement of the obligation or a list of the collateral or both the secured party may claim a security interest only as shown in the statement against persons misled by his failure to comply. If he no longer has an interest in the obligation or collateral at the time the request is received he must disclose the name and address of any successor in interest known to him and he is liable for any loss caused to the debtor as a result of failure to disclose. A successor in interest is not subject to this section until a request is received by him

(3) A debtor is entitled to such a statement once every six months without charge. The secured party may require payment of a charge not exceeding $10 for each additional statement furnished

Part 3

Rights of Third Parties Perfected and ### Unperfected Security Interests

Rules of Priority

Section 9—301 Persons Who Take Priority Over Unperfected Security Interests "Lien Creditor" (1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (2) an unperfected security interest is subordinate to the rights of

(a) persons as to whom a perfected security interest is subordinate (subsection (2) of Section 9—303)

(b) a subsequent secured party who becomes such without knowledge of the earlier security interest and perfects his interest before the earlier security interest is perfected

(c) a lien creditor who becomes such without knowledge of the security interest and before it is perfected

(d) a transferee in bulk or other buyer not in ordinary course of business to the extent that he receives delivery of the collateral without knowledge of the security interest and before it is perfected

(2) If the secured party files with respect to a purchase-money security interest before or within ten days after he gives value he takes priority over the rights of a transferee in bulk or of a lien creditor which arise between the time the security interest attaches and the time of filing

(3) A "lien creditor" means a creditor who has acquired a lien on the property involved by attachment levy or the like and includes an assignee for benefit of creditors from the time of assignment and a trustee in bankruptcy from the date of the filing of the petition or a receiver in equity from the time of appointment. Unless all the creditors represented had knowledge of the security interest such a representative of creditors is a lien creditor without knowledge even though he personally has knowledge of the security interest. A creditor who secures the issuance of process which within a reasonable time results in attachment levy or the like is a lien creditor from the time of issuance of the process

Section 9—302 When Filing is Required to Perfect Security Interest Security Interests to Which Filing Provisions of this Article do Not Apply (1) A financing statement must be filed to perfect all security interests except those covered in subsection (2) and the following

(a) a security interest in collateral in possession of the secured party under Section 9—305

(b) a security interest in instruments or documents perfected without delivery under Section 9—304

(c) a purchase money security interest in farm equipment having a purchase price not in excess of $2500 but filing is required if the equipment is part of the realty under Section 9—313 or a motor vehicle required to be licensed

(d) a purchase money security interest in consumer

goods but filing is required if the goods are part of the realty under Section 9—313 or a motor vehicle required to be licensed

(e) an assignment of accounts or contract rights which either is for the purpose of collection only or does not alone or in conjunction with other assignments to the same assignee transfer a significant part of the outstanding accounts or contract rights of the assignor

(f) if an assignee finances accounts chattel paper or contract rights in the ordinary course of his business a further assignment by him of any such collateral already assigned to him

(2) The filing provisions of this Article do not apply to the assignment of a perfected security interest or to a security interest

(a) in property subject to a statute of the United States which provides for national registration or filing of all security interests in such property or

(b) in property subject to a statute of this state which provides for central filing of or which requires indication on a certificate of title of such security interests in such property

Compliance with any such statute is equivalent to filing under this Article

Section 9—303 When Security Interest is Perfected Persons Who Take Priority Over Perfected Security Interest Perfection of Security Interest in Instruments and Documents (1) Except as provided in Section 9—103 with reference to property which is already subject to a perfected security interest when it is brought into this state a security interest is perfected

(a) if filing is required under Section 9—302 (1) at the time of filing except that if filing occurs before the security interest attaches the security interest is perfected when it attaches

(b) if no filing is required under Section 9—302 (1) at the time specified in Section 9—304 or 9—305 in cases falling under those sections and in all other cases at the time the security interest attaches

(c) in the cases covered by Section 9—302 (2) when as may be provided in the relevant statute the security interest is registered or filed or when the security interest is noted on the certificate of title

(2) A perfected security interest may be or become subordinate to the rights of the following persons

(a) a buyer in ordinary course or other buyer taking free of a security interest under Section 9—307

(b) a purchaser of chattel paper under Section 9—308

(c) a holder in due course of a negotiable instrument or a holder to whom a negotiable document has been duly negotiated or a bona fide purchaser of a security under Section 9—309

(d) a person having a lien for services or materials under Section 9—310

(e) a secured party with a previously perfected security interest

(3) Except as provided in Section 9—304 a security interest in documents or instruments (other than instruments which constitute part of chattel paper) can be perfected only by the secured party's taking possession of the collateral

Section 9—304 Temporarily Perfected Security Interest in Instruments or Documents Without Transfer of Possession (1) A security interest in instruments or documents (even though not in the possession of the secured party) is perfected against all creditors of the debtor and against all transferees other than those specified in Section 9—309 for twenty-one days from the time it attaches if the security interest arises by reason of an agreement signed by the debtor under which the secured party makes a new advance releases a perfected security interest or incurs a new obligation. It ceases to be a perfected security interest and becomes unperfected at the end of the twenty-one day period unless within that period the collateral has come into the possession of the secured party

(2) A secured party who has possession of instruments or documents may turn over such collateral to the debtor and nevertheless continue to have a perfected security interest under this section for twenty-one days from the time of turning over

Section 9—305 When Possession by Secured Party Perfects Security Interest Without Filing Field Warehousing Filing Required (1) When goods instruments documents or chattel paper come into or are in the possession of a secured party as collateral his security interest in that collateral is perfected without filing from the time he takes possession and while the collateral remains in his possession. If the collateral is held by a bailee the time of perfection is when the bailee receives notification of the secured party's interest. When a security agreement contemplates possession by a secured party before default the security interest may attach as provided in Section 9—204 before such possession is obtained but unless perfected under Section 9—304 is perfected only from the time possession is obtained and without relation back

(2) When goods are stored under a field warehousing or similar arrangement on premises which are part of the place of business of the debtor or which are within the debtor's premises or substantially contiguous thereto a security interest in the goods can be perfected only by filing notwithstanding delivery of a warehouse receipt covering such goods and even though the storage premises are identified as being under independent control by sign presence of custodian and the like

Section 9—306 "Proceeds" Secured Party's Rights on Disposition of Collateral (1) When collateral is sold exchanged collected or otherwise disposed of by the debtor the security interest continues on any identifiable proceeds received by the debtor except as otherwise provided in subsection (2) the security interest also continues in the original collateral unless the debtor's action was authorized by the secured party in the security agreement or otherwise or unless it is otherwise provided in Sections 9—301 9—303 (2) 9—307 9—308 and 9—309. The security interest in proceeds is a perfected security interest if the interest in the original collateral was perfected but it ceases to be a perfected security interest and becomes unperfected ten days after receipt of the proceeds by the debtor unless

(a) the financing statement covering the original collateral also includes the proceeds received on disposition of such collateral or

(b) it is perfected before the expiration of the ten day period

(2) In insolvency proceedings a secured party with a perfected security interest has a right to the cash and bank accounts of the debtor equal to the amount of cash proceeds received by the debtor within ten days before the institution of such proceedings less the amount of such proceeds received by the debtor and paid over to the secured party during the ten day period but no other right to or lien on cash proceeds not subjected to his control before insolvency proceedings are instituted. Nothing in this subsection shall affect any right of set-off which might otherwise exist

(3) On sale or exchange of collateral or collection of accounts or chattel paper by the debtor "proceeds" are received and when the right to payment has been earned under a contract right the resulting account is a "proceed." "Cash proceeds" include checks and money received on disposition of collateral or on collection or transfer of non-cash proceeds but not notes time chattel paper accounts and goods received in exchange

(4) If the proceeds resulting from a sale or other disposition of inventory consists of chattel paper nothing in this section prevents a transfer thereof for new value in the ordinary course of business and the security interest or any other right of any transferee shall have priority over the security interest based on a claim to proceeds under subsection (1)

(5) If collateral which has been sold is returned to the debtor the following rules determine the priorities

(a) As between the debtor and a secured party to whom the indebtedness originally secured by the collateral has not been paid the original security interest continues

(b) As between the debtor and an unpaid transferee of the chattel paper arising from the sale the transferee shall have a security interest in the property returned but such security interest must be perfected for protection against third parties

(c) The security interest of an unpaid transferee under (b) shall have priority over a security interest claimed under (a)

Section 9—307 Buyers of Goods (1) In the case of inventory and in the case of other goods as to which the secured party files a financing statement in which he claims a security interest in proceeds a buyer in ordinary course of business takes free of a security interest even though perfected and even though the buyers knows of the terms of the security agreement

(2) In the case of consumer goods and in the case of farm equipment having an original purchase price not in excess of $2500 (other than goods or equipment which are part of the realty see Section 9—313) a buyer takes free of a security interest even though perfected if he buys without knowledge of the security interest for value and for his own personal family or household purposes or his own farming operations unless prior to the purchase the secured party has filed a financing statement covering such goods

Section 9—308 Security in Chattel Paper Without Transfer of Possession Filing with regard to chattel paper not transferred to the possession of the secured party perfects a security interest in such paper against all creditors of the debtor and all transferees except a purchaser for new value in the ordinary course of his business who takes possession of the paper and who does not have actual knowledge that the specific chattel paper is subject to a security interest

Section 9—309 Purchasers of Instruments and Documents Nothing in this Article except Section 9—206 (1) limits the rights of a holder in due course of a negotiable instrument (Section 3—302) or a holder to whom a negotiable document of title has been duly negotiated (Section 7—502) or a bona fide purchaser of a security (Section 8—301) and such holders or purchasers take priority over an earlier interest even though perfected Filing under this Article does not constitute notice of the security interest to such holders or purchasers

Section 9—310 Priority of Certain Liens Arising by Operation of Law When a person in the ordinary course of his business furnishes services or materials with respect to goods subject to a security interest a lien given by statute or rule of law for such materials or services takes priority over a perfected security interest unless the lien is statutory and the statute expressly provides otherwise

Section 9—311 Alienability of Debtor's Rights Judicial Process The debtor's right in collateral

(a) are alienable although the security agreement may make disposition without the secured party's consent a default and

(b) may be reached by attachment levy garnishment or other appropriate judicial process

Section 9—312 Conflicting Security Interests General Rules of Priority When conflicting perfected security interests attach to the same collateral such interests rank in the order of time of perfection with the following exceptions

(1) An interest which attaches after filing takes priority from the time of filing but in case of conflict this rule is subject to the rules stated in the following subsections

(2) A secured party who has a perfected security interest and who makes later advances to the debtor on the same collateral and under the same security agreement takes priority as to the later advances from the time when his security interest was originally perfected

(3) A secured party who has a perfected security interest and who acquires rights in after-acquired collateral under a term in the security agreement takes priority as to such rights from the time when his security interest was originally perfected whether or not he makes advances on the after-acquired collateral except as otherwise provided in subsection (4)

(4) A purchase money security interest has priority over a conflicting interest in the same collateral which is claimed under an after-acquired property clause if the purchase money security interest is perfected at the time the debtor receives the collateral or within ten days thereafter and where the collateral is inventory if before the debtor receives it the purchase money party also notifies any secured party who has made a prior filing covering inventory of the type concerned Such notification must describe the inventory concerned state that the interest is a purchase money security interest and specify its amount If however the interest claimed under an after-acquired property clause is itself a purchase money security interest the rules stated in subsection (5) applies

(5) When there are conflicting purchase money security interests the interest of a seller or of a secured party whose advance was used at his direction to pay a seller takes priority if he has perfected his interest at the time the debtor receives the collateral or within ten days thereafter In any other case of conflicting purchase money security interest they rank equally

(6) When the collateral is crops the interest of a later secured party who in order to enable the debtor to produce them makes a new advance incurs a new obligation releases a perfected security interest or gives other new value during the production season or not more than three months before the crops are planted or otherwise become growing crops takes priority over the interest of an earlier secured party to the extent that the earlier interest secured obligations (such as rent interest or mortgage principal amortization) due more than six months before the crops are planted or otherwise become growing crops

(7) Section 9—313 on goods which are part of the realty Section 9—314 on goods which are affixed to other goods and Section 9—315 on goods which are commingled or processed state rules of priority which supplement the rules stated in this section

Section 9—313 Priority When Goods Are Part of Realty

(1) When under other rules of law goods are so affixed or related to the realty as to be a part thereof a security interest in such goods which attaches before they become part of the realty takes priority as to such goods over the claims of all persons who have an interest in the realty except

(a) a subsequent purchaser for value of any interest in the realty or

(b) a subsequent judgment creditor with a lien on the realty or

(c) a prior encumbrancer of the realty to the extent that he makes subsequent advances provided that the purchaser or lien creditor becomes such or the prior encumbrancer makes such advances without knowledge of the security interest and before its perfection A purchaser of the realty at a foreclosure sale is a subsequent purchaser within this Section unless he was the prior encumbrancer

(2) When under subsection (1) a secured party has priority over the claims of all persons who have an interest in the realty he may on default subject to the provisions of Part 5 remove his collateral from the realty but he must reimburse any encumbrancer or owner of the realty who is not the debtor and who has not otherwise agreed for the cost of repair of any physical injury but not for any diminution in value of the realty caused by the absence of the goods removed or by any necessity for replacing them A person entitled to reimbursement may refuse permission to remove until the secured party gives adequate security for the performance of this obligation

Section 9—314 Priority When Goods Are Affixed to Other Goods (1) A security interest in goods which attaches before they are installed in or affixed to other goods takes priority as to the goods installed or affixed (called in this section "accessions") over the claims of all persons to the whole except

- (a) a subsequent purchaser of the whole for value or
- (b) a subsequent judgment creditor with a lien on the whole or
- (c) a prior secured party with a security interest in the whole to the extent that he makes subsequent advances provided that the purchaser or lien creditor becomes such or the prior secured party makes such advances without knowledge of the security interest in the accessions and before its perfection

(2) Where under subsection (1) a secured party has an interest in accessions which has priority over the claims of all persons to the whole he may on default subject to the provisions of Part 5 remove his collateral from the whole but he must reimburse a person with an interest in the whole who is not the debtor and who has not otherwise agreed for the cost of repair of any physical injury but not for any diminution in value of the whole caused by the absence of the goods removed or by any necessity for replacing them. A person entitled to reimbursement may refuse permission to remove until the secured party gives adequate security for the performance of this obligation

Section 9—315 Priority When Goods Are Commingled or Processed (1) If raw materials component parts or other goods which contribute to a product are manufactured processed or commingled so that their identity is lost a security interest in any of them continues on the product or resulting mass if the security agreement so provides or if the secured party has not acquiesced in the loss of identity. The security interest continues as a perfected security interest if the financing statement indicates that the interest covers the product or mass or even though the statement does not so indicate if the secured party did not acquiesce in the loss of identity

(2) When under subsection (1) more than one security interest attaches to the product or mass they rank equally according to the ratio that the cost of the goods to which each interest originally attached bears to the cost of the total product or mass

Section 9—316 Priority Subject to Subordination Nothing in this Article prevents subordination by agreement by any person entitled to priority

Section 9—317 Secured Party Not Obligated on Contract of Debtor A contract made by a debtor concerning collateral does not impose a personal obligation on the secured party merely because of his security interest or his authority given to the debtor to dispose of or use the collateral

Section 9—318 Defenses Against Assignee Modification of Contract After Notification of Assignment Term Prohibiting Assignment Ineffective Identification and Proof of Assignment (1) Unless an account debtor has made an enforceable agreement not to assert defenses or claims arising out of a sale as provided in Section 9—206 the rights of an assignee are subject to

- (a) all the terms of the contract between the account debtor and assignor and any defense or claim arising therefrom and
- (b) any other defense or claim of the account debtor against the assignor which accrues before the account debtor receives notification of the assignment or of the arrangement for assignment

(2) So far as the right to payment under an assigned contract right has not already become an account and notwithstanding notification of the assignment any modification or substitution for the contract made in good faith and in accordance with reasonable commercial standards is effective against an assignee unless the account debtor has otherwise agreed but the assignee acquires corresponding rights under the modified or substituted contract. The assignment may provide that such modification or substitution is a breach by the assignor

(3) When an assignee permits the assignor to collect accounts or leaves or puts the assignor in possession of chattel paper which does not specify a place of payment

other than the assignor's place of business an account debtor is authorized to pay the assignor until he receives notification that payment is to be made to the assignee

(4) A term prohibiting assignment of an account or contract right is ineffective. Before making payment an account debtor may however require an assignee to furnish reasonable proof of the making of the assignment. Until an assignee furnishes reasonable identification of the account or contract right assigned the account debtor may make payment to the assignor

Filing

Section 9—401 Place of Filing Erroneous Filing Removal of Collateral (1) If filing is required by this Article (subsection (1) of Section 9—302) in order to perfect a security interest the place of filing is as follows

- (a) when the collateral is accounts other than those arising from the sale of farm products by a farmer chattel paper contract rights inventory or equipment other than equipment used in farming operations then in the office of the Secretary of Commonwealth and in addition if all of the debtor's places of business are in a single county in the office of the prothonotary of that county
- (b) when the collateral is consumer goods equipment used in farming operations farm products or accounts arising from the sale of farm products by a farmer then in the office of the prothonotary of the county of the debtor's residence or if the debtor is not a resident of this State then in the office of the prothonotary of the county where the goods are kept and in addition when the collateral is crops in the office of the prothonotary in the county where the land on which the crops are growing or to be grown is located
- (c) when the collateral is goods which are or are to be so affixed to realty as to be a part thereof then in the office where a mortgage on the realty concerned would be filed or recorded

(2) A filing which is made in good faith is an improper place or not in all of the places required by this section is nevertheless effective with regard to any collateral as to which the filing was proper and with regard to all collateral against any person who has knowledge of the filing of a financing statement which indicates that a security interest in all collateral wherever located was intended

(3) A filing which is made in the proper county in this state remains effective for one hundred and twenty days after the debtor's residence or place of business or the location of the collateral is changed to another county of this state but becomes ineffective thereafter unless a copy of the financing statement signed by the secured party is filed in the new county within said period

(4) When collateral is brought into this state from another jurisdiction the rules stated in Section 9—103 apply to determine when filing is necessary in this state

Section 9—402 Formal Requisites of Financing Statement (1) A financing statement is sufficient if it is signed by the debtor and the secured party gives an address of the secured party from which information concerning the security interest may be obtained gives a mailing address of the debtor and contains a statement indicating the types or describing the items of property covered. When the collateral is crops growing or to be grown or goods affixed or to be affixed to realty so as to be a part thereof the statement must also contain a description of the land or realty concerned. A copy of the security agreement is sufficient as a financing statement if it contains the above information and is signed by both parties. When the collateral is goods affixed or to be affixed to realty the collateral must be described by item and not by type

(2) A financing statement which otherwise complies with subsection (1) is sufficient although it is signed only by the secured party when it is filed to perfect a security interest in

- (a) collateral already subject to a security interest in another jurisdiction when it is brought into this state Such a financing statement must state that the collateral was brought into this state under such circumstances

(b) proceeds under Section 9—306 (1) if the security interest in the original collateral was perfected Such a financing statement must describe the original collateral

(3) A form substantially as follows is sufficient to comply with subsection (1)

Name of debtor (or assignor) .....

Address .....

Name of secured party (or assignee) .....

Address .....

1 This financing statement covers the following types (or items) of property

(list)

2 (If collateral is crops) The above listed crops are growing or are to be grown on

(describe land)

3 (If collateral is goods affixed or to be affixed to realty) The above described goods are affixed or to be affixed to

(describe realty)

4 (If proceeds or products of collateral are claimed) The following (proceeds) (products) of the property are also covered

(list)

(Signature of Debtor or Assignor)

(Signature of Secured Party or Assignee)

Section 9—403 What Constitutes Filing Duration of Filing Effect of Lapsed Filing Duties of Filing Officer (1) Presentation for filing of a financing statement and tender of the filing fee or acceptance of the statement by the filing officer constitutes filing under this Article

(2) A filed financing statement which states the maturity date of the obligation secured is effective until that date and thereafter until it lapses under subsection (3) Any other filed financing statement is effective until it lapses under subsection (3) Upon such lapse or upon the filing of a statement of termination under Section 9—404 the security interest becomes unperfected with regard to rights which accrue thereafter

(3) At any time after the maturity date stated in a financing statement or at any time after five years from the date of filing a financing statement which states no maturity date a filing officer may notify a secured party at his address given in the statement that the effectiveness of the statement will lapse unless a continuation statement has been filed not later than sixty (60) days following the date of notification Any such continuation statement shall be signed by the secured party shall identify the original statement by file number and shall state that the original statement is still effective Upon timely filing of the continuation statement the effectiveness of the original statement shall be continued for five years At any time after five years from the date of filing a continuation statement the filing officer may again proceed under this subsection Unless a statute on disposition of public records provides otherwise the filing officer may remove a lapsed statement from the files and destroy it and the index

(4) A filing officer shall mark each statement with a consecutive file number and with the date and hour of filing and shall hold the statement for public inspection In addition the filing officer shall index the statements according to the names of the debtor and the secured party and shall note in the index the file number and the addresses of debtor and secured party given in the statement

(5) The filing fee for an original or a continuation statement shall be one dollar fifty cents ($1.50)

Section 9—404 Statement of Termination of Financing

(1) Whenever there is no outstanding secured obligation and no commitment to make advances incur obligations or otherwise give value the secured party must on written demand by the debtor send the debtor a signed statement to that effect If the secured party fails to send such a termination statement within ten days after proper demand therefor he shall be liable to the debtor for $100 and in addition for any loss caused to the debtor by such failure

(2) On presentation to the filing officer of such a termination statement he must note it in the index Unless a statute on disposition of public records provides otherwise the filing officer shall remove the financing statement from the files and return the termination statement and the financing statement to the secured party

(3) The fee for filing such a termination statement shall be seventy-five cents ($.75)

Part 5

Default

Section 9—501 Index of Rights on Default Procedure When Security Agreement Covers Both Real and Personal Property (1) When a debtor is in default under the security agreement a secured party may reduce his claim to judgment If the collateral is accounts chattel paper contract rights or instruments he may in addition proceed under Section 9—504 or under Section 9—502 for a time and thereafter under Section 9—504 If the collateral is documents he may in addition proceed under Section 9—504 either as to the documents or as to the goods covered thereby If the collateral is goods he may in addition do one or more of the following (except that he cannot accept the collateral in discharge of the obligation under Section 9—505 and also recover a deficiency under Section 9—504)

(a) foreclose the security interest by any available judicial procedure

(b) take possession of the collateral under Section 9—503

(c) prepare or process the collateral for disposition as provided in Section 9—504

(d) sell and recover a deficiency as provided in Section 9—504

(e) accept the collateral in discharge of the obligation as provided in Section 9—505

(2) After default a secured party in possession has the rights and duties provided in Section 9—207 and a debtor has

(a) a right of redemption as provided in Section 9—506 and

(b) a right as provided in Section 9—507 to require that the secured party realize on his collateral in accordance with this Article

(3) The enumeration of rights in subsections (1) and (2) does not purport to be exhaustive The rules stated in this Part which give rights to the debtor and impose duties on the secured party may be waived or varied only as provided in this Part

(4) If the security agreement covers both real and personal property the secured party may proceed under this Part as to the personal property or he may proceed under the law relating to foreclosure of real estate mortgages as to both the real and the personal property If the secured party proceeds under the real estate mortgage law the provisions of this Part do not apply

Section 9—502 Rights of Assignee When Assignor Defaults (1) When so agreed and in any event on default the secured party is entitled to notify an account debtor or the obligors on an instrument to make payment to him whether or not the assignor was theretofore making collections on the collateral and also to take control of any proceeds to which he is entitled under Section 9—306

(2) When the secured party is by agreement entitled to charge back uncollected instruments accounts chattel paper or contract rights or is otherwise entitled to full or limited recourse against the debtor a secured party who takes control of collections must proceed in a commercially reasonable manner to realize upon the collateral and may deduct his reasonable expenses of realization from the collections. If so agreed the debtor is entitled to any surplus in the net amount realized or is liable for any deficiency or both if the agreement is silent and if the transaction between the debtor and the secured party is in fact a sale the debtor is not entitled to any surplus and is not liable for any deficiency but if it is in fact a loan he is entitled to any surplus and is liable for any deficiency.

Section 9—503 Secured Party's Right to Take Possession After Default. Unless otherwise agreed a secured party has no default the right to take possession of the collateral. In taking possession a secured party may proceed without judicial process if this can be done without breach of the peace. If the security agreement so provides the secured party may require the debtor to assemble the collateral and make it available to the secured party at a place reasonably convenient to both parties. Without removal a secured party may render equipment unusable and may dispose of collateral on the debtor's premises under Section 9—504. A debtor may request the secured party to remove collateral from the debtor's premises after a reasonable time for its disposition has passed. If the secured party fails to remove the collateral within a reasonable time after the receipt of such a request the debtor may remove and store it.

Section 9—504 Secured Party's Right to Dispose of Collateral After Default. Effect of Disposition. (1) A secured party after default may sell lease or otherwise dispose of any or all of the collateral in its then condition or following any commercially reasonable preparation or processing. Any sale of goods is subject to the Article on Sales (Article 2). The proceeds of disposition shall be applied in the order following to:

- (a) the reasonable expenses of retaking holding preparing for sale selling and the like to the extent the recovery thereof is not prohibited by law or agreement
- (b) the satisfaction of indebtedness secured by the security interest under which the disposition is made
- (c) the satisfaction of indebtedness secured by any subordinate security interest in the collateral if written notification of demand therefor is received before distribution of the proceeds is completed

If the security agreement secures an indebtedness the secured party must account to the debtor for any surplus and unless otherwise agreed the debtor is liable for any deficiency. But if the underlying transaction was a sale of accounts contract rights or chattel paper the debtor is entitled to any surplus or is liable for any deficiency only if the security agreement so provides.

(2) Disposition of the collateral may be public or private proceedings and may be made by way of one or more contracts. Sale or other disposition may be as a unit or in parcels and at any time and place and on any terms but every aspect of the disposition including the method manner time place and terms must be commercially reasonable. Unless collateral is perishable or threatens to decline speedily in value or is of a type customarily sold on a recognized market the second party must give to the debtor and to any other secured party who has a security interest in the collateral to be disposed of and who has filed a financing statement or is known to the secured party making the disposition reasonable notification of the time and place of any other intended disposition. Notification may be sent to addresses given in a financing statement if the secured party has no knowledge of different addresses. The secured party may buy at any public sale and if the collateral is of a type which is the subject of widely distributed standard price quotations he may buy at private sale.

(3) When collateral is disposed of by a secured party after default the disposition transfers to a purchaser for value all rights of the debtor discharges the security interest under which it is made and any security interest or lien subordinate thereto and the purchaser takes free of all such rights and interests even though the secured party fails to comply with the requirements of this Part or of any judicial proceedings.

- (a) in the case of a judicial sale if the purchaser has no knowledge of any defects in the sale and if he does not buy in collusion with the secured party or other bidders or
- (b) in any other case if the purchaser acts in good faith.

Section 9—505 Compulsory Disposition of Collateral. Acceptance of the Collateral as Discharge of Obligation.

(1) In the case of a purchase money security interest in consumer goods if the debtor has paid sixty per cent of the cash price and has not signed after default a statement renouncing his rights a secured party who has taken possession of collateral must dispose of it under Section 9—504 and if he fails to do so within ninety days after he takes possession the debtor at his option may recover in conversion or under Section 9—507 (1) on secured party's liability.

(2) In any other case a secured party in possession may after default propose to retain the collateral in satisfaction of the obligation. Written notice of such proposal shall be given to the debtor and to any other secured party who has a security interest in the collateral and who has filed a financing statement or is known to the secured party in possession. If the debtor or other person entitled to receive notification objects within thirty days from receipt of the notification the secured party must dispose of the collateral under Section 9—504 but in the absence of such objection within said thirty days the secured party may hold the collateral or dispose of it free from the requirements of this Article.

Section 9—506 Debtor's Right to Reclaim Collateral. At any time before the secured party has disposed of collateral or entered into a contract for its disposition under Section 9—504 or before the obligation has been discharged under Section 9—505 (2) the debtor may reclaim the collateral by tendering payment of all sums due under the defaulted agreement as well as the expenses reasonably incurred by the secured party in retaking holding and preparing for disposition.

Section 9—507 Secured Party's Liability for Failure to Comply With This Part. (1) If it is established that the secured party is not proceeding in accordance with the provisions of this Part disposition may be ordered or restrained on appropriate terms and conditions. If the disposition has occurred the debtor or any person entitled to notification has a right to recover from the secured party and loss caused by a failure to comply with the provisions of this Part. If the collateral is consumer goods the debtor has a right to recover in any event an amount not less than the credit service charge or time price differential plus 10 per cent of the cash price or principal amount of the debt.

(2) The fact that a better price could have been obtained by a sale at a different time or in a different method from that selected by the secured party is not of itself sufficient to establish that the sale was not made in a commercially reasonable manner. If the secured party either sells the collateral in the usual manner in any recognized market therefor or if he sells at the price current in such market at the time of his sale or if he has otherwise sold in conformity with reasonable commercial practices among dealers in the type of property sold he has sold in a commercially reasonable manner. The principles stated in the two preceding sentences with respect to sales also apply as may be appropriate to other types of disposition. The term "commercially reasonable" includes among other things obtaining approval of the secured party's plan of disposition in a judicial proceeding or by a bona fide creditors' committee or representative of creditors.

NOT VOTING—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

VISITORS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The House is honored to have with us today the Executive Editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, who is a member of the State Council on Recreation of the Governor's Committee on Children and Youth. He is also a member of the Board of Trustees of Morganza. He is the guest of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Sarraf.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it is not my intention to attempt to establish a practice with the result that every time a Member introduced a bill he would feel called upon to make a talk about it. But I do have two bills that I am introducing today that are very interesting.

The first bill that I have in front of me to introduce clips five hours a week from the time firemen in third class cities are required to work. I am presenting this as a labor bill. And, of course, I will expect whole-hearted support from the various labor organizations that have dedicated themselves to the task of alleviating the conditions under which firemen work.

I shall especially expect that those labor organizations, and those labor leaders, that are so successful in alleviating working conditions in third class cities will rally to the cause and seek the support of all of the Members representing third class cities. And I will look with particular hope in the direction of Dauphin County, and expect that the Members from Dauphin County and Harrisburg will be interested in the condition of their firemen. I really ought to get in support of this bill one-half of the Members on this side of the House and all of the Members on the other side of the House, because you just would not want to vote against a labor measure. Now would you? You just could not refuse to support any bill, if A F of L, the CIO or the United Mine Workers raised the standard and said "Come all you good Republicans and rally to the standard"—you just could not refuse to do it. I think we have a new era in this Legislature; we are going to pass all labor bills with the support of the majority and a few dissenting voices on the side of the minority just reversing the formula. I am introducing this bill and I have another bill that I commend to your attention.

It would authorize the Governor of the Commonwealth to transfer or consolidate bureaus, divisions and functions and to transfer monies appropriated or allocated to the support of those bureaus. It is my contention that if we reconstruct the entire structure of our departmental government in this Commonwealth, that we will have a period of executive chaos—if we are going to rebuild the whole structure.

I say that as a preliminary move, if it is possible by consolidating bureaus, by transferring, to create a more efficient government and effectuate economies, that the way to start is to empower His Excellency, the Governor, to make a trial of it and by executive order transfer bureaus, consolidate bureaus, and if necessary, abolish them.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I present the following bills without even asking for an additional sponsor, for which I ought to have the thanks of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCORMACK asked and obtained unanimous permission to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, recently I introduced House Bill No. 747, which would repeal Section 11 of the First-Class City Home Rule Act insofar as it applies to Fairmount Park and its Commissioners.

As a freshman Member of the House of Representatives, from the County of Philadelphia, I thought that I had the right, and that it was also my duty to introduce legislation which I thought beneficial to the people of this Commonwealth. Little did I realize, Mr. Speaker, how wrong I was. Too late did I learn that before introducing any legislation pertaining to the City of Philadelphia, I had to get the consent of His Honor, the Mayor, of Philadelphia. I am sure, that I speak for every Member of the Legislature when I say that opposition and constructive criticism of proposed legislation is welcomed. However, I can not welcome attacks against my integrity, and because my integrity has been attacked by a very few well-meaning, but misguided Philadelphians, I rise at this time to defend myself.

Mr. Speaker, I do not propose to debate the merits of my bill at this time, primarily because the merits of my bill have been attacked by no one. By way of emphasis, however, may I say, Mr. Speaker, that Fairmount Park is second to none in the United States, and as such is a tribute to the Commissioners who manage it. The Commissioners, appointed by the Board of Judges of the Common Pleas Court of Philadelphia, serve without compensation, are outstanding business men of the community, whose devotion to duty and interest in the civic well-being of the community are unquestioned. It has never been suggested by either the Democratic or Republican party that politics plays a part in the Administration of the affairs of Fairmount Park. In spite of this my bill has been attacked as a "political" bill, as a "vicious" bill, as an attempt to scuttle the home-rule charter and other catch-words which are appealing to reformers.

His Honor, the Mayor of Philadelphia, has asked Philadelphians and Members of the General Assembly to vote against the bill and to contact the State representatives with protests against my bill and "to indicate in no uncertain terms that they will return to private life any legislator who votes for these vicious bills."

To date, of the twenty-five odd thousand voters in my district I have received two letters and two post cards protesting my bill, only two of which carried return addresses.

Mr. Speaker, like our Mayor, I believe in good government, and because I do I intend to introduce any legislation which tends to that end, whether that legislation pertains to the county of Philadelphia, or any other county in this Commonwealth.

The people of my district elected me to represent them in this great Assembly and it is to them that I am responsible. I am capable of exercising my own independent judgment as to how I should vote on a particular bill. I am not a rubber stamp for the leaders of my party or any other pressure group. I do not agree with members of my party who oppose my bill, the implied premise of their argument being that Philadelphia is no longer one of the counties of this Commonwealth. Until the contrary is demonstrated to me I shall continue to treat Philadelphia as one of the sixty-seven counties of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WILBUR H. HAMILTON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to congratulate my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Thomas McCormack, for such a courageous statement. In recent months in the city of Philadelphia, His Honor the Mayor has practically created a feeling and condition that no Member from Philadelphia should introduce bills in this session of the General Assembly unless it has his approval.

I am glad that Mr. McCormack, who represents his party, the Democratic party, has had the courage to speak out and still consider the city of Philadelphia a county in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The Mayor is rather inconsistent in his attitude for this reason. Last week he had the rare privilege and the honor of spending approximately one hour with His Excellency the Governor in the Barclay Hotel. And the Mayor presented a twenty-five point program that he is supposed to send up here to the Legislature for Philadelphia legislation.

In other words, it is perfectly satisfactory for His Honor the Mayor to recommend bills but apparently the gentleman is under the impression that no Member elected by the people can introduce those bills.

I would like to say to our distinguished Minority Leader in connection with the work-week bill, that several weeks ago I introduced a bill reducing the hours of policemen, firemen and park guards in the city of Philadelphia to forty hours per week. When the opportunity arrives, I am going to ask the eminent Chairman of our Committee to consider that bill, and also the members on that committee to give it serious consideration and bring it out on the floor of the Legislature for a vote; because during the mayoralty campaign of 1951 when

His Honor the Mayor was elected, he promised those working hours to the uniformed men, the guardians of our safety in Philadelphia. For various sundry reasons, he is not redeeming that promise.

If an act of this General Assembly will compel the Mayor to redeem that promise, I hope that the Members on both sides of this House will vote for forty hours a week for policemen, firemen and park guards.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, what time does the party start? I do not want to infringe upon the convivial tendencies of the members of the majority. They have a party date; what time does it start?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been informed that the caucus starts at 6:30 o'clock promptly.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am interested in the remarks of the two distinguished gentlemen from Philadelphia, interested in the suggestion of forty hours a week. Why not make it thirty?

As long as we are dealing recklessly with the rights and the prerogatives of the duly elected officials in our municipalities—as long as we are dealing recklessly, why stop at forty? Why not go to thirty?

I desire to say to the two gentlemen from Philadelphia that for a great many years I sat patiently in my seat here in the Hall of this House listening to the politicians speak. Not so long ago the people of Philadelphia spoke, and they elected a Mayor. They gave that Mayor a mandate. We gave the people of Philadelphia a mandate. We said to them in effect, "you are free, white and twenty-one, residents of a great city. Here is your charter; we concede you home rule; take your questions back to Philadelphia and annoy us no more."

Now, when the Mayor of Philadelphia or any other elected official correctly interprets the mandate which the people of Philadelphia gave him, he is performing a duty, which he is bound in honor to perform.

I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia that it comes with poor grace from such a gallant fighter, and such an eloquent, persuasive individual as he is, that having been defeated in his own local arena he should attempt to retrieve a victory by bringing his cause or his quarrels before this House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WILBUR H. HAMILTON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, do not become too alarmed because I am not going to prolong our session this afternoon with debate.

I would like to say to the distinguished Minority Leader, although I have only been a Member of the Legislature for one term—and the last session was equivalent to at least three terms—plus this session up to date, I have had the patience of Job when the gentleman has made voluminous statements on the floor, and I have always respected him.

As far as any legislation concerning Philadelphia is concerned, I wish to inform the gentleman that I am going to present it to the Members of the General Assembly, who are such wise men and diligent men, fair men on both sides, I know that they will give the legislation proper consideration.

In closing I would like to say this: There are approximately 22,000 employees in the city of Philadelphia. All of those employees enjoy forty hours a week with the exception of the uniformed men.

If the bill is reported out of Committee and reaches the floor of the House, I will have some very interesting figures and statistics for the Minority Leader, and a fair-minded gentleman like Mr. Andrews will be highly interested and will act accordingly.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs ZIEGLER and OGILVIE offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 30, 1953.

Whereas, Jim Thorpe, a great American, who although born in our sister State of Oklahoma, rose to fame while playing football in Pennsylvania, died this past Saturday, March 28th; and

Whereas, the story of Thorpe was and is an inspiration to all Americans; he was born on a Sac-Fox reservation in the midst of deprivation, made his way through the world until he was saluted by kings as "the greatest athlete in the world;" and

Whereas, his records are innumerable; he was an All-American football player in 1911 and 1912 and captain of the Carlisle Indians in the latter year; and

Whereas, he was named on the Walter Camp All-Time All-American Team and was selected as the athlete of the mid-century by a pool of sportswriters; and

Whereas, also in 1912 he represented this country in the Olympics where he clearly showed that he deserved the title of the "greatest athlete" by winning both the decathlon and the pentathlon; and

Whereas, among his records were four field goals by drop kicks in a single game; a 100-yard run with a punt; a kick that traveled 83 yards; two touchdown runs on consecutive plays (after one was called back for a rule infraction); 25 touchdowns in a single season; and a 110 yard run from punt formation; and

Whereas, Thorpe is remembered by our President, Dwight D. Eisenhower, who played against him at Army, and by a host of other Pennsylvania teams that played the Carlisle Indians; the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania State College, Dickinson, Lehigh, Washington and Jefferson College, Lebanon Valley and others; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby extends to the widow and family of the late Jim Thorpe our heartfelt sympathy in the loss of their beloved; and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to his widow, Mrs. Patricia Thorpe, Wilmington, California.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. FARABAUGH asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, this morning as we are ready for a day of work, we pray Thy guidance on all that we do today, that we may give our best thought to the things which have been placed before us, with the one idea that we shall do those things which are best for the State.

As we return to our homes today, to go through the days when we commemorate Thy great sacrifice for us, may we feel that whatever cross or burden may be placed upon us is light in comparison to what Thou hast done for us.

Some day, when our work is finished and we come to that last turn in the road, around which we will see Thee face to face, may our conscience tell us that we are not afraid or ashamed to look into Thy face, that we may know in our hearts that we have done the best that we could, and we already know what Thy answer will be.

Guide us in our work here and in our homes. Bless our State, bless our Nation, and may we all work for that great goal which Thou didst come into the world to establish, peace on earth and good will among men. We ask it in the Master's Holy Name, Amen.

He also, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 388, entitled:

An Act creating a commission to study grants made to State-aided medical and surgical hospitals for determining the most equitable methods of calculating such grants; prescribing its powers and duties; and making an appropriation.

He also, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 389, entitled:

An Act to reenact and further amend portions of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by abolishing the boards of trustees of State institutions in the Department of Welfare; creating an advisory board for each such institution, defining their powers and the powers and duties of the Department of Health and Welfare with respect thereto; and renaming the departmental administrative agencies in the Department of Health and Welfare and the State advisory boards and commissions.

He also, from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 390, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employees in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employees of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by transferring the powers and duties relating to rehabilitation of injured workman from the Department of Labor and Industry to the Department of Health and Welfare.

THE HONORABLE BERTRAM G. FRAZIER
PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to call the attention of the Members of the Senate to the presence of a distinguished former Member of the Senate, the Honorable Bertram G. Frazier, of Philadelphia. The Chair requests that he please rise in place and take a bow.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, the bill which I am about to present is a recodification of the laws pertaining to counties of the third to the eighth class, inclusive. This is the work of the Local Government Commission, and they have been engaged for more than two years in this work. A resume of the code will be presented to each Member of the Senate.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. MALLERY, STEVENSON, MAHANY, LANE and YOSKO read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 399, entitled:

An Act relating to counties of the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. LETZLER read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 400, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections 1901 and 1902 of the act approved the tenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30), entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools; amending, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," by providing further equalization of educational opportunity for out-of-school youth and adults through directed study in extension schools and classes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 401, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections 2562, 2563, and 2564 of the act approved the tenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30), entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," by changing the provisions for payments by districts for pupils attending extension classes in other districts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. WOOD read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 402, entitled:

An Act relating to agreements, leases and other instruments granting anthracite rights, made or joined in by political subdivisions; providing for approval by the Secretary of Mines under certain conditions and rendering them otherwise void; providing for the effect of breach or failure to comply with the provisions and giving remedies to the political subdivisions or of a taxpayer of such.

Which was committed to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

Mr. WADE read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 403, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 699.4 of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth," by prohibiting certain sales on Sunday and changing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Messrs. WATKINS and HARE read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 404, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and to reenact and further amend the act, approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 579), entitled "An act providing for the better management of the jails or county prisons in the several counties of this Commonwealth of the third and fourth classes by creating, in such counties, a board to be known by the name and style of inspectors of the jail or county prison, with authority to appoint a warden of such prison, and by vesting in said board, and the officers appointed by it, the safe-keeping, discipline, and employment of prisoners and the government and management of said jails or county prisons," by extending the provisions thereof to counties of the fifth class.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 405, entitled:

An Act to further amend section 188 of the act approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," by authorizing the sheriff in counties of the seventh and eighth class, to appoint a solicitor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, on the front page of last Sunday's newspaper, a story appeared in connection with the shooting of a pony by the father of screen actress Gene Tierney, in the neighboring county of Northampton, Bucks County. The incident appeared to be of sufficient importance for editorial comment, and I want to read an editorial which appeared in the Philadelphia Inquirer. The title of the editorial is "No 'New Hearts' for Sale." It reads as follows, and I quote:

"I saw nothing to get excited about.' That's what

Howard S. Tierney, father of screen actress Gene Tierney, said in court after admitting the following facts:

"That he fired the shot which killed the pet pony of a neighbor's children; that he 'wanted to hit it on the sitter, but didn't want to hurt it;' that he then sold the dead pony to an animal salvage concern for five dollars.

"This shocking affair should be thoroughly investigated. Justice of the Peace Dillman, who heard the case, is quoted as feeling it is a serious one which should be gone into by a higher court.

"If every farmer started killing every animal which wandered onto his property; if every householder were to shoot down every pet which happened to cross his ground, our community would soon become as unsafe for humans as for pets.

"What some people seem unable to realize is that a pet is not just an 'animal,' but a real member off the family of its owner. Those who have pets, and love them, know what immense contributions in happiness and companionship they make, and what lessons in patience and humanity they teach.

"When this pony was killed for trespass—and accidentally, Tierney says—the two children of Mrs. Dorothy Martin, Sue, 12, and Rickey, 9, suffered a loss beyond price. Mrs. Martin summed it up in her reply, when Tierney talked of paying for the pony: 'Will you buy new hearts for my children, too?'

"Justice demands the fullest inquiry and sternest prosecution if the facts warrant."

Mr. President, I agree with the sentiments expressed in this editorial, that this incident should be subjected to an inquiry. It seems to me, from the facts which I read, that there may be a question of deficiency in the mentality of Mr. Tierney. At least, I, for one, am satisfied that Mr. Tierney is trigger happy.

It appears to me Mr. President, that the State Police, in conjunction with the local police and the District Attorney of Bucks County, should get together and determine a course; first, to test the mentality of Mr. Tierney and, second, to start proceedings to show cause why he should not be deprived of the use of firearms. If this is not done and Mr. Tierney is deficient in mentality, one of these days we may have a murder case on our hands because, as I said before, in my opinion, I think the gentleman is trigger-happy.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I concur in the sentiments which were expressed by the distinguished gentleman from Northampton, Senator Yosko. However, I would say to that learned member of the minor judiciary that if he wants a higher court to consider this particular offense, all he has to do is read the Penal Code.

Mr. President, under the provisions of the Penal Code, killing domestic animals is a misdemeanor. His job should be to hold this man for court, and the higher court then would have to act if the District Attorney would cooperate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, the school children of Harrisburg, I understand, have been asked to solve a problem which pertains a good bit to the House and to the Senate. On the front page of the Patriot today there appeared this headline

"Good Morning. Question for school children. If the Assembly passes one bill in fourteen weeks, when will it adjourn?"

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wonder if the gentlemen of the Senate realize the extent to which our State Government is rapidly being transformed into a rest home for rejected Republican politicians. I am not going into a tirade on the Republican Party or any of the individuals involved, but I would just like to bring this to the attention of the gentlemen of the Senate.

Mr. President, last week an announcement was made that Lou Sax, Republican Leader of the Fourth Ward in Philadelphia, has been appointed Assistant Director of the Bureau of Inspection, of the State Department of Labor and Industry. Mr. Sax's duties are loosely defined as "engaging in safety education and development of a safety program, with public cooperation, in industrial plants and factories." This is, of course, a conveniently flexible setup for one who is expected to devote the greatest part of his time and energy to political activity.

Let us take a look at Mr. Sax's background, Mr. President. Mr. Sax was formerly Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions, and when he was barred from political activity in that post, actually some sanctuary had to be found for him where he could practice his politics at the taxpayers' expense.

Mr. President, I have no personal animosity against Mr. Sax or any other person of that type, who is being placed on the pay roll. However, I do think in these days when we are talking about economy, both in Washington and Philadelphia, that this should be brought to our attention and some thought should be given to this problem, because if we are going to open up our pay roll in our government to people who lose jobs locally because the political climate has changed, we are letting ourselves wide open for terrific expenditures at the taxpayers' expense and for heavier tax burdens.

Mr. President, I would like to remind the gentlemen of the Senate that Mr. Sax is merely the latest, and I am sure not the last, of a steady stream of Republican politicians who have been removed from the city pay roll and are being placed on the State pay roll. Just a few weeks back, a few of the gentlemen had to quit the Board of Revision of Taxes, in the city of Philadelphia, because no longer was political activity allowed. They were then moved to the State Inheritance Bureau at higher salaries.

Also, Mr. President, on a national level, we had former Councilman William A. Kelly, Republican Leader of the Forty-Ssecond Ward, and a partner of a former city official, who were both engaged in the building business. He was appointed as the Eastern Pennsylvania District Director of the Federal Housing Administration. The tie-in between this agency, which approved financing for building construction, and his business interests, is so apparent as to need no further comment, except to question whether he has been required to divest himself of his business interests. Mr. Kelley joined the great crusade, which is now moving to Washington, to improve the moral climate and also to bring about greater mortality and economy in our National Government.

Mr. President, I believe most of us remember last November when we were talking about five percenters, and the moral climate getting very low and very bad in Washington. It seems the standards have changed; it looks like we are getting no longer five percenters, but ten percenters.

STUDENTS FROM EICHELBERGER HIGH SCHOOL,
HANOVER, YORK COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. LEADER. Mr. President, I would like to call to the attention of the Chair the presence of a group of very fine students from the Eichelberger High School, Hanover, York County, Pennsylvania. One hundred and twenty-five of these students are from the junior sections of the American History Classes. They are accompanied by two of their teachers, Mr. B. Henry Shafer and Mr. James Leedy.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to express his pleasure, and that of the Members of the Senate, upon the occasion of the visit of this fine group from York County, and asks them to rise in place and take a bow.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not believe that Senator Weiner means to infer that because a House Member or a Senator happens to be defeated for election, that this should disqualify him from obtaining a position either with the State or Federal Government.

Mr. President, I have often complimented the Democratic Party on taking care of their own the way they have. I find that many of the Senators with whom I used to sit here, who were on the Democratic side, became Federal judges, and certainly down in Washington they really did take care of their good Congressmen who happened to be defeated.

Mr. President, I think that we here in the Assembly, who make so many sacrifices in coming here for very small pay, running all over our districts to do favors for people, and then when we seek re-election, if they happen to defeat us, I think we certainly are entitled to some consideration from the governing body in connection with obtaining appointments.

Mr. President, for instance, we do not need to go to the Governor to find out that he may have a legislator, who was defeated, on the public pay roll. You can look right over there on your own side and find that one of your own Democratic Senators, who was defeated, is on the pay roll of the State Senate. I don't find anything wrong with that. I think that is all right, but I do not think the finger should be pointed at us for having employed a man who ran for the House and happened to be defeated down in Philadelphia.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I concur in the statements made by the Republican Floor Leader, and I believe that the State should always find room for worn-out Senators, particularly. However, I believe the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner, was talking about the attitude rather than the fact as we find it accomplished. The question of who is named to office, or to public office, was part of the campaign last year, if all of you will remember. What Senator Weiner was trying to do here was to impress upon the Senate, and the people of Pennsylvania, that it does not matter much which political party is in power, they will always find room for political hacks.

Mr. President, I think that what the young man from Philadelphia was trying to show, above everything else, is that there is no healthier climate in Washington today than there was last November; that it is just a change of names, not particularly a change of character; that the "Country has not benefited too much from the so-called "great crusade" of the Republican Party; and that morally, if we were degenerate before November, we are still degenerate today.

The sum and substance of his remarks, Mr. President, as I understood them, was to impress particularly upon the Republican Members of the Senate that when we win the election next year, we hope to be able to take care of a great many of our friends, and particularly those old-timers who have worked so many years for the Republicans, whom we hope will come over to the Democrats.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the Majority Floor Leader that the gentlemen I mentioned, and the situations I mentioned, are not people who are elected to office and were defeated. These are gentlemen who have been appointed to office and have been maintaining their jobs. However, in the hope of better government, political activity was banned and they then proceeded to go on the State pay roll, or find a haven in the State pay roll, when they were no longer able to remain on the city pay roll.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, at the request of Senator Wood, I have to offer a few words.

Mr. President, I heard the Governor's speech several weeks ago, in which he said the cost of government would have to be cut and the departments cut. At the same time, a Supreme Court ruling came out of Philadelphia, and I noticed that the economy wave went out the window.

I had not known about this gentleman, Mr. Sax, before, but I have a clipping here from the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, "Five Tax Board Members Get on the State Payroll." These are all ward leaders.

Now, Mr. President, I happen to be Secretary of the Democratic Party at home. I am for taking care of as many good Democrats as possible, and I hope the Republican Party feels the same way. I do not, however, think they should be taken care of at the expense of the taxpayers in jobs being created which were not in existence before. The salaries of most of those jobs are $6,000, $5,800, $5,500 and one fellow, I suppose he probably was not as good a ward leader as John Hughes, he only got $4,675.

Mr. McCUSKER. Mr. President, I can appreciate the fact that Senator Weiner is doing something for the betterment of the District Attorney of Philadelphia. I would like to point out that when they started to clean Philadelphia, they swept it clean. They promised that so many drones would be removed from the city pay rolls. That has not been done. They promised reduction in taxes. That has not been done.

I would like to point out, Mr. President, that he talks about State Representative Sax, who was an outstanding statesman and who served the people in Philadelphia very well. Now, in the present situation in Philadelphia they have numerous leaders who have had to give up their jobs due to political activity, and they are attempting to pack the Municipal Court.

Furthermore, Mr. President, he made a statement concerning a recent appointment in Washington. I would like to point out that this gentleman is a distinguished businessman who knows his work, and he promises to do an excellent job in his present position.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, apparently I was not very clear, and I will try to be a little bit clearer and more concise.

Mr. President, this was not a statement against any individual, or against any group or against any party. It was merely a matter of edification for the entire body, and just to let them know what the particular climate happened to be in a certain area. As long as we are trying to effect certain economies, I felt that this should be brought to the attention of this body so they can work along those lines, or with an eye toward that type of situation, in effecting these economies.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, is it possible now to go along here to the next Order of Business? I see some ponies on this Calendar here that probably are going to be shot. I think we should get to that field pretty soon.

Mr. FREED. Mr. President, I would like to have the floor for just a minute or two, at this particular point. I do not know whether the President has taken notice of it this morning or not, but I was very much surprised in looking around this Senate Chamber. I was thinking of myself going to Sunday School, and going there because I sure did not want to miss that red star which I would get for attendance. I think we have one of the finest attendances that we have had on any Tuesday morning.

Mr. President, I hear a lot of talk about doing work and getting work done. I never knew how to do work without being there to do the work. Absenteeism never gave me any work. At this time, I think that most of us should congratulate each other for being in our particular seats.

Mr. President, I want to say something just at the time when we do get to the Calendar. This has prompted me to do that back in my particular county. I do not know how many are in the same position as I am back in the county, but I do have some other people who are up here on Capitol Hill. Those people find time to attend all kinds of meetings and be down back home, when they should be on Capitol Hill. I have been criticized for not attending certain functions back home. I think the electorate back home has sent me here to represent them. I do not think that I should be back home representing a few other people or trotting around the rest of the country, when I should be here trying to do my work.

Mr. President, I do not like to be accused at any particular time that I am trying to delay, and that I want to be here all year. I want to get out of here just as fast as the other fellows. I want to get back home. I am here, too, and it is costing me dough to be here. I could possibly go to a lot of places and perhaps that place, too, where a lot of them would like me to go. Nevertheless, I feel it is my duty to be here.

With that, I think, Mr. President, you should in some way give us a little something for having such a nice group here now.

Mr. President, I do hope that I can ask for this to take place when we get on the Calendar; that only those answering to their names shall be recorded. We are only absent about ten per cent this morning, which is very good and it will not look too bad to show the ones up who are not here.

HOUSE MESSAGE

CALENDAR

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 35, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 1 of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 723) entitled "An act regulating the investment of funds by administrative departments boards commissions and officers of the State Government" by expanding the investment powers of State administrative departments boards commissions or officers

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I wonder whether the sponsor of the bill will permit himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Berger, if I read the bill correctly, do I understand that this bill proposes to put the Commonwealth in the bond brokerage business?

Mr. BERGER. Will you repeat the question, please, Senator?

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Berger, if I read the bill correctly, do I understand that this bill proposes to put the Commonwealth in the bond brokerage business?

Mr. BERGER. No.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the Senator.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger, permit himself to be interrogated further?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Berger, the bill does expand the type of investments in which the Commonwealth can participate. Is that correct?

Mr. BERGER. Those departments having funds to invest, that is correct.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Berger, as I read the bill, I noted, and you correct me if I am wrong, that the particular department heads are the judges as to the bonds in which they can invest funds. Is that correct?

Mr. BERGER. Where do you find that in the bill, Senator?

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Berger, may I ask this question? Who is the investing authority under this bill?

Mr. BERGER. The department officer, or commission, who is authorized by law to invest funds.

Mr. YOSKO. Who would that be?

Mr. BERGER. Any person to whom the Legislature has given that authority.

Mr. YOSKO. Who would that be?

Mr. BERGER. Any person, designated by any act of Assembly, authorized to make investment of funds under his custody or control.

Mr. YOSKO. Could the gentleman tell me who that might be? Is it a department head, is it a committee in the State Government, is it the state Treasurer? Who is it?

Mr. BERGER. No person, unless he is so designated by the Legislature, would be permitted to make these investments.

Mr. YOSKO. What is the yardstick in this bill for the selection of particular investments in which the State may participate?

Mr. BERGER. The restrictions in the bill are the only selections; the definition of the type of security in which the commission or the board may invest.

Mr. YOSKO. Would that be covered on page 8, under section (i)?

Mr. BERGER. Yes, the degree of judgment in here would be the same as that which a man of prudence would exercise.

Mr. YOSKO. Is there anything in the bill which would place any responsibility upon the investing agency for bad investments they might make?

Mr. BERGER. No more so than there is now.

Mr. YOSKO. Does the distinguished gentleman from Potter understand and realize that, for instance, in the Schoolteachers' Retirement Fund, investments were made by that fund of municipal bonds which were forfeited to the tune of, I think, several million dollars because they did not exercise good prudence?

Mr. BERGER. I would not go so far as to say that they did not, because I have no knowledge of that fact.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, because this bill does not create an investing authority composed of competent persons within the State Government, because of the dangers involved in the type of investments indicated in this bill, and because, as I understand it, the bond market looks with disfavor upon many of the bonds indicated in this bill, I personally cannot vote for it. I believe, in my opinion, that the bill should go over in its order and should be amended so that an investing authority of competent persons in the Commonwealth can be included in the bill.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 35, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I object to the bill going over in its order.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to vote for the bill. However, the safeguards suggested by the gentleman, Senator Yosko, would not injure the bill in any way at all. It would make it stronger, and I believe that the entire Democratic group would vote for extending the powers and allowing a greater field and range for investments.

Mr. President, unless we have the bill go over in its order, we will not have an opportunity to vote upon the recommendations suggested by Senator Yosko, and I would appeal to Senator Berger to allow the bill go over in its order until Monday. Let us prepare the amendment, then take a vote on the amendment, giving us an opportunity to try to help Senator Yosko in his position and still be in a position to vote for your bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if that is the reason for the request, then I will withdraw my objection.

The President. Senator Yosko has requested that Senate Bill No. 35, Printer's 39, go over in its order. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 85, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-first day of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-two (Appropriation Acts page 87) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-one and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-one" by changing the conditions for expending appropriation for incidental expenses of the Senate. The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The item making appropriation for incidental expenses of the Senate of Section 2 of the act approved the twenty-first day of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-two (Appropriation Acts page 87) entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-one and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-one" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 The following sums or as much thereof as may be necessary are hereby specifically appropriated from the General Fund to the several hereinafter named agencies of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth for the purpose hereinafter set forth for the two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-one and for the payment of the bills incurred by said agencies and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-one

* * * * *

For the payment of the incidental expenses of the Senate for six months commencing December first one thousand nine hundred fifty-two and the entire period of the Session of one thousand nine hundred fifty-three should the same extend beyond May thirty-first such sum as may be necessary to be expended by the Chief Clerk of the Senate who shall render to the Auditor General accounts from time to time with proper specifically itemized vouchers to be settled in the same manner as other accounts but said Chief Clerk shall at no time have in his hands more than [two thousand dollars ($2,000)] four thousand dollars ($4,000) for which accounts have not been rendered and settled and the whole amount expended by said Chief Clerk shall not exceed the sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) out of which amount such necessary extra labor in the Senate shall be paid as shall be certified by the President pro tempore and Chief Clerk

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—47

Bane,	Hare,	McCusker,	Taylor,
Barr,	Harney,	McGinnis,	Toole,

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 297, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers, providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by making the Pennsylvania State Police and the Pennsylvania Board of Parole departmental administrative agencies in the Department of Justice; and prescribing their powers and duties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

Mr. President, for the benefit of those who may not be familiar with what the amendment is, I would like to take just one moment to say that if we have this amalgamation, we may run into a problem with the pension funds. It is probably known that the State Police have a separate pension fund and my amendment simply provides that, "nothing herein contained shall be construed to change the existing State Police Retirement Fund or the administration thereof."

Mr. President, therefore, I ask unanimous consent to offer this amendment on behalf of Senator Dent, Senator Mahany and myself.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 463 on page 9, line 1, by adding after the word "Board" the following: "provided however that nothing herein contained shall be construed to change the existing State Police Retirement Fund or the administration thereof."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for final passage.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 328, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers, fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employees in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employees of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by creating the Highway Planning Commission as an advisory commission in the Department of Highways.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time. For the benefit of the Members of the Senate, these are clarifying amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the Title, page 1, line 1 of Title, by striking out the words "further amend" and inserting in lieu thereof "reenact and amend Section 203 of and to add Section 2010 to";

Amend Title, page 2, line 11 of Title, by inserting after the word "by" the following: "designating the advisory boards and commissions within the departments and";

Amend Sec. 1, page 3, line 14, by striking out the word "act" and inserting in lieu thereof "acts";

Amend Sec. 1, page 3, line 14, by inserting after the word "approved" the following: "the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 867) and";

Amend Sec. 1, page 3, line 15, by inserting after the word "hereby" the following: "reenacted and";

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 203), page 4, line 1, by striking out the stars;

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 203), page 4, line 2, by striking out all of line 2 and inserting in lieu thereof "In the Department of Military Affairs, State Military Reservation Commission, State Veterans' Commission; In the Department of Forests and Waters, State Forest Commission, Flood Control Commission; In the Department of Health, Advisory Health Board; In the Department of Welfare, State Welfare Commission; In the Department of Property and Supplies, General Galusha-Pennypacker Monument Commission; In the Department of Highways, Highway Planning Commission";

Amend Sec. 3, page 4, lines 16, 17 and 18, by striking out the words "as last amended by the act" in line 16, all of line 17, and the words "forty-nine (P. L. 725)" in line 18.

Amend Sec. 3, page 4, line 18, by striking out the word "further".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for final passage.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 329, entitled:

An Act abolishing the Department of Health and transferring its powers and duties to the Department of Health and Welfare.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, as per the agreement we had in committee, wherein we discussed the possibility of public hearings if we had calls for them, I have here a letter from the Pennsylvania Citizens Association and the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, asking for a public hearing on Senate Bill No. 329.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I therefore, move that Senate Bill No. 329, on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Rules for the purpose of a public hearing.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in order that these hearing may be expedited, I would like to set the hearing regarding Senate Bill No. 329, Printer's No. 46, for next Thursday, April 9, at 10:00 o'clock a. m., in the Senate Caucus Room.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 330, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 2008 of the act approved the tenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30), entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," by requiring repayment of tuition costs by State teachers college graduates who fail to comply with their agreement to teach in the public schools of this Commonwealth.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and greed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, as a co-sponsor of this particular bill—as you all know, the sponsorship was by request—I cannot conscientiously vote for this piece of legislation because, as it is now written, I do not believe that it would stand up in the courts of the land. It does not in any way, in my opinion, create an economy for the Commonwealth, and it may injure the teachers' college system of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I personally intend to vote against the bill, and I ask those who feel the same as I do to do likewise.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I appreciate the position of the Minority Floor Leader. I want to say to him that I feel the same way about the bill, as far as its constitutionality is affected.

I might say, Mr. President, that I am at a loss to determine what was in the minds of the Survey Committee when they made the report recommending this, because, in the first analysis, the boys and girls attending a Teachers' College, in the majority of instances, when they would enter the college they would be minors, and under the law would be incapable of making a contract which could be enforced in a court of law. It would be somewhat confusing to try to determine on what basis the Commonwealth would proceed to sue to obtain this back tuition.

Mr. President, under the provisions of this bill, if we would pass this, it would be almost incumbent upon the Commonwealth to offer the graduates positions at commensurate salaries in Pennsylvania, in order to relieve the Commonwealth of any further obligation and put them in position to sue the graduates.

Now, Mr. President, there are at times a number of young lady graduates who, after graduation, are married and proceed to take up their duties as housewives, and the Commonwealth would be forced to bring suit against them. Young men who graduate from the Teachers' Colleges, and are called into the Service and are unable to teach, would immediately be defendants in a civil suit in which the Commonwealth would be prosecuting them.

Very frankly, Mr. President, I do not think it is good legislation and should be defeated.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I agree with everything the gentleman has said, but there is something deeper and more significant in this kind of legislation.

Mr. President, every since I have been here, I have fought against any piece of legislation which in any manner tended to Balkanize our Country. I do not want any barriers built up, either in trade or other relationships, between the various States. We cannot, in Pennsylvania, say to the graduates of our schools, any schools, that they cannot move to another State if they so desire. Let us not set up a passport system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am very happy that I have so much support here this morning in regard to this piece of legislation. I have been particularly disturbed about it. In looking it over, it seems to me if we take this step we should also put provisions into the law whereby all medical students, graduated from any college of higher learning whereby the State contributes, should also have the responsibility of being medical doctors here in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, Senator Walker has made several very good points, but I was thinking, also, supposing that a student in a State Teachers' College should die after graduation. Then, I guess, the Commonwealth would sue the estate.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that here in Pennsylvania, like most of the other States, we are lacking in education. We have a shortage of good public school teachers. What we must do is encourage that.

Mr. President, I, for one, am going to oppose this bill, and I believe that quite a number of the thinking Members of this Senate will also oppose this bill and defeat it right now.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I agree with Senator Dent that one cannot, in good conscience, vote for this bill, and I would like to add that no one can vote intelligently and vote for this bill.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, as I understand it, the students who enter State Normal Schools at the present time are required to sign a contract. That is indicated in this bill. At least, if my memory serves me correctly, it was so testified to at the public hearing which we had on the Chesterman Committee Report, involving the Department of Public Instruction. What the gentleman said at that time was that the contract was not enforced.

Mr. President, I expressed my sentiments on the principle involved prior to today, and I am going to reiterate what I said then. It seems to me that the Normal Schools of Pennsylvania were established to guarantee a flow of schoolteachers into the school system of Pennsylvania, and for that reason concessions were given to students who would enter the teaching profession. It seems to me, also, that those who attend Normal Schools and accept those concessions should go into the teaching profession. If they do not, they should pay the tuition that might be involved. For that reason, I will support the bill.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, since the learned men of the law of this Chamber have agreed now that the bill is unconstitutional and in properly drawn, I think it is asinine for us to even vote on the bill.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL No. 330 BE RECOMMITTED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I, therefore, move that Senate Bill No. 330 be recommitted to the Committee on Rules for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

Mr. YOSKO. I second the motion, Mr. President.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, if we refer this bill back to committee, we may be confronted with the problem of having it re-reported. I say to you that what we should do is lick this bill on the floor right now, and I think we have the votes with which to do it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, might never makes right. Because my colleague feels that we have the votes with which to kill this bill, does not make it right. The bill is not properly drawn, it has not been studied and the Members on both sides agree to that. The bill has some merit.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator yield?
Mr. HALUSKA. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, propose to have a vote on his motion? If he does, it is not debatable.

Mr. HALUSKA. I would like to have a vote on the motion, Hr. President.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred:)

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Beaver will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 331, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for the abolition of the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 331 is another one of the hybrid bills introduced by Senators Mahany and Dent.

This bill, Mr. President, proposes an amendment to the Constitution. For a great many years, I have watched the Senate of Pennsylvania and the House of Representatives pass proposals to amend the Constitution of the Commonwealth. Both political parties, in their platforms last year, specifically stated to the people of Pennsylvania that if elected to power, they would support a Constitutional Convention. Both political parties recognized the need for a Constitutional Convention.

Mr. President, I do not propose to ever vote again for a Constitutional amendment in the Senate of Pennsylvania, because I firmly believe that the time has long since passed when we can operate on this Constitution by piecemeal operation. I believe the time has come when the needed changes should be taken up in a convention of elected delegates to a State-wide convention assembled.

Mr. President, so far as what the bill intends to do, back in 1943, upon the floor of the Senate, I read into the record my feelings on the matter of the maintenance of the so-called office of the Secretary of Internal Affairs. I do not believe that this bill is aimed at the person heading the department; I think it is a needed reform in government.

I believe the people of Pennsylvania should know, Mr. President, that this does not create any economy during this administration or this biennium. In order for this Act to become a reality, it will have to pass both Houses at this Session, both Houses at a subsequent Session, and then be presented to the people of the Commonwealth for a vote. If it is a desired reform in government, then it should be done as quickly as possible to save the people the money that this change would save them.

Therefore, Mr. President, I personally believe that both parties are committed to a Constitutional Convention, and that being committed, it would be a waste of time, money and energy to pass this kind of legislation during this Session.

Mr. President, I pray that the Majority Members of the Senate intend to live up to their pledge to the people of the Commonwealth, and can assure the people of the Commonwealth that if eight votes are available on the other side, we will have a Constitutional Convention. At that time we can take up the needed reforms, including Senate Bill No. 331. Therefore, I am going to suggest to my colleagues that they vote "no."

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to discuss the bill rather than the implication that we are going to adjourn sine die without acting on the Constitutional Convention measure.

Mr. President, when the framers of the present Constitution created our present system of a representative form of government, they included several constitutional officers, such as the State Treasurer, the Auditor General, the Secretary of Internal Affairs and the Governor of the Commonwealth. This was predicated on the idea that those four separate functions, being constitutional offices, would handle various forms of the governmental responsibilities.

Mr. President, at one time the Department of Internal Affairs occupied, or had within its confines, many of the functions of government that are now held by various Cabinet positions. It seems, Mr. President, if you go back over the history, that every now and then, when some Chief Executive at that time was not seeing eye to eye with the Department of Internal Affairs, they would reach in and take out one of the functions of government which was in the Department of Internal Affairs, and create from that a new Cabinet post. Things like the Department of Commerce, the Department of Mines, and many of the other governmental functions on Capitol Hill were in the Department of Internal Affairs. At the same time, and through the same process, various governmental functions of the Auditor General and the State Treasurer were taken away, and new departments created on Capitol Hill.

Mr. President, I think the General Assembly, rather than eliminate the Department of Internal Affairs, should seriously consider returning to the Department of Internal Affairs substantially those types of government which the framers of the Constitution had in mind when they created that Constitutional office. The Secretary of the Department of Internal Affairs is elected by the people; he is responsible to the people and not to any other department head. To eliminate this department would be a direct blow at the type of government which has been so successful in Pennsylvania over the years.

Mr. President, I think this is a bad bill and I think it should be defeated here on the floor.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I believe one thing which the Membership of this Senate should remember is this. The Department of Internal Affairs serves in very very important discussions in regard to jurisdiction concerning local government. We, of the Local Government Commission, have conferred jurisdiction upon them on many an occasion, and it seems to me that although there may be some economy here, what guarantee do we have that local governments will receive the same cooperation from some other department? I, for one feel that this is a very essential office.

Mr. President, as Senator Walker stated, this man is elected by the people and it is a Constitutional office, and for us to arbitrarily take the action of passing this legislation, without any thought or foresight as to the ultimate consequences, would place us probably in an embarrassing position later on.

Mr. President, I take the position that we should vote this down, and when the Majority Party decides on a Constitutional Convention, let us discuss it then. That would be the place. Therefore, I am going to vote "no" on this piece of legislation.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have been voted down so often that once more will make little difference.

Mr. President, we talk about economy and when we are faced with it, we shrink our duties. How are we going to economize if we continue to uphold such bills?

Mr. President, my colleague from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, said that he hoped we would pass the Constitutional Convention Bill. I doubt very much whether such a bill will even come out of committee. If I thought he was right and such a bill would pass, I would vote with him. However, Mr. President, in looking around this Chamber, I am convinced that the bill will die in committee. While it may be true that we will save money now, we are not living for today; we are living for tomorrow. The day must come when we will have to put our house in order.

Mr. President, this department should be abolished. We would save millions of dollars, and on that promise I shall vote for the bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALUSKA. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to inquire if the gentleman from Cambria would elaborate on the final statement which he made, that if we eliminated the Department of Internal Affairs we would save millions of dollars.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I might withhold my answer, and ask the same question when we come to other bills pertaining to the Chesterman Committee Report. I am not in a position, any more than you gentleman are, to tell how we are going to save money by consolidating the State Police with the Department of Justice. I doubt whether any man on this floor is in position to show us where we can save that money. I have not made a study of it. I am taking the word of people who have made a study of it. I, myself, have not made a study of it, Senator Walker, and cannot elaborate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would also like to get a shot in at some of these "Mahany and Dent ponies."

I would like to say, Mr. President, that as City Solicitor of one of the third class cities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I have found, personally, that the Bureau of Municipal Affairs, in the Department of Internal Affairs, is very efficient. It answers letters from the various political subdivisions of the State of Pennsylvania with dispatch, and I think they are doing a fine outstanding job. I do not believe that by transferring this department over to some other department on the Hill we would save any money or improve the efficiency of the operation of government.

I would say, Mr. President, being one of the co-sponsors of this bill, by request, that this bill is certainly not needed and, therefore, I personally am going to vote against it, and trust that my colleagues will vote the same way.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, for the information of the gentlemen of the Senate, the total recommended appropriation for the Department of Internal Affairs for the 1953-55 biennium is only $1,332,000. So, at the outset, the question of millions would have to be withdrawn and the word "million" substituted for it, because a great many of the functions of the Department of Internal Affairs would, by the very nature of the service which they render to the public, have to be transferred to some other department so that the Commonwealth, and these municipalities involved, would still receive the services which the department now renders.

Mr. President, I agree with the sponsor of the bill—that is the sponsor by request—that the question of the savings is so problematical, and the harm which could be done is so obvious, that I believe, in all sincerity, the bill should be defeated.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, since the Members of the Senate, at least the thirty-man committee which was set up to conduct public hearings on the Chesterman Committee Report, were deprived of the right to conduct a public hearing on this recommendation of the Chesterman Committee, deprived of the right because the Republican Majority called off the public hearings, I am bound to accept the recommendation of the Chesterman Committee for economy.

Mr. President, I have been listening to the arguments pro and con here. Some of them are sound and some others are not, but I do not believe our State Government will fall if we abolish this department and transfer its functions to some other department of the State Government.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I cannot see the importance of this office. When I go back and search my memory, I find that the Secretary of Internal Affairs had nothing to do; he took time off during his tenure in office, he took up a law course, devoted his time, which was paid for by the taxpayers, and became a lawyer in this Commonwealth. How can such an office be so important?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Point of order, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Cambria yield?

Mr. HALUSKA. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to raise a point of order. I do not believe the gentleman is talking on the bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would seem to disagree with the Majority Floor Leader.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I understand that the Senator is discussing the incumbent of the office, and certainly that has nothing to do with this bill.

The PRESIDENT. I do not think that the Senator is talking about the personality which at the moment occupies the office.

Will the stenographer supply the notes in order to repeat the remarks made by the Senator from Cambria?

(The Reporter complied.)

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that the Senator from Cambria is, in fact, debating the bill and is not necessarily making derogatory remarks concerning the present incumbent, but is rather pointing out his virtues, his ambitions, and his traditional American industry and individual initiative.

The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, may proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I can say no more. Thank you for your interpretation.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I regret that I must disagree with my colleague from Cambria, Senator Haluska. It is no disgrace if a man wants to better his education. The people of South Philadelphia sent me back to the Senate five times. In fact, this time I returned with a 37,000 majority.

Now, Mr. President, I took up law in 1938 while I was a Member of the Senate. I wanted to better myself, and equip myself so that I could fence with the formidable opposition on the other side. I do not think that if a man wishes to better himself he should be criticized. After all, the present Secretary of Internal Affairs has very worthy deputies, and I know of no mistake which he has made by trying to better himself.

Mr. President, in my position, the people thought it was a good idea for me to jump a train at night and go down and take a course in, say, "Evidence," under Senator Lord, and I remember I took a re-examination because it was a tough course. However, Mr. President, I feel so happy that I have hanging in my office a degree in law. I feel sometimes that I want to jump up and say something, but then I remember that course in torts which said, "Be generous, and be charitable and do not be mean to the opposition." So, I do not see any harm in that.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator DiSilvestro.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I will, Mr. President, if he does not intend to embarrass me.

Mr. HALUSKA. I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator DiSilvestro, whether he paid for his own education to become a lawyer, or whether the taxpayers paid for it, as in the case of Secretary Livengood.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I think that at the time it cost me about $400 a year. The course was accelerated. I sort of regretted that, when the war broke out in 1941, they accelerated the class. I was the oldest fellow in the class, and I had to turn to the boy next to me and ask what the professor said. I was really looking for a chance to get out, but once you dance on the platform you have got to keep on dancing. So, it cost me about $1,200 because it was an accelerated course.

Mr. HALUSKA. Did the taxpayers pay any part of it, or did you pay it yourself?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. If the ones who patronized me in my drugstore were taxpayers, they did.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the gentleman is evading the issue. He cannot place himself in the same category with the Secretary of Internal Affairs. The Secretary of Internal Affairs was on the public pay roll and took upon himself a college career. While he should have been on duty taking care of the affairs of the Commonwealth, he decided to go to college to become an attorney. That is not comparable with the situation of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator DiSilvestro, in any sense whatsoever. I take from his remarks that he paid for his own education, which is contrary to what I said about the Secretary of Internal Affairs.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, since I have been thirty-two years old I have been representing South Philadelphia. You know that the people of your district want you to be on the job every minute of the day, around the clock. I may have been depriving some of those who wanted to be interviewed by me of giving them an audience. So, I think I can be placed on the same platform as the Secretary of Internal Affairs, in a small way.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator DiSilvestro?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Will the gentleman kindly tell us what college he attended?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Temple University, one of the finest colleges in the State.

Mr. HALUSKA. Will the gentleman tell us how far that college was from his home?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Well, it was at Gimble Brothers. Sometimes the traffic was heavy, and it took about a half hour or three-quarters. I had to go to the thirteenth floor.

Mr. HALUSKA. Will the gentleman tell us whether the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania provided him with a chauffeur and a Cadillac car in which to drive to Temple University?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Well, if you consider my salary which I received from the State—

The PRESIDENT. The Chair will have to ask the Senators to get a little closer to the bill. It is getting chilly.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I asked an important question.

The PRESIDENT. Now, Senator Haluska, the Chair has granted a wide latitude of discussion here. The Chair feels that we are commencing to roam in this situation. After all, what this interrogation purports to do is to repeat what has already been inserted in the record. The Chair wishes to be fair and reasonable, but is inclined to think we are rather bending the camel's back a bit at the moment.

Mr. HALUSKA. Thank you, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. You will admit, Mr. President, that a little laughter increases the appetite.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is for that.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, it seems that my colleagues have been debating this bill via the Panama Canal. However, I think we should discuss the duties of this department. I am not discussing the individual, because we hope that after the next election we will probably have a Democratic Secretary of Internal Affairs. Perhaps he will do as good a job, or maybe a better job, than the present incumbent. That is beside the point.

Mr. President, we must take into consideration the services which this Department renders to the taxpayers of this Commonwealth. I am for economy, yes, but I am not penny-wise and pound-foolish. I say that we should get rid of some of these bureaucrats. Where you have a constitutional office, and come up here and arbitrarily vote it out of existence, I think we have the bull by the tail and cannot let go. What we should do is give some serious consideration to this, and I, for one, feel that most of my colleagues are going to oppose this because it does not stand for good government.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I hope that this will be the last word on the subject, but I think in all fairness we should discuss the functions of this Constitutional department of government rather than the incumbent, present or past.

Mr. President, one of the functions of the Department of Internal Affairs is the maintenance of the Land Department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In connection with that department, they maintain the State Geological Survey Bureau. I know of no bureau in the government of Pennsylvania which has performed a better service than the Geological Survey Bureau, under Doctor Cathcart, in the Department of Internal Affairs. That, in itself, would persuade me to vote against this bill.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I read this bill and I do not see the name of Secretary Livengood inserted in it anywhere. I think all of the discussion involving his name is absolutely out of order, and should be stricken from the record.

Mr. President, what we are voting on here today is the Chesterman Committee recommendation that the Department of Internal Affairs be abolished, and we are not here to debate personalities.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—12

Bane, Barr, Camiel,	Haluska, Holland, Leader,	McMenamin, Silvert, Toole,	Wade, Weiner, Yosko,
---------------------------	---------------------------------	----------------------------------	----------------------------

NAYS—33

Less than a Constitutional Majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for thirty minutes.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 31, 1953.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Thomas Bernard Welsh, 165 Bridge Street, Morton, Delaware County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Morton, Delaware County, until the first Monday of January 1956, vice Robert C. Stanley, deceased.

JOHN S. FINE.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILLS ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 332, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employees in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employees of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by transferring powers and duties relating to weights and measures from the Department of Internal Affairs to the Department of Labor and Industry.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am assuming that inasmuch as this bill transfers certain powers from the Department of Internal Affairs to the Department of Labor and Industry, that there again is produced the problem which I discussed when we were considering Senate Bill No. 331. The continued pecking away at this Department of Internal Affairs finally reduces it to the capon classification, and I think, as I said when we were discussing Senate Bill No. 331, that it would behoove the General Assembly to build up the department rather than tear it down. The transfer of this Bureau of Weights and Measures would there again be another instance of depleting the department, which is a constitutional office.

Mr. President, I, personally, have never heard of any complaint being filed relative to the work or the discharge of the duties by the bureau involved in this bill, and I frankly cannot see any recommendation as to any savings that would be incorporated by this, because the same Bureau of Weights and Measures must be operated in the Department of Labor and Industry if this bill would be passed. It would perform the same functions, theoretically, and my assumption would be that it would cost just as much in the Department of Labor and Industry as it would in the Department of Internal Affairs.

Mr. President, inasmuch as Senate Bill No. 331 was defeated earlier in this legislative day, I see no need for again depleting the work of the Department of Internal Affairs. I would ask my colleagues to defeat this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows:

YEAS—11

Barr, Camiel, Haluska,	Holland, Lane, Leader,	McMenamin, Silvert, Toole,	Weiner, Yosko,

NAYS—30

--	--	--	---

Less than a Constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 333, entitled:

An Act to reenact and further amend portions of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employees in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employees of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by abolishing the boards of trustees of State teachers' colleges; creating an advisory board for each State teachers' college; defining their powers and the powers and duties of the Department of Public Instruction with respect to State teachers' colleges; and renaming the departmental administrative agencies in the Department of Public Instruction and the State advisory boards and commissions.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, will this bill save the Commonwealth any money?

Mr. MAHANY. I do not believe that it will, Mr. President.

I think my colleague, Senator Pechan, is about ready to tee off on this, and he might be able to give us some information. If you will yield to Senator Pechan, perhaps he will give us some pearls of wisdom.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I yield to Senator Pechan.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, Senator Lane asked the question whether or not this bill would save money. I do not know whether you know it or not, but I happen to be a Trustee of Indiana State Teachers' College, and during the last year the Trustees, for their travel pay, were paid less than $100 for serving and attending meetings.

Mr. President, I understand the bill is to change the name from the Board of Trustees to an Advisory Board. If I may, I would like to give you a little bit of the history of some of the State Teachers' Colleges and Indiana in particular.

Mr. President, Indiana State Teachers' College was created some seventy-seven years ago by local folks. I want you to know, if you ever visit Indiana, that the people back there still have a deep love for that school and they feel, and they try to run that institution, as though it belonged to them, even though some of the functions have been turned over to the Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. President, I do not see where this would save one dime. It would centralize government; it would give the Superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction the authority to appoint a president, with the approval of the Governor. At the present time the Board of Trustees, who take a deep personal interest in the school, recommend to the Department of Public Instruction and the Governor, a person who shall serve as its president. There are no politics in it. If we centralize, and we are all trying to get away from centralization—if this bill goes through, it would give the Department of Public Instruction a strangle hold on the school. They could play politics with it, and I do not see one iota of good which would come of this bill. I urge my colleagues to vote against it.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, every Session since I have been here, there has been a movement on to whittle down, or lessen the activities or abolish the State Teachers' Colleges. All of these colleges are in rural districts. Country boys and girls are bashful and timid, and they are reluctant about leaving their homes for any distance. These colleges are in the rural districts, near the homes of the farmer boys and girls, and many of the students go to these colleges and become prominent educated citizens.

Mr. President, money might be saved by abolishing some of the schools or combining them, but I am convinced that if any Normal School or State Teachers' College is abolished or cut down in its power, that it will cast a blight over that county and all the surrounding counties. So, I hope that we will not start in this roundabout way here to whittle down the work and power of the State Teachers' Colleges.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I understand that the Chesterman Report which was sent to us was signed by a Mr. Ackley, whom I do not know. I understand he was a former employee of the Department of Public Instruction, and I have been told that he is a disgruntled person. I have also been told that in the presence of many people he made the remark that the closure of half of the State Teachers' Colleges was inserted in the report without his knowledge, and that this portion of the report came from a past President of Gettysburg College.

Mr. President, if we are going to go on and introduce bills on hearsay, and over people's signatures who do not know that a certain specific item is inserted in their report, then I think we are wasting a lot of our time and the taxpayers' money by going through this process.

We have here today, Mr. President, defeated practically all of these measures. To me they do not make sense. They have not saved one dime. I think we are wasting a lot of our time by going through this, but I guess we are going to have to do it, because the bills have been introduced and we have agreed to dispose of them one way or the other.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have been endeavoring to find out whether or not this legislation will serve any useful purpose. As far as I know, I cannot see where it does.

Mr. President, if we abolish the Boards of Trustees in the Teachers' Colleges, we are taking away home rule. In my particular district we have the California State Teachers' College. The Board of Trustees of that Teachers' College are highly respected persons in my particular community. We are proud of them, we feel they are doing a good job. Therefore, I cannot see any merit to this piece of legislation.

Mr. President, when we place this under the supervision of the Department of Public Instruction, we are, in my opinion, creating a vast bureaucracy. As a matter of fact, we are enlarging it. If there is any department that we should work on, it is the Department of Public Instruction. I think that they have a mammoth job now without trying to operate the Teachers' Colleges of Pennsylvania from the Capitol Dome. Therefore, I am going to vote against this piece of legislation.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I noted in the remarks made by my colleague, Senator McGinnis, that he stated that the students of the Normal Schools are timid. I have also observed over the years, in which I have had the pleasure to sit with Senator McGinnis, that I would not say the timid but he is modest. I believe he is a graduate of the Mansfield State Teachers' College, and if he is an example of what our Teachers' Colleges are turning out, I do not think that we should disturb their method of operation.

Mr. McPHERSON, JR. Mr. President, I know that my colleague, Senator Pechan, did not intend to cast any reflection upon the former President of Gettysburg College in his remarks. However, I do want the Senate to understand that until some definite proof is suggested as to the origin of this recommendation in the report, I think we should take the remark as inadvertently made.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, since uniformity of practice, procedure and policy is important with the administration of the series of State Teachers' Colleges which we have in Pennsylvania, in my opinion, this type of board would be more effective in establishing that type of policy than by a series of boards, with each adopting its own policy.

Therefore, Mr. President, I will vote for the bill.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, both Senator Lane and Senator Pechan spoke as though these colleges belong to a certain community. These colleges belong to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, as a whole. The unfortunate part about it is that the communities in which they are located think that those colleges belong to them personally. They think they should run those colleges in the way they think, instead of as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania sees fit. I think it is a very fine move in the right direction.

Mr. President, if you go back and study the history of the origin of the Teachers' Colleges, you will find that at that time there was a need of teachers. There is still a need of teachers, but I differ with the figures that were sent out by some of the State Teachers' Colleges at this time, as to the number of teachers who are teaching, who are graduates of the State Teachers' Colleges. I have asked one or two of these colleges to write to their graduates of the last two years, and find out how many of them are really teaching today. The percentage, you will find, will be less than fifty per cent.

Mr. President, I think this is a better way of handling it, because I believe the Department of Public Instruction should have complete charge. They should have uniformity, as Senator Yosko said, in conducting these schools, and not be subject to the whims of local people who think they own the colleges.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the more I hear, the more I am bewildered.

The Governor appointed a committee, Mr. President, the Chesterman Committee, which devoted the best part of a year, and spend upwards of $50,000, making a study of the finances of this Commonwealth. The Governor of the Commonwealth has gone on record, in speaking to the General Assembly, as adopting these reforms. When tax bills come up, we, on this side of the Senate, especially, oppose most of them. We talk about economy in government. We raise our voices to high heaven about imposing any new taxes upon the people of the Commonwealth. However, when bills come up dealing with the subject, it seems we all find reasons to vote against them.

Mr. President, where does economy start? Who do we believe? Do we believe men who have made no study of the subject or men who have devoted the best part of a year, given of their talents, and have brought before us a report on reforms in government?

Today is a red letter day, Mr. President. We are going down the line, killing each and every bill. Next week you will come to us with a bill of taxes, and say that we must have more money to run our government. I say I am bewildered at the actions of my colleagues.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, this Government Survey Committee was merely an advisory committee. They have filed their report and they have made their recommendations like any other group of citizens or individual citizens might do, if you talk to them back home.

I am not yet ready, Mr. President, to substitute Mr. Chesterman or any of the members of his committee for the Senator from the Fiftieth District of Pennsylvania. My people back in Crawford and Mercer Counties sent me down here to vote according to the way I felt was to their best interest and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I think each and every Senator here is in the same position. As these bills come up, you vote on each and every one of them the way you think your people back home would vote if they were sitting here in your seat.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, in the first place, I am not bewildered. Secondly, I do not care if the Governor appoints fifty committees. I represent the people of Washington and Greene Counties. The California State Teachers' College is a part of Washington County; it is about six miles from my home. I say it is conducted properly; we have a good Board of Trustees.

Mr. President, the Teachers' College is a poor man's school. You talk about your liberal arts colleges. I have a son-in-law in school now and it is costing me a lot of money, and I know that the ordinary working man cannot afford to educate his children in liberal arts colleges. Our State Teachers' Colleges have produced a great many efficient educators here in Pennsylvania. They serve a very useful purpose. In my humble opinion, I do not think it is good policy for us to interfere with their operations, because the Boards of Trustees at these Teachers' Colleges have the interest of the vicinity and the community at heart. Why in the world we should confer jurisdiction upon the Department of Public Instruction is beyond my means of comprehension.

I say to you here this afternoon, Mr. President, that I do not care what the Governor says or what the committee says; I am not going to vote to abolish Teachers' Colleges in Pennsylvania or take away any of their prerogatives.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, the only thing I wish to say in connection with this bill is that I regret that we do not have a Teachers' College in Philadelphia today. We had a wonderful Normal School in Philadelphia, and that has been abolished.

Mr. President, I intend to vote against this bill.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I do not like to get up again, but every person who does get up here this afternoon is talking about abolishing State Teachers' Colleges. The issue before us is not whether or not we should abolish State Teachers' Colleges. The issue before us is whether or not we should administer the State Teachers' Colleges through a series of boards of trustees, or by one board which could formulate uniform practice and procedure in the administration of those State Teachers' Colleges.

I say this, Mr. President. Economies can be effected by uniform practice, and procedure and policy. Senator Pechan pointed out that we would not save one penny by this change. What evidence does he have for that? There has been no testimony presented to this Senate, because we were deprived of that prerogative by calling off the hearings. If there was a difference in practice, and procedure and policy in each one of these schools in connection with their purchases, in connection with a lot of things which call for the expenditure of money, and the defects can be changed by one board functioning instead of a dozen, I think the recommendation of the Chesterman Committee has some merit.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as my good friend, the former Governor of the State of New York, Al Smith, used to say, "Let's look at the record."

Mr. President, if the gentleman will refer to the bill, he will discover that if this bill were to be adopted, they would not operate the State Teachers' Colleges under one board. Each Teachers' College would have a separate board, appointed by the Superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction. Each one of those boards would consist of nine members, with the Superintendent of Public Instruction ex officio. It would not be a question of taking a lot of boards, and eliminating them and substituting one board. It would mean simply taking the citizens of the area out of the picture where you have, as the gentleman from Washington said, home rule, and substituting a board of nine for California State Teachers' College. Those nine would be appointed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction. They certainly would not reflect the same home rule theory that the gentleman from Washington is so valiantly defending.

Therefore, Mr. President, the question of saving money, which has been suggested by Senator Yosko, of course, boils down to this. The burden of proof naturally would be upon the Chesterman Committee who said theoretically that this would save money, but they do not offer any substantiation of it and, for the life of me, I cannot see where you will save any money by transferring the appointing power and eliminating the folks back home from running these Teachers' Colleges.

Mr. President, as Senator McGinnis said, this would just be the beginning of the elimination of the Teachers' Colleges in Pennsylvania, and I do not think we want to start out there in attempting to ruin an educational setup that has more than proved its ability to produce leadership in Pennsylvania.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny County said that the burden of proof was upon the Chesterman Committee. To some extent I agree with him. We could have forced the Chesterman Committee to assume that burden if we had, in the original resolution which was adopted here to set up the Hearing Committee, included subpoena powers in the resolution, so that we could have subpoenaed the committee to come before us and substantiate its recommendations. The Republican Majority failed to insert that and other important features in the resolution. Therefore, the Republican Majority should not complain now that the burden of proof, about which they are talking, has not been met.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—6

Dent, Haluska,	Holland, Leader,	Wood,	Yosko,

NAYS—37

Bane, Barr, Berger, Camiel, Diehm, DiSilvestro, Fleming, Freed, Hare,	Harney, Kessler, Lane, Letzler, Madigan, Mahany, Mallery, McCusker, McGinnis,	McMenamin, McPherson, Jr. Miller, Pechan, Peelor, Probert, Ruth, Silvert, Snowden,	Stevenson, Taylor, Toole, Wade, Wagner, Walker, Watkins, Watson, Weiner, Wolfe,
---	---	--	--

Less than a Constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I did not get into the debate on the question because I have taken a positive position mentally. I wanted to vote, and then change my vote, in order to get on the record that I want it clearly understood that this piece of legislation is nothing but a political pork barrel piece of legislation. All it really does, Mr. President, is take the patronage away from the Governor and give it to the Department of Public Instruction, and you can vote both ways and be wrong.

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 335, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1440), entitled "An act concerning notaries public and amending, revising, consolidating and changing the law relating thereto," by providing for the appointment of notaries public by the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, first, I want to say that this bill would provide that the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall appoint notaries public throughout the State of Pennsylvania, without the advice and consent of the Senate. How that would save any money, I do not know. In fact, I think it would probably cost us more money because if that work all had to be done over there, which fifty Senators try to help with free of charge, it would no doubt necessitate hiring new employees in the Department of State.

Mr. President, the office of notary public should be respected, and we certainly need outstanding people to fill that office. We' as Senators, who know our folks back home, aid in the choosing of notaries public. We generally know the people whom we endorse, and we do a lot of letter writing. I know my office spends considerable time in sending applications to those who would like to become notaries, and then they send the application back to me and I look it over and feel sure that I am acquainted with at least some of the endorsers on that application. Then, if I am not, I make inquiry as to who this person is and whether or not they can fill this office satisfactorily.

There is a lot of responsibility connected with a notary public, Mr. President. If we did not aid in that, that work would have to devolve upon the Secretary of State. No doubt it would require some more employees in that department, and instead of saving money, it would cost money. I think we certainly should reserve the right to see to it that the proper folks are appointed as notaries public. In relinquishing our duties in this respect, it certainly would not save any money.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I think this is the bill that broke the Chesterman wagon down, because when I read this bill, I thought it was an insult to the integrity of this body. The question of notaries public is a creature of the Legislature, and I know of no one better qualified than a State Senator to judge the qualifications of an applicant.

Mr. President, the committee reminds me of the general who was trying to defend a hundred mile front. This was the vulnerable spot in his defense.

In all the other bills, Mr. President, I might say, I voted "no" because I lost faith in the Chesterman Committee. Before the presentation of this suggestion of taking notaries away, I thought there was some merit to their study. So, this is the thing which broke their wagon down.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, this is supposed to be an economy measure, and I am wondering whether it will save any money. The Majority Leader says it will not. What is the reasoning back of sponsoring this legislation and in putting it out on the floor, because it is going to cost us money in printing? I am wondering what the objectives are, and perhaps one of the co-sponsors could explain to the Members of the Senate their reasoning in sponsoring this legislation and what you hoped to do by putting it before this body.

Mr. MAHANY. I thought, Mr. President, that we had properly and satisfactorily answered that question last week and the week before. I do not know where Senator Lane was. Perhaps he was out telephoning when both Senator Dent and I explained why these bills were being sponsored.

Mr. President, so that there will be no uncertainty in the mind of Senator Lane, or any other person in the Commonwealth, these bills were sponsored jointly by Senator Dent and myself, by request, in order to put before this group the recommendations of the Chesterman Committee. Those are merely recommendations and, of course, Francis Chesterman is not a Senator so he could not sponsor the legislation. Some one of us had to do it, so that we would all have an opportunity of voting on these recommendations. Senator Dent and I sponsored the legislation, and it was referred to the Rules Committee with the express understanding that the Rules Committee would report this legislation to the floor, so that each of us could vote according to the way we felt as individual Senators. Neither party was supposed to take any party action on any of these bills in Caucus. So, that is the way we have been doing it. You will find some Republicans voted for them, some Democrats; each bill seems to have different ones voting "aye" and "nay". For once, we are voting as individual Senators and not en bloc.

Mr. President, I think that if the Senator has any further question, I will be glad to attempt to answer if I can. Perhaps Senator Dent wants to get into the act, too.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the question put by Senator Lane is a very good question and apropos to the situation.

Mr. President, the people of Pennsylvania have been led to believe, by the publicity attached to the releases of the Chesterman Committee, that $100,000,000 is going to be saved in taxpayer's money if the Chesterman Report is accepted by the General Assembly. Believing it our duty to present to the people of Pennsylvania a factual picture of just what the Chesterman Report is and what it does, I joined with Senator Mahany in putting into legislation all of the recommendations contained in the so-called "Little Hoover" or Chesterman Report. They must stand or fall upon their own merits.

As we analyze the legislation, Mr. President, once it is in printed form, each individual Senator makes up his own mind as to whether or not that bill does what the Chesterman Committee said it would do.

I am very much afraid, Mr. President, that a ghastly joke has been played upon the people of Pennsylvania. They have been led to believe that this Legislature has within its power, by simply following the recommendations of this Committee and Commission, the ability to save $100,000,000 for the people of Pennsylvania.

Certainly, Mr. President, no man in this Senate is more anxious to vote for economies than I am, and I believe that I am joined by forty-nine other Members of the Senate. However, as I study this legislation, I am beginning to form a rather positive opinion that if we follow all the recommendations of the Chesterman Committee, instead of giving to the people of Pennsylvania a better form of government, We will have fostered upon the people a more bureaucratic form the government.

If you will note as the bills come before you, Mr. President, many of these so-called reforms are, in reality, just shifting of power, shifting of patronage, and in the end the taxpayer pays more, rather than less, for his government.

Mr. President, I am willing to vote for any one of these bills that by its nature indicates that any possible saving in expense can be made. However, I refuse at this time to prostitute the little intelligence I have to the expediency of political maneuver.

I do not believe, Mr. President, that the men who prepared this Committee Report could come before our committee and justify, in most instances, the position they have taken. I co-sponsored the bills so that all of us, as Members of the Senate and Members of the House of Representatives, could vote with some intelligence upon the proposals.

If I believed honestly, Mr. President, that the passage of this whole package would save the people of Pennsylvania $100,000,000, I would vote blindly for every one of them, for every bill in the package. However, no one but a fool or a charlatan would vote for this legislation without giving serious consideration to its effects upon government.

Mr. President, we are in the Minority Party, and probably our position should be to vote for every one of the bills. However, I am saying to the Democratic Members of the Senate that I am proud to be selected as their leader, because of the spirit in which they are voting for this legislation. I believe that each individual Senator is voting his conscience and that which he believes to be best, not so much for himself or his political party, but for the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. FREED. Mr. President, I would like to answer Senator Lane on possibly some of the reasons for this particular bill.

Mr. President, in my county I have had, like the rest of the boys here, hundredss of notary public applications. I have had some that definitely did not get up here on the Senate floor, and those few were sent in a certain office over on the Hill, and tried to force their way through. They definitely should not have come up on the Hill.

Mr. President, they did, however, come up on the Hill, because these small loan companies like a lot of notaries public. They do not care if they are in the city, county or State a day, a year or how long. Then, we do have some people who will try to put those across regardless of whether or not they are here the length of time required by law. That, to my way of thinking, is why this bill is to shift it and take it away from us, as the watchdogs. I hope the rest of the boys will vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, the way I understand it, this bill is going to cost the State a lot of money. I do not see why we talk about the bill all day.

Now, Mr. President, if you are trying to transfer these duties from the State Senators to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, it is going to cost you a lot of money. It is not going to save you money. You would have to put on a lot of extra help and they may not do as good a job as is done now, because the State Senator knows the applicant in his section, and he knows whether he is good or bad. If you try to give it to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, you will have an awful time finding him.

I say, Mr. President, vote this bill down and kill it now. I do not know who sponsored the bill, but it is not good legislation.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have been taking the floor too often today, and I am going to quit after this. The point I was trying to make in my questions on the floor was, what did the Chesterman Committee allege this would save? What was the objective back of the legislation? I have not heard the answer yet.

Mr. President, I believe that the distinguished gentleman from Lehigh more or less hit the nail on the head, but I wanted to know the reasoning back of the Chesterman Committee's recommendation as to the amount it would save the Commonwealth: If it is agreed that it will not save us a dime, then we should not pass the legislation.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, for once I agree with all the previous speakers with regard to the Chesterman Report. I cannot see where the Commonwealth will save any money, but would have added expense.

Mr. President, I do resent some of the implications, some of the remarks, when one of my colleagues stated that this is the one which broke the camel's back. We cannot condemn the Chesterman Committee for one bill.

Mr. President, I can best illustrate my feeling by quoting the late Babe Ruth when he said, "I come to bat three times and I make three home runs, and they cheer me. I strike out the fourth time, and they jeer me."

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. LEADER. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "no" to "aye".

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—5

Holland, Leader,	Silvert,	Weiner,	Yosko,
---------------------	----------	---------	--------

NAYS—39

Bane,	Hare,	McGinnis,	Taylor,

CONGRATULATIONS EXTENDED TO YEADON HIGH SCHOOL UPON WINNING CLASS "A" BASKET- BALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I would like to change the tempo just a little, and ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, down in Delaware County we are very proud of the Yeadon High School, which we find is a "B" high school, and they have been successful in winning the basketball championship over the "A" high schools. It just proves, Mr. President, that sometimes you can get "B" before "A".

Mr. WATKINS offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, March 31, 1953.

The victor in sports deserves recognition of his ability and superiority. The victory of Yeadon High School in winning the class "A" high school basketball championship was more than a victory within its class, it represents the first time in Pennsylvania scholastic history that a class "B" school has won a class "A" championship, and therefore justly deserves the praise of the people.

The hard play and clean sportsmanship displayed by the team, coupled with the expert guidance of its two fine coaches, John Naegeli and Edwin Kirschner were the factors responsible for the winning of this unprecedented championship.

To often the mantle of public praise falls entirely upon the victor's shoulders. The loser is forgotten as soon as the game is over. It is not our intention to forget the other teams, without whose keen competition, sportsmanship and fine tutelage the victory would be rendered hollow.

The Sharon High School team, excellently coached by Blaine Laycock and Donald Bennet, displayed all the attributes of champions and therefore deserve recognition for their fine play and sportsmanship.

Two other fine teams, Ford City High School and Allentown High School, deserve the applause of the public for their fine team play and commendable display of true sportsmanship. Coaches H. B. Rupert, R. Black and J. Simmons, of Ford City, and Milo Seward, of Allentown, are to be congratulated for their fine coaching and the installation of the principles of fair play and keen competition to their respective teams, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate extend to the coaches and players of the Yeadon High School Basketball Team its heartiest congratulations upon its great and unprecedented victory, and be it further

Resolved, That the congratulations of the Senate be extended to the players and coaches of the Sharon, Ford City and Allentown High Schools for their exemplary play and fine sportsmanship, and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be directed to send a copy of this resolution to the Yeadon, Sharon, Ford City and Allentown High Schools.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I move the immediate adoption of this resolution.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to join in that resolution inasmuch as the team that was defeated is in my district, Sharon High School.

I would also like to second the Senator's motion for the immediate adoption of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, if my distinguished colleague from Crawford gets into the act, I, as the loser from Ford City to Sharon, also want to co-sponsor that resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Pechan desires to be included as an additional defendant.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I do not want to be joined as a defendant in these proceedings, but I trust that Senator Watkins knows that John Naegeli, Coach of the Yeadon High School Basketball Team, played in high school at Old Forge in our county, and they were pretty lucky because Allentown sidetracked Old Forge by being one game ahead of them. They had a bad night.

Mr. FREED. Mr. President, I have already bowed to my colleague here, Senator Watkins, as I think he does have the cream of the teams, because ours was the last one he had to beat.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I feel ashamed of myself, I have not prepared my resolution for Irwin High School, which won the Class "B" Championship.

The PRESIDENT. Well, I am sure the Senator from Westmoreland is familiar with that ancient legend, "The last shall be first."

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I was going to suggest that maybe we should open up the ballot box, because the sponsor of this resolution certifies in it that his team is not qualified in this Class "A" Championship. Sharon High School was playing a Class "B" team. They should have been over there playing with Senator Dent's basketball team, and not Sharon High School.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I can appreciate the fact that all of these gentlemen would like to be sponsors of this resolution. I agree to let their names go down in the record, but I refuse to let them sign the resolution. I suggest, if they want to sponsor a resolution like this, that they let the boys practice harder and try a little harder, and maybe next year they will be able to do it.

Mr. President, I also would like to say, regarding this situation of a "B" team beating an "A" team, we should have been in Senator Dent's territory; it would have been murder, I assure you.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 31, 1953

The House met at 11:00 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Charles C. Smith) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend Charles F. Trunk, Jr., guest Chaplain and Pastor of Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Who hast given us a land in which we are free to read and hear Thy word, we thank Thee for our liberty. We ask that we may be led by Thee to act wisely for the welfare of those not only of our time, but also of the generations following. As we represent our people, may we also represent Thee; for Thou wilt show us the course which is right and stand by us as we walk in it. We ask this in the name of Him Who represented all of us and gave Himself for us, Thy Son, Our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Monday, March 31, 1953?

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I move that the approval of the Journal for Monday, March 30 be postponed until the Journal is in print.

MR. YEAKEL IN THE CHAIR

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 38, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 12 of the act approved the eleventh day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 758) entitled "An act for the protection of the public health by regulating the possession control dealing in giving away delivery dispensing administering prescribing and use of certain drugs and keeping records thereof by regulating the use of drugs in the treatment of the drug habit by providing for the revocation and suspension of licenses of physicians dentists veterinarians pharmacists druggists and registered nurses for certain causes and by providing for the enforcement of this act and penalties" by changing the penalties for the illegal sale dispensing or giving away of drugs.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 42, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 644) entitled "An act relating to and regulating the solicitation of moneys and property for charitable religious benevolent humane and patriotic purposes" by providing for payment of costs in addition to compensation of solicitors and exempting additional organizations and corporations and national service clubs raising funds for child welfare projects from the provisions of the act.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 129, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections 4406 and 4408 of the act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," by providing for examination for promotions in the police department and limiting and providing the procedure for the demotion of certain police officers.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. READINGER offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4406), page 4, line 10, by inserting after the word "department" the following: "except to the rank of chief."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4406), page 4, line 16, by inserting after the word "promotion" the following: "All officers in the police department shall have the right to take examinations for promotion herein provided for."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4408), page 5, line 16, by inserting after the word "above" the following: "except the chief, after having taken the examination provided for in section four thousand four hundred six of this act and having been duly appointed in accordance therewith."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. READINGER Mr. Speaker, for the information of the Members of the House, the amendments to this Bill 129, which relates to third class city police officers, remove from the bill the rank of chief of police, and the amendments also provide that the present officers of a police force in a third class city who are holding some rank in the department, will not be frozen into those ranks.

The amendments provide that those persons may take examinations for promotions; and if they qualify and are appointed in accordance with the Civil Service provisions, they will get Civil Service tenure in that rank.

New appointees to some ranks will, if this bill passes, have to qualify and thereafter be appointed. As the bill was originally drawn, it would have frozen in without any further qualification all those who hold some rank. Many of us did not think this was fair because it would eliminate many good men in the future who might not at the present time be holding those particular ranks.

Those are all the changes made by these amendments, and I ask your support of them.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. READINGER offered the following amendment:

Amend Title, page 1, last line of title, by inserting after the word "of" the following: "certain".

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 312, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by transferring the Brandywine Battlefield Park Commission to the Department of Forests and Waters and making the commission a departmental administrative commission of the Department of Forests and Waters

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Title), page 3, lines 6, 7 and 8 of title, by striking out the words "and for employment at other duties in the case of continued partial disability"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in order that the Members of the House may know what these amendments do:

When the bill was originally introduced, in the preamble to it, the words "and for employment and other duties in case of continuing partial disability" were included. By amendment subsequent to its introduction, those words were taken out of the main body of the bill and this amendment I am now offering simply makes the introductory paragraph conform to the balance of the bill. It makes no change whatsoever in the meaning of the bill.

Mr. WILBUR H. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, the clarifying amendment is entirely satisfactory to me.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 86 as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. vested in title insurance companies, and by making further provision concerning the effect of merger or consolidation of banking institutions.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. WESCOTT asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

VISITORS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair presents to the House Mr. John C. Brecht, Venango County Commissioner and Mr. Harold R. Gates, Venango County Solicitor. They are the guests of the gentleman from Venango, Mr. Gramlich.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. SPEAKER, I rise at this time because I believe by making a statement I can contribute to an understanding which will promote celerity in our deliberations.

I have been informed that beginning next week we may enter a period of four day sessions. This is indeed a happy development. It comes at a time when the signs are auspicious. It follows a majority party harmony meeting. That meeting, Mr. Speaker, was a pronounced success.

As I came up the sidewalk to the capitol this morning in friendly fashion, I slapped a Member who had attended the auspicious conference on the back. And believe me I am still wiping the goo and honey off my hands.

We welcome the advent of a united majority. There has been some misapprehension as to the motives on this side of the House. We have not sought to divide the majority; it has been our patient effort to unite it to the end that you may, with the most possible dispatch, proceed to accomplish the legislative mistakes which you so quite evidently from all reports have in mind. If it is to be a period of legislative agony, both for you and the public, let's get it over with.

When you enter a period of four day sessions we have a right on this side of the House, and the public has a right to expect that every day in the week and every hour in the day you have 105 members over there doing business.

Now occasionally it may be the province of the minority to serve as a cudgel with which to belabor you because of your mistakes. Most certainly the minority is not here as a crutch upon which you have a right to lean. We are not a part of your program, whatever that program may be. We have not been consulted concerning anything except the courtesies that are commonly practiced in legislative halls.

The Majority Leader is not required at any time to consult with the Minority. A legislative leader with 105 members behind him can do anything he wants to any time he wants to. There are certain courtesies which the Majority Leader has observed for the purpose of promoting a more speedy transaction of the public business. But he is under no obligation to consult us regarding even procedure.

You have 105 members, you say you are going to have a program; the time has come to roll. If you are not going to begin to roll next week, don't inflict four day sessions upon us.

There are some matters concerning which there should be no misunderstanding concerning what I hope will be the position of the minority. We still adhere to our schedule of priorities. We do not intend as far as we are concerned to consider and vote finally upon matters of major policies until this General Assembly has acted either positively or negatively upon, first the Constitutional Convention matters; second, upon the matter of legislative reapportionment; third, upon FEPC legislation.

We say that those three matters are a part of the program to which both parties in this Commonwealth are mutually committed.

Now we have coming over, perhaps from the Senate, a Chesterman Committee bundle. In my opinion the Chesterman Committee Report was handled in a wholly unethical manner and represents a sinister attempt to regiment the thinking of the public, and the thinking of this House, to the end that it may be taken for granted that certain statements and certain conclusions in that Report are in effect based upon facts.

I resent any report compiled by supermen who retired to some particular high mountain of their own to come down and say to us "Thus saith the Lord. Here you have conclusions. We do not have to substantiate them by fact; we do not have to tell you where the savings are accomplished and how. Just take our word for it."

This General Assembly acted in derogation of its dignity when it did not subpoena not only the members of the Chesterman Committee Commission but all of its files and records, that when we came to consideration of the problems involved in that Report we might have some basis of fact upon which to base our conclusions.

We are prepared to dissent in toto, from the conclusions tentatively arrived at by a select committee representing the majority party which apparently seriously proposes sabotaging our school system in the alleged interest of economy.

We say to you as a matter of conviction that Pennsylvania is not spending too much money for its schools. All of the money we spend may not be spent wisely, but we are not spending too much money for our schools. There is no reason to believe that our children may be better served by transferring the responsibility for financing the schools from the state level to the local level—the local level in greater degree than now prevails.

The primary constitutional obligation, as far as the maintenance of our school system is concerned, rests upon the Commonwealth. In the absence of facts and figures, I am not prepared to agree as yet that either big business or little business in Pennsylvania is over-taxed as compared with other Commonwealths and other States.

We have had a voluminous Tax Commission Report. I have not been able to read all of it; but insofar as I have read, I find nothing to indicate that the railroads in Pennsylvania are over-taxed as compared with the taxes levied upon railroads in New Jersey, Ohio and New York. I find nothing in that Report to indicate that our major industries are over-taxed as compared with the taxes levied upon them in other Commonwealths.

An effort is being made once again by devious, sinister means to regiment public opinion. Just as the Chesterman Committee, before submitting its conclusions to the Governor and before submitting its conclusions to either branch of this General Assembly went before the public with fallacious misleading statements designed to lead the public to believe that if we did not swallow every statement in that Committee Report we were recreant to the cause of efficiency and economy. An effort is now being made to create the impression in this House and upon the part of the general public that if we do not straightway proceed to enact a sales tax, our school system will crumble, all our social activities will crumble, the hospitals will be short-changed and we will pass a period of service chaos in the Commonwealth.

That was the same tactic that was used to force the Members of this House to rally to the support of a flat income tax. It is the same old trick in the same time-worn plot. We are opposed to any backward step as far as the schools are concerned, as far as the essential social services of the Commonwealth are concerned, as far as our educational institutions are concerned, as far as our hospitals are concerned. We say, as a matter of conviction that this Commonwealth is strong enough financially and morally to finance adequately those services built up during the years, services in which you have taken so much pride as a majority party. Now because of a corporation-inspired crusade in the interests of an economy designed to transfer the burden of state government as far as possible from the shoulders of business to the shoulders of the little fellow, it is seriously proposed that you sabotage all the proud achievements concerning which you have boasted in times past.

I say to you, when you get about that business you have 105 members over there on your side because in this work of destruction, I repeat, the minority does not propose to be a crutch upon which you can lean.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address House.

Mr. Speaker, I first want to say that I enjoyed the remarks of the Minority Leader about walking up to the State Capitol this morning with one of our Members. I must say that I walked about twenty-five feet behind him with this Member, who was a young man, and I said to the fellow I was with "Look at Hi Andrews stepping along." I want to tell you that he went up that hill to the Capitol faster than the young man with whom he was walking. I said for a man of his years, he certainly can really high-tail it up to the Capitol. He was really going fast. It is a remarkable thing, I would say.

Getting back to the fiscal problems which the Minority Leader has discussed: It is very comforting today that we have 108 Members in their seats. There is one Member who is unavoidably not in the State Capitol. We hope to have that excellent attendance continued throughout the remainder of the session.

It is true that as a majority party, it is our duty to carry the ball here, as it were; and not, it is true, ask the minority to be the crutch, as the gentleman points out.

I would say this to the minority side, you have schools, you have hospitals, you have services in your Democratic counties just as we have in our Republican counties. It is just as much a duty of you Members on that side, to help to provide the humanitarian services that the Commonwealth is giving in the school program in your counties as well as in our counties. It is just as much your duty to help provide taxes to help run this Commonwealth as it is on this side.

I grant you that we probably will be a little at loggerheads as to the type of taxes, if any, that will be necessary. The Minority Leader by innuendo says that he is not convinced that the corporations are paying enough taxes. Corporations are paying forty-nine percent of our budget right now—over $400 million a biennium. I say that the load they are carrying is back-breaking.

You take the great state of Michigan, they put practically no taxes on corporations. Think of what a great industrial state Michigan is, and their taxes on corporations are about twelve percent of the budget. The remainder is, I believe, mostly raised by a sales tax.

Take the great State of Illinois where we just had a Democratic administration. Corporations were given a slap on the wrist in Illinois, and the bulk of their revenue is a sales tax. The great Democratic Governor that you just had in Illinois during his four years made no attempt to take the burden from the individual and put it on big business.

I say that business is carrying too big a load in this state as it is today. As to putting it on little business, unincorporated business, that is rather an illusory thing. We do not know how much it would raise. I understand the experience of unincorporated business taxes in New York State is not too good, because of the nature of the type of tax and the rather illusory revenue that will come from it.

We have an unbalanced tax program in this state. It speaks of prosperity. Our corporate taxes are pegged to prosperity. We could well go into a situation in this state where the profits of big business, or corporate business would go down, due to some strike, and that would mean that the relief rolls, instead of being $111 million, as now expressed in the Governor's budget, may skyrocket to $200 million again as it was in 1947 and 1949. When that occurs, Pennsylvania is really going to be in tough shape; and who knows, it might be just around the corner.

I want to talk about this tax study report. In my four sessions, I think it is one of the best studies that has been laid on our desks. I think Doctor Buehler and his committee, which included Representative Reading and Representative Hall from the House have done a very able, scholarly job.

The Report will be of great assistance to us in years to come and we should look it over very carefully. If we are going to continue the Governor's budget without raising new taxes, we are either going to have to cut the budget severely and reduce services, which is something this state is not noted for—we have a grand record of social progress in Pennsylvania—or else we are going to say that we will put Governor Fine's budget through as is, but we will send approximately $100 million for the people back home to shoulder.

You know what that will mean. I know what it will mean in my community, a little town of eighteen hundred. It may mean twenty thousand dollars a year for us to raise. I probably will not dare to go down town this week after my people back home have read the proposal in the paper.

Be that as it may, we must drive home to the people of this state just exactly what the situation is, what we are giving them, and that some one has to pay for it. Next week, when we come back here for four days, the purpose of the four days is to attempt to solve our fiscal problems, get into high gear. We hope to have our 109 Members in their seats and put through a Republican program with the help of the minority. As I say, it is just as much your duty as our duty to get into line.

Mr. Andrews sort of holds out the olive branch to us, by saying if we pass FEPC, reapportionment and constitutional revision, they will possibly go along. I say that olive branch has some thorns on it, but we are thankful for the olive branch, as far as it goes. As I said several weeks ago, I do not know what the Senate will do on the constitutional revision bill. I read in the paper where they are studying it very closely. We will have a reapportionment bill here, which will be introduced soon. I understand from our Chairman that it is practically ready for introduction. There are other reapportionment bills that are already in Committee, but we want to put this show on the road, get the Members back home, and the only way we are going to do it is to come back here next week ready to work and do business, not by April 30, as I have been talking about, but at least by May 15.

Mr. ANDREWS. May I ask the Majority Leader at least one question?

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Is it the intention of the majority to present a tax program prior to the time the General Assembly has acted finally upon the Chestermen Committee package?

Mr. JOHNSON. In answer to that question, very soon there will be an announcement from the Chair that on Monday the Committee on Ways and Means will call a meeting. The purpose of the meeting will be to consider a tax program. It will not be held during the session, but will be held Monday prior to the session.

We are operating on this premise. The bills having to do with the Chesterman Report are being introduced in the Senate. They are giving them consideration. We are going on the premise that some, perhaps quite a number of those recommendations will be enacted into law which will save anywhere, according to Mr. Chesterman, from $5 million to $20 million. Acting on that major premise, those savings, rather than waiting and killing time for those to be acted upon we feel that we can safely act on taxes and allow a cushion for savings that this report might bring about.

Mr. ANDREWS. One further question if the Majority Leader will consent.

Is there any legislation pending designed to bring state employes under Social Security, those who are not now covered by any pension system?

Mr. JOHNSON. I am sorry I can not answer that question. No such policy has been given to me, and I think it is something that merits study.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, could we have a statement from the Majority Leader covering that situation some time next week?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I shall be glad to get that statement.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the Majority Leader.

COMMITTEE MEETING

Ways and Means, Mr. Hall, Chairman, Monday, April 6, 1953, at 4:15 p. m. in room 522.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the House expect to convene at 4:30?

The SPEAKER. The Resolution that was passed was that the House would convene at 4:30.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, and if I understand this scheduled meeting, that gives us fifteen minutes. Is that correct?

The SPEAKER. That was the announcement as read by the Clerk.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I say a word about the meeting as read?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOVETT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I ask in all fairness, do you think that a Committee so important as the Committee on Ways and Means should meet for fifteen minutes to consider legislation which you are going to bring to the floor of this House?

I want to say that I do not think that that is due consideration at all.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, April 6, 1953, at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:47 p. m.) the House adjourned.

SENATE

MONDAY, April 6, 1953.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. PAUL S. MONTGOMERY, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Aspinwall, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray. Eternal God, our Father, we pause now at the beginning of this, another week of labor, on behalf of these men who have come, and who here desire to perform their functions as worthy men, children of God, and servants of the people. We pray Thy infinite blessing upon each of them, that they may have the courage of their convictions; that they may dare to do that which is right, leaving the consequences to infinite justice.

We recognize our need of Thee, for we are weak and Thou art strong. We seek a wisdom which is from on high for the problems of the day. We pray that Thou wilt bless our land with good, give direction and understanding to all in seats of authority, and the power that they shall recognize that all law is subject unto Thy divine law. Herein may these men, this day, do that which is right and pleasing unto Thee, and for the good of the people of this great Commonwealth, to the glory of God and the blessing of men.

We offer our prayer in Christ's Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. HARE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. HARE asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. KEPHART, due to illness.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. CROWE, due to illness.

GENERAL COMMUNICATION

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

PENNSYLVANIA PUBLIC SAFETY COMMISSION

610 North Third Street

Harrisburg

Officer of the Director March 31, 1953.
Hon. G. Harold Watkins, Secretary
Senate of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg

Dear Mr. Watkins:

I would consider it a civic service if you would have this letter read at the session of the Senate on Monday, April 6, 1953.

At a recent meeting of the Pennsylvania Public Safety Commission, the Director was authorized to contact the fifty State Senators with the objective of establishing scholarships for senior students, in Public and Parochial High Schools, who submit the best essay on Public Safety and Civil Defense.

Governor Fine, who is vitally interested in safety in general, will preside at a special ceremony in Harrisburg to present these scholarships. All Senators will be invited to attend the ceremony, and those pledging a scholarship will join with the Governor in making the presentation.

Civil Defense has become so vital in Pennsylvania, and the need for trained personnel so evident, your Public Safety Commission finds it imperative to bring this important matter to the attention of the public, especially our schools.

The very fact that the Senate of Pennsylvania offers fifty scholarships for the cause will in itself arouse public interest throughout the Nation, and bring the people to a realization of the urgency for protective steps in this field.

I am confident the Senators who attended the Las Vegas Explosion Test will seriously attest to the importance of alerting the public to the need for a planned pattern of safety and defense.

The people of Pennsylvania will long remember the scholarship gifts of our State Senators in this undertaking of civilian preparedness.

Sincerely,

/s/ O. B. HANNON
O. B. HANNON, Director

The PRESIDENT. The communication will be spread upon the Journal.

LITITZ SENIOR GIRL SCOUT TROOP No. 118 PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to call attention to the presence of some guests of Senator Diehm, who come from Lititz, Lancaster County, and who are members of the Lititz Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 118, in charge of Mrs. W. M. Whitten, Jr.

The Chair would like very much to have Senator Diehm's guests rise in place and take a bow.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, at the meeting of the Judiciary General Committee last week, the committee instructed me to report out Senate Bill No. 326 as amended. We were unable to get the amendments to report it out last week, and I now report it at this time.

Mr. WALKER, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as amended Senate Bill No. 326, entitled:

An Act creating as bodies corporate and politic "Public Auditorium Authorities" in counties of the second class and in cities of the second class, singly or jointly; prescribing the rights, powers and duties of such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to acquire, construct, improve, maintain and operate public auditoriums; to borrow money and issue bonds therefor; providing for the payment of such bonds and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof; conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities; empowering such Authorities to enter into contracts, leases, and licenses with and to accept grants from private sources, the Federal Government, State, political subdivisions of the State or any agency thereof; authorizing the making of said grants from bond funds or current revenues; authorizing Authorities to collect rentals, admissions, license fees for the use of the projects; exempting the property and securities of such Public Auditorium Authorities from taxation.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. MAHANY and CHAPMAN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 406, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission for the further restoration, preservation and improvement of Drake Well Memorial Park; birthplace of the petroleum industry.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Dent and myself, I have a few bills which I am about to present as part of the Government Survey Committee recommendations, and I request that they be referred to the Rules Committee in line with our previous practice.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. MAHANY and DENT (By request) read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 407, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to reduce to judgment claims for restitution of assistance wrongfully received and providing for the collection of such judgments from wages, earnings, debts and income from trusts or profits due the judgment debtor.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

They also (By request) read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 408, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 4 of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 337, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the tenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30), entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools; amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," by limiting the amount of reimbursement by the Commonwealth to school districts and vocational school districts; and requiring the Department of Public Instruction to administer the financial affairs of financially handicapped and distressed school districts in certain cases.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to suggest to the Majority Floor Leader that we have been holding amendments to this bill, and it has gone over twice in its order. I would like to submit the amendments in order that we may be prepared to vote on the bill, with or without the amendments, tomorrow.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the Republican Caucus has designated two or three of its members to confer with the Superintendent of Public Instruction relative to some of the things in this bill, and we are awaiting a report from them which we hope to receive about Wednesday.

Therefore, Mr. President, we would not be in any position to do anything with those amendments today. I wish Senator Dent would wait until Wednesday, and then we will take these up in the light of our committee report and present amendments at that time.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 338, as follows:

An Act to amend Section 408 of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by removing the Superintendent of Public Instruction from membership on the State Council of Education and further regulating appointment of members

Section 1 Section 408 of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 408 State Council of Education The State Council of Education shall consist of [the Superintendent of Public Instruction who shall be the president and chief executive officer thereof and nine other members

All appointments shall be for terms of six years

The Superintendent of Public Instruction and five other members shall constitute a quorum The council may elect a secretary who need not be a member thereof] nine members appointed by the Governor

The terms of the first three members appointed by the Governor subsequent to the effective date of this act shall expire on the third Tuesday of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and the terms of the next three members appointed shall expire on the third Tuesday of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven and the terms of the next three members shall expire on the third Tuesday of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-nine the successors to each of the above mentioned members shall be appointed for terms of six years and all appointments thereafter shall be for terms of six years except those to fill vacancies created prior to the end of any term which shall be only for the duration of the unexpired term

The council shall elect a chairman from its number and may elect a secretary who need not be a member

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I would like to change by vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 339, entitled:

An Act to amend Clause (c) of Section 3 of the act, approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 752), entitled "An act regulating and improving the civil service of certain departments and agencies of the Commonwealth; vesting in the State Civil Service Commission and a Personnel Director, certain powers and duties; providing for classification of positions, adoption of compensation schedules and certification of payrolls; imposing duties upon certain officers and employes of the Commonwealth; authorizing service to other State departments or agencies and political subdivisions of the Commonwealth in matters relating to civil service; defining certain crimes and misdemeanors; imposing penalties; making certain appropriations, and repealing certain acts and parts thereof," by further defining the term "Service of the Commonwealth" to include certain offices and positions in the Department of Public Instruction.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 339, Printer's No. 56, on final passage, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chairs hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 340, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 208 of the act approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by clarifying the holding over after expiration of the term of office of persons appointed by the Governor and repealing inconsistent provisions.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to call the attention of the Senate to this bill. We are now working on what is commonly known as the Chesterman Report, which is supposed to effect certain economies in the State Government. Upon investigation I find, Mr. President, that this bill, if it is passed, will not in any way effect any economy. That is the first thing.

Over and beyond that, Mr. President, I called over to the Legislative Reference Bureau and found that there is no recommendation contained in the Chesterman Report calling for this piece of legislation. There is nothing in the Chesterman Report, in any section of it, that calls for a bill of the nature of Senate Bill No. 340, Printer's No. 57.

For the information of the Senate, Mr. President, and for the benefit of those who have not read it, I might tell you what the bill does, in a sense. The bill presumes that next year the Democrats will win, but the Republicans will not lose control of the Senate, or at least not that much of the Senate that the Democrats would have the power, or sufficient votes, to confirm any of the appointments of a Democratic Governor. So, they pass a harmless little—I think Senator Walker calls them "turkeys"—a harmless little turkey that says, in a way, that when the Democrats win next year, and the Governor tries to appoint the public officials of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, who come within the jurisdiction of the Governor's appointments, he cannot name anybody, because all of the persons in office will hold over until they have qualified by the confirmation of the Senate. Since the Republicans will have control of the Senate, by every hope of the Republican Party, they will then be able to keep in office all of the jobs which are now under the Governor.

Now, Mr. President, I knew that the Chesterman Report had a few little needles stuck in it here and there, but I did not know that they would try to pass something that even Chesterman had not thought of.

Mr. President, I know that last week certain reporters said that the Democrats were against economies. We are not against economies, but we are against being railroaded. I do not know whether the Democrats will win or not next year, but I do believe that every administration should stand upon its own feet, and the incoming Governor, whether he be Republican or Democratic, should have the right to name his Cabinet officers. He should have the right to name his key positions to commissions and boards of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, without having the hand from the grave dictate as to who could stay in office and who could not stay in office. We had a notable example of that at the beginning of this term. If this bill were in effect, we would not have had an argument two years ago.

Now, Mr. President, I leave it up to the fair play of the Members of the Senate, as to whether or not this is the kind of legislation that should be passed at this time.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I must plead guilty to getting this bill in with the package of the Chesterman Report recommendations. You saw the package which I put up to you today, and they were quite voluminous.

A couple of weeks ago, Mr. President, when the first group came over, I was not quite as experienced then with handling these Chesterman Report bills as I am now. This arrived on my desk and got into that package, and Senator Dent's name and mine were put on. We do not sign all these bills. I will admit that, because sometimes we do that by an amanuensis and, therefore, that is how this happened.

I do not think this bill does the things of which Senator Dent is fearful, Mr. President. To give an explanation of this, over in the Secretary of the Commonwealth's office, he has a lot of different printed commissions over there, and it seems that there are various laws affecting various offices and he has to choose, or or pick out, a particular type of form to fit a particular type of appointment. So that we will not have to go to the expense of printing up a lot of different forms, and so that he might have one and not have to choose from many, this bill was introduced. I do not think that this would enable the present Cabinet Officers to hold over in the event that a catastrophe would fall upon the Commonwealth, such as Senator Dent has envisioned.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know that it is nice to save eighty cents printing different forms, but if you will look into it, you will find that the forms are printed because there are certain qualifications surrounding the different appointments and, therefore, the forms contain different requirements. If you will read the act, you will see—and I think you can read—that it says members of independent administrative boards and commissions of departmental administrative boards and commissions and of advisory boards and commissions and departmental administrative officers shall each hold office for a term of four years from the third Tuesday of January next following the election of a Governor and until his successor is appointed and qualified."

Now, Mr. President, we know that a man is not qualified for the office of Public Utility Commissioner until he has been confirmed by the Senate. Now, the qualification is strictly that. The appointment is by the Governor, but the qualification is by the Senate. Let us read on further, and these are strictly new provisions in this act.

"Notwithstanding any inconsistent provisions of the Act to which this is an amendment or of any other act of Assembly every State officer every member of an independent administrative board and commission departmental administrative board and commission and advisory board and commission and departmental administrative officer appointed by the Governor for a specific term with the right to hold over beyond such term shall hold over until his successor is appointed and qualified and not otherwise. Every provision of the act to which this is an amendment and of every other act of Assembly is hereby repealed in so far as the same is inconsistent with the provisions of this subsection."

I say, Mr. President, that if this act goes into effect, and if the people of Pennsylvania finally get an honest count and we get a Democratic Governor at that time, I say to you that the Republican holdovers can stay in office and, if I am reading the newspapers correctly, there is an awful howl in Washington because certain people were cloaked with some of the protection which is contained in many of the bills that we have before us today. However, never did any Democrat in Washington, not even in the wildest of dreams, hope to ever put in a bill which would have kept the President of the United States from having his Cabinet appointed as he so desired.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if this bill does what Senator Dent is fearful of, I, too, would be against it. I suggest we put the bill over until tomorrow, so that he and I may have a chance to iron out any of the differences which might be between us in connection with this legislation.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I, therefore, ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 340, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just wanted to say that I wonder whether there is some skulduggery attached to this bill. It has the identification—

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator yield?

Mr. YOSKO. Yes Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Now, if the bill were on Final Passage, I think the Senator would be in order. You will have an opportunity to discuss the bill when it is on Final Passage. It has already gone over in its order.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, we are having a public hearing in connection with the matters which this bill affects on Thursday, at 10:00 o'clock. I, therefore, move that Senate Bill No. 341, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employees in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employees of certain departments, boards, and commissions shall be determined," by establishing the Department of Health and Welfare; transferring to it the powers and duties of the Department of Health, Department of Welfare and Department of Public Assistance; providing for a Secretary of Health and Welfare; defining his powers and duties; and abolishing the Department of Health, the Department of Welfare and the Department of Public Assistance.

be recommitted to the Committee on Rules, for the purpose of this public hearing.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 6, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the nineteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 534), entitled "An act relating to appointment of deputy constables," by defining the jurisdiction of deputy constables.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have some amendments which I desire to offer to this bill on second reading. I am in sympathy with what the sponsor is trying to do, but I do not agree on the method in which he is trying to amend this deputy constable's act.

For the information of the membership, Mr. President, what my amendments will do to this bill they will prohibit roving constables from making arrests on view outside of their bailiwick, with the exception of where a felony is committed, and, of course, a citizen has the right to make an arrest where a felony is committed and, therefore, the deputy constable should have that privilege.

Mr. President, I realize that the deputy constable problem has been a big problem throughout the Commonwealth, but, Members of the Senate, we must take into consideration that if my amendments are not adopted, and if this legislation is passed in its present form, we are, in reality, obstructing justice. I realize that they probably have a problem in the city of Pittsburgh, but in your rural communities, in some cases, your justices of the peace are really the center of law enforcement. Should this bill go through in its present form it would prohibit a justice of the peace from giving a writ to a deputy constable out of his bailiwick for services.

Mr. President, I say that in all probability, if the Senator from Pittsburgh will agree, I will not offer the amendments at this time. I will ask that the bill go over in its order until we can work something out, if the Senator will agree.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I will certainly agree to have the bill go over in its order until we discuss the matter further.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 6, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 14, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the fifteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1006) entitled "An act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor to sell and convey three contiguous parcels of land."

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 37, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to sell and convey a tract of land situate in the Township of North Union, Fayette County, Pennsylvania, with the approval of the Governor.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 41, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 1352), entitled "An act providing for joint action by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey in the administration, operation, and maintenance of bridges over the Delaware River, and for the construction of additional bridge facilities across said river; authorizing the Governor, for these purposes, to enter into an agreement with the State of New Jersey; creating a Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission and specifying the powers and duties thereof, including the power to finance the construction of additional bridges by the issuance of revenue bonds to be redeemed from revenues derived from tolls collected at such bridges; transferring to said commission all powers now exercised by existing commission created to acquire toll bridges over the Delaware River; and making an appropriation," by authorizing the Governor to enter into a supplemental compact or agreement on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with the State of New Jersey amending and supplementing the compact or agreement entitled "Agreement between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey creating the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission as a body corporate and politic and defining its powers and duties," as heretofore amended and supplemented; enlarging the jurisdiction and powers of said commission with respect to the acquisition, construction, administration, operation, and maintenance of port and terminal facilities, the financing thereof, and the fixing, charging and collecting of tolls and other charges for the use of said port and terminal facilities; authorizing the issuance of negotiable bonds and obligations of the commission; providing for the designation of deputies to act for and in behalf of absent ex-officio members of said commission from Pennsylvania; authorizing the combining for financing purposes of any such port and terminal facilities with any bridge or bridges heretofore or hereafter constructed or acquired by said commission; and authorizing the Governor to apply, on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to the Congress of the United States for its consent to such supplemental compact or agreement.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, when this bill was brought up in the Committee on State Government, I had requested that it be withheld for a public hearing. However, the majority of the members of the committee differed with me, and the bill was reported from committee to the Senate floor. I then asked Senator Watson if he would agree to hold it on second reading for at least two weeks, in order to give me a chance to make some inquiries in connection with the bill. He said he would keep it on the Second Reading Calendar for a week, and that after the first week I should consult with him and he would let me know about the second week. I talked with him today, and he said the bill would be advanced to third reading.

Mr. President, I am going to request that the bill go over in its order to permit me to complete the investigation that I am in the process of making relative to this bill. I understand that it broadens the powers of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission to some extent. Among its features, it sets up a Port Authority. I have talked to Pennsylvania Members of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission and, to my surprise, I was informed that, first, they knew nothing about the bill; second, they were not consulted about its provisions; and, third, it was not brought up at a commission meeting to get approval or disapproval for introduction in the Senate. Those with whom I had a chance to talk seem to think that it is a Governor Driscoll bill, because Governor Driscoll had a similar bill passed at last year's Session in the State of New Jersey.

There is also a little suspicion, Mr. President, attached to its provisions relative to a toll bridge which was constructed by the commission, known as the Trenton Bridge. If you will recall, in the 1949 Session I fought against putting the Easton Bridge in hock for an additional period of thirty years in order to help finance this so-called Trenton Bridge.

The Trenton Bridge, I am informed, Mr. President, was built alongside a free bridge and, consequently, most of the traffic is going over the free bridge and, as I understand it, the toll bridge which was constructed is losing money. The profits that are made from the tolls collected on the Easton Bridge are being used to offset the deficits on the Trenton Bridge. Mr. President, I would like to have some information on this phase of the activities of the commission.

Mr. President, I would like to find out definitely whether there is a scheme in progress for this commission to take over the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge, which has been the subject of a scandal in the State of New Jersey and is now in controversy in the courts.

I am informed, Mr. President, and I would like to find out definitely whether it is the intent, under this bill, with its broad powers, to take over that bridge, because it is an important factor.

I understand, too, Mr. President, that the port facilities, which are intended to be constructed, might interfere with the Port Authority in Philadelphia on the Pennsylvania side. If that is true, I think the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania would like to know about that. I think there are some people in Philadelphia, if a public hearing were held on the bill, who would like to come up here and get some information on it.

I understand, too, Mr. President, and I would like to know, about the trustee that is handling the financial affairs of the commission. I am informed that it is a bank down in New Jersey.

I would like to know, too, Mr. President, about an engineering firm that is attached to the commission, from Baltimore, Maryland.

I would like to know, Mr. President, how much money is collected by this commission in tolls. I would like to know, and I am sure other Members of the Senate would like to know, how this money is spent, what it is spent for, and how the affairs of these commissions are handled.

I am reliably informed, Mr. President, that on one of these commissions they have two solicitors, one on the New Jersey side and one on the Pennsylvania side, each getting $10,000 a year. Just a short time ago, they tried to jack up the salary to $15,000 a year. Now I am informed that, although the proposed increase was not approved, there is a movement on foot to raise the salary to $17,000 a year. From what I am told, frankly, there is not too much work for one solicitor, yet they have two solicitors.

Mr. President, I do not see why there should be any hurry in passing this bill. We will be in session for awhile. Frankly, I think it should go back to the Committee on State Government. I think we should call in the Pennsylvania Members of that Commission, and we should find out from them whether they were consulted about it, and what the implications are behind it, before we advance and pass this bill.

What I never did like about these commissions, Mr. President, is the fact that we set them up and then forget all about them. They become a government unto themselves, responsible to no one. I think they should be responsible to the Members of this Senate, because if anything does go wrong we will be the ones who will be held responsible for anything which might be contrary to the public interest.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I, therefore, ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 41, on second reading, go over in its order until I have an opportunity to complete my investigation which I have started, with the assistance of another Member of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I object to this bill going over in its order. The bill has been on our calendar now for over a week, and it would seem to me that the Senator from Northampton should have been able to obtain the information which he desires.

As I understand this bill, Mr. President, the State of New Jersey passed a similar bill there, and it is necessary now for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to pass reciprocal legislation so that the work of this commission might be done.

Mr. President, I do not think there is any ground for the Senator's suspicions. If all these things were being done that he said were being done, he should have found out before now and reported to us. I think we are now ready to vote on this legislation, and it should be prepared for third reading and voted on, perhaps, tomorrow.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am sorry but I must object to the bill going over in its order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, the distinguished Majority Leader said that the bill was on the calendar for a week, and I agree with him. However, I hope the Majority Floor Leader will take into consideration the fact that last week was Holy Week, and we were here until Tuesday. There were some people whom I, at least, attempted to contact who were just not around because it was Easter Week. That, of course, impeded my investigation and delayed it.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL No. 41 BE RECOMMITTED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. YOSKO. If the Majority Leader is going to object to the bill going over in its order, Mr. President, I move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on State Government for a hearing.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to voice my objection to this bill being recommitted to the Committee on State Government, and ask my colleagues to vote this motion down.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16

Bane,	Haluska,	McCreech,	Silvert,
Barr,	Holland,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Camiel,	Lane,	McMenamin,	Weiner,
Dent,	Leader,	Ruth,	Yosko,

NAYS—29

Berger,	Kessler,	Miller,	Wade,
Blass,	Koprivier, Jr.	Pechan,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Letzler,	Peelor,	Walker,
Diehm,	Madigan,	Probert,	Watkins,
Fleming,	Mahany,	Snowden,	Watson,
Freed,	Mallery,	Stevenson,	Wolfe,
Hare,	McCusker,	Taylor,	Wood,
Harney,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 50, entitled:

An Act to further amend section 306 and to amend subsection A of section 318 of the act, approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 289), entitled "An act relating to nonprofit corporations; defining and providing for the organization, merger, consolidation, and dissolution of such corporations; conferring certain rights, powers, duties, and immunities upon them and their officers and members; prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers; providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the first class within the provisions of this act; prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign nonprofit corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth; conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas, prothonotaries of such courts, recorders of deeds, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain local public officers and State departments to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act; imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" by authorizing nonprofit corporations to designate corporate trustees for the investment, reinvestment and maintenance of their funds and assets held in trust or otherwise and to transfer such funds to such corporate trustees for such purposes; and providing for the powers, duties, and liabilities of such trustees.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING, AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 91, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 5 of the act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1198) entitled "An act providing for the conservation and improvement of land affected in connection with the mining of bituminous coal by the open pit mining method regulating such mining and providing penalties" by further regulating back-filling and operation reports

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1 by striking out "Section 5," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Sections 4, 5 and 8"; Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out the word "is" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "are"; Amend Bill, page 2, by inserting between lines 8 and 9 the following:

"Section 4 Before any operator shall hereafter engage in open pit mining of bituminous coal within the Commonwealth, he shall register with the Department of Mines of this Commonwealth by filing a certificate, on a form to be provided by the department, and giving information sufficient to identify the operator, and an estimate of the number of acres of land that the operator will affect by open pit mining during one year immediately following the date of filing. Contemporaneously with and as a part of said registration, the operator shall file with the Department of Mines a bond on a form to be prescribed and furnished by the department, payable to the Commonwealth and conditioned that the operator shall faithfully perform all of the requirements of this act. The bond shall be in the amount of [three] six hundred dollars [($300.00)] ($600.00) per acre based upon the number of acres of land which the operator estimates that will be affected by open pit mining during one year immediately thereafter: Provided, That no bond shall be filed for less than [three] six thousand dollars [($3000.00)] ($6000.00). Liability under such bond shall be for the duration of open pit mining at each operation, and for a period of five years thereafter, unless released prior thereto as hereinafter provided. Such bond shall be executed by the operator and a corporate surety licensed to do business in the Commonwealth: Provided, however, That the operator may elect to deposit cash or negotiable bonds of the United States Government, or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, the General State Authority, the State Public School Building Authority, or any municipality within the Commonwealth, with the department in lieu of a corporate surety. The cash deposit or market value of such securities shall be equal to the sum of the bond. The Secretary of Mines shall, upon receipt of any such deposit of cash or securities, immediately place the same with the State Treasurer, whose duty it shall be to receive and hold the same in the name of the Commonwealth, in trust for the purposes for which such deposit is made. The State Treasurer shall at all times be responsible for the custody and safekeeping of such deposits. The operator making the deposit shall be entitled from time to time to demand and receive from the State Treasurer, on the written order of the Secretary of Mines, the whole or any portion of any securities so deposited, upon depositing with him, in lieu thereof, other negotiable securities of the classes herein specified having a market value at least equal to the sum of the bond and also to demand, receive and recover the interest and income from said securities as the same becomes due and payable: Provided, however, That where securities, deposited as aforesaid, mature or are called, the State Treasurer, at the request of the operator, shall convert such securities into such other negotiable securities of the classes herein specified as may be designated by the operator. Contemporaneous with the filing of said registration certificate and any renewal thereof, the operator shall pay to the department a filing fee of one hundred dollars ($100.00). Should the area of land affected by open pit mining within the registration year exceed the estimate, made in the registration certificate, the operator shall, within thirty (30) days thereafter, file an amended registration certificate and additional bond, but no filing fee shall be required in connection with the filing of such amendment."

Amend Bill page 4, by inserting after line 2 the following:

"Section 8. Upon receipt of said completion report or annual report, the Secretary of Mines shall charge the land affected by open pit mining against the bond filed by the operator at the time of registration at the rate of [three] six hundred dollars [($300.00)] ($600.00) per acre. Should the land actually affected by open pit mining within the year exceed the estimate made at the time of registration, the operator shall, within thirty (30) days thereafter, file an amended certificate and additional bond. If the land actually affected by open pit mining during the registration year is less than the estimate made by the operator in the registration certificates, the secretary shall release the surplus of the bond and collateral upon which liability has not been charged as aforesaid: Provided, That no bond or collateral shall be released below [three] six thousand dollars [($3000.00)] ($6000.00) in the absence of complete compliance with the requirements of this act."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments to Section 1?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 91 is a very worthy piece of legislation. However, I believe the amendments which I have offered will strengthen this act. They will increase the bond rate from $300 to $600, the total bondage to $6,000, and I feel that these amendments should be adopted.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that the strip operators throughout the Commonwealth are destroying the surfaces. They are removing the coal, hogging it out, and after this coal is removed, most of the landowners come back and ask the county government to take the land off the assessment books.

Mr. President, I believe that the people of this Commonwealth should be protected by making it mandatory that these coal strip operators place a sufficient bond in order to guarantee that they will do the work which is provided under the law, when it comes to back-filling.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I do not believe that these amendments are necessary in order to secure compliance with the Open Pit Mining Act. The present law seems to me to be fully adequate to take care of the entire matter. There is no operator who can afford to sacrifice his bond of $300 per acre when he can do the work of reclamation, including the planting, for from less than $100 per acre up to $150 per acre. In the early years of the act, many operators feared that the cost would be greater and they did default. However, beginning with the year 1949 and continuing on through 1952, full compliance has been the rule.

Mr. President, records now show that over 7,000 acres have been reclaimed in 1952, and that is 2,000 acres more than were affected in that year. The industry is catching up on its reclamation responsibilities, and should not be burdened with the necessity of higher capital outlay when nothing is to be accomplished by it.

Mr. President, the industry is toeing the mark in registering, and in posting of bonds and in its contribution of cash in the form of filing fees to the State Fund. Almost $7,000,000 has been posted in bonds; $1,160,776 was posted last year. This sum would reclaim 9,285 acres under the present cost experience, and there were only 4,875 acres affected during the entire year of 1952. So, the 9,000 and some odd acres means almost twice as much as the 5,000 acres that have been uncovered.

Now, Mr. President, would it be fair to ask the industry to freeze more millions of capital over a period of years when there is no real purpose served by it?

Mr. President, the industry's contributions to the State Reclamation Fund now amounts to $477,800. That is the extra fund which is raised by the $100 filing fee. With this money the State plants on the old, unsightly pre-act spoil piles. In time, all of these will be screened with trees, shrubs and other vegetation.

Mr. President, I do not believe that any operator will default. I do not believe he intends, or expects, to default on his bond. All the operator objects to is that a higher bond will freeze more of his working capital.

It is estimated, Mr. President, that about 700 operators are now operating. Ninety per cent of these are little fellows, desperately trying to hang on to their business during a general slump in the coal business, which is seriously affecting their finances. A higher bond requirement will drive many of these little fellows to the wall. Legislation should not be a weapon to accomplish this end.

Mr. President, those who are now operating under the Open Pit Mining Act find that it is possible to reclaim, according to the requirements of the act, for from one-third to one-half of the now required $300 per acre bond, and it is rare, very rare, that an operator even thinks of forfeiting his bond, rather than doing the work of reclamation and getting his money back.

Mr. President, I feel that these amendments are not necessary in order to secure compliance with the act, and I would ask my colleagues in the Senate to vote down the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Since there is objection, does the Senator wish to make a motion?

Mr. LANE. Yes, Mr. President, but before making the motion, I would like to make just a few remarks in answer to the distinguished Senator's statements.

First and foremost, Mr. President, if none of them are defaulting, why the opposition to the increase in the amount of the bond? I cannot see it, I cannot understand it, if they are not defaulting.

Mr. President, in western Pennsylvania, particularly, I have found that your coal strip operators, in my opinion, have done more to ruin the assessed valuation of good property than any other industry of which I know. I have found over there that they hog out the coal and they try to escape just taxation. They are not doing their job right under the provisions of the Open Pit Mining Act, and I say this bond should be increased.

You take the large operators who operate deep mining pits, Mr. President. They comply with all of the laws of the Commonwealth. We pass all sorts of legislation in regard to safety for our coal miners, but the strip operators, in my opinion, are not doing a bona fide job, and I say that we should pass this legislation.

Mr. President, I happen to know, from very accurate information, that up in Centre County, in Snow Shoe Township, they did some strip mining up there on State land. I received several telephone calls on Sunday from some very good friends of mine, saying that they have ravines up there and slag, 100 feet deep. They have gotten out, they have gotten the money out, they have got our resources and now that land is not fit for anything.

For those reasons, Mr. President, it seems to me that these amendments should be adopted.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I just want to say, in answer to Senator Lane, that the real objection, of course, is tying up additional capital.

Mr. President, I happen to represent Centre County, and the territory concerning which Senator Lane is speaking I know very well. There may be some unsightly plots, but you must remember that the operator has one year in which to comply with the act. During the operation, while he is in the act of stripping off the coal, of course, he cannot put the dirt back there until he has completed the job. During that one year it is admitted that there may be some places that may be very unsightly, but the law provides that he has one year in which to do it, so you have to give him time to do it.

Mr. President, I know of no operators in my area, in that section of Pennsylvania, Clearfield and Centre counties, who are opposing the act in any way. They are making every effort to comply with it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, just one brief remark on that. If they are complying with it, and I hope they are, I know that in some districts outside of that county they are not complying with the act. It seems to me, if we Members of the Senate are going to protect our natural resources, we should vote for these amendments and make sure that these operators comply with the provisions of the law.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I think that is just a matter of enforcement. We have all of the necessary tools with which to compel compliance with the act. If proper enforcement were the case, I think we would have full compliance.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I think we should all remember that deep mining of coal is our basic industry. We have done nothing whatsoever to protect that industry. As my good friend from Washington stated, the deep coal miners must walk the chalk line. We make them, in order to safeguard life.

Mr. President, strip mining is done mostly by wild catters. True, we have some local people, but the majority of them are out-of-State. I cannot see where we will impose a penalty upon them if they have little intention of covering up. They may pay somewhat more for a bond, but if they are honest they will pay that price and then do their work. If they are dishonest, they will walk out when the coal is stripped.

Mr. President, I think we should protect the deep coal mining of our Commonwealth. I sincerely say that these amendments should be adopted.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments to Section 1?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENTS BE ADOPTED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the amendments to Section 1, of Senate Bill No. 91, be adopted.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. BANE. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE and Mr. BANE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—21

Bane,	Haluska,	Lane,	Silvert,
Barr,	Hare,	Leader,	Stiefel,
Camel,	Harney,	McCreesh,	Weiner,
Dent,	Holland,	McMenamin,	Wood,
Fleming,	Koprivier, Jr.	Ruth,	Yosko,
Freed,

NAYS—23

Berger,	Madigan,	Pechan,	Wade,
Blass,	Mahany,	Peelot,	Wagner,
Chapman,	Mallery,	Propert,	Watkins,
Diehm,	McCusker,	Snowden,	Watson,
Kessler,	McGinnis,	Stevenson,	Wolfe,
Letzler,	Miller,	Taylor,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 91 go over in its order.

An Act providing for the sale of the State medical and surgical hospitals and for the disposition of the purchase moneys therefor.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I am afraid we have a problem on this one particular bill. I notice that also Senate Bill No. 386 was reported from committee, and does not appear on the Calendar for March 31.

The PRESIDENT. It is the first bill at the top of page 31, Senate Bill No. 386, Printer's No. 89.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, we only go to page 16.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, there is no skulduggery.

Mr. HOLLAND. It is very strange, Mr. President, that the Democrats only go to page 16.

The PRESIDENT. Well, that is more than half the Calendar.

Mr. HOLLAND. Well, if that is the case, Mr. President, we have two bills on the Calendar doing the same thing, and a third bill was also signed to be presented which was, I understand, acceptable, and it disappeared entirely. It has been lost.

Mr. President, one of the lobbyists had to give me a Calendar, which has been properly marked.

The PRESIDENT. Is there an agreement between the Minority and the Majority as to where we are going after we leave this bill?

Mr. MAHANY. We are going to the next bill, I understand, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Does that agreement mean that Senate Bill No. 386 will be passed over, too, Mr. President?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, that is right. However, I have an amendment here to Senate Bill No. 386 which I will introduce, and then the bill will go over in its order as amended, if the amendments are adopted.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, how about the other bill that is lost? How can we find that one, too? Can that one go over in order, too?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, we will put that one over.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, Senate Bill No. 347 will go over in its order.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 371, entitled:

trative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," by prescribing the method of payments from the Special Administration Fund.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to suggest to the Majority Leader that the Democratic Caucus Calendar only carried sixteen pages today.

Mr. President, there are five additional pages of legislation which we have had no opportunity to peruse. I request that the rest of the Calendar go over in order, to give us an opportunity to look at it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think that is a very fair request. I am sorry about the error. I understand it was a printer's error and this morning Mr. Gabriel, the Sergeant-at-Arms, tried to have it corrected. The First Calendar I received in my office only had sixteen pages.

Mr. President, I understand that there will be amendments offered to some of these bills, to which the Minority will not have any objections if the amendments are presented today.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 380, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports; and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," by requiring the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review to coordinate work of referees; and prohibiting hearings de novo on further appeals.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. BULLEN, LIPPINCOT, CONNER and CONNELLY.

In the House of Representatives, March 31, 1953.

The victor in sports deserves recognition of his ability and superiority. The victory of Yeadon High School in winning the class "A" high school basketball championship was more than a victory within its class, it represents the first time in Pennsylvania scholastic history that a class "B" high school has won a class "A" championship, and therefore justly deserves the praise of the people.

The hard play and clean sportsmanship displayed by the team, coupled with the expert guidance of its two fine coaches, John Naegeli and Edwin Kirschner were the factors responsible for the winning of this unprecedented championship.

Too often the mantle of public praise falls entirely upon the victor's shoulders. The loser is forgotten as soon as the game is over. It is not our intention to forget the other teams, without whose keen competition, sportsmanship and fine tutelage the victory would be rendered hollow.

The Sharon High School team, excellently coached by

Blaine Laycock and Donald Bennet, displayed all the attributes of champions and therefore deserve recognition for their fine play and sportsmanship, therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend to the coaches and players of the Yeadon High School Basketball Team its heartiest congratulations upon its great and unprecedented victory, and be it further

Resolved, That the congratulations of the House of Representatives be extended to the players and coaches of the Sharon High School for their exemplary play and fine sportsmanship and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk be directed to send a copy of this resolution to the Yeadon and Sharon High Schools.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. DOWN and YOUNG.

In the House of Representatives, March 31, 1953.

The Sharon High School Basketball Team displayed the attributes of true champions in their unsuccessful game with Yeadon High School for the State Class A High School Basketball Championship.

Sharon should be proud of the fine team that represented their city.

The team has compiled an enviable record of 21 games won and only 3 games lost. Sharon High School won the Western Pennsylvania High School Championship by reason of its true sportsmanship, love of the game, keen competition and the expert tutelage of its coaches Blaine Laycock and Donald Bennett; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its heartiest congratulations to the coaches and players of the Sharon High School Basketball Team and wish it continued success in the future; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk send copies of this resolution to coaches Laycock and Bennett and to the Sharon High School Basketball Team.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to voice a plea for and on behalf of the majority Members of this House. I understand that tax legislation has begun to roll out of the Ways and Means Committee. I suggest to the leadership on the other side of the House, the majority leadership, that before they attempt to nail any members of their majority group to the cross, as far as tax legislation is concerned, that they be prepared to tell both the majority and the minority that the other branch of this General Assembly is irrevocably committed to enact any tax legislation which this House sends.

I do not believe that it is exactly fair to the majority Members of this House to take them down the line for tax legislation only to have a righteous Senate reject it.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 141, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 1 of the act approved the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred thirty-two (P. L. 45) entitled "An act empowering cities of the first and second classes to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employees to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced" by prohibiting the imposition of wage income or occupation taxes on non-residents and abolishing such taxes heretofore imposed.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. BOLTON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the second reading postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 7, Printer's No. 13

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 120, Printer's No. 92

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 42 as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 644) entitled "An act relating to and regulating the solicitation of moneys and property for charitable religious benevolent humane and patriotic purposes" by providing for payment of costs in addition to compensation of solicitors and exempting additional organizations and corporations and national service clubs raising funds for child welfare projects from the provisions of the act

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 644) entitled "An act relating to and regulating the solicitation of moneys and property for charitable religious benevolent humane and patriotic purposes" is hereby amended by adding after section 4 thereof a new section to read as follows

Section 4.1 Any solicitor or collector shall be entitled to receive reimbursement of the cost of collection expended by him in addition to the commission percentage of collection bonus or compensation for collection allowed by this act such costs shall not be included in any computation made for any purpose of commission bonus or other compensation agreed to be paid or paid to or accepted or received by any individual corporation copartnership or association for his or its services

Section 2 Section 11 of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 922) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 11 This act shall apply to fraternal organizations national service organizations civic organizations or nonprofit corporations incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth which have obtained and is maintaining an exempt status with the director of internal revenue from the payment of income tax to the Federal Government nor to religious organizations raising funds for religious purposes colleges schools universities or associations of alumni or alumnae thereof raising funds for fellowships or scholarships national service clubs raising funds for child welfare projects federated women's clubs labor unions municipalities or subdivisions thereof nor to charitable institutions or agencies required by the provisions of existing law to file reports with the Department of Public Instruction or with any other department or office of the Commonwealth nor to any war veterans' organization or any subordinate units thereof whenever the purpose for which it is soliciting funds has been approved by the Department of Military Affairs

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if the sponsor of this bill would give a brief explanation of what the bill does.

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, this bill amends the Solicitation Act of 1925. During the 1951 Session the Act was amended to eliminate churches, schools and religious organizations coming under the Act. The bill that has been amended here today eliminates national service clubs, such as Kiwanis, Rotary or Lions—such clubs as come under the national status.

Page 3, section 11, defines that a little more clearly in which it says any organization which has obtained "an exempt status with the Director of Internal Revenue from the payment of income taxes from the Federal Government."

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—1

Worley,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 609 as follows:

An Act making an appropriation from the Motor License Fund to the Pennsylvania Public Safety Commission for the payment of the costs and expenses incurred in the work of the Commission

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) or as much thereof as is necessary is hereby specifically appropriated from the Motor License Fund to the Pennsylvania Public Safety Commission for the payment of the necessary costs and expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of the act approved the eighteenth day of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-two (P. L. 2159) for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-three

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is this appropriation to the Pennsylvania Public Safety Commission for past services or for services to be performed?

Mr. GIBSON. Services to be performed, I understand.

Mr. ANDREWS. Another question, Mr. Speaker. What are the functions of the Public Safety Commission? What does it do?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that question, the Pennsylvania Public Safety Commission was created under an Act of the 1951 Session of the Legislature, and it provides for the furtherance of safety programs and coordination of safety programs of various departments in the state in all fields of public safety in farm, school, industry, home, highway, and so on.

Mr. ANDREWS. Can the gentleman from Warren point to any one definite concrete accomplishment of this Commission during its term of service?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, the Commission was organized in January of this year, and they have so far made considerable progress in cor-relating the various safety activities of the departments of the state. There is a great deal to be done in that field. The Commission has found so far that there is a lot of information that is a duplication.

Various departments have compiled a wide variety of safety information, for instance on prevention of accident. One of the activities of this Commission will be to co-ordinate this effort to make for greater safety in farm work, in the homes, in the schools and on the highways. so far the Commission has barely scratched the surface of what may be accomplished.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman.

The amount to be appropriated is relatively small. Perhaps we should gamble that the appropriation will be justified, but through the years we have appointed too many bodies whose job it was to co-ordinate and consolidate the activities of various groups, and have just piled one body of co-ordinators upon departments that were supposed to be able to co-ordinate themselves.

Why we should have a super-safety organization unless it is to take over the activities in the various departments I would not know. I am not prepared to oppose the appropriation because it is a relatively small one, but I doubt if it is a step in the right direction.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—1

Worley,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 660, as follows:

An Act requiring that copies of bills introduced in the General Assembly be punctuated

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Bills introduced in the General Assembly shall be printed with all punctuations that are on the original bill as introduced

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall not be construed to repeal alter or amend Section 804 of The Administrative Code of 1929 nor any of the provisions of the Statutory Construction Act

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective the first day of January one thousand nine hundred fifty-four

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate Mr. Lippincott, the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether or not under Section 804 of the Administrative Code of 1929 referred to in this bill the Secretary of the Commonwealth is not authorized to punctuate bills enacted by the General Assembly.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill will continue the present practice of having the Secretary of the Commonwealth finally punctuate the bills. It will merely provide that bills as printed and placed before the Members will be punctuated as they are punctuated when introduced.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman further whether, in his opinion, the Secretary of the Commonwealth may change the punctuation as we have written it if it would change the meaning of the bill?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, in my opinion, that still could be done as it presently is done.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman whether he thinks it is good policy to state in the bill that we may punctuate these bills and then have the Secretary of the Commonwealth change that punctuation which would effect a change in meaning?

At the present time there is no punctuation in the bills, and as I understand Section 804 of the Administrative Code, the Secretary of the Commonwealth could not add any punctuation to such bills if it would change the meaning thereof, but the gentleman seems to believe that under this bill that could be done. Am I correct?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I think, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is correct in that. I might say that under the present practice as carried out, as far as I can find in every other state where bills are printed and also in Congress, the bills are punctuated when printed. I think it will greatly simplify the reading of the bills as far as our constitutions are concerned and save a great deal of time for the Members of this body after the bills are printed. But it will continue the practice as it is presently being carried out, of having the Secretary of the Commonwealth finally punctuate the bills.

Mr. READINGER. One further question. May I ask if the gentleman will agree to have this bill placed on the final passage postponed calendar? I ask that for the reason that I originally thought the Secretary of the Commonwealth would be without power to change any meanings by punctuation, but as the gentleman seems to believe the bill will allow that, I certainly think the bill should be amended, and if not amended, should be defeated; because if we write a bill with punctuation in it we know what it means with that punctuation. We do not know what it would mean after the Secretary of the Commonwealth got through punctuating it.

Would the gentleman agree to have this placed on the final passage postponed calendar?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I will agree.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 662, as follows:

An Act to further amend Sections 202 419 and 2112 of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by changing the name of the State Board of Undertakers to the State Board of Funeral Directors

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Wyoming, Mr. Greenwood permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GREENWOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, in reading over this bill, it seems the main point in it is to change the name of the Board of Undertakers to the State Board of Funeral Directors. Is that right?

Mr. GREENWOOD. That is right.

Mr. MORAN. What is the purpose? What is the difference between an undertaker and a funeral director?

Mr. GREENWOOD. The purpose of this bill is to change the wording or the name of the examining Board of Undertakers to Funeral Directors to conform with the rest of the laws.

Mr. MORAN. What difference does it make?

Mr. GREENWOOD. Not a great deal.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman aware of the fact that regardless of what change you make, you are still going to be undertakers. I have no objection to the bill.

Mr. GREENWOOD. I refuse to be further interrogated.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Worley,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. POLASKI asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. POLASKI, BOORY, WELSH, TAYLOR, McGEE, KAMYK, and ROYER offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1953.

Leon J. Kolankiewicz, the son of Lawrence and Katherine (Korcz) Kolankiewicz, celebrates a birthday anniversary on April 6, 1953.

He attended the Philadelphia grammar schools, Brown Preparatory School, Drexel Institute and the Pennsylvania State College of Optometry, and now holds a degree of Doctor of Optometry. While in school he took part in baseball and track and was a member of Phi Theta Epsilon Fraternity.

Leon J. Kolankiewicz's many active and honorable achievements evidences the high qualities of his citizenship and the devotion of his services to the community, the State and the Nation, having served honorably in World War I, overseas during 1918 and 1919, being located in the Meuse-Argonne-Verdun sector; being a member of the American Legion, Post 396; Veterans of Foreign Wars, No. 861; Military Order of the Purple Heart; 315th Infantry Association; the Military Order of Pulaski; Moose Lodge No. 54; Advisory Council Education-Recreation Program of Philadelphia; Philadelphia Optometrical Society; Chairman of Literacy and Citizenship Educational-Recreational Program of the W.P.A.; President of American Relief for Poland in Philadelphia; Chairman of Polish American Citizens' Patriotic Committee 1930-1931; Vice-President Polish Beneficial; member of the Department Legislative Committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; and Vice Chairman of the Department Legislative Committee of the American Legion; Vice Chairman Thomas Jefferson Bicentennial Commission, 1943 to 1945; Director of the Paderewski Testimonial Fund, New York; Board Member of the National Council for the Kosciuszko

Foundation, New York; member of the International Institute Board of Directors; and President of the Polish American Citizens League of Pennsylvania.

Twenty-seven years ago he was married to the former Helen Lojewski, who bore him four sons, the oldest of whom is Lieutenant Leon J. Kolankiewicz, Jr., served four years in World War II and three years of which he was stationed in the Philippines.

The next oldest son, Captain Thaddeus Kolankiewicz, was a Marine pilot for four and one-half years in the second World War and served also in the Korean theater the latter part of 1952 and early part of 1953, being a veteran of one hundred and one flight missions.

The next oldest son, Ensign Robert Kolankiewicz, U. S. Navy, who is serving in Korean waters since 1952.

The youngest son, Pfc. Lawrence Kolankiewicz is a member of the Pennsylvania National Guard and R.O.T.C. at Temple University.

Leon is a highly respected member of the Philadelphia legislative delegation, representing the nineteenth district, having been elected to this House of Representatives in 1940, and reelected in 1942, 1944, 1948, 1950 and in 1952, now serving his sixth term in the House, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its wholehearted felicitations to Mr. Kolankiewicz on his birthday anniversary and extend to him its wishes for many more such anniversaries in the future, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House transmit a copy of this resolution to Mr. Leon J. Kolankiewicz, at his home, 3111 Richmond Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kolankiewicz.

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the sponsors of that beautiful resolution, and I also want to thank the Speaker for the birthday greeting that I found in my mail box today.

Ever since I arrived in the House of Representatives, I always had the urge that I would like to spend a birthday up here with our boys.

Since the War broke out, the second World War, I did not have that opportunity, but I hope it may come again. I do want to express my appreciation of your hearty congratulations towards me today, because it is congratulations like that that help build the spirit and uphold the morale of the fathers of boys who are serving their country. Thank you very much.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. STONE ask and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. SPENCER from the Committee on Cities-Counties—First, Second and Second Class A, reported as amended, House Bill No. 917, entitled:

An Act to add Section 6.1 to the act, approved the twenty-first day of April, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 665), entitled "An act to carry into effect section one of article fifteen of the Constitution, giving cities of the first class the right and power to frame, adopt and amend their own charters and to exercise the powers and authority of local self-government, and providing the procedure therefor; imposing certain restrictions, limitation and regulations; imposing duties upon city councils, city officers, county boards of elections, courts and the Secretary of the Commonwealth; and providing for the payment of certain expenses by such cities; and imposing penalties," by providing for emergency amendments.

INTERROGATION

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader.

Mr. ANDREWS. Is it the intention of the majority to be in session four days this week?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, that is true.

Mr. ANDREWS. If it is not revealing party or caucus secrets, is it the intention of the majority to press tax legislation to a final conclusion this week?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is right.

Mr. ANDREWS. We can then conclude that the sales tax, as far as the House is concerned, will stand or fall next Thursday?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the Majority Leader.

When the House convenes next Thursday will it be necessary for us on the minority side to resort to various parliamentary expedients to find out just exactly how many Members he has in the Hall of the House, or if we ask him, will he tell us?

Mr. JOHNSON. I will be glad to give you a report.

Mr. ANDREWS. Accurately?

Mr. JOHNSON. Very accurately.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the Majority Leader.

SOUTH DAKOTA—SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 4

The SPEAKER laid before the House Senate Resolution No. 4 of the State of South Dakota applying for a convention to propose an amendment to the Constitution of the United States to provide an additional independent mode of proposing amendments to the constitution by the sovereign states their inherent power to amend the constitution.

SENATE

TUESDAY, APRIL 7, 1953.

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. PAUL S. MONTGOMERY, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Aspinwall, offered the following prayer:

Let us bow in prayer.

Before Thee, O God, these men pause before taking up the deliberations of the afternoon. We would seek Thy guidance for them in their behalf, for we realize how weak we are and we need Thy strength. Thou knowest the burdens they carry; Thou knowest, and we know too, that we seek a wisdom which is from on high, that we might apply it in our own lives and in the problems which are ours.

We would not go around our duties, but we would face them in the realization that Thou art able to give direction and thinking and understanding. So, we pray that the problems may be decided, and decisions made, as they give thought to the best interests of all the people.

So hear us, our Father, as we ask Thy blessing upon them in this assembly, upon them each in their own individual lives, that in all things Thy name may be honored and mankind bettered for their work. In Christ's Name, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. STEVENSON, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 594), entitled "An act establishing certain township roads as State highways; authorizing their construction, maintenance, and improvement under certain conditions and restrictions; limiting the obligation of the Commonwealth in the construction of certain structures located on such highways; conferring certain powers upon the Department of Highways and local authorities, persons, associations and corporations for sharing the cost of the maintenance and construction of such highways; and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act," by deleting a route in Lancaster County.

Whereupon,

The President (Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd H. Wood) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr President and Members of the Senate, it has taken fifteen weeks in this General Assembly for the Republicans to build up strategy that is expected to result in either a sales tax or a wage tax. I must admit that it looks as though the hand of some high pressure advertising company has loaned their offices and staff to the Republican Party, in an attempt to relieve those who are best able to pay taxes and to place an additional burden of the backs of the family provider, who is trying to raise a family of five or six children, on what he is able to earn by actual work.

Mr. President, the plot of the Republican Majority Party has been divulged step by step. The first step was the Chesterman Report. In this report, made by some of the best business minds of the Commonwealth, the committee members pointed out ways and means to save the State approximately $100,000,000 over a period of ten years. The Report was handed to the Members of the General Assembly, but, unfortunately, no extra copies were available for groups or individuals in the State who desired to study the recommendations that were made. I, personally, asked on this Floor of the Senate how copies could be obtained, and the Majority Leader said they were not available but were at the printer's and would be finished in two weeks. Copies are not available, as of today.

A Committee was formed, Mr. President, dominated by the Republican Majority Members of both the House and the Senate, and public hearings were undertaken. However, how could anyone appear in favor of a report which they had never seen? The Bureau heads, trying to protect their pay rolls, were well prepared to break down the report and discredit it with the public.

You know the results of the hearings, Mr. President. The Committee decided, that is the Republican Majority Members of the Committee, to discontinue the hearings and introduce the bills for debate and passage in the Senate. The people of Pennsylvania immediately started to doubt the results of the Chesterman Report, as to its ability to cut the budget to any extent that would result in a savings of taxes.

Now, the next step in the plot. A group of seventeen Senators, all Republicans, came up with a saving of $146,000,000. This so-called "saving" was merely a shifting of the tax load from the State to the local communities. Eighty-eight million dollars of it affected the educational system of Pennsylvania, and the teachers' salaries were threatened by this clever propaganda. This move was done to scare the real estate owners, and especially to frighten the 60,000 teachers who would be personally affected by this change in taxation.

Then, the next step appeared. The results of the Tax Study Commission were released. The only part of this study which was featured and played up was that the easiest way out of the present tax dilemma was a sales or wage tax. Then, from different sources, releases to the newspapers started to appear in which the good points of a sales tax were stressed, and how easy it would be to maintain educational standards if either one of these taxes were passed.

The time has come, I believe, when certain politicians should stop thinking that they are so much brighter than "Mr. Taxpayer." Mr. President, the public has not been fooled on this maneuvering. I noticed in quite a few of the Sunday papers that it was pointed out that the public saw through the scheming of the Members of the Republican Party, who thought that, with a little high pressure and by putting fear in the local governments of having to accept a large tax load, they could drum up a lot of support for a sales tax.

I have been wondering, ever since the first day of this Session, where the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, which is supposed to represent business in our Commonwealth, and the Chamber of Commerce, have been when many Members of this Senate were trying to secure economy in state government? Mr. President, the Manufacturers' Association did not seem interested in economy, as their head is a Republican politician, Mason Owlett, who is satisfied to put on new taxes to pay for inefficiency in government, provided the members of his Manufacturing Association are not taxed. Apparently Mr. Owlett is more interested in using the Manufacturers' Association to regain control of the Republican Party than he is in serving the manufacturing interests of our great State, which he is supposedly representing. Mr. Owlett knew that economy in government meant the cutting of a swollen pay roll and, as many stooges of his are still on the pay roll, he wanted to hold on to those political workers for the gubernatorial fight next year.

Mr. President, where the Chamber of Commerce has stood in the fight for economy in government has always been a question to me. They too seem to favor a "broad base tax" which should be rechristened "a broad back tax," as all that has been recommended to date would fall on the backs of the workers of Pennsylvania. Incidentally, these workers consist of many men who have returned from the Armed Services, and who are married and raising families. I might add that I am on the Board of Directors of the South Side Chamber of Commerce in Pittsburgh.

It is not too late, not by any means, Mr. President, to still enact into law the recommendations of the Chesterman Report, which will effect an economy in government. I voted for everyone of the bills that appeared in this Senate last week. I was convinced that this legislation, if passed and properly administered by an administrator who was interested in having it work, would bring about a saving of money, as all the legislation pointed to better efficiency in government and efficiency in government always ends in less spending.

I believe that the Chesterman Report should be enacted into law, Mr. President, as it is the first suggestion that we ever had from an outside study on State Government since the Fisher Administration in 1927.

I call upon the Manufacturers' Association and the Chamber of Commerce for help, sincere help, in an attempt to defeat those powers in Pennsylvania which are playing petty politics at the expense of the taxpayer, and are more interested in maneuvering into a position for control of the Republican Party than in effecting economy and efficiency in government. Mr. President, here is the chance for the good people of Pennsylvania to start a crusade to insist that no taxes shall be levied until it is proven that every bit of "fat" has been cut out of the present budget.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I suppose that was a preview of the political speeches which we will hear next year by those who think they can use this Chesterman Report as a political football. A little while ago, at the Mosque, when we had a meeting with the church forces of the Commonwealth, I said that I was proud of this Senate in the way it was voting and considering the Chesterman Report recommendations because I said, for once, I believe that the Senate is not being political, and that we were voting on these bills as our conscience dictated. Now, I find that we are again talking about politics in connection with this Chesterman Report.

Mr. President, certainly I think that the Chesterman Committee Report as far as being political ammunition should be out the window, and I am surprised that Senator Holland is still riding that old shay.

Mr. President, the Minority Floor Leader last week, I think, very forthrightly put it, when he said, "I am much afraid, Mr. President, that a ghastly joke has been played upon the people of Pennsylvania. They have been led to believe that this Legislature had within its power, by simply following the recommendations of this committee and commission, the ability to save $100,000,000 for the people of Pennsylvania." Then he said that it is more or less of a phony. Certainly, I think Senator Dent is to be commended for looking at this honestly, and I wish that all the Senators would do that rather than try to make political hay out of this report.

Mr. President, I was not here at the time, but I believe that had I been I would have gone along with the majority of the Senators in saying that further hearings on this report would not serve any good purpose and, perhaps, the thing to do was to put their recommendations into the form of bills, and present them to the Legislature where we could then examine this legislation which was offered to implement the recommendations. If there was anything good in it, we could vote it through. If there was anything bad in it, we could vote it down.

Mr. President, this problem was approached from not a party viewpoint, but from a nonpartisan viewpoint. Senator Dent, the Minority Leader, and myself, representing the Majority in the Senate, co-sponsored this legislation and we saw to it that the Members would have a chance to vote on it. They could not come up here and say that we buried it in some committee. So, we altered our usual practice in the Senate of referring bills to appropriate committees, and we referred these bills to the Rules Committee, with the understanding that the Rules Committee would see to it that they were reported out.

Mr. President, no one can say that the Rules Committee was laying down on the job, because all of these bills have been reported out, which we have received, and reported out within twenty-four hours from the time which they were sponsored and referred to the Rules Committee. They cannot say anything about that. Then they hit the Calendar. How many of them have we looked at which would, save us very much of anything so far? They transfer bureaus from one department to another; they say by taking out this group of individuals from over on this side of the Capitol, and transferring them over to another room on the other side of the Capitol, we are going to save so much money. Well, now, we, who are experienced in State Government, know that is just foolish. It probably would not save any money to do that. It might cost more money than what is now being spent for those departments.

Mr. President, there is a bill, which is part of the Chesterman Committee Report, and you will find this bill on page 7 of our Calendar. It is Senate Bill No. 337. That is part of the Chesterman Committee Report and recommendations, and it has to do with changing the amount of money that the State Government is going to give to local school districts, so as to put them on a more equitable basis. I wonder how Senator Holland and some of these other Senators are going to vote on that bill when it is before the Senate. That bill is not going to save any money, but it is going to transfer the burden from the State Government back to the local districts, and we are going to be able to cut out about $9,000,000 of the budget if that bill is passed and enacted into law.

Mr. President, I realize that the city of Pittsburgh, and some of these other places, are going to yell bloody murder about that bill, but that is one of the bills which is going to transfer a matter of $9,000,000. You are not going to cut this budget very much without transferring the burden back to the local districts.

Mr. President, I hear Senators get up here and talk about fat in the budget. That is a nice way of putting it, but when you try to pin them down to where this fat is, they cannot say where it is. I say this budget does not have any fat in it; it is really too lean. There are a lot of things which we should have in that budget that are not there.

For instance, Mr. President, I read in the newspapers about how we should be appropriating some money to take care of the oak wilt in the State of Pennsylvania. If we don't do something about the oak tree blight, we may lose all the oak trees in Pennsylvania the same as we did our chestnut trees. They say we should spend some money to try to correct that situation. If we do not spend it now to do that job, it will not do us much good to spend it three years from now, because they will all be gone. Then it will cost a hundred times as much to do the job then that we should be starting now.

Mr. President, there are many things the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should be doing. I know that every Senator, probably within my hearing, has received very pathetic letters from mothers, who have abnormal children in their homes, who are trying to get them into Polk or some other institution that hospitalizes those children. We all get pathetic letters, where the doctors say that a particular subnormal child should be removed from the home and put into a hospital, because of the effect upon the rest of the family. We are not taking care of that problem. Pennsylvania should spend a lot of money by taking care of things which should be taken care of, and not worry about this little bit of a tax which the Senator is so worried about.

Mr. President, in other States which have enacted sales taxes, broad base taxes, most all of them have been initiated under Democratic controlled legislatures. I think in the group of States which have enacted them, there are around thirty that such a tax was enacted under Democratic governors. To make a political football out of this report I think is wrong.

Mr. President, I say we should attack these problems as we come to them, and do it on a forthright, honest basis and quit harping about the taxes, because they just do it for expediency. They know that in order to do this job we have to have further taxes.

Mr. President, as far as corporations are concerned that are owned by a lot of individual stockholders,—I will not say "big business" as they like to say—but most of the corporation stock is owned by small fellows. In Pennsylvania, we certainly have unloaded a big burden upon our business, to the extent that many businesses are going elsewhere to expand and to locate. We certainly are not attracting them into Pennsylvania by our type of tax program.

The simple truth, Mr. President, is that through the Democratic inspired administration in Washington, over the period of years, they have devalued the dollar to a point where you cannot buy a dollar's worth, the same kind of a dollar's worth, of merchandise anymore which you used to buy for a dollar. You go to the grocery store, and where you used to buy a lot of groceries for four or five dollars, now you can put in your pocketbook what you get for the same amount of money.

Mr. President, people cannot live today on the same salary which they used to get back in 1930. Consequently, the cost of our employees has gone up. We have to pay more money for stenographers and for the various other ones who operate our State Government, more money for school teachers and more money for everything. They cannot live now any better than we can on the same kind of money they received back in 1930. That is the reason our budget continues to increase.

Mr. President, it is not that we are throwing money away. We are just trying to establish a standard of living for these people so they will not have to go around with holes in their clothing, so they will have sufficient money to eat properly. We are trying to see to it that they are able to maintain a decent standard of living. Those are the things which, perhaps, will necessitate us in Pennsylvania seeking some new tax money.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the gentleman from Crawford has now laid the groundwork for the passage of a sales tax. He points out in his discourse that adjacent States, and other States throughout the Nation, have inaugurated a sales tax under Democratic Governors. That is why we do not have more Democratic Governors, because of their actions.

Mr. President, the people of this Commonwealth do not want a sales tax. If the Republican Majority wishes to pass a sales tax, well and good. I wish them luck. We,

of the Democratic Party, will not give them one vote.

Mr. President, we do, however, realize our responsibilities. If we make appropriations, we must have taxation. We are willing to sit down with the Majority in order to work out a tax program, but not a sales tax nor a wage tax. It is quite apparent that they have a one-track mind. Two years ago it was a wage tax; today it is a sales tax. They can pass it; they have a majority in both branches of the government.

Mr. President, the gentleman speaks about Washington and the deflated dollar. Well, we have more of them now. He states that the dollar buys very little. Now they have their own party in power, and we shall wait and see what they will do about the situation. Back in my county a depression is on right now. The mines are closing every day. The railroads are furloughing men, plants are closing and the mills are working only part time. The cost of living has not come down, but they are making fewer dollars right now.

Mr. President, we hope the Eisenhower administration will show the way. They asked for a change, and the same battle cry will take place next year in the Commonwealth, when we are going to ask for a change to clear up the mess in Harrisburg. If we ever had a mess, we have it here. To add to the mess, we are asked to pass a sales tax. Many of you are going back home after you pass it, and you will stay back home.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I imagine that the Majority Leader has a responsibility to perform, but, of course, when he does his talking he should consider his prior actions.

Yesterday, Mr. President, the Majority Party defeated an amendment of mine to a strip mining bill. It was called to my attention that the gentlemen were so interested in the conservation of our natural resources. It seems that was not the case yesterday.

Mr. President, they talk about the devaluation of the dollar. Here we had a bill whereby $300 was the amount per acre that the strippers put up back in 1943, and because I tried to amend that bill to make the bond comparable with the times—then he talks about the Democratic dollar. I thought we should increase that bond, but, no. The spokesman on the Majority Side then said we were tying up too much capital.

Now, if that be true, Mr. President, if what they said yesterday is true today, I feel that they are trying to work both sides of the street at the same time.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I really am surprised that every time we have a Session, they talk about business going elsewhere. Every time there is a political campaign in Pennsylvania, the Republican Party goes out and tells about all the business they brought into Pennsylvania. Somebody is lying. The Department of Commerce sent out a very beautiful booklet, in which they showed that they had brought millions of dollars worth of business into Pennsylvania. I wish the Majority Leader would check with the people who give out these figures and see who is right, whether he is right or the Department of Commerce is right.

Mr. President, the Majority Leader speaks about the dollar that is not worth any money. I remember the days of the Republicans, when a dollar of any value would have been good in our pockets. We did not even have a nickel or a dime in our pockets. It is better to have these dollars, which are not worth a whole lot, in our pockets than none at all, as we had in the days of Hoover.

Mr. President, anyone who runs a business does not decide what they are going to spend before they decide what they are going to make. That is exactly what this General Assembly is doing. We are considering taxation before we have decided what we are going to appropriate, and what is needed for appropriations. Therefore, we are putting the cart before the horse. Let us find out what we need first.

Mr. President, the only way we can find out what we need is by at least giving some study to the Chesterman Report. I say to you that no one in this Senate today can vote on these bills intelligently, because you have not given an opportunity to those people, who so desired, to study the Chesterman Report.

Mr. President, I still have in my files requests for eleven copies of the Chesterman Report from manufacturer in Allegheny County, from the smaller manufacturers' group. They said, "We cannot do anything until we study it." Now, who has studied the report? The only people who have studied it are the people who want to remain on the pay roll. We had to even fight to get the Chesterman Report, and it was through Senator Yosko that we put the reports, which we had received through the newspapers, into the Legislative Journal for our study.

Mr. President, I do not think that the people who are students of government over the years, who have helped make these reports, would make any suggestions unless they were sound. These are people who have studied government. They are from Penn State and some of the other universities, who teach government. I think these men are capable of making suggestions to us, because that is their business. We run more errands when we do get an opportunity to study government, and I think you all will agree with that.

Mr. President, the Majority Leader mentioned the "ghastly joke," which was said, he claimed, by Senator Dent. I think it was a ghastly joke on the public of Pennsylvania. However, the ghastly joke is, in effect, that you did not have supplies in order to make this report available to all interested parties in Pennsylvania. Had we had that report available, then I think it would be another story today.

Mr. President, I am really surprised that the Republican Party today is not interested in economy. In the last campaign, I heard a lot of talk about economy in government. It seems to me that economy in government is always when it does not affect your own party. Any time we talk about economy in government in Pennsylvania, we always throw in the fact and point out a few important functions of government like education or health. There are a lot of other functions of government here where money is being spent which should not be spent.

Mr. President, I think we should just forget all these bills for a while, and bring in some people who know something about government to discuss the Chesterman Report and give them a chance to study it. Then we will find there will be quite a difference in the cost of government in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have just been advised that the printer, or some representative of the printer, has delivered 10,000 copies of the Government Survey Committee Reports, to Room 455 in the Education Building. That was just done today.

Mr. President, these reports are now available, and, although no plans have been worked out for distribution to the Senators or to their constituents, I am suggesting this. If the Democrats want any copies, I suggest they place their request with Senator Dent's office, and if the Republican Senators want any copies, that they place their requests in my office and I will try to get them to you. I feel that Senator Dent will also take care of his colleagues.

REPORT FROM JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE ON TURNPIKE SAFETY

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I am happy to report the preliminary statistical findings of the Joint Legislative Committee on Turnpike Safety. This is authorized by a joint resolution, passed by the House and Senate. On behalf of the Joint Legislative Committee, I have the honor to transmit herewith these preliminary findings.

Mr. President, copies of this report for distribution to the Members of the Senate have been placed in the post-office box of each member.

The PRESIDENT. The report will be noted in the Journal.

INTERROGATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Somerset, Senator Hare.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Hare, have you made public the specific recommendations that the committee prepared this morning?

Mr. HARE. Senator Dent, the specific six recommendations that the subcommittee agreed to this morning have been released, by newspaper releases, to the press.

Mr. DENT. Thank you, I wanted to know that because some Members of the Senate have read it, or looked at my report which I had here in printed form, and they said it was all right as far as it went, but it had not made any recommendations. I wanted them to know that we had released to the press the six specific recommendations of the committee.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I wonder if my colleagues will forgive me if I ask for about a five minute recess, for the purpose of having this Odd Fellows Home band come in and serenade us for about five minutes. Maybe it will bring a little harmony into the Session.

At this time, Mr. President, there will also be a meeting of the Local Government Committee, for the purpose of holding a public hearing.

Therefore, Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for five minutes.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, in 1949 the Legislature granted home rule to the city of Philadelphia. In 1951, at a special election, the voters of Philadelphia adopted a new home rule charter consolidating county offices and city offices. Subsequently, the Council of Philadelphia, by a resolution duly passed, appointed an Advisory Consolidation Commission to study the problem of properly integrating the county offices, and to determine which of the county offices shall remain elective and which shall become appointive.

Mr. President, this consolidation commission submitted its report to the City Council of Philadelphia on February 9, 1953, which report of the commission has been adopted by City Council. The City Council of Philadelphia further passed a resolution, asking that this Legislature grant the City Council of Philadelphia authority to complete the consolidation of city and county offices, and by ordinance to definitely determine which offices shall be elective and which shall be appointive.

Therefore, Mr. President, this bill which I am about to introduce, on behalf of my colleagues, Senator Stiefel, Senator Weiner, Senator Camiel and myself, will accomplish the purposes of final city-county consolidation.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. SILVERT, STIEFEL, WEINER and CAMIEL read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 445, entitled:

An Act to carry out the intent and purpose of Article XV, Section 1, and Article XIV, Section 8, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and to supplement the First Class City Home Rule Act approved April 21, 1949, P. L. 665, by vesting in the Council of the City of Philadelphia full powers to legislate with respect to the election, appointment, compensation, organization, abolition, merger, consolidation, powers, functions and duties of certain officers, offices, boards and commissions of the City of Philadelphia; providing that such officers may be made appointive or abolished; and altering the term of the District Attorney of Philadelphia.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I do not want to repeat what I said yesterday relative to this bill. I am going to ask the Members of the Senate to vote "no" on this bill, first, due to the questions I raised yesterday in my brief talk; second, because of the broad, unexplained implications in the bill; and, third, Mr. President, if there were nothing to hide, the promoters of this legislation would certainly, voluntarily, upon request for a public hearing, agree to such a hearing. Certainly those who had this bill drafted—I am talking about the promoters now—had something in mind when they prepared this bill. They had some sort of plans to accomplish something. Because it is foreign to us, at least to me, I think we should be advised on legislation such as this before we pass upon it.

Mr. President, I want to add just one more question to what I raised yesterday. We have a toll bridge in my district, a toll bridge which should have been free back in 1949. However, the promoters of this bill placed that bridge in hock as security to float a bond issue to erect another bridge down in Trenton, which I understand now cannot pay its debts because it is not collecting sufficient tolls. This is an indication to me that at the time this bridge was placed in hock, the bridge down in Trenton was not needed, as was indicated by the hundreds of people who came up here pleading to the Senate not to pass the bill because of the number of houses that were to be torn down.

Mr. President, I would like to know, for instance, for the construction that might be involved in this bill here, will this toll bridge in Easton be used as a pawn to help finance something else, and continue as a toll bridge for a longer period of thirty years? I think we have a right to know these things.

As I said before, Mr. President, if the sponsors of the bill, or the promoters of the bill, have nothing to hide, they should agree to a public hearing, or an informal hearing, and give us a chance to find out just what is in back of somebody's mind, just what they propose to do, and just what plans they have. Since they have not done that, and since we do not know what the plans are of this commission, I ask the Members of this Senate to vote against the bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 203, as follows:

An Act to amend subsection (a) of Section 9 of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1828) entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries" by authorizing investments in common stocks of investment companies meeting certain qualifications and eliminating the requirement that stock must be listed on an exchange as to the stock of investment companies

Section 1 Subsection (a) of Section 9 of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1828) entitled "An act concerning the investment powers and duties of guardians committees trustees and other fiduciaries except personal representatives and prescribing the nature and kind of investments which may be made and retained by such fiduciaries as last amended by the act approved the twenty-fourth day of August one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 1410) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 9 Stocks

(a) Preferred and Common Stock Preferred and common stock of any corporation organized under the laws of the United States or of any commonwealth or state thereof or of the District of Columbia shall be an authorized investment if

(1) purchased in the exercise of that degree of judgment and care under the circumstances then prevailing which men of prudence discretion and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs not in regard to speculation but in regard to the permanent disposition of their funds considering the probable income to be derived therefrom as well as the probable safety of their capital

(2) in the case of preferred stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in eight of the preceding ten fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding ten fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during such year

(3) in the case of common stock the corporation issuing the stock has earned a net profit in twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years as reflected in its statements and during each of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in the specified amounts upon all its preferred stock if any outstanding during said year and in each of at least twelve of the preceding sixteen fiscal years has paid dividends in some amount upon all its common stock if any outstanding during such year and

(4) in the case of any stock other than stock of a bank

or insurance company or of an investment company (as hereinafter defined) the stock is listed or traded (or if unlisted or not entitled to trading privileges shall be eligible for listing and application for such listing shall have been made) on the New York Stock Exchange or any other exchange approved by the Secretary of Banking

No investment in common stock shall be made which at that time would cause the market value of the investments in common stocks to exceed one-third of the market value of the estate not including in such market value the value of any participation in a common trust fund No sale or other liquidation of any investment shall be required solely because of any change in market values whereby the percentages of stocks hereinabove set forth are exceeded In determining the market value of an estate a fiduciary may rely upon published market quotations as to those investments for which such quotations are available and upon such valuations of other property as in his best judgment seem fair and reasonable according to available information

When a corporation has acquired a substantial part of its property within sixteen years immediately preceding the investment by consolidation or merger or by the purchase of a substantial part of the property of any other corporation or corporations the earnings of the predecessor or constituents corporations shall be consolidated so as to ascertain whether the requirements of this section have been satisfied

"Corporation" as used in this section shall include a voluntary association a joint-stock association or company a business trust a Massachusetts trust a common-law trust and any other organization organized and existing for any lawful purpose and which like a corporation continues to exist notwithstanding changes in the personnel of its members or participants and conducts its affairs through a committee a board or some other group acting in a representative capacity

"Investment Company" as used in this section shall mean a corporation (as defined in this Section) which is registered as an investment company under the Federal Investment Company Act of 1940 as from time to time amended and which has no preferred stock bonds loans or any other outstanding securities having preference or priority as to assets or earnings over its common stock and which shall have net assets of not less than Ten million dollars ($10,000,000) at the date of purchase.

"Common Stock" as used in this section shall include the stock certificates certificates of beneficial interests or trust participation certificates issued by any corporation or unincorporated association included under the definition of "corporation" in the preceding paragraph

An Act

Prohibiting the payment by counties of costs in criminal cases discharged after [preliminary] hearings before magistrates justices of the peace and aldermen unless names and addresses of prosecutors defendants and witnesses appear on the transcript thereof and the transcript delivered to the county commissioners within a certain period

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That no county shall hereafter be liable for the payment of any costs in any prosecution brought before any magistrate alderman or justice of the peace against any person on the charge of having committed any crime or summary offense when such charge shall upon examination at a [preliminary] hearing appear to be unfounded and shall be dismissed or discharged by such magistrate alderman or justice of the peace and the costs thereof directed to be paid by the county or where the defendant is convicted and sentenced to jail in default of the payment of the fine and costs imposed unless there shall be endorsed upon the transcript of such proceedings the names and specific addresses of the prosecutor the defendant or defendants and of all the witnesses who were called and sworn and who testified at such hearing or examination and the transcript delivered to the office of the county commissioners within thirty (30) days after the hearing.

Section 2 It is unlawful for the county commissioners or the controller of any county to order authorize or approve the payment of any costs in any such proceedings unless the transcript thereof shall contain the name and specific address of the prosecutor the defendant or defendants and all witnesses and has been delivered to the office of the county commissioners as required by the preceding section of this act

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 337, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the tenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 30), entitled "An act relating to the public school system, including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools, amending, revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto," by limiting the amount of reimbursement by the Commonwealth to school districts and vocational school districts; and requiring the Department of Public Instruction to administer the financial affairs of financially handicapped and distressed school districts in certain cases.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 340, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 208 of the act approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by clarifying the holding over after expiration of the term of office of persons appointed by the Governor and repealing inconsistent provisions.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before this bill goes over in its order, I want to suggest that this is the bill which, by accident, became one of the bills which was introduced regarding the Chesterman Committee Report. Now, I find myself in the embarrassing position of sponsoring a bill to which I am wholeheartedly opposed. I would suggest that the gentleman who co-sponsored this bill, I presume by accident also, go along with me. I would like to move that this bill be sent back to the "burial committee." If you want to introduce the bill under your own signature, it is perfectly all right with me.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is in the position where he feels like he is being asked to represent a client who is trying to free himself from contributory negligence.

How does the Majority Floor Leader feel about this matter?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, of course, I understand that there are many of these bills, bearing Senator Dent's signature, to which he is opposed. If this one in particular is especially obnoxious to him, I think it is only fair that we do that, because it was my mistake.

Mr. President, this bill came in with a whole package, and at that time the Department of Justice and the Legislative Reference Bureau were delivering packages of bills to my desk in connection with the Chesterman Committee Report, and this one happened to be delivered along with the rest of them. I just took it for granted that it was part of the Chesterman Committee Report. I was in error.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER WITHDRAWN

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I, therefore, withdraw my request that Senate Bill No. 340, on third reading, go over in its order.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 340, on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Rules. I think we should have a chance to bury a bill in the Rules Committee for a change.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 371, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (c) of Section 3 of the act, approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 752) entitled "An act regulating and improving the civil service of certain departments and agencies of the Commonwealth; vesting in the State Civil Service Commission and a Personnel Director certain powers and duties; providing for classification of positions, adoption of compensation schedules and certification of payrolls; imposing duties upon certain officers and employes of the Commonwealth; authorizing service to other State departments or agencies and political subdivisions of the Commonwealth in matters relating to civil service; defining certain crimes and misdemeanors; imposing penalties; making certain appropriations, and repealing certain acts and parts thereof," by extending the provisions of said act to Anthracite Mine Inspectors and Bituminous Mine Inspectors.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any volunteers?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Holland, I believe has some ideas about that. He is an authority on that.

The PRESIDENT. The Majority Floor Leader suggests an authority from Allegheny County.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I am not an authority, and I did not have an opportunity to study this bill in detail, because the Republican Majority has held these things up so long and has wasted so much time for fourteen weeks. However, I do think that what has been done on local assessments, on the equalization of local assessments, up to date is practically nil.

Mr. President, as an authority, I think I shall go for the suggestion of the Chesterman Report, and hope that it will effect economy eventually.

The PRESIDENT. Is that responsive to the gentleman's question?

Mr. DENT. Well, Mr. President, it is an answer.

I just want to say, Mr. President, that we have heard about bureaucracies and departments being created, but this Tax Equalization Board was created for a specific function. It has one job to do. In order to perpetuate the job and the commission, we now find that we are taking duties from another department and putting them in that department. There is no suggestion that it saves a nickel; there is no suggestion that it will raise any revenue. I, for one, cannot see how the people of Pennsylvania would benefit and in the end I believe that it will be costly to the State Government, because it is the creation of another bureau. Out of a temporary committee, we are making a permanent position.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, this Senate has killed the bill that does away with the Department of Internal Affairs, which was part of the suggestions made, to do away with the Department of Internal Affairs and transfer it to another department. Therefore, this bill is not necessary at this time because you killed the Department of Internal Affairs bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL No. 376 BE RECOMMITTED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules, because it is not needed at this time.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, it does not necessarily follow that because the Department of Internal Affairs bill was defeated,—that is, the bill to abolish the Department of Internal Affairs was defeated,—that this bill would go down the same drain. This bill simply provides that the duties relating to local assessments and tax statistics be taken care of by the State Tax Equalization Board, instead of by the Department of Internal Affairs.

Mr. President, we agreed that these bills would be reported from the Rules Committee and would be voted by the individual Members of the Senate, according to the dictates of their own conscience, as to how they felt, whether the bill was good or whether it was bad. It is now before us. I cannot see any useful purpose in recommitting it to the Rules Committee. Therefore, I wish to object to the motion, and ask my colleagues to vote "no" on it.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, this bill is the most glaring example as to how commissions once established can grow. I am definitely, and always have been, opposed to the cost—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Point of order, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator yield?

Mr. MALLERY. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. For what purpose does the gentleman from Crawford rise?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to raise a point of order at this time. I would just like to tell Senator Mallery that if he will withhold his comments on the bill until after we vote on this motion, as to whether or not the bill should be recommitted, I think then his remarks would be in order.

The PRESIDENT. Surely the Members of the Senate know that it is contrary to the provisions of the Senate Rules to debate a motion to recommit.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, am I permitted to withdraw my second to the motion?

The PRESIDENT. The Senator may certainly withdraw his second to the motion. Is the Chair to infer that there is no one else to second this motion?

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL No. 376 BE RECOMMITTED TO COMMITTEE WITHDRAWN

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, desire to withdraw his motion?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, inasmuch as this bill is part of the package, and is tied up with the Department of Internal Affairs, it does not make any difference if it is killed in the Senate or in committee.

Therefore, I wish to withdraw my motion to recommit, and ask my colleagues on this side to vote "no" on the bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I did not mean to interfere with Senator Mallery's debate on the bill, and now I would like to give him the opportunity to continue if he wishes.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, my remarks will be brief.

Mr. President, this commission was set up, as Senator Dent stated, to perform but one purpose, and that was to determine the reimbursement fractions. This commission has been spending, as I recall, over $200,000 a year. There certainly is someone in this Senate who will know, or can suggest, ways and means of performing that function without spending that much money.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, first I would like to state why I withdrew my second to Senator Holland's motion.

After reading this bill, Mr. President, I found that I erred. Last week I spoke briefly on the duties of that important office. I spoke about the duties of the Secretary, and now I see why this bill was introduced.

Mr. President, it appears to me that perhaps the Secretary of Internal Affairs might once again want to take a postgraduate course and go to college, and surely he could not do his work and take up a postgraduate course, because the last four years he attended college to become a lawyer.

Mr. President, the department head may have a lot of work, and I think it is fair enough to remove this work from his office to another department in order to give that gentleman a chance to go to college at our expense, and buy more Cadillacs and have a good time on the taxpayers' money.

Mr. President, I think we should vote for this bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I think we should vote against this piece of legislation. I say so because it is a part of the duties of the Secretary of Internal Affairs. It does not belong to the Tax Equalization Board.

Mr. President, I certainly concur in the remarks made by Senator Mallery. We should vote "no" on this bill at this time.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—5

Haluska, Leader,	McMenamin,	Weiner,	Yosko,
---------------------	------------	---------	--------

NAYS—41

Bane,	Hare,	McCusker,	Stevenson,
Barr,	Harney,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 379, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2879), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports; and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," by prescribing the method of payments from the Special Administration Fund.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 6, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the nineteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 534), entitled "An act relating to appointment of deputy constables," by defining the jurisdiction of deputy constables.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS RECOMMENDED

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 268, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the twenty-sixth day of April, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 318), entitled "An act to regulate the sale and possession of penicillium (penicillin), and its derivatives, preparations and compounds in the interest of public health," by providing certain exceptions to said act and by omitting the word "written."

be recommended to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 269, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the twelfth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 133), entitled "An act to regulate the sale and possession of sulfanilamide and its derivatives in the interest of public health," by omitting the word "written."

be recommended to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 285, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the act, approved the twenty-first day of July, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 425), entitled "An act to establish a system uniform throughout the Commonwealth for the compensation of witnesses, regulating the amount, payment and taxation as costs thereof, and repealing inconsistent legislation."

The first, second and third sections were read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. McPHERSON, JR. offered the following amendment:

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by inserting after "legislation" the following: "by including witnesses appearing to testify before any coroner, coroner's jury or inquest and providing for payment of fees."

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. McPHERSON, JR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 285, on second reading, go over in its order, as amended.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 380, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897), entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," by requiring the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review to coordinate work of referees; and prohibiting hearings de novo on further appeals.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 381, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges, abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards, and commissions shall be determined," by providing for the establishment in the Department of Labor and Industry of the Industrial Board as a departmental advisory board, and abolishing the Industrial Board as a departmental administrative board.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 382, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine, (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards, and commissions shall be determined," by merging the State Employees' Retirement Board and the Public School Employees' Retirement Board and establishing a joint board known as the State and Public School Employees' Retirement Board.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WADE offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 3, line 20 by inserting after "amended"; "as to Department of State by the acts approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-five, (P. L. 1015) and the sixth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1398) and as to Department of Public Instruction"; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 202) page 6, line 15 by striking out "Institution" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Institute".

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second, third, fourth and fifth sections were read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. WADE offered the following amendment:

Amend Title, page 1, line 1 of Title by inserting after "To": "reenact and".

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 382, on second reading, go over in its order as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 383, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1046), entitled as amended "An act appropriating the moneys in the Motor License Fund," by appropriating certain money in the Motor License Fund to the Department of Public Works for highway purposes.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, since we are talking about Senate Bill No. 383, how can we vote on a bill such as this, appropriating money to the Department of Public Works, when there is no such department? Can anyone answer that question for me?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, this bill, of course, is predicated on the idea that we will create a Department of Public Works. However, it has been requested that the bill go over in its order, and I see it carries an appropriation.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate Proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 384, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, board, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by creating as a departmental administrative advisory board in the Department of State, the State Investment Council; and prescribing its powers, duties and personnel.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WADE offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 3, line 15, by striking out "act approved" and inserting in lieu thereof: "acts approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 867) and"; Amend Sec. 1, page 3, line 17 by inserting after "hereby" "reenacted and"; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 203) page 4, line 13, by striking out "Department of State" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Insurance Department."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WOOD. Mr. President, I object to the amendments as read.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Senator Wade, if I follow these amendments, what you have done is put the bill back to where it was before. Is that right?

Mr. WADE. No, that is not correct.

Mr. President, the amendments purport to put the two retirement systems into the Department of Insurance, where they will have the benefit of an actuary now employed by the Department of Insurance.

Mr. HOLLAND. I think they should promote you to Majority Floor Leader. You are better at answering me.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, perhaps I do not understand the gentleman's question.

Mr. HOLLAND. Senator Wade, I am asking you whether your amendments do away with the bill entirely, and place it in the same status in which it is at the present time.

Mr. WADE. No, Mr. President, that is not true. The retirement system for State employees is now in the Department of State. The retirement system for the school employees is now in the Department of Public Instruction. This bill, if enacted, as amended, would transfer both to the Department of Insurance where they would have the benefit of an actuary.

Mr. HOLLAND. I certainly thank you, Senator Wade, for making it so very clear.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I move that the amendments to Section 1 be adopted.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Just a point of clarification, Senator Wade. You said, in answer to a question asked by Senator Holland, that these two retirement funds were being transferred to the Department of Insurance to give them the opportunity of using the services of an actuary. Is that correct?

Mr. WADE. That is correct, Mr. President. It is now necessary for the Department of Insurance to employ an actuary. Currently, neither of the retirement funds have the benefit of a full time actuary. However, it is necessary for them to employ, at very frequent intervals, an actuary at $100 a day, plus expenses. If this transfer were made, it would not be necessary to employ an outside actuary for the State Retirement Fund or the School Retirement Fund.

Mr. YOSKO. I recognize you as an expert on insurance, Senator Wade.

Mr. WADE. I thank the gentleman, sincerely.

Mr. YOSKO. Do I understand that each of the retirement funds employ their own actuaries from time to time, or is there one functioning for all of the funds in the State Government?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the answer to that question is that there are two separate actuaries employed; one for the State Employees' Fund, and one for the State School Retirement Fund. They are not the same ones. They are separately employed, and not employed constantly. They are called in when their services are needed.

These funds are of very substantial size. The school teachers' fund has assets in excess of $400,000,000. The State Employees' Fund has assets in excess of $200,000,000. I think combined it is about $700,000,000. This is larger than most life insurance companies, which have two and three, and sometimes more, actuaries.

Mr. YOSKO. Do I understand, then, that it is your intention to have one actuary functioning in connection with these funds instead of two or three, at whatever the number might be?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I do not understand the gentleman's question.

Mr. YOSKO. Do I understand that it is your proposal, by these amendments, to cut down the number of actuaries?

Mr. WADE. That is correct, Mr. President. I believe that perhaps the actuary currently employed regularly by the Insurance Department would have more than he could do, because these funds are very substantial in size.

It certainly would not be as expensive as it is currently and, too, the service to the funds would be better, much better. The administration of the funds would be better.

Mr. YOSKO. Then I think the amendments are good amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WADE offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 464) page 4, line 18, by striking out "Secretary of State" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Insurance Commissioner."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WADE offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 3, page 5, line 5 by striking out "eight" and inserting in lieu thereof: "fifteen"; Amend Sec. 3, page 5, line 6 by striking out "after section eight hundred nine" and inserting in lieu thereof: "at the end"; Amend Sec. 810, page 5, line 7 by striking out "810" and inserting in lieu thereof: "1504".

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. WADE offered the following amendments:

Amend Title, page 1, line 1 of Title, by inserting after "To": "reenact and"; Amend Title, page 2, third from last line of Title, by striking out "administrative"; Amend Title, page 2, third from last line of Title by inserting after "the": "Insurance"; Amend Title, page 2, third from last line of Title, by striking out "of State".

They were agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 384, on second reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 385, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend Sections 4 and 7 of the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1046) entitled "An act appropriating the moneys in the Motor License Fund," by making money in the Motor License Fund available to the Department of Justice for the use of the Pennsylvania State Police.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 386, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 681), entitled "An act to enable an incorporated hospital, association to acquire by lease or purchase any State owned hospital, specially devoted to the reception, care and treatment of injured persons, or of any State owned general medical and surgical hospital; and to provide for the regulation and management thereof," by requiring the trustees of State medical and surgical hospitals to transfer their facilities to local incorporated hospital associations within a specified time; discontinuing operation and maintenance by the Commonwealth thereafter; and providing for the use of the properties for other State purposes, or for the sale thereof.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 387, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the fifth day of August, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 752) entitled "An act regulating and improving the civil service of certain departments and agencies of the Commonwealth; vesting in the State Civil Service Commission and a Personnel Director certain powers and duties; providing for classification of positions, adoption of compensation schedules and certification of payrolls; imposing duties upon certain officers and employees of the Commonwealth; authorizing service to other State departments or agencies and political subdivisions of the Commonwealth in matters relating to civil service; defining certain crimes and misdemeanors; imposing penalties; making certain appropriations, and repealing certain acts and parts thereof," by continuing the civil service status of employees administering the Public Assistance Law.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 388, on second reading, entitled:

An Act creating a commission to study grants made to State-aided medical and surgical hospitals for determining the most equitable methods of calculating such grants; prescribing its powers and duties; and making an appropriation.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 389, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to reenact and further amend portions of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. The Senate adjourned at 6:19 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Wednesday, April 8, 1953, at 3:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, April 7, 1953.

The House met at 2:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Charles C. Smith) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend Wesley Dixon, guest chaplain, Minister of the First Baptist Church of Kittanning, Pa., and guest of the gentlemen from Armstrong, Messrs. Helm and Guthrie, offered the following prayer:

O God, our help in ages past, our hope for years to come, we thank Thee that Thou are present with us this day. Thou art always a God at hand.

Thou knowest our weaknesses; give us strength, we pray. Fill our minds with Thy wisdom and our hearts with Thy love.

We thank Thee for our state and all who have the responsibility of its government. Grant that each one may be filled with great courage and deep conviction. In this day, may the faith of our fathers be revived in us, to the end that this may remain the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Through Jesus Christ, Our Lord. Amen.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. WOOD asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I simply rise to ask that the House be in recess until the Appropriations Committee returns.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the Minority Leader, the Chair only intends to clear the table, if the gentleman has no objection while the Appropriation Committee is having a meeting?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, as a matter of principle, I believe that we might as well reach a decision now concerning the calling of Committee meetings while the House is in session. We shall object to Committee meetings while the House is in session.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a short recess until the Committee on Appropriations returns.

AFTER RECESS

The SPEAKER. The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Charles C. Smith) in the Chair.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bills for concurrence Nos. 336 and 338.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 6, 1953.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, April 13, 1953 at four o'clock p. m., E. S. T., and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, April 13, 1953 at four-thirty o'clock p. m., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate? It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

REPORT OF JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

TURNPIKE SAFETY

Mr. ROYER presented the following communication and report from the Joint State Government Commission.

The communication was read by the Clerk as follows:

April 7, 1953.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Joint Legislative Committee on Turnpike Safety, I have the honor to transmit herewith, a Report of Findings.

Copies of this report for distribution to the members of the House of Representatives have been placed in the post office boxes of each member.

Respectfully submitted,

Fred P. Hare, Jr.
Chairman.

(For report, see Appendix)

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we have agreed on this side that when the House convenes tomorrow it convene at 2:00 o'clock. I wish to state the reasons why we agree to the 2:00 o'clock time for meeting.

If mine enemy would commit suicide, should I help him sharpen the knife lest through failure to have a sharp knife he fail to accomplish his purpose. Starting at 2:00 o'clock will give the Majority Leader more time to assemble all the members of the majority party in this chamber.

We wish that he should have full and complete opportunity to bring about the attendance in this House of every member of the majority group who is physically able to travel here. We will even agree to delay if purchase any member of the majority must needs travel slowly in an ambulance.

We believe that the deliberations tomorrow and the following day are the most important that will face this chamber during this Session, and we would not want the will of the majority party to be frustrated by reason of the absence of any of its members.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to say to the gentleman that we on this side, tomorrow and Thursday, will be out in full strength. We are a group of eager, able-bodied men ready and willing to do business for the people of Pennsylvania. We will all be here with bells on.

If the gentleman thinks we are going to commit political suicide, that is wishful thinking on his part. I think that this week, it is true, will be probably the most historic week of this Session and maybe in the history of this state for a good many years.

We are going to try to do a job for the people of this state and show them that we can properly arrange the financial affairs of the Commonwealth. We hope to do the right job, have the people satisfied with what we have done and help balance this budget so we can have an orderly termination of this Session. So we will all be here with bells on tomorrow.

I want to announce to the Republican side the real reason for our meeting at 2:00 o'clock. We will have a Republican caucus at 10:00 o'clock tomorrow morning which will give us ample time and we will meet here for the 2:00 o'clock Session as planned.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, just one further brief word. If the Majority Leader accomplishes the purposes he has outlined, those purposes will be accomplished solely by reason of tomorrow's caucus, and we want to leave him in a position where he will have the entire forenoon to exercise his art of persuasion.

BAND OF ODD FELLOWS CHILDREN'S HOME WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House, the Band of the Odd Fellows Childrens Home of Meadville, Pennsylvania, under the supervision of Mr. Edward Reed and Mrs. Carrie Patchen. They are the guests of the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Kent and the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Waterhouse.

By permission of the House, the Band rendered a number of selections.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to thank the Band for their very excellent rendition of the music they played

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By consent of the House leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Wood for Mr. WORLEY for today because of illness.

FORMER MEMBERS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the House a former Member from Philadelphia, Honorable Philip Sterling.

The Chair also welcomes to the Hall of the House another former Member from Philadelphia, Honorable Louis Sax.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Stank, to come to the rostrum to preside as Speaker pro tempore.

Mr. STANK IN THE CHAIR.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 7, Printer's No. 13 and

Senate Bill No. 9, Printer's No. 16

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

The SPEAKER (Charles C. Smith) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Stank, for presiding.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 120, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the Title and Section 1 of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 477) entitled as amended "An act providing for the payment of the salary medical and hospital expenses of policemen firemen and park guards by counties cities boroughs towns and townships who are injured in the performance of their duty and providing that absence during such injury shall not reduce any usual sick leave period" by extending its provisions to cover some cases of diseases of the heart or tuberculosis of the respiratory system and providing for payment in the case of total permanent disability and for employment at other duties in the case of continuing partial disability.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. WILBUR H. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hamilton, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. WILBUR H. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer a correctional amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend title, page 2, last two lines of title, by striking out "total permanent disability and for employment at other duties in the case of continuing partial disability" and inserting in lieu thereof: "disability for an extended period of time."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am asking consent to offer amendments at this time to the title. They are merely correctional amendments to make the title conform with the body of the bill.

Mr. WILBUR H. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to express my approval of these amendments to the bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Lippincott

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 660, entitled:

An Act requiring that copies of bills introduced in the General Assembly be punctuated.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, in view of my interrogation yesterday on this bill, I would like to discuss briefly the present method of printing bills and how it would be changed by this bill.

Under the present system the typewritten bill as introduced usually contains punctuation; thereafter the bill is printed for our use without the punctuation. When the bill is finally passed and approved it is sent to the Secretary of the Commonwealth who inserts the final punctuation. The reason he inserts it is that many bills are introduced with no punctuation or with obviously inaccurate punctuation that would distort the intention of the Legislature.

In answer to a question put to me yesterday by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, I said that in my opinion the Secretary of the Commonwealth could, under this bill, change the meaning of an act by changing the punctuation. I think that is true as far as the simple grammatical meaning of the bill is concerned. Of course, it is true today under our present system.

However, the Statutory Construction Act specifically provides

In no case shall the punctuation of a law control or affect the intention of the Legislature in the enactment thereof

In other words, in interpreting the law, the courts are supposed to disregard completely the punctuation. That is now the law and it will still be the law under this bill. So that neither the printing of punctuation nor the final punctuation will be considered by the courts in determining the intention of the law itself or of the Legislature.

The alternative, assuming we want punctuation in our bills when printed, is to freeze the punctuation in the bills as passed and prohibit the Secretary of the Commonwealth from putting in the final punctuation.

I think there are certain obvious defects in this. First, it would prevent the correction of inaccurate punctuation perhaps put in a bill by someone not familiar or not skilled in punctuation. And secondly, it might result in floods of amendments to insert or delete punctuation.

To sum up the bill before the House, it would provide that bills shall be printed with punctuation for the convenience of the Legislators with all the punctuation that is in the original bill when introduced. Final punctuation will still be done by the Secretary of the Commonwealth. Punctuation will still not be considered in determining the intention of the Legislature when a bill is before the court.

In conclusion, I believe that the printing of punctuation will reduce the time we spend in considering these bills; it will make them more readily understood by the Members of the Legislature and our constituents. As far as I can find out, the United States Congress and every state except Pennsylvania print their bills with punctuation.

I, therefore, urge the passage of this bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware has very ably explained the meaning of this bill and the operation of the present law. Much of his argument carries a great deal of weight, and I think does have a great deal of merit. However, we have a fundamental problem involved in this bill which I think we should resolve now or in the very near future.

Up until the present time, under the various acts set forth in the bill, the Secretary of the Commonwealth has had the power to punctuate, to correct misspelled words and to insert words where they are obviously missing, or to take out a word that obviously does not belong where it is. I do not think any of us have any quarrel with that; but if we are going to start punctuating our own bills, as this bill now provides, and we are going to read those bills as they pass through here, and we are going to understand them as they are punctuated, I for one do not want the Secretary of this Commonwealth at any time to change that punctuation unless it is obviously an error.

In other words, in many bills a comma might appear where no comma has any business being or has no meaning where it might be. But there are other instances in which the moving of a comma may change materially the meaning of a bill.

I heard a very interesting story earlier today which somewhat illustrates the power of the placement of a comma. This was told to Mr. Lippincott and myself by Mr. Hannestad, the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau. If I remember it correctly, it was something like this.

A man over in some foreign country had been sentenced for a crime. He had been sentenced to hang. As the custodian took him up on the scaffold, a note arrived from the Governor of the land which said, "Hang him not wait until arrive." Now if you put the comma after "hang him," he would be hanged, and they would not wait for the arrival of the Governor. But if you put a comma after the word "not," it would then read "hang him not, wait until I arrive."

Now we do not expect anyone to be hanged or not hanged in the state of Pennsylvania because of this Bill. I might say if we are going to punctuate our bills from now on, I would like to see those commas, semicolons, or whatever else we put in there, have a meaning. I would like to see the law changed so that the courts will respect our punctuation.

We are the Legislators and not the Secretary of the Commonwealth. And while some bill's meaning may be changed only once in ten years, in my opinion that would be too much. I do not think the Secretary of the Commonwealth has any intention of changing the meaning of a bill, but how do we know what might happen in the future.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I at this time move to lay this bill on the table?

The SPEAKER. A motion to lay on the table is in order at this time.

BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be laid upon the table for the purpose of allowing us more time for a proper study of this matter before taking final action on the bill.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is unable to make a decision.

Upon a rising vote, one hundred and eleven or more than a majority having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. The leader of the Philadelphia Democratic Delegation has requested a caucus of the Philadelphia Members in the Old House Caucus Room immediately after the session and requests that the Members go promptly to the caucus.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we are sympathetic with the purposes which the sponsor of this bill desires to serve. We are not laying it on the table for the purpose of disposing of the question, but the issue is so important that we feel we need additional legal advice. The advice from the top echelon of the profession and those in best position, men who have served in the legislatures, who have been members of the court, to advise us further as to the position we should take.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am sure you are going to be interested because I want to quote today the words of a Republican Governor of a rock-ribbed Republican state.

The solution of tax problems is not in my opinion to be found by the substitution or addition of new broad base taxes at this time. I refer specifically to the sales or income tax. I shall oppose any proposal calling for the enactment of either of these taxes at this session of the legislature.

One reason for my taking this stand is because of the probability that the federal administration will give new leadership to the working out of an agreement for a clear cut division of taxing authority between it and the individual state.

I am also confident that there will be some relief from the federal income tax burden in the next two years . . .

This Republican Governor goes on to say:

I . . . propose a citizen's committee to report to the 1955 legislature on the question of how should revenue be raised to support the essential services of our state.

On this committee, I would like to see such taxpayers as a housewife, a working man, a merchant, a manufacturer, a professional man and a farmer. I would not include the so-called tax experts, members of the Legislature or Representatives of the administrative departments of state government.

The committee should be authorized to employ such technical help as it needs. It should not be called a tax commission, for it would concern itself with more than taxes. It would also study the need for our state services which require all of this current and proposed income.

He finally ends by saying:

Remember this, no government, federal or state can give you anything which it has not first taken away from you.

Well now, Mr. Speaker, those are my sentiments, but they are not my words. They are the words though of Governor Hugh Greg, Republican Governor of the State of New Hampshire in his address to the legislature at the opening of the legislative session in New Hampshire this year.

I am heartily in favor of that suggestion and I would like to see such a committee set up by this Legislature here and I intend to introduce a resolution to do just that. But as for the broad base taxes that he mentions, and especially the sales tax which is on the calendar today, I am a bit fearful of the results that such a tax might bring about.

It has been stated that the two percent tax would raise $140 million a year, which would be $280 million in the next two years. Then it would be absolutely predictable that we would in this state have sizeable surpluses.

The important thing about surpluses in the state of Pennsylvania as far as my memory is concerned as a Legislator, and back over a few years at least, I can recall a state surplus disappeared usually like a light fog does on a sunny morning. They simply vanish into thin air. I remember years when certain Governors had various surpluses they boasted about, $16 million, 66 million, 110 million and at one time they talked about $200 million surpluses.

Now the point is, when those surpluses did accrue the common taxpayer did not get the benefit. I remember a $110 million surplus which was given back as relief in corporate taxes. Not one cent tax taken off the cigarettes or beer, or gasoline or things that the common taxpayer used and which created and caused those surpluses. The relief was not given to the common little taxpayer.

Mr. Speaker, to forestall any recurrence of these vanishing surpluses which accrued in the State Treasury where they are disposed of usually at the whim of the Governor for pet projects, I am going to introduce a bill today, co-sponsored by Representative Dean Polen of Washington, that will provide that any surpluses in the State Treasury shall accrue and be credited to the payment of principle and interest of the soldier's bonus, which is the biggest state obligation we have in Pennsylvania today. That will either directly or indirectly be returnable in benefits to the taxpayer who pays on the bottom of the tax heap. The sales tax, or broad base taxes, are necessarily directed at the common individual and he is the one that deserves any relief that should come and would accrue from any surpluses.

If a sales tax is aimed to raise $280 million there is bound to be a surplus, a sizeable surplus. If we would direct such surpluses as I could see from the sales tax or any other broad base tax that might bring in $100 million or even $150 million surplus, that they should be used to reduce the soldier's bonus principle and interest then as taxpayers in the event such taxes are enacted the common taxpayer would get the proper benefit.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. PROPERT from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 43, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 1 of the act, approved the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred thirty-two (P. L. 45), entitled "An act empowering cities of the first and second classes to levy, assess and collect, or to provide for the levying, assessment and collection of, certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes; authorizing the establishment of bureaus, and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes; and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced," by prohibiting the imposition of wage, income or occupation taxes on nonresidents and abolishing such taxes heretofore imposed.

He also from the Committee on Local Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 86, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 4 of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 382), entitled "An act providing for the incorporation as bodies corporate and politic of 'Authorities' for municipalities, counties and townships; prescribing the rights, powers and duties of such Authorities heretofore or hereafter incorporated; authorizing such Authorities to acquire, construct, improve, maintain and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor; providing for the payment of such bonds, and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof; conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof; and conferring exclusive jurisdiction on certain courts over rates," by extending the purposes and powers of Authorities to include housing projects and authorizing the leasing and fixing of rentals in the operation thereof.

He also from the Committee on Local Government reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 215, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2017) entitled "An act creating in each county (except of the first class) as a separate corporation, and in each city of the first and second class as a part of the city government, an institution district for the care and maintenances of certain indigent persons and children; prescribing the powers and duties of county commissioners, county treasurers, city departments of public welfare, the State Department of Welfare and the State Department of Public Assistance in respect thereto; abolishing certain poor districts and terminating the terms of directors, overseers, guardians and managers of the poor and poor district auditors, and providing for the temporary employment of certain of them; providing for the transfer, vesting, sale and disposition of the property of poor districts and the payment of their obligations; imposing certain existing obligations on institution districts and on the Commonwealth; regulating the affairs of poor districts until abolished; amending, changing and consolidating the law relating to the care of the poor; and repealing existing laws," by further providing for the administration of the fiscal affairs of the county institution districts; regulating the making of contracts and purchases; authorizing such districts to take by gift, grant, devise, or bequest money and property in trust; and conferring powers and imposing duties on county commissioners, county treasurers, county controllers and county auditors.

He also from the Committee on Local Government reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 323, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 571), entitled as amended "An act relating to assessment for taxation in counties of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; designating the subjects, property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for county, borough, town, township, school, except in cities and county institution district purposes; and providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation thereof for such purposes; creating in each such county a board for the assessment and revision of taxes; defining the powers and duties of such boards; providing for the acceptance of this act by cities; regulating the office of ward, borough, town and township assessors; abolishing the office of assistant triennial assessor in townships of the first class; providing for the appointment of a chief assessor, assistant assessors and other employees; providing for their compensation payable by such counties; prescribing certain duties of and certain fees to be collected by the recorder of deeds and municipal officers who issue building permits; imposing duties on taxables making improvements on land and grantees of land; prescribing penalties; and eliminating the triennial assessment," by further classifying real estate for the purpose of assessment for taxation, clarifying the law as to the oath of assessors, and further prescribing the manner of making assessments prior to and after the establishment of the permanent record system required by law.

He also from the Committee on Local Government reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 359, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 1 of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 971), entitled "An act relating to the annual salaries and compensation of certain county officers of counties of the eighth class," by increasing the annual salaries of county commissioners.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, yesterday we again acted on several of the Government Economy Survey Committee recommendation bills, which were introduced by Senator Dent and myself, and I thought we discussed each one quite at length and decided where they did not save any money, they were of no value. Therefore, a large majority voted against the bills. Then, this morning, I happened to look at the newspaper, which happened to be the Harrisburg Patriot, and I saw a headline, "More Economy Bills Defeated in Upper House." The sub-headline said, "Democrats in Favor."

Now, Mr. President, I know it is like Don Quixote, joisting with windmills, for me to try to persuade the newspapers to endeavor to give the true reflection of what is going on down here. These newspapers are represented here by a number of good reporters, and I hope that they report back to their newspapers what we are actually doing. Instead of saying, "More Economy Bills Defeated in Upper House," I think they should say that the Chesterman bills were defeated because there was not any economy shown.

Mr. President, I felt very disturbed when I read that, and then I arrived at my office and received the Titusville Herald which is printed in my little town, and read an editorial in that paper, of Tuesday morning, April 7, 1953, and I got a little encouragement. I want to read this editorial to my colleagues, and also for the purpose of getting it in the record. The editorial reads as follows:

"The Truth About Economy" is the headline of that editorial, and it says:

"'Chesterman Report' does not mean the same thing as the word 'economy.' The voters of Pennsylvania should not clamor for the blind adoption of the report, thinking that doing so will reduce the cost of state government. If they persist in the attitude that the report is a sort of holy writ on pure and inexpensive government, they are sure to be deceived.

"Because of misinformed public opinion, our legislators are now afraid to vote against the report's recommendations lest they be accused of being against economy in government. This sorry state of affairs should be corrected immediately.

"The Chesterman report is by no means the collection of truth and wisdom that many voters assume. As a matter of fact, it may be quite the opposite—much closer to what John H. Dent, Senate Democratic floor leader, thinks it may be. Said Mr. Dent:

"'I'm afraid a ghastly joke has been played on the public in promises of great economies. I think that if followed, many of these proposals would give us not a better government, but a more bureaucratic one.'

"There are two things to be said in favor of the Chesterman report. First, the chairman of the State Government Survey Committee, which brought out the report, is Francis J. Chesterman, an outstanding citizen with a fine record with the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania. Second, the publicity when portions of the report were released late last year and earlier this year was magnificently done.

"But, that publicity job has misled thousands of Pennsylvanians.

"This newspaper is closely connected with the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission. The Commission, now an independent body reporting directly to the governor, rates one sentence in the Chesterman report, to the effect that it should be put under the Department of Education.

"Because of its association with the commission, The Herald has given close attention to the Chesterman report. We feel certain we are fair and just in making these two blanket assertions about much of it:

"1. It is not a thorough job, and in this respect is by no means comparable to the Hoover Commission report on the Federal Government

"2. It is not realistic, but is more like something which could have been dreamed up by an eager and intelligent bunch of college undergraduates whose visions have not yet been shattered by contact with the real thing.

"Take the recommendation about the Historical and Museum Commission, for example. Not one penny will be saved by putting that commission under the Department of Education. But such a move will certainly increase the 'bureaucratic' tendency that Mr. Dent referred to.

"The commission was under the Department of Education, several years ago. Red tape hampered its work, so it was set free from the department. But the Chesterman report would wrap it up in that same red tape again.

"It might look better on the charts to have the commission under education, but it certainly won't work better, or make any economics whatever.

"The best thing Pennsylvania can do is to forget the Chesterman report—but not its lesson.

"The lesson is that the voters of this state desperately want all possible economy in government. Their enthusiastic response to the publicity puffs of the Chesterman report proved this.

"The second part of the lesson is that sincere and honest study is necessary before any governmental savings can be made, not just the three or four months given to the vast and intricate problem by the Chesterman group."

That completes the editorial, Mr. President.

Mr. President, this morning the Rules Committee had an open public hearing on Senate Bill No. 334, at which time people were heard from various parts of the State, representing the producers of milk, the processors of milk, even the consumers of milk and the restaurants which also dispense milk. None of those people showed us how any savings could be made by transferring the Milk Control Commission to the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. President, even the Secretary of Agriculture, himself, who was there, stated that he could see no savings. He could not see how he could do the job any better, and, although he would not come right out and say so, that the Chesterman Committee Report recommendations were not well-founded. He, in fact, essentially concluded that.

Mr. President, I wish the newspapers of the State of Pennsylvania would try to show the people that this Senate is giving due consideration to all these reports and recommendations, and legislation has been introduced and we are trying to find out if there are any nuggets in the reports and recommendations. If we are going to pass them into law, and if they cannot save the people any money, certain'y we should not blindly accept that legislation and vote it into law. It is up to use to decide when they save money and when they do not. I believe that is the guide we have tried to take here in the Senate in connection with this legislation.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know that the distinguished Majority Leader does not have too much to do at night. I would like to send the rest of these newspapers over, so he can analyze them for us for next week.

The PRESIDENT. The Minority Floor Leader passes over more reading material, with the suggestion that what has already been read be spread upon the Journal, and what he just received be spread upon the table.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 91, as follows:

An Act to further amend Section 5 of the act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1198), entitled "An act providing for the conservation and improvement of land affected in connection with the mining of bituminous coal by the open pit mining method regulating such mining and providing penalties" by further regulating backfilling and operation reports

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section 5 of the act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-five (P. L. 1198) entitled "An act providing for the conservation and improvement of land affected in connection with the mining of bituminous coal by the open pit mining method regulating such mining and providing penalties" as amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (P. L. 1730) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 5 Operation Report and Backfilling Within thirty (30) days after starting the removal of overburden at each operation for the removal of coal by open pit mining the operator shall file an operation report with the Department of Mines on a form to be prescribed and furnished by the secretary giving the following information (a) Name or number of the operation (b) Location of the operation as to county and township and with reference to the nearest public road (c) A description of the tract or tracts by metes and bounds and (d) The name and address of the landowner or his duly authorized representative

The report shall also specify the distance to which the bottom of the spoil banks made by the open pit mining operation may approach any stream of water having a well defined channel Such distances may be fixed by the Department of Mines at such number of feet as in the judgment of the department after consultation with the Water and Power Resources Board taking into consideration the character of the overburden is necessary to protect the channel of the stream.

The operator shall backfill the operation made by the open pit mining operation to a distance of fifteen (15) feet beyond the boundary line of the right of way of any public highway and to distance of two hundred (200) feet from any dwelling house public building school church commercial or institutional building The backfilling shall be done in such a manner as to insure lateral support of a public highway and to provide a slope having an angle not exceeding forty (40) degrees The Department of Mines shall specify the time within which it shall be completed in order to protect the public safety and shall require such backfilling to be done in part before the completion of the open pit mining operation

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL ON SECOND READING, AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 6, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 534) entitled "An act relating to appointment of deputy constables" by defining the jurisdiction of deputy constables

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and members of the Senate, Senate Bill No. 6 deals with deputy constables, and under the present amendment in this particular measure, it is going to prohibit the service of papers by deputy constables throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, as I said the other day, the passage of this legislation, will, in my opinion, obstruct justice in the rural districts of this Commonwealth, because in a number of cases your law enforcement is centered around your justices of the peace offices, and the services by their constables and deputy constables.

I understand, Mr. President, that there seems to be some sort of a controversy in the city of Pittsburgh and the County of Allegheny. With that I have no quarrel, and I have no interest. I am speaking as a former member of the minor judiciary, and I think I am well acquainted with the problems, especially in the rural areas.

Mr. President, quite a number of people have contacted me in regard to this, and representatives of the Magistrates Association in Pennsylvania have expressed extreme concern in the event that this legislation is passed.

Mr. President, the amendments which I am about to offer will, in my opinion, cure the evil of roving deputy constables. What they will do, they will prohibit them from making an arrest on view outside of the bailiwick for which they were appointed, and only in cases where a felony was committed. However, these amendments will give them the right to serve papers and processes of law. Unless we have this legislation, you are going to find that, in these rural areas, there is going to be very little law enforcement.

Mr. President, I talked with an alderman from Oil City. She told me that if this law were passed, she would have to close her office, because there are only four constables in the County of Venango, and of the four constables, they are all gainfully employed and only a deputy constable works out of this particular office.

Mr. President, I do not know whether anything I say here this afternoon will make any difference. The majority Party has the votes. I do not believe that by any stretch of our imagination could we consider this a political measure.

I appreciate the problems that the gentleman from Allegheny might have in his particular area, but I am afraid, Mr. President, that if we do not adopt my amendments we are not doing the right thing in regard to law enforcement.

Mr. LANE offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1), page 2, lines 12 to 15 both inclusive, by striking out "exercise" in line 12, all of lines 13 and 14, and "or justice of the peace" in line 15, and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "make an arrest on view"; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1), page 2, line 16, by inserting after the word "elected" the following: except in the case of a felony."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I rise to oppose these amendments offered by the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. President, I listened with a great deal of interest to what he said this bill would do. I would have to disagree with him on the ultimate effect of the bill.

Mr. President, the amendments which he has offered would completely emasculate the bill as I have introduced it. The bill which I have introduced is an exact copy of a similar bill which was passed by the House of Representatives in the 1951 Session, but failed to come out of committee in the Senate at that time. This bill does not interfere with any elected constable in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, in so far as the case that he cited—I believed it was in Venango County, I may be wrong, up there somewhere—where the lady alderman, or the lady justice of the peace, would have to close her office, that would not be so. It would not be so because even though the elected constable from her particular township, or from her particular borough, or the ward of a city, wherever she might be, was not active, all that would be necessary would be that the elected constable from that particular political subdivision would go into the court of Venango County and ask to have a deputy constable appointed. That deputy constable could work out of that lady squire's office, could serve any type of a paper that she might have and could proceed into any part of Venango County, or, in the case of felonies and in some misdemeanors, could proceed into any part of Pennsylvania to serve that warrant.

Mr. President, I do not know the rules of court in Venango County. I know that in Allegheny County, when a constable goes out of the county, if he is to be paid for the service of that paper, he must first receive the approval of the court or the district attorney's office. If that rule is the same in Venango County, with that approval, then that deputy could go out. If they did not want to secure the services of a deputy constable for the particular political subdivision that is involved, they could get an elected constable from any of the surrounding wards, boroughs or townships.

This bill, Mr. President,—I realize I am arguing the merits of the bill, but I have to since the other gentleman did argue somewhat on them—will only curb a malpractice which is being perpetrated on the people, not only of Allegheny County but I am sure in all parts of the State of Pennsylvania, where deputy constables do not operate out of the place from which they are appointed, but immediately go into other offices and do the things that are so reprehensible to the people of Pennsylvania.

I would ask the membership of this body, Mr. President, to vote down the amendments offered.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, before making a motion for the adoption of the amendments, I would like to speak just briefly in rebuttal.

Mr. President, what the gentleman states is true. If the constable of that particular bailiwick was so minded, he could go into court and ask the court to appoint a deputy. However, in a number of cases, and I believe you gentlemen will agree, quite a number of constables would not take that trouble.

Mr. President, a number of your elected constables in Pennsylvania today are gainfully employed in other occupations. The ultimate result would be that if you prohibit deputy constables from serving papers, you are going to most certainly obstruct justice.

I say to you, Mr. President, I do not want to become involved in any quarrel in any political subdivision. All I want to do is see that justice is done.

Mr. President, I am a Past President of the Magistrates Association of my county; I am a former instructor of the Magistrates Association in our county; and I was a justice of the peace for fifteen years. I say to you that on many occasions I have had to use deputy constables out of my particular bailiwick. It was absolutely necessary in cases of sickness or illness, or in case someone had to go away, or where we would have to have a warrant served. We had to have them served then and there, because in a number of cases they were alleged felonies.

I realize, Mr. President, that we can force the constables to perform their duties under their bonds, but it is a long drawn out practice and you just cannot get it done.

Mr. President, I say to you here this afternoon that my amendments will correct the evil of roving constables. I have no comfort for roving constables. I do not like to see them run all over the county, because they should serve in their own bailiwick. However, where services of writs are concerned, I say we should make that available to those who administer justice.

Mr. President, I ask the membership to support my amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENTS BE ADOPTED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I Move the adoption of the amendments to Section 1.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, sometimes we become a little excited with the pride of authorship, and, although it is pointed out in every logical way that we are making a mistake, we will not allow any remedies to be offered.

Mr. President, I do not think any man on this side approves of the so-called roving constable at whom, I believe, this act is aimed. Mr. President, as Senator Lane has so ably pointed out, if his amendments are accepted you reduce the constable to a process server. That is all he becomes. We take away from the deputy constable any of the rights he now has, which allows the evils that Senator Fleming is talking about to crop up in various districts, particularly in Allegheny County.

Mr. President, you certainly do not change the basic law just because there are some violators and unethical persons in Allegheny County. If you accept these amendments, you stop the very thing that has caused you trouble in Allegheny County, because you take from that deputy constable the right to make an arrest on view except in the case of a felony. Under our laws, any citizen has the right to make an arrest on view in the case of a felony.

Therefore, Mr. President, all Senator Lane is trying to do is to say to Senator Fleming, and the Members of this Senate, that we agree with you to wipe out the roving constable, and the dangers of that type of officer, but still give to the justices of the peace and the aldermen the right that, in a pinch or in an emergency, they can employ the deputy of another constable and send him out to serve papers.

Mr. President, what can be wrong with serving papers? He has no right to make an arrest; he has no right to violate the principle of the act which he now violates in Allegheny County, by going into jurisdictions other than his own. The only way he can operate in any fashion is to become nothing but a paper or process server for a squire, who finds himself handicapped.

Mr. President, I want to tell you that I come from a city of six wards. We have one active constable in the whole six wards, and that person is in the hospital right now. If, for instance, you were an alderman in that town and you wanted a deputy, and your constable, who happens to be politically antagonistic towards you, will not serve your papers and will not do any work for you. Then, in turn, when you go to court, and the court forces him to name deputies, he names a couple of deputies of the same stripe. Do you mean to tell me that such an alderman has any recourse other than to go to some other constable? In my town, there would not be any other constable because they all work in factories. I do not know why, but they just do not work at the job of being constable.

Therefore, Mr. President, if you are aiming to eliminate the roving constable, we will vote with you. However, if you are aiming to make this a punitive measure against certain individuals, or aldermen whom you personally do not like, or Mr. Malone does not like, then I say to you that the Members of this Senate are not acting in the capacity of Senators. We should not, at this time, allow ourselves to be used by any individual, grinding an ax of his own.

Mr. President, I say to the Members of this Senate that the aldermen, as a group, the aldermen and the justices of the peace all over this State, and especially in the rural counties, are valuable public officers. I think the time has come when we should stop trying to be punitive in legislation, and try to be constructive.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I had not intended to rise a second time and I assure you this will be the last time.

Mr. President, Senator Dent says that we are changing the basic law of Pennsylvania. With that I certainly cannot agree. All this does is regulate the activity of a deputy constable.

Here, Mr. President, is the way a deputy constable is appointed. I believe most of the Members of the Senate know this. The constable of a particular ward, borough or township, goes into the court of the particular county in which he resides, and, under oath, he says to the judge of that court, "I have too much business in my office, and I need a deputy to help serve the papers which are emanating from this particular justice of the peace."

In Allegheny County, Mr. President, not only does the elected constable go in and make such a statement at the time he asks for the appointment of a deputy, but the court requires an additional letter, either a letter from the justice of the peace or the alderman, or the personal presence of the squire, I will call him, who, likewise, says under oath "I have too much business in my office, and Constable 'X' needs a deputy to help him serve the papers." The court then appoints the applicant as a deputy constable. He then does not serve out of that particular office, but we find that he has been appointed. Now, I am speaking purely objectively. Perhaps that is not the right expression, but I want to use a hypothetical case, and I assure the gentlemen of the Senate that I do not know that this would be correct. I want you to remember that it is a purely hypothetical case.

Mr. President, the constable in the seventh ward in the city of Pittsburgh has a deputy appointed. He has already, in open court, said that he needed the deputy constable to help with the service of papers in the seventh ward in the city of Pittsburgh. The deputy constable is appointed, and he never serves a paper out of the alderman's office in the seventh ward. He goes over to the nineteenth ward, or he goes out to the Borough of Whitaker, or he goes to the Borough of Ben Avon or he goes to the Borough of Sewickley and operates. That is where the evils of the deputy constable arise.

Mr. President, I am told that in the city of Harrisburg there are deputy constables appointed out of certain wards who have not served a paper out of there in a number of years. They are working out of another alderman's office altogether.

Mr. President, I want to assure the gentlemen of the Senate that we are not impeding justice with this act, because any alderman who finds himself in the position which the justice of the peace in the borough of Jeanette finds himself, where the constable is sick, he can go into the adjoining townships,—I do not know the names of them—but he can go into any borough or any township in the county of Westmoreland, and get the elected constable of any of those places to come in and serve papers out of his office.

Mr. President, I want to assure the gentlemen of this Senate that this will in no way impair justice. It will do away with a lot of evils which have crept up, not only in Allegheny County but all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I would also like to assure my good friend, John Dent, that this legislation is not inspired by the District Attorney of Allegheny County, James F. Malone. I believe in all fairness to Mr. Malone, although I do not know this, he has not told me, that he would be in favor of this legislation, because he currently has a drive on regarding the malpractices which are occurring among the minor judiciary in Allegheny County. I want to assure Senator Dent, and the other Members of the Senate, that this is not his legislation; this is my legislation.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think the arguments given by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming, are the best arguments that can be had for the amendments.

Mr. President, the only violations of ethics are by those who go out from one jurisdiction to another to make arrests and to become, as I call them, "raiding and roaming constables." Under the amendments of Senator Lane, they are prohibited from this activity, and this is the activity that is obnoxious. There certainly cannot be, in my humble opinion, anything wrong with a peace officer going out to serve a paper, regardless of where he comes from, so long as he is a legally constituted officer.

Mr. President, in the rural counties, especially mine, constables do not work full time at the job of being constable. Most of the constables in Westmoreland County work in factories, or on the farms, or in the shops, or in the mines. We do not have the same kind of a system which you have in Allegheny County.

Mr. President, if you would like to restrict this to Allegheny County, because you have some violations that I do not know anything about, except what I read in the newspapers, and if it is as bad as it is, it should be corrected. I am for helping you correct it. There is not one of the violations about which they are complaining in Allegheny County which could possibly take place if Senator Lane's amendments are accepted by this Senate, because they cannot make anything other than a nominal fee by serving papers. They cannot do anything else. All of the things which are evil in the constable business today are the things that have crept up because somebody gets appointed, as he said.

Incidentally, Mr. President, I believe that when the judge names a deputy, or rather gives permission for the naming of a deputy, he can prescribe exactly the limitations of that deputy constable's range of activity. If the judges in Allegheny County want to correct that situation, they can do it right from the bench, by prescribing the activities and the jurisdiction in which the constable can operate.

Mr. President, we do not want to do anything in this Senate which would perpetuate a system that is evil. However I do not think you should cripple a justice of the peace who works on a part time basis, as they do in the rural counties. They are not full time jobs in my county. There are a few, yes, who happen to be along the highways and get enough cases to keep them, and to make a living income out of it, but, in the main, they are just part time jobs and they do a few hours work in the evening.

What would happen, Mr. President, if this bill goes through and a justice of the peace has a constable who is sick, and he has two deputies who are on vacation, and the neighboring constable, for his own reasons, does not want to serve the papers? How can he get a paper served? That is why constables name deputies out where we come from, because they do not want to bother with a full time job. There is not enough in it for them to make a full time job out of it, so they name deputies, for the convenience of the alderman, to serve ordinary papers in the people's court.

Let us remember, Mr. President, that the justice of the peace is still, in the minds of a great many people, the people's court, where little family quarrels are taken before them, and where a great many of the wash line cases are heard and are wiped out before they become matters of great importance and come to the local courts. They handle a great many cases, and settle a great many cases, long before they ever get to the courts, and they save you and I a great deal of money in Pennsylvania. I do not think you should cripple the minor judiciary of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, everyone wants to go home and I do, too. I want to catch a plane out of here at 7:10 tonight.

Mr. President, this piece of legislation sincerely disturbs me for this reason. I want to cite to you, Mr. President, that in my county of Washington we have thirty-four boroughs, we have thirty-six townships and we have two third class cities. In our townships, Mr. President, all of them are second class with the exception of one. In a first class township, you have two constables elected by the people. In a second class township, you have one constable. In your boroughs, you have two constables.

Mr. President, as Senator Dent stated, in a number of cases the constables are gainfully employed, and they do not care too much about their job because there is not too much in it. They do not receive a great sum of money for their work, for it is all on a fee basis.

We must, however, still administer justice, Mr. President. We do not have traffic courts. All we have is a couple of policemen, probably, who patrol the highway. All your laws are administered through the office of the justice of the peace. If he does not have someone to serve the process, he certainly is handicapped, and it is going to be very detrimental to the welfare of the people. I understand that in certain counties in Pennsylvania they do not even have county detectives. In those cases, the constables and deputy constables serve the processes.

Mr. President, I say to you that my amendment make a deputy constable nothing more than a process server. I am not for deputy constables who racketeer. I have no use for them. Most Magistrate Associations take care of their own troubles, and they keep their own house in order. I am proud to say that in my county of Washington we have a very good, efficient operating group there. They are not subject to any criticism, and I say they are doing a good job.

All my amendments do, you understand, Mr. President, is make the deputy constables process servers. They cannot make an arrest on view outside their bailiwick. I ask the Members to adopt these amendments because it is good, constructive legislation.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—13

Bane,	Haluska,	Leader,	Ruth,
Barr,	Holland,	McGinnis,	Silvert,
Dent,	Lane,	McMenamin,	Welner,
			Yosko,

NAYS—23

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, April 8, 1953

The House met at 2:00 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Charles C. Smith) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend William Hugh Fryer, offered the following prayer:

O God, the Protector of all who put their trust in Thee: we pray for the good estate of this our beloved land, that it may please Thee to preserve to us the blessings of an equal and impartial freedom. Unite in mutual understanding men of alien faith and race; revive in all hearts a spirit of devotion to the public good, that strife and tumult may be appeased and justice and truth exalted. Enable us and all people faithfully to discharge the duties of our different spheres, that so the kingdom of brotherhood and peace may be hastened upon the earth and Thy will be done even as now it is done in Heaven. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Tuesday, April 7, 1953?

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GRANVILLE E. JONES, CIANFRANI and MAGUIRE. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 41.

In the House of Representatives, April 7, 1953.

Whereas, Conditions in the field of boxing and disclosures in the press have suggested that racketeers have established a toe-hold therein, and that the honesty of certain managers and promoters is questionable; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That a joint investigating committee be appointed to consist of five members of the House of Representatives, appointed by the Speaker, and five members of the Senate appointed by the President pro tempore. The committee shall be empowered to investigate, study and determine the conditions existing in the field of boxing in this Commonwealth, as well as the qualifications and integrity of managers and promoters engaged in such sport and the effect, if any, exercised by the State Athletic Commission in respect thereto; and, be it further

Resolved, That the joint investigating committee be authorized to employ counsel, to have the right of subpoena, to hear witnesses under oath, and to seek the cooperation of the State police as investigating agents in discovering the existence of the racket element in the operation of the sport of boxing in this Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the joint committee make a full report to the General Assembly at the next regular Session to be held in 1955, embodying its recommendations and findings.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. GOODLING, LIGHT, BARKDOLL, McCULLOUGH, REAGAN, WOOD, BREISCH and WESCOTT. RESOLUTION No. 42.

In the House of Representatives, April 7, 1953.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania operates twenty-seven institutional farms with a total of 36,556 acres, of which 13,868 acres are tillable; and

Whereas, The purpose of these farms is furnishing inmates of the institutions with suitable work and high quality food, and at the same time to form a part of the institutional system of caring for inmates; and

Whereas, Wide variations in the efficiency of practices employed at the various institutional farms are alleged to exist; and

Whereas, It is of great importance to the Commonwealth that waste and inefficiency be abolished; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to make a study of the operation of institutional farms conducted by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with a view to determining (1) the economic soundness of the individual farms particularly in regard to the effect on efficient operation of diversification and size of units; (2) the feasibility of organizing a system of efficient interchange of products from the various institutional farms by the various institutions; (3) improvement of purchasing practices in order to ferret out and change impractical and antiquated standards; and (4) the maintenance of better cost records to sufficiently reflect farm expenditures and results; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to prepare a report of its investigation and submit such report, together with its recommendations to the next regular session of the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

IOWA—SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 16

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 120, Printer's No. 108
was passed over at the request of The SPEAKER.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 10, Printer's No. 71.
was passed over at the request of Mr. READINGER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 51 as follows:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Department of Mines for the purpose of administering the provisions of "The Coal Mine Sealing Act of 1947"
The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of one hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($125,000) or as much as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Mines for the payment of the deficiency in the appropriation for the purpose of administering the provisions of "The Coal Mine Sealing Act of 1947" for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-one

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I simply want to call the attention of the Members of the House to the fact that we are asked to act upon a series of some ten or twelve deficiency appropriation bills, totaling in excess of $12 million. In some instances the deficiency run by a department is in excess of $3 million.

We have at the present time, as far as the Legislature is concerned, no adequate machinery for screening these deficiency appropriation bills. We have no legislative comptroller in a position to call a halt in any way when departments exceed their appropriations. And the way we run business in this Commonwealth we really do not have to appropriate within $50 million of what we are going to spend, because apparently the departments can come in when the Legislature assembles with the deficiencies running all the way from $12 million to $50 million as they have in the past.

We have no way of knowing as we sit here whether the deficiencies were the result of necessity or of mismanagement. Our Appropriations Committee has no machinery, no staff with which it can audit and question the correctness of any of these deficiency appropriation bills. We have to swallow $12 million as a result of the judgment of departmental executives who spent all their money before the period ended and had to come in for a deficiency appropriation. We cannot do anything about that now, but it is a problem to which I believe the wise heads in the General Assembly should address themselves as the days go by.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—1

Worley,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 181, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1046) entitled as amended "An act appropriating the money in the Motor License Fund" by making certain money in the Motor License Fund subject to appropriation by the General Assembly

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1046) entitled as amended "An act appropriating the moneys in the Motor License Fund" as reenacted and amended by the act approved the twenty-ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2412) is hereby further amended by adding after section 4 thereof a new section to read as follows

Section 4.1 The remainder of the money from time to time in the Motor License Fund shall be subject to appropriation by the General Assembly for purposes permitted by the Constitution

Section 2 Section 4 renumbered 5 of said act is hereby repealed

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective the first day of June one thousand nine hundred fifty-three

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AUKER. I would like to ask the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, if there is not a provision now in our Constitution prohibiting expenditures of any Motor Funds through the General Fund and whether or not this law would not be unconstitutional.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, in response to the gentleman from Blair, I would like to say that this bill would not change the constitutional provision at all. We will still not be able to spend Highway funds for any purpose other than highways. It does not put the money into the General Fund.

Mr. AUKER. What does the bill do?

Mr. HELM. This bill will require the Department of Highways to spend its money subject to appropriation by this General Assembly. It puts the power to appropriate Highway Funds into the hands of the General Assembly.

Mr. AUKER. Under this bill could appropriations be made for any other purpose than for highways out of motor license funds?

Mr. HELM. They could not be, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—1

Worley,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 585, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (f) of section 813 of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" by prohibiting the possession of certain certificates of inspection and approval.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 813), page 4, line 14, by striking out "which" and inserting in lieu thereof "with knowledge that such certificate."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 592, Printer's No. 82 was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 608, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article five section thirteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by further providing for the disposition of fees fines and penalties in magistrates courts in Philadelphia.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, in connection with House Bill 608, Printer's No. 83, Members of the House will notice that this is a joint resolution to amend the Constitution, and it specifically refers to the disposition of the fines and penalties in Magistrates' Courts in Philadelphia. Incidentally, the law relating to the disposition of these fines and penalties has been the same in this Commonwealth for many years, and was included in the Constitution of 1874, so that for a period of eighty some years, Philadelphia has been permitted to dispose of its fines and penalties in the manner in which the wise men who wrote the Constitution thought it should be done.

Now we have a bill in which an attempt is made to amend the Constitution so that a different disposition can be made of these fines and penalties. This will, of course, seriously affect the income of our city and at the same time perhaps do other damage. By reason of that fact, I am going to oppose the bill and ask the Members of the House to join me in that opposition.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I suggest that this bill be passed over.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will withdraw its decision that the bill was agreed to on third reading.

Mr. TOMPKINS. May I ask why the gentleman wants this bill to go over?

Mr. ANDREWS. On the plea that the lawyer usually makes to the Court, that he has a sore throat and is not in a position to plead.

Mr. TOMPKINS. His throat sounds much different now than it did about fifteen minutes ago.

Mr. ANDREWS. And for the further reason that for this day and for tomorrow we all have woes enough. Let us come back next Monday restored in strength and be able to devote ourselves to these major issues.

There was a further reason, I wanted to prevent the gentleman from Philadelphia and some other gentlemen from Philadelphia from making speeches about this particular bill today.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been on the calendar now for the third day. I have no particular objections to its going over out of deference to our good Minority Leader, but if we keep putting bills over, and putting bills over,—

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the Chairman of the Caucus tells me that he intended to ask at the beginning of the session, when the calendar was called that this bill go over, but he neglected to do so.

Mr. TOMPKINS. If that is the case, I will defer to the wishes of the Minority Leader.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 608, Printer's No. 83
was passed over at the request of Mr. ANDREWS.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 655, as follows:

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Judicial Department for the compensation and expenses of traveling judges of the Court of Common Pleas

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Judicial Department for the payment of the deficiency in the appropriation for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-one for the payment of the compensation and expenses of Judges of the Court of Common Pleas for holding court outside their own Judicial Districts in accordance with law

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Worley.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 703, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1019) entitled "An act relating to statutory laws prescribing an enacting clause for statutes fixing the effective date and time of statutes hereafter enacted providing for notice of application for local and special legislation for the correction of errors in statutes and for the printing and publication of statutes prescribing rules for the interpretation of statutes defining certain words and phrases when used in statutes and prescribing rules for the construction and operation of amendments re-enactments and repeals of statutes" by changing provisions relating to the effective date of laws affecting the budgets of political subdivisions further providing for the correction of errors and providing for the construction of references to certain laws which are repealed

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section 4 of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1019) entitled "An act relating to statutory laws prescribing an enacting clause for statutes fixing the effective date and time of statutes hereafter enacted providing for notice of application for local and special legislation for the correction of errors in statutes and for the printing and publication of statutes prescribing rules for the interpretation of statutes defining certain words and phrases when used in statutes and prescribing rules for the construction and operation of amendments re-enactments and repeals of statutes" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-fourth day of August one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 1427) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 4 Effective Date and Time of Laws All laws hereafter enacted finally at a regular session of the Legislature except laws making appropriations and except laws affecting the budget of any political subdivision shall be in full force and effect from and after the first day of September next following their final enactment unless a different date is specified in the law itself or if enacted finally after the first day of September of the year of the regular session or after the date specified in the law the same shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

Appropriations laws or laws having appropriation items enacted finally at a regular session of the Legislature shall be in full force and effect from and after the first day of June next following their final enactment unless a different date is specified in the law itself or unless any such appropriation law or law having an appropriation item is enacted finally after the first day of June in any year in which case it shall be in full force and effect immediately upon final enactment

Laws affecting the budget of any political subdivisions enacted finally at a regular session of the Legislature shall be in full force and effect at the beginning of the fiscal year of the political subdivisions affected following the date of the final enactment of such law unless a different date is specified in the law itself [or if enacted finally after the beginning of such fiscal year or after the date specified in the law the same shall become effective immediately upon final enactment]

All laws enacted finally at a special or extraordinary session of the Legislature shall be in full force and effect immediately upon final enactment unless a different date is specified in the law itself

Section 2 Sections 23 and 82 of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 23 Correction of Errors in Laws Where any law shall have been finally enacted and it shall be ascertained that such law is technically defective in form or contains misspelled words or typographical errors or the plural or singular number or the past present or future tense appears where another should be used or where a word clearly intended to be inserted has been omitted or where a word clearly should have been omitted or where a word is correctly spelled but it clearly appears that another word was intended the Secretary of the Commonwealth in punctuating and editing such law shall have authority with the approval of the President pro tempore of the Senate the Speaker of the House of Representatives the Attorney General and the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau to correct the original copy of such law as filed in the Department of State if such correction will not in any manner affect or change the meaning intent or substance of such law

Whenever any such correction on any law is made a notation thereof shall be made on the original copy by the Secretary of the Commonwealth together with his signature followed by the approval and signatures of the President pro tempore of the Senate the Speaker of the House of Representatives the Attorney General and the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau

A notation of such corrections shall also be printed in the pamphlet laws as footnotes to the laws on which the corrections were made

Section 82 Repeal and Re-enactment Whenever a law is repealed and its provisions are at the same time re-enacted in the same or substantially the same terms by the repealing law the earlier law shall be construed as continued in active operation and a reference to the earlier law in any other law shall be construed as a reference to the repealing law All rights and liabilities incurred under such earlier law are preserved and may be enforced

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 704 as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1019) entitled "An act relating to statutory laws prescribing an enacting clause for statutes fixing the effective date and time of statutes hereafter enacted providing for notice of application for local and special legislation for the correction of errors in statutes and for the printing and publication of statutes prescribing rules for the interpretation of statutes defining certain words and phrases when used in statutes and prescribing rules for the construction and operation of amendments reenactments and repeals of statutes" by clarifying the effect of amendments upon each other and extending the same to previous enactments

Section 1 Sections 74 75 and 77 of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1019) entitled "An act relating to statutory laws prescribing an enacting clause for statutes fixing the effective date and time of statutes hereafter enacted providing for notice of application for local and special legislation for the correction of errors in statutes and for the printing and publication of statutes prescribing rules for the interpretation of statutes defining certain words and phrases when used in statutes and prescribing rules for the construction and operation of amendments reenactments and repeals of statutes" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 74 Merger of Subsequent Amendments Whenever a law has been more than once amended the latest amendment shall be read into the original law as previously amended and not into such law as originally enacted This rule applies whether or not the previous amendment is referred to and whether or not its language is incorporated in the latest amendment If the insertions in and the deletions from the law made by the previous amendment are not incorporated in the later they shall nevertheless be read into the later amendment as though they had in fact been incorporated therein

Section 75 Two or More Amendments to Same Provision One Overlooking the Other Whenever two or more amendments to the same provision of a law are enacted at the same or different sessions one amendment overlooking and making no reference to the other or others [the amendments shall be construed together if possible and effect be given to each If the amendments be irreconcilable the changes in the law made by each shall be given effect and all the amendments shall be read into each other If the changes made in the law are to any extent in direct conflict with each other the latest in date of final enactment shall prevail to the extent of the direct conflict from the time it becomes effective The fact that a later amendment (i) restates language of the original act which was deleted by an earlier amendment or (ii) fails to restate language inserted by an earlier amendment does not of itself create a conflict between the two amendments Amendments are in conflict with each other only if the changes in the law made by each without considering the inserts and strike-outs of the other cannot be put into operation simultaneously

Section 77 Ineffective Provisions Not Revived by Re-enactment in Amendatory Laws Exception Provisions of a law no longer effective because of having been deleted by an earlier amendment or otherwise shall not be construed as being revived by re-enactment in an amendatory law unless it shall clearly appear by notice thereof in the title of the amendatory law that the Legislature intended to revive such provisions

Section 2 The provisions of the foregoing amendments

being intended as a clarification of existing law shall apply to all acts of assembly heretofore enacted as well as to those hereafter enacted The provisions of this section shall not affect any matter heretofore finally adjudicated by any court of this Commonwealth

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the thirl time, considered and agreed to.

There being no objection

House Bill No. 747, Printer's No. 91
was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 384, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1145) entitled as amended "An act empowering cities of the second class cities of the second class A cities of the third class boroughs towns townships of the first class townships of the second class school districts of the second class school districts of the third class and school districts of the fourth class to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes subject to maximum limitations for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employees to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced providing an appeal from the ordinance or resolution levying such taxes to the court of quarter sessions and to the Supreme Court and Superior Court" by further regulating the imposition of taxes under the provisions of said act the limitations thereon and the publication and filing of notices relative thereto.

The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WOOD offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 2), page 13, lines 3 to 7 both inclusive by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "When any such ordinance or resolution is continued by being again passed or adopted imposing the same tax or license fee without substantial change for the year next following or thereafter from year to year, the provisions of the ordinance need not be advertised as in other cases but only a short notice shall be advertised stating that the ordinance of the preceding year which imposed a tax of (giving the rate and naming the subjects) has been reenacted without substantial change and the same tax imposed for the year."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 811, entitled:

An Act to reenact the title and to reenact and further amend the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 208) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax for a limited period of time on the net incomes of certain corporations joint-stock associations and limited partnerships providing for the assessment collection settlement and resettlement of taxes and reviews and appeal therefrom conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships State and county officers boards and departments making an appropriation and providing penalties" by extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, for the purposes of the record, I would like to inquire if the Majority Leader knows how much it is estimated this bill will raise during the next biennium.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, I have this to say about the tax bills that are on the calendar that we are about to take up for passage on second reading. The bills commence on page 2 and are House Bills 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 908, and 909.

The bills with the exception of 908 and 909 are a reenactment of the present tax program which prevails in Pennsylvania at this time. I would, therefore, answer the gentleman's question, with respect to all of the bills with the exception of 908 and 909 and I presume the gentleman wants an answer on those bills, too. Is that correct?

If you will refer to the Governor's Budget, if we reenact all of the bills with the exception of 908 and 909 the revenue for the biennium is estimated at $836 million. According to the Governor's Budget, we will need $157 million more revenue in order to balance the budget. So these bills that we have on the calendar today, with the exception of the two sales tax bills, if enacted, will raise, according to the budget estimate, the figure I have given.

The sales tax bills are presently on the calendar at two percent. At the proper time I am going to offer amendments to 909 and 908 which will cut the figure back to one percent. It was estimated by the Governor's Tax Study Report that a one percent sales tax, exempting food, would raise around $140 million for the biennium. The amendments that I will offer at the proper time will materially cut down that estimate by reason of various exemptions which we are making in the sales tax bill in order to conform it more to our practice in Pennsylvania, the bill in now without amendment being an adaptation of the Ohio law.

I do not have a figure right now as to what the sales tax bill will bring in, by reason of the fact that the experts have not had a chance to see the amendments to see to what it would reduce the take under a one percent sales tax by reason of amendments which will cut down the amount of money to be raised. We will have that figure, however, for you tomorrow.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I was inquiring as to whether the Majority Leader was prepared to give us the breakdown of the estimates for these taxes that we are reenacting. Has the Ways and Means Committee accepted, without revision, the figures to which the Budget Office resorted sometime last September? I was wondering whether his Excellency since then might have cause to make some modification in expectations. I wanted, if possible, a breakdown as to what each one of these bills it was estimated would bring in.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would say that I received from the Budget Office this morning a tentative statement. For instance, a tax on insurance premiums on domestic insurance which is one of the package here today, the reenacting of that tax bill would raise $4 million. The gross receipts tax on trucks and buses would raise $5 million. The realty transfer tax would raise $29 million. I believe the figures that I received today are almost identical with what they are in the budget.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the Majority Leader have at hand the expectations under Bill 811 for the next biennium?

Mr. JOHNSON. Only as reflected by the Governor's Budget, which is self-explanatory.

Mr. ANDREWS. And that would follow in the case of all the bills reenacted—the estimate of last September stands. Is that what you would have the House understand?

Mr. JOHNSON. Today I have just the figures that are in the Governor's Budget. However, I have requested new figures, if there is any change. I expect to have them for the debate on third reading. I did not expect that you would ask for them on second reading which is generally more or less a perfunctory matter.

Mr. ANDREWS. The reason I asked was that in consulting the Ways and Means Chairman, he said that you would probably have those at your fingers' end, and that we could get them on the record today. That is the reason I asked. We will resume the inquiry tomorrow. We would like for the purposes of the record a breakdown in the case of each one of the bills that we enact.

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to clarify my recent statement to the Minority Leader, Mr. Andrews. I did assure him that I thought Mr. Johnson would be able to furnish the figures on these various bills. I did not tell him from what source. I assumed it would be from the budget estimate, the last received by the General Assembly.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 812, entitled:

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar and ask the privilege of stating my reasons for so moving.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we are not in a position to close our revenue raising program. We have not as yet heard any intimations from the responsible Committee concerning the financial demands of the General Appropriation bill and the other appropriations which this House will undoubtedly make.

To arbitrarily decide at this time before there has been a review by any responsible body representing this House as to how much money we will need, and to try in that case to fix an ultimate tax figure, is to fly in the face of sound reasoning.

I have no notion and you have no notion as to the amount the general appropriation bill will carry. There has been upon the part of this House no basic study made concerning the actual necessities of the various departments. There has been no consideration of either branch of the General Assembly as to whether the Chesterman Committee findings were sound or were not sound. So far as I know those findings are simply in the process of being tossed out the window.

While we all know that there was no possibility of making a flat ten percent reduction in expenditures across the board, many of us are convinced that in some instances decided reductions could be made.

The bill now under consideration is scarcely dry from the Printer. No basic study has been made concerning our actual financial needs. I repeat, this bill before us is scarcely dry from the Printer. There have been no available copies to send out to interested groups that wanted to know what we were thinking about in this bill.

There is a need for further study. Even if you are going to pass the kind of bill that you have been considering, surely you do not want to close the door on your fund raising program until you have in your possession some sound, basic information concerning your actual needs. And if anybody in this House as yet knows what the actual financial needs are I have not heard about it.

There is no need for the haste that has characterized the career of this bill. It is unprecedented that a committee meeting called hurriedly on a Monday should present a tax program that became a must on the following Thursday.

I repeat, interested groups that wanted copies of our tax legislation have been unable to obtain copies because there were not a sufficient number in print. Now it is proposed that we amend this bill and pass it before anybody outside the confines of this Chamber knows what is in the document. So I say it would be sound practice to have less haste and put this bill on the postponed calendar while we do a bit of studying concerning the actual needs of the Commonwealth, and find out whether or not all of this talk of economy that we have had is to be tossed out the window along with the Chesterman Committee Report, along with the ambitious design to make cuts clear across the board.

I repeat, in the name of common sense and economy to have a little less haste and a little more patient consideration concerning our Commonwealth's financial and actual needs.

That is the reason why I suggest and move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar. Of course, Mr. Speaker, I would desire a roll call.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I think I can say that I have had enough contact with our Budget Office to discuss with them income trends for the next biennium to say to this House that the estimates of revenue in the Governor's budget are substantially correct. The estimates that the Governor shows will probably be realized in the next biennium and are a fair forecast at this time.

Our Appropriations Committees have been holding hearings ever since the Session started. The various departments have been called in to explain their budgets and to explain their budget needs. The Minority Leader has been present at a good many of those hearings and sessions, so have many minority members of the Appropriations Committees and so have members of the majority side on the Appropriations Committees. I think we have gone far enough in our study of the Governor's budget to know that we need the greater portion of the revenue, or of the money that the budget says we must have.

Today in our Caucus there were presented some possible cuts in the budget which would total some $18½ million. These cuts were read piecemeal in our Caucus, were adopted by our Caucus, and we intend to incorporate them into the general appropriation bill when it comes before this House.

As I have said before the Governor when he prepared his budget, slashed over $60 million from the requests of the various departments in arriving at the budget that we have before us now. In addition, the Governor took the Chesterman Report and those savings that he could integrate into his budget. He did that very thing and cut the budget over $6 million in savings to be incorporated into the budget as recommended by the Chesterman committee.

As I view the Chesterman Report, if we were by legislation to adopt every recommendation of the Chesterman Committee this biennium, I believe the savings would be around $13 million at the most, that is, having to do with the General Fund, and that is what we are dealing with today.

Therefor, we are going to make savings in the budget, but those savings will not balance the budget. We need supplemental taxes despite the fact that we seriously want to economize. These bills are on the calendar as they will be amended in an endeavor to raise enough money to fill the gap after these cuts and these economies have been effected. Therefore, I ask that the Members of this House vote down the motion to postpone.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to approve the motion just made by the floor leader on our side of the House. I am only sorry that his motion was not to recommit.

In my long experience here as a Member of this House, never in my knowledge did you do such a thing as you are about to do this week. You have refused to give the people of Pennsylvania an opportunity to be heard on this legislation.

I have in my desk requests for a public hearing by people whom I think you consider worthwhile. One of the requests that I have is from the Chamber of Commerce of the City of Greensburg, signed by a former Member of this House. To me it is very unfair to think that we would not give that consideration to a former Member of the House of Representatives. Regardless of whether we agree or disagree the least we could do would be to give those people an opportunity. Amendments to bills of this kind should be made in the Committee.

The Lord only knows we did not waste much time in the Committee rooms around here. Fifteen or twenty minutes is about the average that we got.

Some time we ought to just sit down for a little while in the Committee and maybe we could amend them there and save a lot of debate on the floor of the House.

That is the reason I rise in support of my floor leader in his motion, and I state again that I am only sorry that the motion was not for recommitting, because that is the time at which the bill should be given a public hearing if there is any time that you are going to give it a public hearing.

You on the other side of the House recall just two years ago when you refused the opportunity of a public hearing in the House and said, "We will give it to you in the Senate." We were here until Christmas waiting for the other side of this body to make up its mind on what it wanted to do. I say in all fairness, you should put this bill on the postponed calendar at least, so that we would have an opportunity to hear from the people and what they think of what we are doing.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ANDREWS and Mr. LOVETT.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. LOVETT, WHEELER and READINGER.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, is it proper at this time to file reasons for my vote or after the verification of the roll?

The SPEAKER. This is the proper time to file reasons for your vote.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to file the reasons for my vote.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. AUKER filed the following reasons for his vote on the motion to postpone consideration of House Bill 909:

I desire to file my reasons for voting "aye" on this motion. I believe that this bill should be delayed from any action until many quirks, doubts, and questions concerning the bill be resolved. A one percent sales tax will not do away with the nuisance taxes passed in 1951. It will not do away with the proposed accrued corporate net income taxes as contained in House Bills 811 and 812. It does not solve the fiscal problems of this Commonwealth. It does not solve the problems of cost of teacher increment, Health, Welfare services and Educational services. Therefore I vote "Aye" on this bill and reserve right to file further reasons.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to Article I?

Mr. JOHNSON offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 102, Page 2, Line 13, by striking out "Gross proceeds" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Sale price."

Amend Sec. 102, Page 2, Line 13, by inserting after "credits" "or intangible."

Amend Sec. 102, Page 4, by inserting between lines 16 and 17

(D) Sales of intoxicating liquors including malt and brewed beverages.

(E) Sales of cigarettes.

(F) Sales of gasoline and other motor fuels.

(C) Sales of utility services otherwise taxed by the Commonwealth.

(H) Sales to the Commonwealth or any of its agencies or political subdivisions or to authorities created by or pursuant to law.

(I) Sales to the United States or any of its agencies.

(J) Sales in interstate and foreign commerce, but only in the instances and to the extent that the Commonwealth is prohibited from taxing such sales by the Constitution of the United States.

(K) Sales of newspapers, magazines and other periodicals.

(L) Sales of medicine on prescription.

(M) Sales of bakery products, milk, groceries and meat as food products for human consumption, except when sold by hotels, restaurants or any like dispensers of food products. For the purposes of this clause (i) "milk" shall mean raw milk products from domestic animals or such milk when processed or canned; (ii) "groceries" shall mean all food products and all food ingredients for human consumption or for use in the preparation thereof for human consumption ordinarily sold in grocery stores, except candies, confections, soft drinks, tobacco or tobacco products; (iii) "meat" shall include the flesh of animals, fish, sea food, poultry and game.

(N) Sales of tangible personal property intended to be used in the process of farming, agriculture or horticulture.

(O) Sales of tangible personal property intended by means of fabrication compounding or manufacturing to become an integral part of other tangible personal property intended to be sold ultimately at retail.

Amend Sec. 102, page 5, lines 9 and 10, by striking out "for the immediate satisfaction of human desires or requirements."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly explain the amendments that have been offered to House Bill 909. This is the sales tax bill that is presently on the calendar at two percent. The amendment reduces the tax from two percent to one percent.

In the bill on our calendar the tax will start at six cents. We have changed the figure so that the tax will start at eleven cents.

We have spelled out in detail the fact that items of tangible property used in the production of farm produce is exempt from the tax.

We have included soft drinks within the tax act so that soft drinks will be taxed the same as any other sales.

We have included in the bill a tax on utilities which are not now paying a gross receipts tax.

We are giving dealers a three percent commission for handling, collecting and remitting the tax.

Food is still exempt in the bill as heretofore.

Another important change in the bill is the fact that if an article is sold and there is a trade-in, the trade-in is not included in the selling price of the article. For instance, if a car is sold for $3,000 and the used car is traded in for $2,000, the tax is on $1,000. The tax would be paid when the used car is sold, so that there would be one tax on the transaction.

The Governor's Tax Study I believe, estimated that the one percent sales tax would bring in $140 million during the biennium.

These amendments that we are making have been made within the last 24 hours pursuant to various suggestions and requests. I am not able, as I stated, to tell you how much the revenue will be reduced by the amendments. We have had estimates anywhere from $10 million to $20 million that will be exempted by virtue of these amendments. That is the only figure I can give you today. I hope to be able to give an accurate figure tomorrow after the Revenue Department has been able to study the bill as amended.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the article as amended?

RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. GUTHRIE offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1953.

On April 8, 1908 Fred and Jennie Helm considered their new son and considered his future. Like all parents they dreamed that he would one day be a leader of men.

On April 8 of this year, as for a number of years past, W. Stewart Helm, has been that leader of men, and a good one too.

After attending Cowansville public schools, Kittanning High School, Pennsylvania State College and Duquesne University, he entered the business world and has been a successful merchant ever since.

He was elected to the Kittanning Borough School Board and became its vice-president. He is a Past President and Past Lieutenant Governor of the Kiwanis Club, and he is an active member of Masonic bodies and the B.P.O.E.

He was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1940 and reelected at every election since then. He is chairman of the Education Committee and is Secretary of the Joint State Government Commission.

He is married to the former Geraldine Rearick and they have two daughters. He has thus proved himself to be a capable leader of women as well as men; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulate Fred and Jennie Helm on the very good job they did in rearing a son and that we congratulate W. Stuart Helm on this anniversary of his birthday; and be it further

Resolved, That we invite W. Stuart Helm to celebrate his next 50 birthdays in this Hall.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm.

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, I want to extend my thanks to my colleague, Mr. Guthrie, and to the membership of this House, and to tell you that the most pleasant fourteen years of my life have been spent right here.

It is indeed a pleasure to celebrate a birthday with such a charming colleague as mine on this side of the House, the lady from Lehigh, Mrs. Markley. Congratulations to you, too.

Mr. HARRIS offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. SARRAF, OLSEN and LUTTY offered a resolution which was read, considered and unaimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1953.

On April 8, a very few years ago, considering the success he has already attained, Pennsylvania's Isaac Walton, was born in Clearfield. The little piscator was named Harris G. Breth.

After graduating from St. Francis High School, spending a year at Temple University and three years at the University of Pennsylvania, he began a career in wildlife research. In 1946 he became by election an active member of the "Wildlife Society."

He has written numerous outdoor articles, among them "I Got 'im" an article on trout fishing. He has been editor of "Great Outdoors" on the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph, editor in chief of "Pennsylvania Sportsmen's Digest," and conducted the "American Outdoors Sportsman Show" on KDKA, Pittsburgh. More recently he has conducted a television program dealing with outdoor sports.

In 1940 he set aside his rod and reel long enough for two great events to occur in his life. He married the former Mary K. Hall, and was elected for the first time to the House of Representatives.

He has been as successful in his marriage career and his political career as he has been in his life of good sportsmanship, therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulate Harris G. Breth on this anniversary of his birthday, and herewith put in our bid to be with him during trout season. With his help, we can tell our friends of the big ones without telling big ones.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the birthday child, the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, if he promises not to discuss a bill.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the Members of this House for adopting the resolution. There was one salient and very important fact not included in the resolution. It must be the atmosphere of the House of Representatives or something like that, but I do not know how many Members are aware of the fact that this is my forty-eighth birthday. Next Monday I will celebrate the birthday of Harris G. Joseph Breth, Jr., age one year, my first child—not attempt—but my first child and a future Democratic Representative from Clearfield County.

Mr. McGEE offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

Mr. BRETH offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. TAYLOR asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. LEDERER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. ALEXANDER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to bills to be introduced by him.

Mr. CIANFRANI asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

Mr. COMER asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a bill to be introduced by him.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, April 9, 1953

The House met at 11:00 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Charles C. Smith) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend William Hugh Fryer, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, from Whom all thoughts of truth and peace proceed, kindle, we pray Thee, in the hearts of men, the true love of peace, and guide with Thy pure and peaceable wisdom those who take counsel for the peoples of the earth; that in tranquillity Thy kingdom may go forward, till the earth be filled with the knowledge of Thy love; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journal of Wednesday, April 8, 1953?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the approval of the Journal for Wednesday, April 8, be postponed until the Journal is in print.

The motion was agreed to.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair is happy to have with us today the Honorable Oliver M. Deibler, a former Member of the House in the sessions of 1923 and 1925 from the County of Westmoreland. He also served in the Governor's Cabinet as Fish Commissioner.

SPECIAL ORDERS

The SPEAKER. The hour of 11:30 having arrived, the Chair lays before the House the Special Orders of Business fixed for this time.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 909, as follows:

An Act to provide revenue by imposing an excise tax on retail sales of tangible personal property to consumers providing for the assessment reassessment and collection of the same and appeals therefrom prescribing penalties and providing for the use of the proceeds of such tax for public school purposes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I am very happy this morning to agree with my Republican colleagues. I was possibly right yesterday that we should have recommitted this bill at that particular time. I am only too happy to give you my support this morning to do that very thing.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we do not oppose the motion to recommit, but I would remind the gentleman from Westmoreland that the recommitment will be very brief, in, out, back on the calendar.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 908, as follows:

An Act to provide revenue by imposing an excise tax on the use and storage of tangible personal property within the Commonwealth providing for the assessment reassessment and collection of the same and the settlement and appeals therefrom requiring certain foreign dealers to register and obtain permits and to make returns prescribing penalties and providing for the use of the proceeds of such tax for public school purposes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further amendments.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, if I may be permitted to do so, I would like to make one motion covering the bills on pages 2, 3, 4, 5 and 819 on page 6.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order to make such a motion.

BILLS ON SPECIAL ORDER PASSED OVER

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill 811, Printer's No. 94, House Bill 812, Printer's No. 95, on page 2 of today's calendar, House Bill 813, Printer's No. 96, House Bill 814, Printer's No. 97 on page 3 of today's calendar, House Bill 815, Printer's No. 98, House

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. BOLTON, ROYER and HOCKER.

RESOLUTION No. 43.

In the House of Representatives, February 8, 1953.

Whereas, The only United States National Cemetery in the eastern part of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is the one located at Haines Street and Limekiln Pike, in the City of Philadelphia; and

Whereas, The said National (U. S. A.) Cemetery in Philadelphia has been filled for sometime; and

Whereas, At the present time, veterans dying in the Philadelphia area are being buried at Beverly, New Jersey, which cemetery being at a distant point, puts the families of the deceased veterans to additional expense and inconvenience; and

Whereas, The military authorities of the United States several years ago announced a plan under which five military cemeteries were to be located in Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, No further action having been taken to carry out the provisions of said plan, it is hereby

Resolved, That it is the desire of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

That the President of the United States and the Congress of the United States be memorialized and they are so memorialized to carry out the provisions of the plan under which five military cemeteries are to be located in Pennsylvania and that the same be located throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at places most convenient to the residents thereof.

That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be instructed and he is so instructed to send copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the President of the Senate of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, and to the Senators and Representatives of Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. HARRIS. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 44.

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1953.

Whereas, There is accumulating evidence of the existence, activity and growth of racial discrimination in the public schools of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed

1. To make a study and investigation of the public schools of this Commonwealth regarding racial discrimination;

2. To determine whether the existence of racial discrimination is a cause for the increased costs of maintenance of the public schools;

3. To determine whether discrimination is practiced in regards to the appointment of teachers and professional employees in the public schools; and, be it further

Resolved, That the Commission shall report its findings and recommendations to the next regular session of the General Assembly together with such legislation as it may propose to carry out its recommendations.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. PETA, WILBUR H. HAMILTON,
KOLANKIEWICZ, AMARANDO and McGEE.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 45.

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1953.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a special unpaid commission consisting of three (3) members of the Senate, three (3) members of the House of Representatives, a representative of the Department of Public Instruction, a representative of the Department of Welfare, a representative of the Department of Health, a representative of a recognized organization composed of special class teachers or teachers of mentally retarded children, a representative of the Pennsylvania Citizens Association for Health and Welfare, a representative of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children, Inc., and two (2) representatives of the medical profession—one of whom shall be a specialist in the field of psychiatry or neurology and the other in the field of mental retardation, to be designated by the Governor, is hereby established for the purpose of making an investigation and study relative to the number of mentally retarded children in the Commonwealth and the training facilities and custodial facilities available for their training and care. Said commission shall be provided with suitable quarters and may expend sums as may be appropriated therefor. Said commission shall report to the Governor the results of its investigation and study and its recommendations, if any, together with drafts of legislation necessary to carry its recommendations into effect, by filing the same on or before January first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-five.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. BRETH. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 46.

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1953

Whereas, the burden of taxation in Pennsylvania is becoming increasingly greater and more difficult for the average taxpayer to carry—and from all indications the average taxpayer can look for little relief from this ever growing burden,

And Whereas, there are certain essential services which must be financed from tax funds, such as state aid for education, hospitals, welfare and other services which are the concern of every taxpayer.

Therefore Be It Resolved, that (if the Senate concur) the General Assembly hereby creates a Citizens Committee on Taxation which shall be composed of twelve taxpayers, including a housewife with one or more children under eighteen years of age from a borough of less than 10,000 population, a non-union workman, a union workman, a merchant, a manufacturer, a farmer from a county of less than 50,000 population, a doctor, a public accountant, an independent grocer, a school teacher, and two other taxpayers.

Except that members of the General Assembly, Representatives or Senators, or representatives of the administrative departments of state government, or the executive office, shall not be members of this committee, nor any person on the state payroll,

And Be It Further Resolved, that this committee is authorized to employ such technical and other help as needed, and that its duty shall be to study the need for the various state services which require current or future taxes to function and that this Citizens Committee on Taxation report its findings and recommendations to the 1955 session of the General Assembly on the question: How should revenue be raised to support the essential services of the state.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 592, as follows:

An Act to amend the title and to further amend sections 1 2 and 3 of the act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 1721) entitled "An act providing for the service of process in civil suits on non-resident operators or nonresident owners of motor vehicles operated within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and making the operation of such a motor vehicle on the public highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the equivalent of the appointment of the Secretary of Revenue of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as the agent of the said nonresident upon whom civil process may be served and providing for further notice to the defendant in any such suit" by providing for service of process upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth and fixing fees therefor

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The title of the act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 1721) entitled "An act providing for the service of process in civil suits on nonresident operators or nonresident owners of motor vehicles operated within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and making the operation of such a motor vehicle on the public highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the equivalent of the appointment of the Secretary of Revenue of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as the agent of the said nonresident upon whom civil process may be served and providing for further notice to the defendant in any such suit" is hereby amended to read as follows

An Act

Providing for the service of process in civil suits on nonresident operators or nonresident owners of motor vehicles operated within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and making the operation of such a motor vehicle on the public highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the equivalent of the Secretary of [Revenue of] the Commonwealth [of Pennsylvania] as the agent of the said nonresident upon whom civil process may be served and providing for further notice to the defendant in any such suit

Section 2 Section 1 of said act last amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 1651) is hereby amended to read as follows.

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That from and after the passage of owner of any motor vehicle who shall accept the privilege extended by the laws of this Commonwealth to nonresident operators and owners this act any nonresident of this Commonwealth being the operator or of operating a motor vehicle or of having the same operated within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or any resident of this Commonwealth being the licensed operator or owner of any motor vehicle under the laws of this Commonwealth who shall subsequently become a nonresident or shall conceal his whereabouts shall by such acceptance or licensure as the case may be and by the operation of such motor vehicle within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania make and constitute the Secretary of [Revenue of] the Commonwealth [of Pennsylvania] his her of their agent for the service of process in any civil suit or proceeding instituted in the courts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or in the United States District Courts of Pennsylvania against such operator or owner of such motor vehicle arising out of or by reason of any accident or collision occurring within the Commonwealth in which such motor vehicle is involved.

Section 3 Sections 2 and 3 of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2277) are hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 2 Such process shall be served by the officer to whom the same shall be directed upon the Secretary of [Revenue of] the Commonwealth [of Pennsylvania] by sending by registered mail postage prepaid at least fifteen (15) days before the return of such process a true and attested copy thereof and by sending to the defendant by registered mail postage prepaid a like true and attested copy with an endorsement thereon of the service upon [said Secretary of Revenue] the Secretary of the Commonwealth addressed to such defendant at his last known address The registered mail return receipts of the Secretary of [Revenue] the Commonwealth and of such defendant shall be attached to and made a part of the return of service of such process Provided That if the defendant refuses to accept the notice mailed or cannot be found at his last known address the registered mail return receipt or other evidence of such facts shall be attached to and made a part of the return and shall constitute sufficient service under the provisions of this section

Section 3 The officer serving such process upon the Secretary of [Revenue] the Commonwealth shall pay to said secretary at the time of service a fee of [two dollars ($2.00)] five dollars ($5.00) for each process served which fee shall be taxed as costs in the case The Secretary of [Revenue] the Commonwealth shall keep a record of each such process and the day and hour of the service thereof upon him

Section 4 The provisions of this amendment shall not be construed to in any way change the provisions of the Pennsylvania Rules of Civil Procedure but to bring the provisions of this act into conformity with such rules in so far as they are applicable to the subject matter of this act

Section 5 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 608. Printer's No. 83.
was passed over at the request of the Speaker.

There being no objection

House Bill No. 747. Printer's No. 91.
was passed over at the request of Mr. ANDREWS.

Agreeably to order;

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 917, entitled as follows:

An Act to add Section 6.1 to the act approved the twenty-first day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 665) entitled "An act to carry into effect section one of article fifteen of the Constitution giving cities of the first class the right and power to frame adopt and amend their own charters and to exercise the powers and authority of local self-government and providing the procedure therefore imposing certain restrictions limitations and regulations imposing duties upon city councils city officers county boards of elections courts and the Secretary of the Commonwealth and providing for the payment of certain expenses by such cities and imposing penalties" by providing for emergency amendments The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section 6.1 is hereby added to the act approved the twenty-first day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 665) entitled "An act to carry into effect section one of article fifteen of the Constitution giving cities of the first class the right and power to frame adopt and amend their own charters and to exercise the powers and authority of local self-government and providing the procedure therefor imposing certain restriction limitations and regulations imposing duties upon city councils city officers county boards of elections courts and the Secretary of the Commonwealth and providing for the payment of certain expenses by such cities and imposing penalties" to read as follows

Section 6.1 Emergency Amendments If upon the effective date of this act any city council has on file a petition with more than forty thousand (40,000) signatures for the amending of the charter of such city the said city council shall forthwith and without reference to committee or approval of the mayor by resolution frame the ballot questions fix the date for holding the special election for submission of the questions to the voters of such city for their approval or disapproval which special election shall be at least twenty-five (25) days after the adoption of said resolution and may be either on a primary or regular November election day The city council shall thereupon cause said proposal or proposals together with the form of the question or questions hereinafter provided for to be printed in pamphlet form in sufficient number for general distribution The said pamphlets shall be made ready for distribution at least fifteen (15) days before the election at which the proposals aforesaid are to be voted upon by the electors and the said proposals together with the said ballot questions shall also be published not less than once or more than three times as city council shall determine in three newspapers of general circulation in the city Such publications shall appear during the ten (10) days immediately preceding the election at which the vote is to be taken upon said amendments The Clerk of the city council shall within three (3) days after the enactment of the resolution by the city council as aforesaid providing for submission of amendments to its charter certify an exact copy of the text of such amendments together with the necessary ballot questions to the county board of elections of the county wherein such city is situate The county board of elections shall cause the said ballot questions to be properly printed on the ballots or ballot labels

Section 2 The provisions of the act to which this is an amendment which are inconsistent herewith are temporarily suspended

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and shall continue in effect until the first day of February one thousand nine hundred fifty-five

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—2

Amarando,	Schmidt,
-----------	----------

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. ROSEN filed the following reasons for his vote on House Bill 917:

Mr. Speaker, May I go on record as opposing House Bill 917 for the following reasons:

This choice of the new Charter and the new administration represented a long overdue victory for the voters of all political affiliations to further the cause of good government. It means an overwhelming rejection of the corruption that had been practiced, and an escape for the citizens of Philadelphia from absentee manipulation in Harrisburg that had dominated the Philadelphia scene for over 66 years.

The Independent citizens of Philadelphia dramatically showed that they rejected the idea of boss rule, of political favoritism in filling city jobs; and having public office depreciated by the contempt of self-seeking politicians. By their vote for the Charter, City-County Consolidation and Mayor Clark, they endorsed the idea of having good government in city affairs; of having responsible city positions filled by qualified individuals and that the citizens of Philadelphia were entitled to impartial and fair treatment for all segments of the community be it business, labor, consumer, the professional, etc.

The Philadelphia Industrial Union Council, joining with hundreds of thousands of citizens from both political parties, supported various candidates for key posts in the city and state legislature at Harrisburg in the belief that they would keep their solemn pledge to sustain the Home-Rule Charter and Mayor Clark in his program for a better Philadelphia.

It is now apparent that some of these very same individuals pledged to support good government in Philadelphia are jointly seeking to wreck the integrity of the Charter by introducing bills and petitions which are aimed at exempting many former County and City departments which have just recently been rescued from disgrace and corruption by the Charter, and by giving special status to other departments to escape the will and intent of the Charter by making employment in these departments depending upon political-know-who instead of ability.

The Philadelphia Industrial Union Council recognizes that the vitality of a democracy lies in its ability to have orderly change in the forms and techniques of government (our national Constitution having been amended many times by this orderly process of change) and we want to continue with the majority of our fellow-Philadelphians in the effort to make Philadelphia a better place to live. But there should be no hasty irresponsible steps taken. Changes may prove necessary, but they should not be taken without due notice to all parties concerned to study and evaluate them, and ample experience to demonstrate that changes were needed.

Our members, along with the overwhelming majority of Philadelphians, declare ourselves wholeheartedly in favor of good government, and believing that this can be attained through honest and unqualified support of the principles embodied in the City Charter, and further believing that this represents the viewpoint of the overwhelming majority of citizens in this city irrespective of political affiliations, hereby publicly supports the efforts of Mayor Clark to carry out the will of the people as expressed through the ballot.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will return to page 12 of today's calendar. The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 333, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three (P. L. 129), entitled "An act to empower boroughs and cities to establish a police pension fund, to take property in trust therefor and regulating and providing for the regulation of the same," by providing a method of paying service increments from the retirement fund in cities of the first class to members of the police force after retirement.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I want to debate this bill if it is going to be acted upon today. I understood all these Philadelphia bills were not going to be called up today.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order to debate the bill if it is called up.

Mr. WILBUR H. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, that it would not be my purpose to engage in a prolonged debate regarding the three bills, 333, 334, and 345, because I realize today we have some momentous decisions to make for all the people in the 67 counties. However, if it is agreeable to all the Members of the House, it is perfectly satisfactory to me to debate the bills with Mr. Toll.

I wish to assure the gentleman that my remarks will be brief and to the point, but if he desires to be rather loquacious on these bills, that is perfectly all right with me, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry to say that I must be in position to debate the bills at length. Under the circumstances, in order to conserve the time of the House, I suggest that they be passed over until next week.

Mr. WILBUR H. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I hear various suggestions from some of the colleagues on my side that if we do have the time, and it will not interfere with any other part of our agenda, it is still perfectly all right to debate the bills. However, if we could just pass them temporarily for a few moments while we can get our signals straight, we can discuss it further, Mr. Speaker.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection
House Bill No. 333, Printer's No. 46,
House Bill No. 334, Printer's No. 47 and
House Bill No. 335, Printer's No. 48,
were passed over at the request of Mr. WILBUR H.
HAMILTON.

BOYERTOWN HIGH SCHOOL WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House a delegation of two hundred students of the Boyertown High School, Berks County, under the supervision of their teachers, Mr. Herbert Hartman, Miss Annabelle T. Fake, Mr. Allan C. Cope, Mr. Chester W. Rohrbach and Miss Elizabeth Hontz. They are the guests of the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Yetzer.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. METZ from the Committee on Counties, reported as committed, House Bill No. 885, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 171 of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes, and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," by authorizing, in certain cases, appointment of surveyors not resident in the county, to boards of viewers in counties of the eighth class.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. POLTENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, April 13, 1953 at 4:30 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:49 p. m.) the House adjourned.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, in Pittsburgh last week a man was stabbed to death by a member of a gang of boys who were terrorizing the community. This gang was breaking windows in homes by stoning houses, endangering the lives of the children as well as those of the adults of the community.

One of the male resident of the community went out to protest to the gang of boys. One of the boys immediately pulled a switch-blade knife, and buried the blade into the heart of that man. He died on his way to the hospital. The boys were rounded up, and each were found to have a switch-blade knife in their possession.

Mr. President, over the weekend, I talked with Superintendent of Police, James Slusser, and he advised me that the carrying of switch-blade knives by boy-gangs has become quite a problem in the city of Pittsburgh.

Although there are laws on the books forbidding the carrying of knives, it does not stop boys buying them and when it is found out that they have them, it is only when an assault has occurred.

I also spoke to some of the schoolmen in the city of Pittsburgh, and they advised me that in some schools there are boy clubs and gangs who are called "switch-knife" gangs and one must own a switch-knife to become a member. They state that there have been cuttings from time to time, and when the pupil was questioned he stated that they were merely practicing on how quickly they could pull their knife, switch it open and lunge at the opponent. They all said that the cutting was accidental, as they were merely practicing to make themselves efficient in the handling of their "switch."

Mr. President, the bill which I am going to introduce has been suggested as one means to stop the supply of these knives. They are not known to be of any use from a work standpoint, and they are becoming one of the weapons used in holdups and in assaults. In most cases, the switch-knife has a handle about five inches long and a blade from four to six inches. There is not much difference between using a bayonet on a person and a switch-knife, when open.

My bill, Mr. President, would merely forbid the sale of any switch-knives more than three and a half inches long, which is the usual length of an electrician's or a workman's knife. I firmly believe that this is one solution to break up the "switch gangs" that are being formed in practically every city in the United States.

Mr. President, this legislation is recommended by the Superintendent of Schools of the city of Pittsburgh, as well as by a number of the schoolmen who have come in contact with the school members of the "switch gangs."

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. HOLLAND and SILVERT read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 470, entitled:

An Act to add Section 626.1 to the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth," by prohibiting the sale or the possession of knives, the blade of which is released by a spring mechanism, including switch blades.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

(The Senate was at ease.)

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for ten minutes.

Mr. HARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 6, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 534), entitled "An act relating to appointment of deputy constables" by defining the jurisdiction of deputy constables.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, last week, as you will recall, we had considerable debate over the merits of this bill, and I am going to make the request that the bill go over today. However, I would like to say, at this time, that there has been considerable misunderstanding about the bill, of its effect on the minor judiciary of Pennsylvania and its effect on the elected constables of Pennsylvania.

Again, Mr. President, I want to assure all the Members of the Senate that this in no way affects any elected justice of the peace or alderman in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and in no way affects the duties, the privileges or the rights of any elected constable of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I would like to, if I may, read into the record at this time the following article:

"Harrisburg, April 13

"The Pennsylvania Magistrates Association has thrown its full support behind a Senate bill which would do away with the so-called roving constable. The measure, sponsored by Senator Robert D. Fleming, Allegheny, would limit the authority of deputy constables to the territory in which they are deputized. The association announced its stand yesterday, following a quarterly meeting."

Now, Mr. President, I hope that those Members of the Senate who are opposed to this measure, because they have been wrongly informed that it does affect the elected justices of the peace and constables of Pennsylvania, will get in touch with those men in their own Senatorial Districts, and find out and advise them that it does not affect them and, at least, have the benefit of the action taken by the Pennsylvania Magistrates Association, which I believe we will all agree is the oldest association of the minor judiciary in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 6, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 909, as follows:

An Act to provide revenue by imposing an excise tax on retail sales of tangible personal property to consumers providing for the assessment reassessment and collection of the same and appeals therefrom prescribing penalties and providing for the use of the proceeds of such tax for public school purposes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, second line of Title, by inserting after "consumer" "requiring sellers to file returns."

Amend Sec. 203, page 9, line 3, by striking out "as aforesaid."

Amend Sec. 204, page 9, line 11, by inserting after "(2%)" "of the sale price."

Amend Sec. 205, page 10, line 3, by striking out "solely for resale" and inserting in lieu thereof: "for a purpose not included in the definition of 'sale at retail'."

Amend Sec. 405, page 22, line 17, by inserting after "Reassessment" "Review."

Amend Sec. 405, page 23, lines 17 to 20, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Sec. 405, page 24, lines 1 to 7, by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof:

"(b) Within sixty days after the date of mailing of notice by the department of the action taken on any petition for reassessment filed with it, the person against whom such assessment was made may by petition request the Board of Finance and Revenue to review such action. Every petition for review filed hereunder shall state specifically the reason on which the petitioner relies or shall incorporate by reference the petition for reassessment in which the reasons are stated. The petition shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true. The Board of Finance and Revenue shall act finally in disposing of petitions filed with it within six months after they have been received. In the event of the failure of the board to dispose of any petition within six months, the action taken by the department upon the petition for reassessment shall be sustained. The Board of Finance and Revenue may sustain the action taken on the petition for reassessment or it may reassess the tax due on such basis as it deems according to law and equity. The board shall give notice of its action by mail to the department and to the petitioner.

(c) Any person or the Commonwealth aggrieved by the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or by the board's failure to act upon a petition for review within six months may within sixty days appeal to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County from the decision of the board or from the decision of the department as the case may be in the manner now or hereafter provided by law for appeals in the case of tax settlements.

Amend Sec. 601, page 32, line 6, by striking out "Tax."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Will the Majority Leader inform us, did we discover after we had our meeting last week that this bill should be further amended?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Did the gentleman know at the time we had the meeting that the amendment should have been considered at the meeting of the committee?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, we did not.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say to the membership of the House that I have continually said if we would slow up a little and not be in so much haste we certainly would save a lot of time at the end.

We call meetings for ten minutes of a Committee when we should sit down and find out whether the bill is in proper condition, what amendments are needed, we should spend an hour and save two hours eventually.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, perhaps the amendments, we have put into 909, were after all an afterthought. I was not feeling so well last week. I am feeling pretty good now, but I have no doubt that the Majority Leader, knowing I was not feeling so good, thought he would exempt crutches and wheelchairs and make provision for the ailing and aged Minority Leader.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to congratulate the Republican Caucus and the Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee upon the work they have recently done in scrutinizing the budget and suggesting reductions in budget figures.

This is a work that has been too long delayed and is in accordance with a procedure which the minority suggested early in this session—that we will take the requests for appropriations department by department, item by item, and subject each one to critical scrutiny and determine how far we can go in reducing the budget submitted to this House by His Excellency, the Governor, without imperiling any essential service. Then when we have arrived at a minimum figure, as far as appropriations are concerned, we then proceed to find the money with which to finance the program upon which we are agreed. That is the sensible thing; that is the right way to go about it.

I congratulate the Republican Caucus that it has begun along that line, and I hope that they will diligently proceed and submit to this House finally an appropriation bill based upon absolute minimum needs.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, we appreciate his comments. I might say that the budget reductions that were made were made in all good faith. We are trying to operate as economically as possible during the coming biennium.

I hope before too long to read into the record the amount of slashes in requests that we made by Governor Fine before he submitted his budget. At the proper time I will give those figures—they total $65 million—that the Governor took out of the budget before it was even submitted to the Legislature. We have tried to pare it down even more. None of us want to incur any greater budget expenses than are absolutely necessary in order to run this Commonwealth and put the state on a good sound financial basis. We are working at it. The Appropriations Committee, we feel, is doing an excellent job. We have so many services that we must take care of in this state—that we just cannot go too far in cutting this budget.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Leader?

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, how soon can we expect the majority party will join with us in helping redeem the pledge that we have made mutually to the people of Pennsylvania regarding an FEPC bill?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I again will say to the gentleman I have the FEPC bill. I have sponsors for it. I as yet have not had word from interested parties who have some amendments they would like to give me for the bill. As soon as that has occurred, I certainly want to put the bill in at the earliest opportunity, so we will all have a chance to look it over.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, might I ask the Majority Leader why he does not drop his bill into the hopper and then let the "interested parties" come before the Committee to which the bill is referred and suggest the amendments they have in mind?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I shall certainly take that into consideration.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, how soon can we expect the majority party will join with us in helping redeem the promise we have mutually made concerning the enactment of a fair Legislative Reapportionment bill?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I have just had a quick conference with the Chairman of the Committee. He expects to have the bill ready tomorrow.

Mr. ANDREWS. A further question. How soon, Mr. Speaker, can we expect the majority party will redeem the pledge made for and on behalf of that party by its leaders, to the effect that this General Assembly could be expected promptly to enact a Constitutional Convention bill?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry I cannot answer that question. We have done a good job in the House on the bill. We have sent it over to the Senate, and I hope that they will act favorably on it very soon.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I still desire to remind the House that we will look with disfavor upon tax legislation presented for our consideration prior to the final determination of the minimum amount this General Assembly should appropriate. And we are very much of the opinion that the promises made by the majority party in which the minority party has joined should be redeemed by this administration and its agents and spokesmen in both chambers of this General Assembly.
